In view of increasing emphasis on adherence to norms of good corporate governance, Company Law assumes greater importance in the corporate legislative milieu, as it deals with structure, management, administration and conduct of affairs of Companies. The Companies Act, 2013 was enacted with a purpose to consolidate and amend the law relating to companies and making Indian law at par with the best International Standards. The law is focused at easing the process of doing business in India and improving corporate governance by making companies more accountable. The Companies Act aimed to improve the Corporate Governance and better transparency in the corporate sector which is important to infuse confidence amongst the investors in Indian market and abroad and to strengthen the regulations for the companies, keeping in view the changing economic environment as well as the growth of the economy.

The fundamental role that a board of directors play in supporting, guiding the management team in generating long term added value for the shareholders and society at large and to account to the shareholders for companies long term performance. Right decision making is important for company's growth, board meetings leads to greater strategic decision making whereas the shareholder meetings leads to greater transparency and accountability. LESSON WISE SUMMARY
COMPANY LAW & PRACTICE

Lesson 1: Introduction to Company Law

A Company is a legal entity, allowed by legislation, which permits a group of people, as shareholders, to apply to the regulators for an independent organization to be created, which can then focus on pursuing set objectives, and empowered with legal rights which are usually only reserved for individuals, such as to sue and be sued, own property, hire employees or loan and borrow money.

A company is regarded as a distinct legal entity and is said to cast a veil between the company and its human constituents, 'the corporate veil'. This veil can be pierced for the purpose of imposing some form of liability on a company's shareholders and / or directors. There are many court cases and exceptions to this which have been discussed in detail in this Lesson.

To understand a piece of legislation it is important to understand what was the need of this legislation?, what practices were being followed?, what were the expectation of the stakeholders?, what led to creation of legislation?

Company Legislation in India owes its origin to the English Company Law. The Companies Acts passed from time to time in India have been following the English Companies Acts, with certain modifications. Even the Companies Act, 1956, was based on the U.K. Companies Act, 1948.

The first legislative enactment for registration of Joint Stock Companies in India was passed in the year 1850 which was based on the English Companies Act, 1844. This Act recognised companies as distinct legal entities but did not introduce the concept of limited liability. The concept of limited liability, in India, was recognised for the first time by the Companies Act, 1857 closely following the English Companies Act, 1856 in this regard. Till 1956, the business companies in India were regulated by this Act of 1913. Based on Bhabha committee report Companies Act, 1956 was introduced.

As the business evolved need was felt to introduce the Company Law in a fresh manner considering the changes in the systems and procedures worldwide. The Companies Act, 2013 was passed after decade long deliberations with stakeholders.

This Lesson gives an overview of the developments of company law and discusses the features of a company form of business alongwith the various principles of company law like doctrine of ultra-vires, Doctrine of Indoor Management, Doctrine of constructive notice, etc.

Lesson 2: Legal Status and Types of Registered Companies

A company is a "legal person" or "legal entity" separate from, and capable of surviving beyond the lives of its members. A company is rather a legal device for the attainment of social and economic end. It is therefore, a combined political, social, economic and legal institution. Thus, the term company has been described in many ways. "It is a means of cooperation and organisation in the conduct of an enterprise". It is "an intricate, centralised, economic and administrative structure run by professional managers who hire capital from the investor(s)".

Since a corporate body (i.e. a company) is the creation of law, it is not a human being, it is an artificial juridical person (i.e. created by law) and it is clothed with many rights, obligations, powers and duties prescribed by law. It can, however, do everything what a natural person can do except certain acts which require personal execution. Thus, a company cannot marry or divorce; it cannot vote in an election.

On incorporation, the company acquires a separate legal entity status distinct from and independent of its members. Unlike a partnership, which has no separate existence from its partners, a company has a separate corporate existence. It is different from the members who constitute it.

This lesson highlights and explains the characteristics of various forms of companies like Private Limited Company, Public Limited Company and Inactive Companies. It also provides an overview of certain other types of companies, such as Small Company, Holding Company, Subsidiary Company and Associate Company.

Further, the lesson covers the concepts of various types of companies, their legal basis, special provisions and privileges for some classes of companies, distinction between different types of companies etc. It further explains what is a Government Company and the exemptions available to them. Companies may be classified on the basis of their incorporation, number of members, size, basis of control and motive. Company Secretary should be aware of the distinctive features of different entities.

Lesson 3: Memorandum and Articles of Associations and its Alteration

The memorandum and articles of association of a company are the most important documents for the formation of a company and for its functioning thereafter. These are the charter documents of the company.

The memorandum of association contains the name, situation of registered office, objects, capital and liability and subscription clauses. The articles are its bye-laws or rules and regulations that govern the management and internal affairs and the conduct of its business. Both the documents are required to be registered with the Registrar of Companies at the stage of incorporation of the company. Before dealing with a company, it is advisable to read the memorandum and articles of the company to understand aspects, such as powers of Board, scope of company's activities etc. and its relationship with the outside world.

Since Memorandum sets out the constitution of a company and is therefore the foundation on which the structure of the company is built. It defines the scope of the company's activities and its relations with the outside world. Company Secretary in employment should work within the four walls of the MOA and also subject to the provisions of AOA.

This chapter includes the concept of Memorandum of Association and Articles of Association, their purpose, contents and registration. Alterations that can be carried out in the Memorandum and Articles of Association and effect of such alterations. It also explains the legal effect of these documents.

Company Secretary who is holding key position in the company must be aware of the procedural aspects of alteration of various clauses contained in the Memorandum of Association and of various regulations of Articles of Association of the Company which may be permissible under the provisions contained in Section 13 and Section 14 of the Companies Act, 2013 to be read with relevant Rules framed thereunder.

Lesson 4: Share and Share Capital - Concepts

Importantly share capital refers to the funds that a company raises in exchange for issuing an ownership interest in the company in the form of shares. "Share capital" may also describe the number and types of shares that compose a company's share structure. There are two general types of share capital, which are equity and preference shares.

For running a company it is important to understand the options available to fund the projects of the company. The Company Law permits various options which can be availed to generate funds. There are various ways to raise capital which include preferential allotment, employee stock option, issue of rights shares and issue of shares with differential voting rights. It involves various approvals, disclosures, filings, maintenance of records, etc. which are prescribed under Chapter IV of the Companies Act, 2013 read with Companies (Share Capital and Debentures) Rules, 2014.

There are several compliances that need be done pre and post the securities are issued such as issue of share certificates, dematerialization, register of members, allotment of securities. The Lesson also introduces to the basic modalities of issue of securities and allotment thereunder.

Lesson 5: Members and Shareholders

Member is subscriber to the memorandum of the company who shall be deemed to have agreed to become member of the company or every person holding shares of the company and whose name is entered as a beneficial owner in the records of a depository. A person whose name is entered in the register of members of a company becomes a member of that company. The register includes every single detail about the member like name, address, occupation, date of becoming a member, etc. It also includes every person who holds company's shares and whose name is entered as the beneficial owners in depository records. An individual who owns the share of a public or a private company is known as a 'Shareholder.'

The terms shareholders and members are commonly used as synonyms, as one can become a member of the company, except by way of holding shares. In this way, a member is a shareholder and a shareholder is a member. The statement is true but not completely, as it is subject to certain exceptions, i.e. a person can become the holder of shares through transfer, but is not a member, until the transfer is entered in the register of members.

This Lesson gives an insight on secretarial practices expected to be known by the prospected Company Secretaries on maintaining register of members, declaration of beneficial interest, significant beneficial owner, variation of shareholoders' rights, etc.

Lesson 6: Debt Instruments - Concepts

The word 'debenture' has been derived from a Latin word 'debere' which means to borrow. Section 2(30) of the Companies Act, 2013 define "debenture" which includes debenture stock, bonds or any other instrument of a company evidencing a debt, whether constituting a charge on the assets of the company or not. An issue of debenture plays a great role in long-term planning and decision-making. In modern competitive business era, every company needs fund for any business opportunity. This financing can be fulfilled only by issuing owner's capital and debt capital. The issue of debenture, in one side creates the obligation for the payment of interest at a fixed rate and in another side, it causes an increase in ' earning per share' due to comparatively less number of shares issued.

The power to issue debentures can be exercised on behalf of the Company at a meeting of the Board under the provisions of Section 179 (3) of the Companies Act, 2013. Further, Section 71 read with Rule 18 of the Companies (Share Capital and Debentures) Rules, 2014, deals with the provisions relating to the issuance of debentures. Companies need to follow certain procedures for issue of debentures to raise money. These have been elaborated under the Companies Act, 2013 and have been discussed in this Lesson.

Deposits have been defined under the Companies Act, 2013 ("2013 Act") to include any receipt of money by way of deposit or loan or in any other form by a company. However what shall not constitute deposits has been prescribed under law in consultation with the Reserve Bank of India. The Lesson provides an overview of the issue and redemption of debentures and bonds, creation of security, debenture redemption reserve, debenture trust deed, conversion of debentures into shares and company deposits.

Lesson 7: Charges

A charge is a right created by any person including a company referred to as "the borrower" on its assets and properties, present and future, in favour of a financial institution or a bank, referred to as "the lender", which has agreed to extend financial assistance.

Section 2(16) of the Companies Act, 2013 defines charges so as to mean an interest or lien created on the property or assets of a company or any of its undertakings or both as security and includes a mortgage. The following are the essential features of the charge which are as under:

1. There should be two parties to the transaction, the creator of the charge and the charge holder.
2. The subject-matter of charge, which may be current or future assets and other properties of the borrower.
3. The intention of the borrower to offer one or more of its specific assets or properties as security for repayment of the borrowed money together with payment of interest at the agreed rate should be manifested by an agreement entered into by him in favour of the lender, written or otherwise.

Almost all the business entities depend upon share capital and borrowed capital for financing their projects. Borrowed capital may consist of funds raised by issuing debentures, which may be secured or unsecured, or by obtaining financial assistance from financial institution or banks. Section 77 of the Companies Act, 2013 specifies that every company creating a charge shall register the particulars of charge signed by the company and its charge – holder together with the instruments creating. Important points in the Act relating to charge creation is:

Any charge created within or outside India on property or assets or any of the company's undertakings, whether tangible or otherwise, situated in or outside India shall be registered.

Hence, all types of charges are required under the Act to be registered whether created within or outside India.

The Companies Act, 2013 details the procedure for creation, modification and satisfaction of a charge. As a prospected Company Secretary you are expected to advise the management on the subject and ensure compliance to the same. Under this lesson, one understands the basic concept of creation, registration, modification and satisfaction of charges alongwith drafting and issuing search report.

Lesson 8: Distribution of Profits

Dividend is a return on the investment made in the share capital of a company, as distinct from the return on borrowed capital, which is in the form of interest. In commercial usage, the term "Dividend" refers to the share of profits of a company that is distributed amongst its Members. Profit or a portion of profit that can be legally distributed as a dividend to the shareholders is known as Divisible Profit. Considering the small shareholders and their concerns with regard to failure to transfer the dividend to the shareholders the Companies Act, 2013, provides for elaborate mechanism where the shareholders can claim the shares through an authority constituted for the purpose i.e. Investor Education and Protection Fund (IEPF). A company may pay dividend out of the profits of the company for that year arrived at after providing for depreciation or out of the profits of the company for any previous financial year or years arrived at after providing for depreciation and remaining undistributed, or out of both; or out of money provided by the Central Government or a State Government for the payment of dividend by the company in pursuance of a guarantee given by that Government; or out of the accumulated profits earned by it in previous years and transferred by the company to the reserves in case of inadequacy or absence of profits in any financial year.

The Act clearly enunciates the procedure for transfer of unpaid dividend to separate account and thereafter after particular time period to the authority. The company has to mandatorily comply with the legal requirement, failure may attract penal provisions, as well as this may also be reflected in the Board's report.

A Company Secretary is also an investor relation officer of the company, he acts as a bridge between the shareholder and company management. This Lesson shall enable the readers to understand the procedures with respect to ascertainment of divisible profits, declaration & payment of dividend , treatment with respect to rights share and bonus shares to be held in abeyance and implement the same while practically operating it.

Lesson 9: Accounts and Auditors

Section 128 of Companies Act, 2013 states that every company need to maintain its registered office, books of accounts and other relevant papers and books for every financial year which states the true and fair view of state of affair of company including its all branches. Private Limited Company, One Person Company and Limited Company including Small Companies are required to maintain proper book of accounts. Further, the Books of Accounts of a Company is the basis on which financial statements of a Company are prepared for company annual return filing. Therefore, maintenance of proper company account is both mandatory and necessary.

According to the Companies Act, 2013, a Company's Book of Accounts is considered to be maintained properly if it satisfies the following two conditions:

- Books which are necessary to give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the company is kept along with the documents required to explain the transactions.
- Books are kept on accrual basis and according to the double entry system of accounting.

Having an effective audit system is important for a company because it enables it to pursue and attain its various corporate objectives. Business processes need various forms of internal control to facilitate supervision and monitoring, prevent and detect irregular transactions, measure ongoing performance, maintain adequate business records and to promote operational productivity.

Auditing is a means of evaluating the effectiveness of a company's internal controls. Maintaining an effective system of internal controls is vital for achieving a company's business objectives, obtaining reliable financial reporting on its operations, preventing fraud and misappropriation of its assets, and minimizing its cost of capital. Both internal and independent auditors contribute to a company's audit system in different but important ways. Every company shall at the first annual general meeting, appoint an individual or a firm as an auditor who shall hold office from the conclusion of that meeting till the conclusion of its sixth annual general meeting (AGM) and thereafter till the conclusion of every sixth meeting and the manner and procedure of selection of auditors by the members of the company at such meeting shall be such as prescribed under the Act.

The Lesson details the maintenance of accounts in the company and how the auditors have to be appointed, role of auditors and legal provisions relating to the same including cost audit, secretarial audit and internal audit.

A company has to undertake secretarial audit, cost audit, statutory audit as per the threshold requirement under law. As a company secretary this is an important area and must be well understood by the readers.

Lesson 10 : Compromise, Arrangement and Amalgamations - Concepts

Compromise and Arrangement are form of corporate restructuring which is an inorganic business strategy where one or more aspects of a business are redesigned to improve commercial efficiency, manage competition effectively, drive faster pace of growth, ensure effective utilization of resource, and fulfilment of stakeholders' expectations. It serves different purpose for different companies at different points of time and may take up various forms.

'Compromise' is an amicable agreement between the parties in which they make mutual concessions in order to solve the differences between them. Whereas, 'arrangement' is the process by which the share capital of the company is reorganized either by consolidating or division of the shares or doing both.

'Oppression' is that it is an unjust or cruel exercise of authority/ power. Whereas, 'Mismanagement' means conducting affairs in some prejudicial, dishonest manner. A class action allows a number of claimants with a common grievance against a company to file a lawsuit against it.

This lesson outlines the concepts of Compromise, Arrangements & Amalgamations along with concept of oppression and mismanagement and class action suits.

Lesson 11 : Dormant Company

Companies are generally classified on the basis of their incorporation, number of members, size, basis of control and motive. Additionally, companies can also be classified based on their status. Sometimes, the promoters of a company may feel the need to temporarily close down the company due to various reasons, but they do not want to dissolve it. In such cases, the company may become dormant as against an active company which is carrying on business. Thus, on the basis of its status, companies may be classified into active, dormant, under liquidation, under process of striking off, strike off, dissolved, amalgamated, etc. The 'status' of the company signifies the current state of the company - Whether it is active and operating OR dormant OR it has been struck off and closed.

As a Company Secretary, one must be aware of the procedure of obtaining status of dormant company, active company, the compliances involved for a dormant company etc.

This lesson outlines the legal framework for Dormant Companies, the procedure to obtain the status of a dormant company from active company and vice-versa, compliance requirements by dormant companies, prerequisites for obtaining the status of dormant company, etc.

Lesson 12: Inspection, Inquiry and Investigation

Shareholders have been vested with various rights including the right to elect directors. However, shareholders are often ill-equipped to exercise effective control over the affairs of companies and particularly in companies whose shareholders are widely scattered, the shareholders are, by and large, sleeping and passive partners, and the affairs of such companies are managed to all intents and purposes, by its Board of directors to the exclusion of a predominant majority of shareholders. Such a situation leads to abuse of power by persons in control of the affairs of company. It became, therefore, imperative for the Central Government to assume certain powers to investigate the affairs of the company in appropriate cases particularly where there was reason to believe that the business of the company was being conducted with the intent to defraud its creditors or members or for a fraudulent or unlawful purpose, or in any manner oppressive of any of its members. Chapter XIV contains Sections 206 to 229 of the Companies Act, 2013, deals with the provisions relating to Inspection, Inquiry and Investigation of the affairs of company.

This lesson outlines the powers for inspection alongwith purpose of conducting inspection, kinds of investigations, powers of inspector to conduct investigation into affairs of related companies Protection of employees during Investigation, Seizure of Documents by Inspector, Freezing of Assets of Company on Inquiry and Investigation, Imposition of Restrictions upon Securities, Inspector's Report, Expenses of Investigation, Preparation by a Company Secretary to face Investigation, Establishment of Serious Fraud Investigation Office and Process of Investigation by Serious Fraud Investigation Office.

Lesson 13: General Meetings

A company may have many kinds of meetings; general meetings are one among them. In very simple terms, a meeting of general body may be called general meeting. A general meeting may be Annual General Meeting (AGM), Extraordinary General Meeting (EGM) and class meetings. The new Act permits for meeting of Board of directors through video conferencing or audio conferencing. The Lesson discusses the broad parameters of holding such meetings and the restrictions thereat. E-voting at a general meeting has now been practiced and well recognized by the law. The fundamental principles with respect to General Meetings are laid down in the Act. SS-2 facilitates compliance with these principles by endeavouring to provide further clarity where there is ambiguity or establishing benchmark standards to harmonise prevalent diverse practices. SS-2 requires the Company Secretary (ies) to over-see the vital process of facilitating and recording the decision making process in a company besides maintaining the integrity of the Meetings. Where there is no Company Secretary in the company or in absence of the Company Secretary, any Director or other Key Managerial Personnel (KMP) or any other person authorised by the Board for this purpose may discharge such of the functions of the Company Secretary as given in SS-2.

A Company Secretary plays a critical role in preparation, convening, holding and conducting a meeting. This Lesson gives an overall idea of not only legal framework but also secretarial work involved in conducting a meeting.

Lesson 14: Directors

The directors play a very important role in the day to day functioning of the company. It is the board, who is responsible for the company's overall performance. Only individuals can be appointed as directors of a company. The subscribers to the memorandum who are individuals are deemed to be the first directors of the company. Thereafter the shareholders or in many cases the board of directors appoint the directors. The Act has brought in many new provisions such as appointment of women director, resident director, independent director by certain class of companies. As a Company Secretary you should be in know of the subject.

The Lesson discusses the procedure for appointment, re-appointment and removal of the various types of directors, the rights, and duties of a director.

Lesson 15: Board Composition and Powers of the Board

The Board of director is the ultimate decision – making body and determines the delegation of powers throughout the company; it is considered to be the primary organ of the company. The role of the Board is summarized as:

- Providing entrepreneurial leadership;
- Setting strategy;
- Ensuring the human and financial resources are available to achieve objectives;
- Reviewing management performance;
- Setting up company's values and standards;
- Ensuring robustness of financial controls and risk management.

Section 149(1) of the Companies Act, 2013 requires that every company shall have a minimum number of 3 directors in the case of a public company, two directors in the case of a private company, and one director in the case of a One Person Company. A company can appoint maximum 15 fifteen directors.

As per Securities and Exchange Board of India (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirement), 2015 the composition of Board of Directors in a listed company shall have a combination of executive and non-executive directors with at least one woman director and not less than fifty per cent of the board of directors shall constitute of non-executive directors and if the chairperson of the board of directors is a non-executive director, then at least one-third of the board of directors shall constitute of independent directors and if the listed entity has an executive chairperson, then at least half of the board of directors shall comprise of independent directors.

This Lesson guides on the constitution of the Board, its powers and restrictions. Board committees are constituted in accordance with Companies Act, 2013 and SEBI (Listing Obligations & Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015.

This Lesson also discusses about Inter corporate loans and investments which play a vital role in the growth of Industries since they result in flow of funds to group companies or other companies in need of funds. The Companies Act, 2013 (Act) has come up with a change in the concept of 'Loan and Investment by Company'. The new Act provides that inter-corporate investments not to be made through more than two layers of investment companies.

Related party transactions adopted by the companies could be a possible tool for corporate abuse. Transfer of economic resources to the related party at less than arm's length price is necessitated for host of reasons ranging from evasion/avoidance of tax liability to siphon-off the resources. That's why various laws and regulations stipulate the deeper scrutiny and the greater disclosures of such transactions. The Companies Act, 2013 does provide for a framework for transactions in which directors, etc., are interested with a view to avoid situation of conflict of interest. The lesson examines the legal provisions with respect to related party transaction; inter corporate loans, investments, guarantees and security.

Lesson 16: Meetings of Board and its Committees

Under Companies Act, 2013 the Board has to meet at least four times in a year and not more one hundred and twenty days shall intervene between two consecutive Board meetings. Section 173 of the Act deals with Meetings of the Board and Section 174 deals with quorum. A board committee is a small working group identified by the board, consisting of board members, for the purpose of supporting the board's work. Committees are generally formed to perform some expertise work. Members of the committee are expected to have expertise in the specified field. However, the Board of Directors are ultimately responsible for the acts of the committee. Board is responsible for defining the committee role and structure. The committees have to meet in accordance with the terms of reference of the committee.

A Board can set up committees with particular terms of reference when it needs assistance (for example a New project sub-committee) or when an issue requires more resources and attention (review of effect of legislative changes on organizational programs). They can be set up for a specific purpose or to deal with general issues such as 'development'. They can be established on a short-term or temporary basis, or they can be formed as a permanent body for ongoing work.

As a Company Secretary you need to guide the members on the conduct of affairs of the company and facilitate the convening of meetings and attend Board and Committee meetings and maintain minutes of these meetings.

This Lesson gives the basic idea of holding a meeting of the board or committee, holding virtual board meetings, Secretarial Standards-1 and drafting of notice, agenda and minutes of board and committee meetings.

Lesson 17: Corporate Social Responsibility - Concepts

The concept of Corporate Social responsibility (CSR) has been introduced for the first time in India through Companies Act, 2013. As per rule 2(d) of the CSR Rules as amended "Corporate Social Responsibility" means the activities undertaken by a company in pursuance of its statutory obligation laid down in section 135 of the Act in accordance with the provisions contained in CSR Rules. Every company covered under section 135(1) of the Act is required to constitute a CSR committee of the Board consisting of at least three or more directors with at least one independent director. With the enactment of the Companies Act, 2013, India has become the forerunner to mandate spend on Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) activities through a statutory provision. India has a tradition of corporate philanthropy, while many corporate houses like TATA, Birlas have been traditionally engaged in doing CSR activities voluntarily, the new CSR provisions has put a greater responsibility on companies in India to set out clear CSR framework.

The Act mandates the spending of atleast 2 % of the net profits towards CSR activities within the defined parameters. The Board has been held responsible to ensure compliance with the provision. Non-compliance of the provision has to be reflected in the Board's report and may not be taken well by the investors.

This Lesson details the framework that the company has to comply with right from the constitution of the committee, to its role and manner in which a company can carry out its CSR activities, and CSR reporting and impact assessment. As a Company Secretary you have to guide the Board on the subject.

Lesson 18: Annual Report - Concepts

Annual reports are the summarized statements of the financial position and all the material events took place in the business entity in the previous financial year. It is a mandatory requirement for every company whether the company is listed or not. Whereas, the Board's Report is an important means of communication by the Board of Directors of a company with its stakeholders. The Board's Report provides the stakeholders with both financial and non-financial information, including the performance and prospects of the company, relevant changes in the management and capital structure, recommendations as to the distribution of profits, future and on-going programmes of expansion, modernisation and diversification, capitalisation of reserves, further issue of capital and other relevant information.

The "Secretarial Standard on Report of the Board of Directors" (SS-4), formulated by the Secretarial Standards Board (SSB) of the Institute of Company Secretaries of India (ICSI) and issued by the Council of the ICSI, has been effective from 1st October, 2018. Adherence to SS-4 is recommendatory. SS-4 prescribes a set of principles for making disclosures in the Report of the Board of Directors of a company and matters related thereto. SS-4 is in conformity with the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013.

This lesson outlines the concepts of annual reports, board's report, annual return and understanding of Secretarial Standards on report of board of directors.

Lesson 19: Key Managerial Personnel (KMP's) and their Remuneration

The executive management of a company is responsible for the day to day functioning of the company. The Companies Act, 2013 has used the term key managerial personnel to define the executive management. The key managerial personnel are the point of first contact between the company and its stakeholders. While the Board is responsible for providing the oversight, it is the key management personnel who are responsible for not just laying down the strategies as well as its implementation.

The Companies Act, 2013 has introduced a new concept for appointment of the Key Managerial Personnel at top level of the organizational structure. In the new Act the position of company secretary has been enhanced multifold, from record keeper to key managerial personnel. A present day Company Secretary is expected to do statutory, administrative, managerial and strategic functions.

Sections 203 of the Companies Act, 2013 read with rule 8 of Companies (Appointment and Remuneration of Managerial Personnel) Rules, 2014 provides that the every listed company and every other public company having a paid-up share capital of ten crore rupees or more shall have whole-time key managerial personnel i.e. MD or CEO or Manager and in their absence a WTD, CS and CFO.

This Lesson guides on the appointment, procedure for appointment and role to be undertaken as KMP.

INTRODUCTION – JURISPRUDENCE OF COMPANY LAW

Company Law in India, is the cherished child of the English parents. Our various Companies Acts have been modelled on the English Acts. Following the enactment of the Joint Stock Companies Act, 1844 in England, the first Companies Act was passed in India in 1850.

The Indian Companies Act, 1866, the Indian Companies Act, 1882, the Companies Act, 1913, and the Companies Act, 1956 was earlier law passed in India. The Companies Act, 2013 received the assent of the President on August 29, 2013 and was notified in the Gazette of India on August 30, 2013. Every Companies Act introduced new concepts. Like, before notifying the Companies Act, 2013 there were no concepts regarding Corporate Social Responsibility, One Person Company and internal/secretarial audit based on threshold limits etc.

CONCEPT PAPER ON COMPANY LAW, 2004 & J.J. IRANI REPORT

Background

A Concept Paper on Company Law drawn up in the legislative format was exposed for public viewing on the electronic media so that all interested parties may not only express their opinions on the concepts involved but may also suggest formulations on various aspects of Company Law.

On August 4, 2004 the Ministry of Company Affairs had published a Concept Paper on Company Law on its website to enable a broad-based examination of various Company Law issues requiring revision. A large number of comments and suggestions were received on the Concept Paper. Later, on December 2, 2004, the Government constituted an Expert Committee on Company Law under the Chairmanship of Dr. J J Irani, the then Director, Tata Sons, with the task of advising the Government on the proposed revisions to the Companies Act, 1956 with the objective to have a simplified compact law that will be able to address the changes taking place in the national and international scenario, enable the adoption of internationally accepted best practices as well as provide adequate flexibility for timely evolution of new arrangements in response to the requirements of ever- changing business models. The Committee submitted its report to the Government on 31st May 2005. The report was charting out the road map for a flexible, dynamic and user-friendly new company law.

The Report of the Committee had also sought to bring in multifarious progressive and visionary concepts and endeavored to recommend a significant shift from the "Government Approval Regime" to a "Shareholder Approval and Disclosure Regime". Broad recommendations of the Expert Committee include:

- Private and small companies need to be given flexibilities and freedom of operations and compliance at a low cost
- Companies with higher public interest should be subject to a stricter regime of Corporate Governance
- Government Companies and Public Financial Institutions should be subject to similar parameters with respect to disclosures and Corporate Governance as other companies
- Simplified regulatory regime backed by strengthened disclosure
- To attune the Indian Company Law with the global reforms taking place in the arena

The Companies Act, 2013

It becomes true, when the initial unrest of business community was taken to the Government and to address the practical difficulties faced by the business community upon notification of the various provisions of the Act and Rules made thereunder and the term “Ease of Doing Business” was popularised in India.

On Ease of Doing Business front, the Government of India has enacted the series of amendments, relaxation, exemptions and simplification in the various Acts, Rules, Regulations etc. covering various business related issues and processes and also extends support to facilitate ease of doing business. In the series the Companies Act, 2013 has also been amended to extend relief to the business entities governed under the Companies Act, 2013. The amendments were brought through the Companies (Amendment) Act, 2015, the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016, the Companies (Amendment) Act, 2017, and the Companies (Amendment) Act, 2019 and the Companies (Amendment) Act, 2020.

DOCTRINE OF ULTRA VIRES

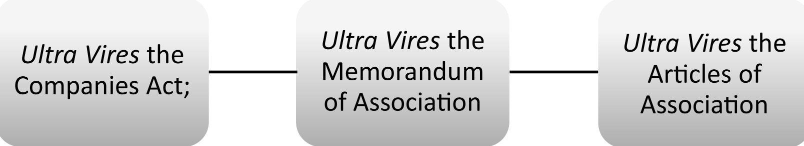
Ultra vires is a Latin term made up of two words "ultra" which means beyond and "vires" meaning power or authority. Ultra vires acts are any acts that lie beyond the authority of a company to perform.

Any activity done in contrary to or in excess of the scope of activity of the Companies Act, Memorandum of Association or Articles of Association will be ultra vires. Ultra vires activities can be divided into the following three divisions:



Ultra Vires the Companies Act:

The power of a company is derived from the law governing it. Section 6 of the Companies Act, 2013 expressly provides that the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 shall prevail notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the memorandum or articles of a company, or in any agreement executed by it, or in any resolution passed by the company in general meeting or by its Board of Directors, whether the same be registered, executed or passed, as the case may be, before or after the commencement of this Act.

Any act done contrary to or in excess of the scope of activity of the Companies Act will be ultra vires the Companies Act. Such an act is void and cannot be ratified even by unanimous resolution of all the shareholders.

For Example; If board members are appointed or removed without following statutory provisions; payment of dividend out of capital or reduced the share capital of the company without complying with the legal formalities.

It also declares a provision contained in the memorandum, articles, agreement or resolution void if it's repugnant to any of the provisions in the Act.

Ultra Vires the Memorandum of Association:

What is Memorandum of Association?

The Memorandum of Association (MOA) is a document listing out the constitution of a company, essentially represents the foundation stone on which the structure of the company is built. It contains clauses detailing the boundaries of the company's activities and its relations with the outside world.

The important attribute of the MOA is considered to be its "objects clause". Section 4(1)(c) of the Companies Act, 2013 requires every company to state in their MOA, the objects for which the company is proposed to be incorporated and any matter considered necessary in furtherance thereof.

The memorandum of association of a company restrict the powers of the company while defining the object of the company. A company cannot do anything, which is beyond the purview of the object clause. Any act done in contrary to the object clause of the memorandum of association will be ultra vires the memorandum of association.

In the case of a company whatever is not stated in the memorandum as the objects or powers is prohibited by the doctrine of ultra vires. As a result, an act which is ultra vires is void, and does not bind the company. Neither the company nor the contracting party can sue on it. Such an act is void and cannot be ratified even by unanimous resolution of all the shareholders.

Ultra Vires the Articles of Association:

What is Articles of Association:

In terms of Section 5(1) of the Companies Act 2013, the Articles of Association (AOA) of a company shall contain the bye-laws and regulations for the management of the internal affairs of the company. It plays a vital role in governing a company's affairs and also defines the rights of its members inter-se.

If a company acts which are ultra vires the Articles of Association but intra vires the memorandum of association (i.e. outside the scope of articles but within the powers conferred by the memorandum) will be ultra vires the Articles of Association. That is, payment of interest on 'advance calls' at a rate higher than allowed by articles. These acts are also void, but the company in general meeting may alter the Articles by a special resolution and ratify the unauthorized acts.

CASE LAW

In Re. South Durham Brewery Company [(1875) LR 7 HL 653], the MoA of the company was unclear as to the classes of shares to be issued by it, but the AoA of the company gave power to issue shares of different classes as described therein. The Hon'ble Court held that Articles can be used to explain the ambiguity contained in the memorandum.

"........their Lordships agree that in such cases the two documents must be read together at all events so far as may be necessary to explain any ambiguity appearing in the terms of the memorandum, or to supplement it upon any matter as to which it is silent."

Also, as stated earlier, the company cannot make it valid, even if every member assents to it. The general rule is that an act which is ultra vires the company is incapable of ratification. An act which is intra vires the company but outside the authority of the directors may be ratified by the company in proper form [Rajendra Nath Dutta v. Shilendra Nath Mukherjee, (1982) 52 Com Cases 293 (Cal.)].

The rule is meant to protect shareholders and the creditors of the company. If the act is ultra vires (beyond the powers of) the directors only, the shareholders can ratify it. If it is ultra vires the Articles of Association, the company can alter its articles in the proper way and thereby such acts can be duly ratified.

CASE LAW

The doctrine of ultra vires was first enunciated by the House of Lords in a classic case, Ashbury Railway Carriage and Iron Co. Ltd. v. Riche, (1878) L.R. 7 H.L. 653.

The memorandum of the company in the said case defined its objects thus: "The objects for which the company is established are to make and sell, or lend or hire, railway plants to carry on the business of mechanical engineers and general contractors. "

The company entered into a contract with M/s. Riche, a firm of railway contractors to finance the construction of a railway line in Belgium. On subsequent repudiation of this contract by the company on the ground of its being ultra vires, Riche brought a case for damages on the ground of breach of contract, as according to him the words "general contractors" in the objects clause gave power to the company to enter into such a contract and, therefore, it was within the powers of the company. More so because the contract was ratified by a majority of shareholders.

The House of Lords held that the contract was ultra vires the company and, therefore, null and void. The term "general contractor" was interpreted to indicate as the making generally of such contracts as are connected with the business of mechanical engineers. The Court held that if every shareholder of the company had been in the room and had said, "That is a contract which we desire to make, which we authorize the directors to make", still it would be ultra vires. The shareholders cannot ratify such a contract, as the contract was ultra vires the objects clause, which by Act of Parliament, they were prohibited from doing.

However, later on, the House of Lords held in other cases that the doctrine of ultra vires should be applied reasonably and unless it is expressly prohibited, a company may do an act which is necessary for or incidental to the attainment of its objects. Section 13(1)(d) of the Companies Act, 1956 [Corresponds to section 4(1)(c) of the Companies Act, 2013] provides that the objects for which the company is proposed to be incorporated and any matter considered necessary in furtherance thereof be stated in the memorandum. However, even when the matters considered necessary in furtherance of the objects are not stated, they would be allowed by the principle of reasonable construction of the memorandum.

CASE LAW

Justice Shah (afterwards C.J.) in the case A. Lakshmanaswami Mudaliar v. L.I.C., A.I.R. 1963 S.C. 1185, upheld the doctrine of ultra vires. In this case, the directors of the company were authorized "to make payments towards any charitable or any benevolent object or for any general public or useful object". In accordance with shareholders' resolution the directors paid Rs. 2 lacs to a trust formed for the purpose of promoting technical and business knowledge. The company's business having been taken over by L.I.C., it had no business left of its own.

The Supreme Court held that the payment was ultra vires the company. Directors could not spend company's money on any charitable or general objects. They could spend for the promotion of only such charitable objects as would be useful for the attainment of the company's own objects. It is pertinent to add that the powers vested in the Board of directors, e.g., power to borrow money, is not an object of the company. The powers must be exercised to promote the company's objects. Charity is allowed only to the extent to which it is necessary in the reasonable management of the affairs of the company. Justice Shah held: "There must be proximate connection between the gift and the company's business interest". Thus "gifts to foster research relevant to the company's activities" and "payments to widows of ex-employees on the footing that such payments encourage persons to enter the employment of the company" have been upheld as valid and intra vires.

In this regard the Act provides for bonafide charitable spending by the company. Section 181 of the Companies Act, 2013 authorizes the Board of directors to contribute to bona fide charitable and other funds. However, prior consent of the company in general meeting, has to be obtained in order to contribute for any bona fide charitable or other purpose any amount exceeding five per cent of the average net profits for the three immediately preceding financial years.

The power of the Board as regards contribution to funds, which do directly relate to business of the company is unrestricted. It should not be inferred from the language of the section that with the consent of the company in general meeting, the board of directors may contribute to charitable funds to an unlimited extent, unless MoA and AoA authorizes such expenditure. If it does not authorize so it will be ultra vires the powers of the company.

A bank or any other person lending to a company, for purposes ultra vires the memorandum, cannot recover [National Provincial Bank v. Introductions Ltd., (1969) 1 All. E.R. 887].

Further, in the case of Bell Houses Ltd. v. City Wall Properties Limited (1966) 36 Com Cases 779, the objects clause included a power to "carry on any other trade or business whatsoever which can, in the opinion of the Board of directors, be advantageously carried on by the company." The Court has held the same to be in order.

Loans, Borrowings, Guarantees and Ultra Vires Rule

An ultra vires borrowing does not create a relationship of a debtor and creditor. In a case, a company had accepted deposits from outsiders which was outside the scope of the Memorandum. When the company was ordered to be wound up, a question was raised whether the depositors were creditors of the company and whether the contributories could be asked to contribute towards payment of deposits. The Court held that the relationship between the company and the depositors was not that of debtor and creditor. But if the lender had lent the amount for discharging lawful expenses, he may recover the amount.

Whether a transaction is ultra vires the company can be decided on the basis of the following:

1. if a transaction entered into by a company falls within the objects, it is not ultra vires and hence not void;
2. if a transaction is outside the capacity (objects) of the company, it is ultra vires;
3. if a transaction is in excess or abuse of the company's powers, it is ultra vires and such transaction will be set aside by the shareholders or even ratification by the shareholders would not validate the acts done beyond the authority of the company itself.

Implied Powers

The powers exercisable by a company are to be confined to the objects specified in the memorandum. While the objects are to be specified, the powers exercisable in respect of them may be express or implied and need not be specified.

Every company may necessarily possess certain powers which are implied, such as, a power to appoint and act through agents, and where it is a trading company, a power to borrow and give security for the purposes of its business, and also a power to sell. Such powers are incidental and can be inferred from the powers expressed in the memorandum. [Oakbank Oil Co. v. Crum (1882) 8 App Cas 65]. The principle underlying the exercise of such powers is that a company, in carrying on the business for which it is constituted, must be able to pursue those things which may be regarded as incidental to or consequential upon that business. [Egyptian Salt and Soda Co. v. Port Said Salt Association].

Powers which are not implied

The following powers have been held not to be implied and it is, therefore, prudent to include them expressly in the objects clauses:

1. acquiring any business similar to the company's own business. [Ernest v. Nicholls, (1857) 6 HLC 40];

2. entering into an agreement with other persons or companies for carrying on business in partnership or for sharing profit, joint venture or other arrangements. Very clear powers are necessary to justify such transactions [Re. European Society Arbitration Act (1878) 8 Ch 679];
3. taking shares in other companies having similar objects. [Re. Barned's Banking Co., ex parte and The Contract Corporation (1867) 3 Ch. App. 105. Re. William Thomas & Co. Ltd. (1915) 1 Ch 325];
4. taking shares of other companies where such investment authorizes the doing indirectly that which will not be intra vires if done directly;
5. promoting other companies or helping them financially [Joint Stock Discount Co. v. Brown, (1869) LR 8 EQ 381];
6. a power to sell and dispose of the whole of a company's undertaking;
7. a power to use funds for political purposes;
8. a power to give gifts and make donations or contribution for charities not relating to the objects stated in the memorandum;
9. acting as a surety or as a guarantor.

Shareholder's right in respect of ultra vires acts

A shareholder can get back the money paid by him to the company under an ultra vires allotment of shares. A transferee of shares from him would not have been so allowed. [Margarate Linz v. Electric Wire Co. of Salestine Ltd. (1948) 18 Com Cases 201, 205 : AIR 1949 PC 51].

Effects of ultra vires Transactions

(i) Void ab initio – The ultra vires acts are null and void ab initio. The company is not bound by these acts. Even the company cannot sue or be sued upon [Ashbury Railway Carriage and Iron Company v. Riche].

Ultra vires contracts are void ab initio and hence cannot become intra vires by reason of estoppel or ratification.

(ii) Injunction: The members can get an injunction to restrain a company wherein ultra vires act has been or is about to be undertaken [Attorney General v. Gr. Eastern Rly. Co., (1880) 5 A.C. 473].

(iii) Personal liability of Directors: It is one of the duties of directors to ensure that the corporate capital is used only for the legitimate business of the company and hence if such capital is diverted to purposes alien to the company's memorandum, the directors will be personally liable to replace it. In Jehangir R. Modi v. Shamji Ladha, [(1866-67) 4 Bom. HCR (1855)], the Bombay High Court held, "A shareholder can maintain an action against the directors to compel them to restore to the company the funds of the company that have by them been employed in transactions that they have no authority to enter into, without making the company a party to the suit".

In case of deliberate misapplication, criminal action can also be taken for fraud.

However, a distinction must be drawn between transactions which are ultra vires the company and the transactions which are ultra vires the directors. Where the directors exceed their authority the same may be ratified by passing the resolution in the general body meeting of the shareholders. Provided the company has the capacity to do that transaction as per its memorandum of association.

(iv) Where a company's money has been used ultra vires to acquire some property, the company's right over such property is held secure and the company will be the right party to protect the property. This is because, though the property has been acquired for some ultra vires object, it represents the money of the company.

(v) Ultra vires borrowing does not create the relationship of creditor and debtor [In Re. Madras Native Permanent Fund Ltd., (1931) 1 Com Cases 256 (Mad.)].

(vi) Ultra vires* torts: A company will not be liable for torts committed outside its objects.

In order to make the company liable for the torts/crime of its employees, it will have to be proved that:

i) the tort was committed in the course of an activity which is in the purview of company's memorandum, and

ii) it was committed by the employee within the course of his employment.

(vii) Ultra vires* grants and guarantees: Directors cannot make an unauthorized grant unless object is to promote prosperity of the company or the grant is incidental to carrying out of the object of the company. [In Re LEE Behrens & Co., (1932) 2 Comp Cas 588 (Ch. D).]

A Guarantee for the payment of dividends, which enables the guarantee to bring an action against the company for reimbursement even when there are no profit, is ultra vires and void. [In Re Walter's Deed of Guarantee, (1933) 3 Comp Cas 308 (CD)].

Exceptions to the doctrine of ultra vires

- Any act which is performed irregularly, but otherwise it is intra-vires the company, can be validated by the shareholders of the company by giving their consent in general meeting.
- If any act is deemed to be within the authority of the company by the Companies Act, 2013, then they will not be considered as ultra- vires even if they are not expressly stated in the MoA.
- Any incidental or consequential effect of the ultra-vires act will not be invalid unless the Companies Act, 2013 expressly prohibits such act.
- Any act which is outside the authority of the directors of the company but otherwise it is intra-vires the company can be ratified by the shareholder of the company.

DOCTRINE OF INDOOR MANAGEMENT

While the doctrine of, 'constructive notice" seeks to protect the company against the outsiders, the principal of 'indoor management' operates to protect the outsiders against the company. This doctrine emphasizes on the concept that an outsider whose actions are in good faith and has entered into a transaction with a company can have a presumption that there are no irregularities internally and all the procedural requirements have been complied with by the company.

The doctrine of indoor management, also known as the Turquand rule is an around one fifty years old concept, which protects outsiders against the actions done by the company.

CASE LAW

In Royal British Bank v. Turquand, the directors of a banking company were authorized by the articles to borrow on bonds such sums of money as should from time to time, by resolution of the company in general meeting, be authorized to borrow. The directors gave a bond to Turquand without the authority of any such resolution. It was held that Turquand could sue the company on the strength of the bond, as he was entitled to assume that the necessary resolution had been passed. Lord Hatherly observed: "Outsiders are bound to know the external position of the company but are not bound to know its indoor management".

Section 176 of the Companies Act, 2013 provides for the Validity of Acts of Directors - No act done by a person as a director shall be deemed to be invalid, notwithstanding that it was subsequently noticed that his appointment was invalid by reason of any defect or disqualification or had terminated by virtue of any provision contained in this Act or in the Articles of the company:

Provided that nothing in this section shall be deemed to give validity to any act done by the director after his appointment has been noticed by the company to be invalid or have been terminated.

The object of the section is to protect persons dealing with the company - outsiders as well as members by providing that the acts of a person acting as director will be treated as valid although it may afterwards be discovered that his appointment was invalid or that it had terminated under any provision of this Act or the Articles of the company [Ram Raghubir Lal v. United Refineries (Burma) Ltd., (1932) 2 Com Cases 359; AIR 1931 Rang 139].

Example of Indoor Management:

Question: Planet Limited received a cheque from Earth Limited. The Articles of Association of Earth Limited provided that cheques issued by the company need to be signed by two directors and countersigned by the secretary. The directors nor the secretary who signed the cheque was appointed properly and thus the cheque issued was not valid. Planet Limited sued the company for the irregularities in the procedure. Is Planet Limited liable for relief?

Answer: Planet Limited is entitled to relief and the company has to pay the amount of the cheque since the appointment of directors is a part of the internal management of the company and a person dealing with the company is not required to enquire about it.

Relation of company with members and outsiders

The validation of the acts of unqualified directors may apply to circumstances from two different angles:

(1) as between outsiders, strangers and the company as in Royal British Bank v. Turquand, (1856) 5 E&B 327, British Asbestos Co. Ltd. v. Boyd. (1903) 2 Ch 439 : (1900-3) All ER Rep 323; and Ram Buran Singh v. Mufassil Bank Ltd. AIR 1925 All 206; and

(2) in relation to the internal affairs of the company as in Dawson v. African Consolidated Land & Trading Co., (1898) 1 Ch 6 (CA), where calls made by unqualified directors were held valid. Even if the public documents of the company, and the facts which are apparent, would make it clear that a director was not duly qualified to act, this will not oust the effect of the Section 176 (British Asbestos case) (supra). Similarly in Boschoek Proprietary Co. Ltd. v. Fuke, (1906) 1 Ch 148, a resolution of a general meeting convened by de facto directors was upheld.

Forgery and incompetent acts

This section does not apply where the act itself is not in the competence of the Board of directors, e.g. compromising unpaid calls under the guise of forfeiture, the transaction being ultra vires and invalid [Bhagirath Spinning & Wvg. Co. v. Balaji Bhavani Pawar, AIR 1930 Bom. 267].

Directors not aware of their disqualification

The allotment and forfeiture of shares made by the directors who continued to act even after they were disqualified but were not aware of it, were saved by the Section 176. [Shiromani Sugar Mills Ltd. v. Debi Prasad, (1950) 20 Com Cases 296: AIR 1950 All 508]. Where this section does not save the situation, the company may in general meeting ratify allotment of shares even if made by de facto directors with mala fide intentions [Bamford v. Bamford, (1969) 39 Com Cases 838 : (1969) 2 WLR (1107) (CA) and an appeal (1969) : 1All ER 969].

Where the directors in question were not aware of the fact that by virtue of certain provisions in the articles, they had vacated their office, their acts in passing resolutions for starting certain business transactions were held to be valid [Seth Mohan Lal v. Grain Chambers Ltd., (1968) 38 Com Cases 543 : AIR 1968 SC 772; Shiromani Sugar Mills Ltd. v. Debi Prasad, (Supra)].

It is important to remember that the doctrine of "constructive notice", can be invoked by the company and it does not operate against the company. It operates against the person who has failed to inquire but does not operate in his favour. But the doctrine of "indoor management" can be invoked by the person dealing with the company and cannot be invoked by the company.

An outsider is entitled to act on a certified copy of the resolution of the Board of directors delegating the powers of borrowing money to the managing director subject to the limitation mentioned therein [C.K. Siva Sankara Panicker v. Kerala State Financial Corporation, (1980) 50 Com Cases 817 (Ker.)].

Exceptions to the Doctrine of Indoor Management

The above noted 'doctrine of indoor management' is, however, subject to certain exceptions. In other words, relief on the ground of 'indoor management' cannot be claimed by an outsider dealing with the company in the following circumstances.

1. Where the outsider had knowledge of irregularity – The rule does not protect any person who has actual or even an implied notice of the lack of authority of the person acting on behalf of the company. Thus, a person knowing fully well that the directors do not have the authority to make the transaction but still enters into it, cannot seek protection under the rule of indoor management. In Howard v. Patent Ivory Co. (38 Ch. D 156), the articles of a company empowered the directors to borrow upto one thousand pounds only. They could, however, exceed the limit of one thousand pounds with the consent of the company in general meeting. Without such consent having been obtained, they borrowed 3,500 pounds from one of the directors who took debentures. The company refused to pay the amount. Held that, the debentures were good to the extent of one thousand pounds only because the director had notice or was deemed to have the notice of the internal irregularity.

2. No knowledge of Memorandum and Articles – Again, the rule cannot be invoked in favour of a person who did not consult the memorandum and articles and thus did not rely on them. In Rama Corporation v. Proved Tin & General Investment Co. (1952) 1All. ER 554, T was a director in the company. He, purporting to act on behalf of the company, entered into a contract with the Rama Corporation and took a cheque from the latter. The articles of the company did provide that the directors could delegate their powers to one of them. But Rama Corporation people had never read the articles. Later, it was found that the directors of the company did not delegate their powers to T. The Plaintiff relied on the rule of indoor management. Held, they could not because they even did not know that power could be delegated.

3. Forgery – The rule of indoor management does not extend to transactions involving forgery or to transactions which are otherwise void or illegal ab initio. In the case of forgery it is not that there is absence of free consent but there is no consent at all. The person whose signatures have been forged is not even aware of the transaction, and the question of his consent being free or otherwise does not arise. Consequently, it is not that the title of the person is defective but there is no title at all. Therefore, howsoever clever the forgery might have been, the personates acquire no rights at all. Thus, where the secretary of a company forged signatures of two of the directors required under the articles on a share certificate and issued certificate without authority, the applicants were refused registration as members of the company. The certificate was held to be nullity and the holder of the certificate was not allowed to take advantage of the doctrine of indoor management [Rouben v. Great Fingal Consolidated (1906) AC 439].

   Forgery, in the case of a company, can take place in different forms. It may, besides forgery of the signatures of the authorized officials, include the execution of a document towards the personal discharge of an official's liability instead of the liability of the company. Thus, a bill of exchange signed by the manager of a company with his own signature under words stating that he signed on behalf of the company, was held to be forgery when the bill was drawn in favour of a payee to whom the manager was personally indebted [Kreditbank Cassel v. Schenkers Ltd. (1927) 1 KB 826]. The bill in this case was held to be forged because it purported to be a different document from what it was in fact; it purported to be issued on behalf of the company in payment of its debt when in fact it was issued in payment of the manager's own debt.

4. Negligence – The 'doctrine of indoor management', in no way, rewards those who behave negligently. Thus, where an officer of a company does something which shall not ordinarily be within his powers, the person dealing with him must make proper enquiries and satisfy himself as to the officer's authority. If he fails to make an enquiry, he is estopped from relying on the Rule. In the case of Underwood v. Benkof Liverpool (1924) 1 KB 775, a person who was a sole director and principal shareholder of a company deposited into his own account cheques drawn in favour of the company. Held, that, the bank should have made inquiries as to the power of the director. The bank was put upon an enquiry and was accordingly not entitled to rely upon the ostensible authority of director.

   Similarly, in the case of Anand Behari Lal v. Dinshaw & Co. (Bankers) Ltd. AIR 1942 Oudh 417, an accountant of a company transferred some property of a company in favour of Anand Behari. On an action brought by him for breach of contract, the Court held that the transfer to be void. It was observed that the power of transferring immovable property of the company could not be considered within the apparent authority of an accountant.

5. Again, the doctrine of indoor management does not apply where the question is in regard to the very existence of an agency. In Varkey Souriar v. Keraleeya Banking Co. Ltd. (1957) 27 Com Cases 591 (Ker.), the Hon'ble Kerala High Court held that the 'doctrine of indoor management' cannot apply where the question is not one as to scope of the power exercised by an apparent agent of a company but is with regard to the very existence of the agency.

6. This Doctrine is also not applicable where a pre-condition is required to be fulfilled before company itself can exercise a particular power. In other words, the act done is not merely ultra vires the directors/ officers but ultra vires the company itself – Pacific Coast Coal Mines v. Arbuthnot (1917) AC 607.

   In the end, it is worthwhile to mention that section 6 of the Companies Act, 2013 gives overriding force and effect to the provisions of the Act, notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the memorandum or articles of a company or in any agreement executed by it or for that matter in any resolution of the company in general meeting or of its board of directors. A provision contained in the memorandum, articles, agreement or resolution to the extent to which it is repugnant to the provisions of the Act, will be regarded as void.

A corporation, organization or other entity set up to provide a legal shield for the person actually controlling the operation.

Illustration:

Question: Butterfly Limited receives a share certificate of Flower Limited issued under the seal of the company. The company secretary issues the certificate after affixing the seal and forging the signature of the two directors. Butterfly Limited files a lawsuit claiming that the forging of signatures is a part of the internal management of the company. Is the claim by Butterfly Limited valid and is liable to get relief?

Answer: According to the exceptions to the doctrine of indoor management, a transaction involving forgery is null and void. Since the document issued to Butterfly Limited is null and void, the claim made by him is not valid. Thus, he is not entitled to any relief.

DOCTRINE OF CONSTRUCTIVE NOTICE

In companies law the doctrine of constructive notice is a doctrine where all persons dealing with a company are deemed (or "construed") to have knowledge of the company's Articles of Association and Memorandum of Association.

The Memorandum and Articles, when registered, become public documents and can be inspected by anyone on payment of nominal fee. Therefore, every person who contemplates entering into a contract with a company has the means of ascertaining and is consequently presumed to know, not only the exact powers of the company but also the extent to which these powers have been delegated to the directors, and of any limitations placed upon the exercise of these powers. In other words, every person dealing with the company is deemed to have a "constructive notice" of the contents of its memorandum and articles. In fact, he is regarded not only as having read those documents but also as having understood them according to their proper meaning [Griffith v. Paget, (1877) Ch. D. 517]. Consequently, if a person enters into a contract which is beyond the powers of the company, as defined in the memorandum, or outside the limits set on the authority of the directors, he cannot, as a general rule, acquire any rights under the contract against the company [Mohony v. East Holyfrod Mining Co., (1875) L.R. 7 H.L. 869]. For example, if the articles provide that a bill of exchange to be effective must be signed by two directors, a person dealing with the company must see that it is so signed; otherwise he cannot claim under it.

A common example of Constructive Notice is when a court is unable to directly reach someone and publishes summons in the public newspaper and it is assumed that everybody has read it.

In another case, the articles required that all documents should be signed by the managing director, secretary and the working director on behalf of the company. A deed of mortgage was executed by the secretary and the working director only and the Court held that no claim would lie under such a deed. The Court said that the mortgagee should have consulted the articles before the deed was executed. Therefore, even though the mortgagee may have acted in good faith and the money borrowed applied for the purpose of the company, the mortgage was nevertheless invalid [Kotla Venkataswamy v. Rammurthy, AIR 1934 Mad 579]. The doctrine of indoor management protects third parties who are entitled to an assurance that all the procedural aspects of a transaction are carried out.

Outsiders dealing with incorporated bodies are bound to take notice of limits imposed on the corporation by the memorandum or other documents of constitution. Nevertheless, they are entitled to assume that the directors or other persons exercising authority on behalf of the company are doing so in accordance with the internal regulations as set out in the Memorandum & Articles of Association.

The impact of this doctrine on practical relations is thus stated in HALSBURY: "A company is subject to the rule that, where the conduct of a party charged with a notice shows that he had suspicions of a state of facts the knowledge of which would affect his legal rights, but that he deliberately refrained from making inquiries, he will be treated as having had notice, though he is not entitled to claim for his own advantage," [Jones v. Smith, (1841) 1 Hare 43].

DOCTRINE OF ALTER EGO

The term "Alter Ego" is a Latin word. Literally translated, it means the "Other I". More idiomatic it can be understood as the identical copy or a person's clone. It is a common tenet that a company is a separate legal entity from its shareholders and directors. This common law principle grants immunity to the shareholders and directors from being held liable for the debts as well as criminal liabilities of the corporation. The doctrine of alter ego, however, provides for an exception to this presumption in law. Alter ego is the doctrine which prevents the stakeholders of the corporation, i.e., shareholders and directors from taking the refuge of doctrine of separate legal entity. Hence, the Doctrine of alter ego is based on lifting of the corporate veil between the directors/ shareholders and the corporation and treating both as one entity.

The doctrine of alter ego is based on the assumption that the company as well as the shareholders and the managing directors are the *alter ego*s of each other, i.e., one is the shadow or reflection of the other or can be understood as two sides of the same coin. Hence, the courts can rely on alter ego doctrine when they find that there is a very thin line of distinction between the shareholders/ directors and the corporation or a limited liability corporation.

It is used by the courts to ignore the status of shareholders, officers, and directors of a company in reference to their liability in their respective capacity so that they may be held personally liable for their actions when they have acted fraudulently or unjustly.

In Lennards Carying Co. Ltd. v. Asiatic Petroleum Co. Ltd. [1915] AC 705, Viscount Haldane propounded the "alter ego" theory and distinguished it from vicarious liability. The House of Lords stated that the default of the managing director who is the "directing mind and will" of the company, would be attributed to him and he be held for the wrong doing of the company.

CASE LAW

The Supreme Court of India, in the judgment of Sunil Bharti Mittal v. Central Bureau of Investigation AIR 2015 SC 923, clarified the law of "alter ego". In the instant case the Special Judge had summoned and proceeded against the Directors of the Company. The Special Judge, had held "On the other hand, the reason for summoning these persons and proceeding against them are specifically ascribed in this para which, prima facie, are:

i. These persons were/are in the control of affairs of the respective companies.

ii. Because of their controlling position, they represent the directing mind and will of each company.

iii. State of mind of these persons is the state of mind of the companies. Thus, they are described as "alter ego" of their respective companies.

The Apex Court while overruling the decision of the Special Judge, observed that while the Special Judge had applied the principle of alter ego, it had done so in reverse. The criminal mens rea had been attributed to the directors on the assumption that they are the directing minds behind the acts of the Company. The Supreme Court observed that the Special Judge had ignored the fact that such an interpretation of the alter ego doctrine would go against the position of law that there is no vicarious liability in criminal law, unless expressly provided in the statute.

DOCTRINE OF LIFTING OF OR PIERCING THE CORPORATE VEIL

The separate personality of a company is a statutory privilege and it must be used for legitimate business purposes only. Where a fraudulent and dishonest use is made of the legal entity, the individuals concerned will not be allowed to take shelter behind the corporate personality. The Court will break through the corporate shell and apply the principle/doctrine of what is called as "lifting of or piercing the corporate veil". The Court will look behind the corporate entity and take action as though no entity separate from the members existed and make the members or the controlling persons liable for debts and obligations of the company.

The corporate veil is lifted when in defence proceedings, such as for the evasion of tax, an entity relies on its corporate personality as a shield to cover its wrong doings. [BSN (UK) Ltd. v. Janardan Mohandas Rajan Pillai [1996] 86 Com Cases 371 (Bom)].

However, the shareholders cannot ask for the lifting of the veil for their purposes. This was held in Premlata Bhatia v. Union of India (2004) 58 CL 217 (Delhi) wherein the premises of a shop were allotted on a licence to the individual licencee. She set up a wholly owned private company and transferred the premises to that company without Government consent. She could not remove the illegality by saying that she and her company were virtually the same person.

Statutory Recognition of Lifting of Corporate Veil

The Companies Act, 2013 itself contains some provisions [Sections 7(7), 251(1) and 339] which lift the corporate veil to reach the real forces of action. Section 7(7) deals with punishment for incorporation of company by furnishing false information; Section 251(1) deals with liability for making fraudulent application for removal of name of company from the register of companies and Section 339 deals with liability for fraudulent conduct of business during the course of winding up.

Lifting of Corporate Veil under Judicial Interpretation

Ever since the decision in Salomon v. Salomon & Co. Ltd., (1897) A.C. 22, normally Courts are reluctant or at least very cautious to lift the veil of corporate personality to see the real persons behind it. Nevertheless, Courts have found it necessary to disregard the separate personality of a company in the following situations:

(a) Where the corporate veil has been used for commission of fraud or improper conduct. In such a situation, Courts have lifted the veil and looked at the realities of the situation.

CASE LAW

In Jones v. Lipman, (1962) I. W.L.R. 832

A agreed to sell certain land to B. Pending completion of formalities of the said deal, A sold and transferred the land to a company which he had incorporated with a nominal capital of £100 and of which he and a clerk were the only shareholders and directors. This was done in order to escape a decree for specific performance in a suit brought by B. The Court held that the company was the creature of A and a mask to avoid recognition and that in the eyes of equity A must complete the contract, since he had the full control of the limited company in which the property was vested, and was in a position to cause the contract in question to be fulfilled.

(b) Where a corporate facade is really only an agency instrumentality.

CASE LAW

In Re. R.G. Films Ltd. (1953) 1 All E.R. 615

An American company produced a film in India technically in the name of a British Company, 90% of whose capital was held by the President of the American company which financed the production of the film. Board of Trade refused to register the film as a British film which stated that English company acted merely as the nominee of the American corporation.

(c) Where the conduct conflicts with public policy, courts lifted the corporate veil for protecting the public policy.

CASE LAW

In Connors Bros. v. Connors (1940) 4 All E.R. 179

The principle was applied against the managing director who made use of his position contrary to public policy. In this case the House of Lords determined the character of the company as "enemy" company, since the persons who were de facto in control of its affairs, were residents of Germany, which was at war with England at that time. The alien company was not allowed to proceed with the action, as that would have meant giving money to the enemy, which was considered as monstrous and against "public policy".

(d) Further, In Daimler Co. Ltd. v. Continental Tyre & Rubber Co., (1916) 2 A.C. 307, it was held that a company will be regarded as having enemy character, if the persons having de facto control of its affairs are resident in an enemy country or, wherever they may be, are acting under instructions from or on behalf of the enemy.

(e) Where it was found that the sole purpose for which the company was formed was to evade taxes the Court will ignore the concept of separate entity and make the individuals concerned liable to pay the taxes which they would have paid but for the formation of the company.

CASE LAW

Re. Sir Dinshaw Maneckjee Petit, A.I.R. 1927 Bombay 371

The facts of the case are that the assessee was a wealthy man enjoying large dividend and interest income. He formed four private companies and agreed with each to hold a block of investment as an agent for it. Income received was credited in the accounts of the company but the company handed back the amount to him as a pretended loan. This way he divided his income in four parts in a bid to reduce his tax liability.

But it was held "the company was formed by the assessee purely and simply as a means of avoiding super- tax and the company was nothing more than the assessee himself. It did no business, but was created simply as a legal entity to ostensibly receive the dividends and interests and to hand them over to the assessee as pretended loans". The Court decided to disregard the corporate entity as it was being used for tax evasion.

Vodafone case

One of the landmark case of the Supreme Court, is its decision in the case of Vodafone International Holdings B.V. v. Union of India & Another [S.L.P. (C) No. 26529 of 2010]. In judgment, the Supreme Court set aside the Bombay High Court's judgment directing Vodafone International Holdings BV ("Vodafone"), to pay INR 110 billion, as withholding tax in a transaction that took place off-shore.

The facts, as briefly put, are that in May 2007, Vodafone, incorporated in the Netherlands, acquired from Hong Kong based Hutchison Group, the entire share capital of CGP Investments (Holdings) Limited ("CGP"), a company incorporated in the Cayman Islands, which in turn controlled a 67% interest in Hutchison-Essar Limited ("HEL"), Hutchison's Indian mobile business. The Indian income tax authorities contended that capital gains were made by Hutchison in India and that Vodafone was therefore liable to pay withholding tax thereon, amounting to approximately INR 110 billion (the sale price being USD 11.2 billion).

Vodafone challenged the tax demand in the Bombay High Court, which ruled in favour of the income tax authorities, holding that the essence of the transaction was a change in the controlling interest in HEL, which constituted a source of income in India. Vodafone appealed to the Supreme Court, which overruled the High Court and held that the transaction fell outside India's territorial tax jurisdiction and was hence not taxable.

The judgment was not only important in the context of taxation, but also covers other issues of corporate law. One of these are in the context of the principle of the corporate veil, and the circumstances under which it may be lifted, particularly in the context of commercial cross-border transactions and tax avoidance.

The Court recognised the fundamental principle of the corporate veil by noting that, "The approach of both the corporate and tax laws, particularly in the matter of corporate taxation, generally is founded on the abovementioned separate entity principle, i.e., treat a company as a separate person. The Indian Income Tax Act, 1961, in the matter of corporate taxation, is founded on the principle of the independence of companies and other entities subject to income-tax." It observed in the context of parent / subsidiary relationships, that it is generally accepted that the group parent company would give guidance to group subsidiaries, but that by itself would not justify piercing the veil or imply that the subsidiaries are to be deemed residents of the State in which the parent company resides, and that "a subsidiary and its parent are totally distinct tax payers".

Six factors that may be considered to determine whether the transaction is a bogus and whether in a specific case, the corporate veil may be lifted, are: "(i) the concept of participation in investment, (ii) the duration of time during which the Holding Structure exists; (iii) the period of business operations in India; (iv) the generation of taxable revenues in India; (v) the timing of the exit; and (vi) the continuity of business on such exit."

In the final analysis, the Supreme Court decided against lifting the corporate veil in Vodafone, as the tax authorities failed to establish that the transaction was a bogus or tax avoidance scheme.

(f) Avoidance of welfare legislation is as common as avoidance of taxation and the approach in considering problems arising out of such avoidance has necessarily to be the same and, therefore, where it was found that the sole purpose for the formation of the new company was to use it as a device to reduce the amount to be paid by way of bonus to workmen, the Supreme Court upheld the piercing of the veil to look at the real transaction.

CASE LAW

The Workmen Employed in Associated Rubber Industries Limited, Bhavnagar v. The Associated Rubber Industries Ltd., Bhavnagar and another, A.I.R. 1986 SC 1.

The facts of the case were that a new company was created wholly by the principal company with no assets of its own except those transferred to it by the principal company, with no business or income of its own except receiving dividends from shares transferred to it by the principal company i.e. only for the purpose of splitting the profits into two hands and thereby reducing the obligation to pay bonus. The Supreme Court of India held that the new company was formed as a device to reduce the gross profits of the principal company and thereby reduce the amount to be paid by way of bonus to workmen. The amount of dividends received by the new company should, therefore, be taken into account in assessing the gross profit of the principal company.

(g) Another instance of corporate veil arrived at by the Court arose in Kapila Hingorani v. State of Bihar.

CASE LAW

Kapila Hingorani v. State of Bihar, 2003 (4) Scale 712

In this case, the petitioner had alleged that the State of Bihar had not paid salaries to its employees in PSUs etc. for long periods resulting in starvation deaths. But the respondent took the stand that most of the undertakings were incorporated under the provisions of the Companies Act, 1956, hence the rights etc. of the shareholders should be governed by the provisions of the Companies Act and the liabilities of the PSUs should not be passed on to the State Government by resorting to the doctrine of lifting the corporate veil. The Court observed that the State may not be liable in relation to the day-to-day functioning of the PSUs but its liability would arise on its failure to perform the constitutional duties and the functions of these undertakings. It is so because, "life means something more than mere ordinal existence. The inhibition against deprivation of life extends to all those limits and faculties by which life is enjoyed".

(h) Where it is found that a company has abused its corporate personality for an unjust and inequitable purpose, the court would not hesitate to lift the corporate veil. Further, the corporate veil could be lifted when acts of a corporation are allegedly opposed to justice, convenience and interests of revenue or workmen or are against public interest.

Thus, in appropriate cases, the Courts disregard the separate corporate personality and look behind the legal person or lift the corporate veil.

Lifting the Corporate Veil of Small Scale Industry

Where small scale industries were given certain exemptions and the company owning an industry was controlled by some group of persons or companies, it was held that it was permissible to lift the veil of the company to see whether it was the subsidiary of another company and, therefore, not entitled to the proposed exemptions [Inalsa Ltd. v. Union of India, (1996) 87 Com Cases 599 (Delhi)].

Use of Corporate Veil for Hiding Criminal Activities

Where the defendant used the corporate structure as a device or facade to conceal his criminal activities (evasion of customs and excise duties payable by the company), the Court could lift the corporate veil and treat the assets of the company as the realisable property of the shareholder.

For example, in a case, there was a prima facie case that the defendants controlled the two companies, the companies had been used for the fraudulent evasion of excise duty on a large scale, the defendant regarded the companies as carrying on a family business and that they had benefited from companies' cash in substantial amounts and further no useful purpose would have been served by involving the companies in the criminal proceedings. In all these circumstances it was therefore appropriate to lift the corporate veil and treat the stock in the companies' warehouses and the companies' motor vehicles as realisable property held by the defendants. The Court said that the excise department is not to be criticized for not charging the companies. The more complex commercial activities become, the more vital it is for prosecuting authorities to be selective in whom and what they charge, so that issues can be presented in as clear and short form as possible. In the present case, it seemed that no useful purpose would have been served by initiating criminal proceedings. [H. and Others, Restraint Order : Realisable Property), Re, (1996) 2 BCLC 500 at 511, 512 (CA)].

A definition is a statement of the meaning as of a word or phrase.

Usually, every statute has a definitions sections (also called 'interpretation clause') which provides definitions of various words and phrases used in the statute (e.g. Section 2 of the Companies Act, 2013).

Definition:

- To Define : The Act of making something definite, distinct or clear.
- Definition : An exact statement or description of the nature, scope, or meaning of something (Oxford dictionary)
- In relation to a Statute : Definitions given in a statute are those of certain words or expressions used elsewhere in the Statute.
- Object of using Definitions : - To avoid frequent repetitions - To aid interpretation of words for that specific statute

Types of Definitions

Restrictive Definitions	Extensive Definitions
- Use of the word "mean"	- Use of the word "include"

When in a definition the word "mean" is used, it means word is restricted to the scope indicated in the definition section. It means definition is hard and fast definition and no other meaning can be assigned to the expression than is put down in definition.

For Example:

- "Director" means a director appointed to the Board of a company

The word "include" gives a wider meaning to the words or phrases in the statute. The legislature does not intend to restrict the definition, it makes the definition enumerative but not exhaustive. This is to say, the term defined will retain its ordinary meaning may or may not compromise. The word "includes" by the legislature shows the intention of the legislature that it wanted to give extensive and enlarged meaning to such expression.

For Example:

- "Body Corporate or Corporation" includes a company incorporated outside India, but does not include:
  - (i) a co-operative society registered under any law relating to co-operative societies; and
  - (ii) any other body corporate (not being a company as defined in this Act), which the Central Government may, by notification, specify in this behalf.

'Explanations' in Statutes:

Object and Purpose of explanations:

- To explain/clarify the meaning of words contained in the particular section,

- Part and Parcel of the enactment,
- Does not widen the scope of the word explained.

For eg: "Holding Company", in relation to one or more other companies, means a company of which such companies are subsidiary companies.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this clause, the expression "company" includes any body corporate.

E-GOVERNANCE AND MCA-21

With the advent of Information and Communication Technology in all sectors today, Governments across the globe including the Government of India are taking major initiatives to integrate IT in all their processes. Electronic Governance (e-Governance) is the application of Information Technology to the Government functioning in order to bring about Simple, Moral, Accountable, Responsive and Transparent (SMART) Governance. e-Governance is a highly complex process requiring provision of hardware, software, networking and re-engineering of the procedures for better delivery of services.

Earlier the businessmen and professionals had to visit MCA offices to file the statutory forms, to review public documents or to fulfil any compliance in physical mode. It was very hectic and time consuming. People had to stand in long queue which often led to inadvertent missing of filing of statutory e-forms leading to Non-Compliance and levy of fine or imprisonment.

So keeping in tune with the e-Governance initiatives the world over, Ministry of Corporate Affairs (MCA), Government of India, has initiated the MCA-21 project, to enable an easy and secure access to MCA services in a manner that best suits the corporate entities and professionals besides the public.

With the advent of Information and Communication Technology in all sectors today, Governments across the globe including the Government of India are taking major initiatives to integrate IT in all their processes. Electronic Governance (e-Governance) is the application of Information Technology to the Government functioning in order to bring about Simple, Moral, Accountable, Responsive and Transparent (SMART) Governance. e-Governance is a highly complex process requiring provision of hardware, software, networking and re-engineering of the procedures for better delivery of services.

So keeping in tune with the e-Governance initiatives the world over, Ministry of Corporate Affairs (MCA), Government of India, has initiated the MCA-21 project, to enable an easy and secure access to MCA services in a manner that best suits the corporate entities and professionals besides the public.

IMPORTANT ASPECTS OF MCA-21

Organization of ROC Office under MCA

The ROC office working from its present address has virtually became the Back Office of the Ministry. Since the number of companies/entities found it difficult to switch over to e-Filing at the initial stage, Facilitation Centers known as Physical Front Offices (PFOs) were set up throughout the Country to provide requisite comfort for e-Filing to such companies.

Front Office and Back Office

Front Office

The major components involved in this comprehensive e-governance project are front office and back office.

Front Office represents the interface of the corporate and public users with the MCA-21 system. This comprises of Virtual Front Office and Registrar's Front Office.

Virtual front office

Virtual front office is one of the various channels available to stakeholders (companies and the professionals) to enable them to do the statutory filing with ROC Offices across the Country. It merely represents a computer facility for filing of digitally signed e-forms by accessing the MCA portal through internet (www.mca.gov.in). It also pre- supposes availability of related facilities to convert documents into PDF format and scanning of documents wherever required.

Registrar's Front Office (RFO)

To facilitate the change over from Physical Document Filing to Digital Document Filing, the Ministry started offices known as the Registrar Front Office. It is one of the various channels available to stakeholders to enable them to do the statutory filing with ROC Offices across the Country. Registrar's Front Offices are managed and operated by the operator RFO has all facilities which are required for online filing like trained manpower, broadband connectivity, scanner, printer and related computer accessories.

Back Office

Back Office represents the offices of Registrar of Companies, Regional Directors and Headquarters and takes care of internal processing of the forms filed by the corporate user as per MCA norms and guidelines. The e-forms are routed dynamically to the concerned authority for processing depending upon the assigned role. All the e-forms along with attachments are stored in the electronic depository, which the staff of MCA can view depending upon the access rights.

Certified Filing Centre (CFC)

In order to provide the Companies to do their e Filing, Professional Institutes (ICSI, ICAI, ICAI-cost), their Regional Councils/Local chapters, individual practicing members and firms of professionals were authorised to create and set-up the required facilities for facilitating the e Filing process. The Certified Filing Centers, thus set-up by the Professionals are over and above the Registrar's Front Office set-up by the Ministry under the programme. While the services available from the Facilitation Centers set-up by the Ministry are without any charge, the services provided by these Certified Filing Centers entail payment of service charges.

SUBSTANTIAL BENEFITS OF MCA21

MCA-21 has been designed virtually to eliminate the physical interface between the companies and the offices of ROCs, RDs and even MCA. Time consuming works of professionals i.e. the tasks of incorporation of new companies, conducting searches of important documents, obtaining certificates of creation, modification and satisfaction of charges, filing of statutory forms and returns etc. have now become very quick and easy.

➢ Effective use of database

It will help in transparency in operations and benefits to players in stock markets as well as easy and prominent exposure of defaulters.

The following websites are created:

These documents, which are in domain of public documents, include documents relating to incorporation, charges, annual returns and balance sheets and change in directors. A certified copy of the documents can also be obtained by any one so interested. For this purpose there is also an option to mention the number of pages in the document for which a certified copy is required as well as the number of copies required.

ALL ABOUT FILING AND FILING OF E-FORMS

E-Forms

An e-form is only a re-engineered conventional form notified and represents a document in electronic format for filing with MCA authorities through the Internet. This may be either a form filed for compliance or information purpose or an application seeking approval from the MCA. Due to technical updates, these forms updates regularly, even though their user interface may not change. User always uses latest e-forms from the MCA Portal.

Filling and filing of forms is an important part of the secretarial function of a Company Secretary. Normally, where Company appoints a Company Secretary, he is designated as the officer responsible for compliance under the Companies Act and other allied legislations. Therefore, for any lapse in complying with the various provisions of the Companies Act or such other legislations, for the compliance of which the Company Secretary has been made responsible, he becomes liable as “officer in default”.

Filling and filing of forms, returns and applications under various provisions demand intimate knowledge of substantive as well as procedural law. The Registrar of Companies (RoC) registers the documents filed with them within the prescribed time, if found in order. Often, a large number of documents filed with the RoC are not taken on record due to technical lapses which result in avoidable correspondence and frequent visits to the office of RoC. In order to avoid such errors, every care should be taken to ensure that the forms are properly filled and adequate documents are attached to them before filing.

Company Secretaries, under electronic filing system are required to be familiar with computer, internet, MCA-21 electronic filing system, pdf files and using digital signatures.

PREREQUISITES FOR E-FILING ON MCA-21

Digital Signature certificate (DSC) of either Class 2 and Class 3 signing certificate category issued by a licensed Certifying Authority (CA) needs to be obtained for e-Filing on the MCA Portal.

Digital Signatures are legally admissible in a Court of Law, as provided under the provisions of IT Act, 2000. The Certifying Authorities are authorized to issue a Digital Signature Certificate with a validity of one or two years.

Hardware and Software Requirements under e-filing

The minimum system requirements for e-filing on MCA-21 are as under:

- Any computer or laptop;
- An efficient operating system;
- Latest Browser;
- Adobe Reader from version 11 or later;
- Scanner (above 200 DPI) for converting the attachments in the PDF format; and
- Java Runtime Environment (JRE) updated version.

Necessity of Pre-certification of E-Forms

Introduction of pre-certification by an independent professional in the e-form aimed at reducing the workload of the Registrar of Companies. Once an e-form has been pre-certified by a professional towards its authenticity based on the particulars contained in the books of accounts and records of the company, ROC is entitled to take on record the e-form. Professionals are responsible for submitting/certifying documents (to be signed digitally by them) and system would accept most of these documents online without approval by Registrar of Companies or other officers of the Ministry. If a professional gives a false certificate or omits any material information knowingly, he is liable to punishment under Section 447 and 448 of the Companies Act, 2013 besides disciplinary action by the Institute which issued the Certificate of Practice.

Fees [Rule 12 of the Companies (Registration Offices and Fees) Rules, 2014]

The documents required to be submitted, filed, registered or recorded or any factor information required or authorized to be registered under the Act shall be submitted, filed, registered or recorded on payment of the fee or on payment of the fee or on payment of such additional fee as applicable, as mentioned in Table annexed to Rule 12 of The Companies (Registration Offices and Fees) Rules, 2014.

For the purpose of filing the documents or applications for which no e-form is prescribed under the various rules prescribed under the Act, the document or application shall be filled through Form No.GNL.1 or GNL.2 along with fee as applicable and in case a single form is prescribed for multiple purposes, the fee shall be paid for each of the purpose contained in the single form.

For the purpose of filing information to sub- clause (60) of Section 2 of the Act, such information shall be filed in Form No. GNL.3 along with fee as applicable.

Mode of Payment [Rule 13 of the Companies (Registration Offices and Fees) Rules, 2014]

The fees, charges or other sums payable for filing any application, form, return or any other document in pursuance of the Act or any rule made there under shall be paid by means of credit card; or internet banking; or remittance at the counter of the authorized banks or any other mode as approved by the Central Government.

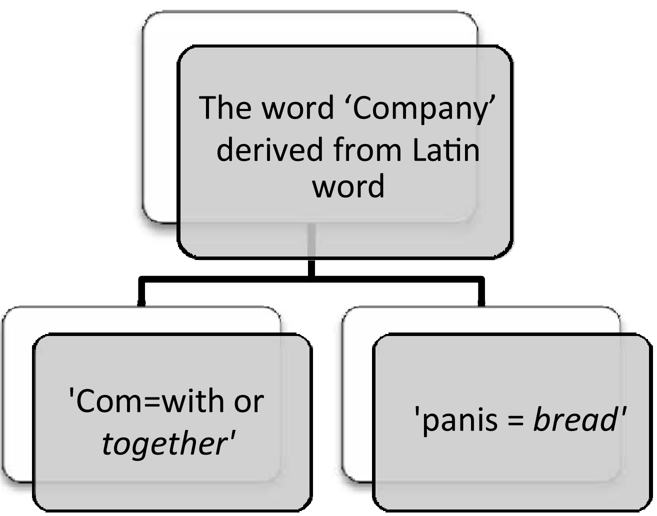
INTRODUCTION

What is a Company?



In the leisurely past, merchants took advantage of festive gatherings, to discuss business matters. Nowadays, the company form of organization has assumed great importance. When they forms their business relations they form a company. In popular parlance, a company denotes an association of likeminded persons formed for the purpose of carrying on some business or undertaking. A company under law is a corporate body and a legal person having status and personality distinct and separate from the members constituting it.

It is called a body corporate because the persons composing it are made into one body by incorporating it according to the law and clothing it with legal personality. The word 'corporation' is derived from the Latin term 'corpus' which means 'body'. Accordingly, 'corporation' is a legal person created by a process other than natural birth. As a legal person, a corporate is capable of enjoying many rights and incurring many liabilities of a natural person.

An incorporated company owes its existence either to a Special Act of Parliament or to Company Law. Public corporations like Life Insurance Corporation of India, SBI etc., have been brought into existence through special Acts of Parliament, whereas companies like Tata Steel Ltd., Reliance Industries Limited have been formed under the Company law.

Definition of a Company

In terms of the Companies Act, 2013 a "company" means a company incorporated under this Act or under any previous company law [Section 2(20)].

In common law, a company is a "legal person" or "legal entity" separate from, and capable of surviving beyond the lives of its members. A company is rather a legal device for the attainment of social and economic end.

It is, therefore, a combined political, social, economic and legal institution. Thus, the term company has been described in many ways. "It is a means of cooperation and organisation in the conduct of an enterprise". It is "an intricate, centralised, economic and administrative structure run by professional managers who hire capital from the investor(s)".

Lord Justice Lindley has defined a company as "an association of many persons who contribute money or money's worth to a common stock and employ it in some trade or business and who share the profit and loss arising therefrom. The common stock so contributed is denoted in money and is the capital of the company. The persons who contributed in it or form it, or to whom it belongs, are members. The proportion of capital stock to which each member has contributed entitled is his "share". The shares are always transferable although the right to transfer them may be restricted."

Chief Justice Marshall-"A corporation is an artificial being, invisible, intangible, existing only in contemplation of the law. Being a mere creation of law it possesses only the properties which the charter of its creation confers upon it, either expressly or as incidental to its very existence."

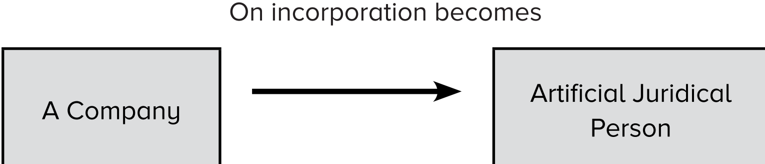
Justice James-"A company is an association of person's united for a common object."

These definitions clearly bring out the meaning of company. A company comes into existence only when it is registered under the Act. When it is registered, it has a legal personality of its own, separate and distinct from its members. An unregistered company has no such separate legal existence. A company is created by law and law alone can dissolve it.

CASE LAW

In Re G.V. Pratap Reddy Through G.P.A. TSR Research Pvt. Ltd. vs. K.V.V.S.N. Associates and others [2016] (SC), the Supreme Court of India held that, where notice inviting tender by State of Telangana required that bidder must be an individual/company, word company in notice inviting tender could only mean a company as understood under Companies Act and cannot be read to include a firm and, therefore, bid of respondent which was neither an individual nor a company but a firm was rightly rejected by State.

LEGAL STATUS OF REGISTERED COMPANIES



Since a corporate body (i.e. a company) is the creation of law, it is not a human being, it is an artificial juridical person (i.e. created by law) and it is clothed with many rights, obligations, powers and duties prescribed by law. It can, however, do everything what a natural person can do except certain acts which require personal execution. Thus, a company cannot marry or divorce; it cannot vote in an election.

On incorporation, the company acquires a separate legal entity status distinct from and independent of its members. Unlike a partnership, which has no separate existence from its partners, a company has a separate corporate existence. It is different from the members who constitute it.

The most striking characteristics of a company are discussed below:

- Corporate Pesonality
- Perpetual Succession
- Separate Property
- Transferibility of shares
- Capacity to sue or be sued

CORPORATE PERSONALITY

A company incorporated under the Act is vested with a corporate personality.

- It bears its own name and acts thereunder;
- Its assets are separate and distinct from those of its members;
- It is a different 'person' from the members who compose it;
- It can incur debts, borrow money, have a bank account, employ people, enter into contracts and can sue or be sued; and
- It is capable of owning property.

Its shareholders are its notional owners and do not own anything in it except ownership of shares issued and they can be its creditors simultaneously. A shareholder cannot be held liable for the acts of the company even if he holds virtually the entire share capital.

> The Indian courts have recognized the principle of separate legal entity of a company. In T.R Pratt (Bombay) Ltd. v. E.D Sasoon & Co. Ltd. AIR 1936 Bom. 62 it was observed that under the law, an incorporated company is distinct entity, and although all the shares may be practically controlled by one person, in law a company is distinct entity.

The shareholders are not the agents of the company and so they cannot bind it by their acts. The company does not hold its property as an agent or trustee for its members and they cannot sue to enforce its rights, nor can they be sued in respect of its liabilities. Thus, 'incorporation' is the act of forming a legal corporation as a juristic person. A juristic person is in law also conferred with rights and obligations and is dealt in accordance with law. In other words, the entity acts like a natural person but only through a designated person, whose acts are processed within the ambit of law [Shiromani Gurdwara Prabandhak Committee v. Shri Sam Nath Dass AIR 2000 SCW 139].

The case of Salomon v. Salomon and Co. Ltd., (1897) A.C. 22

The above case has clearly established the principle that once a company has been validly constituted under the Companies Act, it becomes a legal person distinct from its members and for this purpose it is immaterial whether any member holds a large or small proportion of the shares, and whether he holds those shares as beneficially or as a mere trustee.

In the case, Salomon had, for some years, carried on a prosperous business as a leather merchant and boot manufacturer. He formed a limited company consisting of himself, his wife, his daughter and his four sons as the shareholders, all of whom subscribed to 1 share each so that the actual cash paid as capital was £7. Salomon sold his business (which was perfectly solvent at that time), to the Company formed by him for the sum of £38,782. The company's nominal capital was £40,000 in £1 shares. In part payment of the purchase money for the business sold to the company, debentures of the amount of £10,000 secured by a floating charge on the company's assets were issued to Salomon, who also applied for and received an allotment of 20,000 £ 1 fully paid shares. The remaining amount of £8,782 was paid to Salomon in cash. Salomon was the managing director and two of his sons were other directors.

The company soon ran into difficulties and the debenture holders appointed a receiver and the company went into liquidation. The total assets of the company amounted to £6050, its liabilities were £10,000 secured by debentures, £8,000 owing to unsecured trade creditors, who claimed the whole of the company's assets, viz., £6,050, on the ground that, as the company was a mere 'alias' or agent for Salomon, they were entitled to payment of their debts in priority to debentures. They further pleaded that Salomon, as a principal beneficiary, was ultimately responsible for the debts incurred by his agent or trustee on his behalf.

Their Lordships of the House of Lords observed:

> "...the company is a different person altogether from the subscribers of the memorandum; and though it may be that after incorporation the business is precisely the same as before, the same persons are managers, and the same hands receive the profits, the company is not, in law, their agent or trustee. The statute enacts nothing as to the extent or degree of interest, which may, be held by each of the seven or as to the proportion of interest, or influence possessed by one or majority of the shareholders over others. There is nothing in the Act requiring that the subscribers to the memorandum should be independent or unconnected, or that they or any of them should take a substantial interest in the undertakings, or that they should have a mind or will of their own, or that there should be anything like a balance of power in the constitution of company."

The case of Lee v. Lee's Air Farming Ltd. (1961) A.C. 12 (P.C.)

The above case illustrates the application of the principles established in Salomon's case (supra). In this case, a company was formed for the purpose of aerial top-dressing. Lee, a qualified pilot, held all but one of the shares in the company. He voted himself the managing director and got himself appointed by the articles as chief pilot at a salary. He was killed in an air crash while working for the company. His widow claimed compensation for the death of her husband in the course of his employment. The company opposed the claim on the ground that Lee was not a worker as the same person could not be the employer and the employee. The Privy Council held that Lee and his company were distinct legal persons which had entered into contractual relationships under which he became the chief pilot, a servant of the company. In his capacity of managing director he could, on behalf of the company, give himself orders in his other capacity of pilot, and the relationship between himself, as pilot and the company, was that of servant and master. Lee was a separate person from the company he formed and his widow was held entitled to get the compensation. In effect the magic of corporate personality enabled him (Lee) to be the master and servant at the same time and enjoy the advantages of both.

The decision of the Calcutta High Court in Re. Kondoli Tea Co. Ltd., (1886) ILR 13 Cal. 43, recognised the principle of separate legal entity even much earlier than the decision in Salomon v. Salomon & Co. Ltd. case. Certain persons transferred a Tea Estate to a company and claimed exemptions from ad valorem duty on the ground that since they themselves were also the shareholders in the company, it was nothing but a transfer from them in one name to themselves under another name. While rejecting this Calcutta High Court observed:

> "The company was a separate person, a separate body altogether from the shareholders and the transfer was as much a conveyance, a transfer of the property, as if the shareholders had been totally different persons."

CASE LAW

New Horizons Ltd. v. Union of India, (AIR 1994, Delhi 126)

The experience of a shareholder of a company can be regarded as experience of a company. The tender of the company, New Horizons Ltd., for publication of telephone directory was not accepted by the Tender Evaluation Committee on the ground that the company had nothing on record to show that it had the technical experience required to be possessed to qualify for tender. On appeal the rejection of tender was upheld by the Delhi High Court.

The judgment of the Delhi High Court was reversed by the Supreme Court which observed as under:

"Once it is held that NHL (New Horizons Ltd.) is a joint venture, as claimed by it in the tender, the experience of its various constituents namely, TPI (Thomson Press India Ltd.), LMI (Living Media India Ltd.) and WML (World Media Ltd.) as well as IIPL (Integrated Information Pvt. Ltd.) had to be taken into consideration, if the Tender Evaluation Committee had adopted the approach of a prudent business man."

"Seeing through the veil covering the face of NHL, it will be found that as a result of re-organisation in 1992 the company is functioning as a joint venture wherein the Indian group (TPI, LMI and WML) and Mr. Aroon Purie hold 60% shares and the Singapore based company (IIPL) holds 40% shares. Both the groups have contributed towards the resources of the joint venture in the form of machines, equipment and expertise in the field. The company is in the nature of partnership between the Indian group of companies and Singapore based company who have jointly undertaken this commercial enterprise wherein they will contribute to the assets and share the risk. In respect of such a joint venture company, the experience of the company can only mean the experience of the constituents of the joint venture i.e. the Indian group of companies (TPI, LMI and WML) and the Singapore based company (IIPL) [New Horizons Ltd. and another Union of India (1995) 1 Comp. LJ 100 SC].

COMPANY AS AN ARTIFICIAL PERSON

What is artificial person?

An artificial person means a juridical person; it has a legal name and has certain rights, protections, privileges, responsibilities, and liabilities in law, similar to those of a natural person.

A Company is an artificial person created by law. It is not a human being but it acts through human beings. It is considered as a legal person who can enter into contracts, possess properties in its own name, sue and can be sued by others etc. It is called an artificial person since it is:

- Invisible;
- Intangible;
- Existing only in the contemplation of law;
- It is capable of enjoying rights and being subject to duties.

CASE LAW

Union Bank of India v. Khader International Construction and Other [(2001) 42 CLA 296 SC]

In this case, the question which arose before the Court was whether a company is entitled to sue as an indigent (poor) person under Order 33, Rule 1 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908. The aforesaid Order permits persons to file suits under the Code as pauper/indigent persons if they are unable to bear the cost of litigation.

The appellant in this case had objected to the contention of the company which had sought permission to sue as an indigent person. The point of contention was that, the appellant being a public limited company, it was not a 'person' within the purview of Order 33, Rule 1 of the Code and the 'person' referred to only a natural person and not to other juristic persons. The Supreme Court held that the word 'person' mentioned in Order 33, Rule 1 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908, included any company as association or body of individuals, whether incorporated or not. The Court observed that the word 'person' had to be given its meaning in the context in which it was used and being a benevolent provision, it was to be given an extended meaning. Thus a company may also file a suit as an indigent person.

PERPETUAL SUCCESSION

Meaning:

Perpetual Succession means that the membership of the company may change from time to time, but this does not affect its continuity. An incorporated company never dies, except when it is wound up as per law.

- A company, being a separate legal person is unaffected by death/insolvency / retirement or departure of any member or director;
- It remains the same entity, despite total change in the membership.

According to section 9 of the Companies Act, 2013, from the date of incorporation mentioned in the certificate of incorporation, such subscribers to the memorandum and all other persons, as may, from time to time, become members of the company, shall be a body corporate by the name contained in the memorandum, capable of exercising all the functions of an incorporated company under this Act and having perpetual succession with power to acquire, hold and dispose of property, both movable and immovable, tangible and intangible, to contract and to sue and be sued, by the said name.

The membership of an incorporated company may change either because one shareholder has sold/ transferred his shares to another or his shares devolve on his legal representatives on his death or he ceases to be a member under some other provisions of the Companies Act. Thus, perpetual succession denotes the ability of a company to maintain its existence by the succession of new individuals who step into the shoes of those who cease to be members of the company. Professor L.C.B. Gower rightly mentions, "Members may come and go, but the company can go on forever. During the war all the members of one private company, while in general meeting, were killed by a bomb, but the company survived — not even a hydrogen bomb could have destroyed it".

CASE LAW

In Gopalpur Tea Company Ltd. v. Peshok Tea Co. Ltd. and others (1982) 52 Comp Cas 239, the whole Company was taken over by an Act which purportedly ceased the right to take action against the Company, the Court held that neither the company was extinguished, nor was anyone's right to take action against it. Therefore, until and unless a Company is liquidated legally, a Company will have perpetual succession and its existence will not be affected by the financial status and lives of its shareholders.

Variation in members or their identity does not affect the legal existence and identity of a company. A company is a creation of law and can be dissolved only under law. Even if all the members of the company leave or die, then also company will not come to end and will continue its existence.

Illustration:

M/s ABC Pvt. Ltd. has three directors and all the three directors are also the shareholders of the company. All the directors died in the car accident while going for a meeting. In this case, principle of perpetual succession applies and even if all the directors of M/s ABC Pvt. Ltd. died, the company will continue to have existence and the successors of directors can take over the affairs of the company.

SEPARATE PROPERTY

A company being a legal person and entirely distinct from its members, is capable of owing, enjoying and disposing off property on its own name.

CASE LAW

Mrs. Bacha F. Guzdar v. The Commissioner of Income Tax, Bombay, A.I.R. 1955 S.C. 74

The Supreme Court in this case held that, though the income of a tea company is entitled to be exempted from Income-tax up to 60% being partly agricultural, the same income when received by a shareholder in the form of dividend cannot be regarded as agricultural income for the assessment of income-tax. It was also observed by the Supreme Court that a shareholder does not, as is erroneously believed by some people, become the part owner of the company or its property; he is only given certain rights by law, e.g., to receive notice of or to attend or vote at the meetings of the shareholders. The court refused to identify the shareholders with the company and reiterated the distinct personality of the company.

As a corporate entity, the company is entitled to own and hold property in its own name or to dispose the same. No member can claim ownership of any item of the company's assets. As a company is a legal person it is capable of holding and disposing the property in its name through authorized representative.

Illustration:

Mr. Amit incorporated a company in the name of ABC Public Ltd., the company provides catering services. Mr. Amit decides to purchase a new building and a company van. As an ABC Public Ltd., the company can legally purchase property under the business's information. Mr. Amit do not have to purchase the property under his personal information.

Mr. Amit can begin the property purchase process using his business's name and banking information. On completion of the paperwork, the deed to the property is under the business's name.

CASE LAW

H.C. Shastri v. Dolphin Canpack Pvt. Ltd. (1998)

In this case the shareholder of the company has tried to use the assets of the company for paying off his personal loans. The Delhi High Court held that:

> "...As noticed earlier, neither a shareholder nor a Director has any right in the property and assets of the company, which is a separate juristic entity distinct from the shareholders. The shareholder who buys shares does not buy an interest in the property of the company which is a juristic person, entirely distinct from the shareholder. The shareholder as an investor becomes entitled to participate in the profits of the company, and have a say in the management as per law. He can claim the left over assets of the company in case the company is wound up. ...".

CASE LAW

In the case of R.T. Perumal v. John Deavin And Anr. AIR 1960 Mad 43, it was stated that no member should claim ownership of any company's property during the association's existence or dissolution. A company cannot even have an insurable interest in the company's property.

CASE LAW

In Macaura V. Northen Asurance Company Ltd. (1925) AC 619, it was held that a member does not even have an insurable interest in the property of the company. In this case, Macaura held all except one share of a timber company. He had also advanced substantial amount to the company. He insured the company's timber in his own name. On timber being destroyed by fire, his claim was rejected for want of insurable interest. The court observed: "No shareholder has any right to any item of property owned by the company or he has no legal or equitable interest herein."

CASE LAW

In Re Chiranjilal Chuadhari Vs. Union of India (1951) 21 Comp. Cas. 33 (SC)

In this case, the Supreme Court of India stated that a company has a fundamental right to own property and in event of infringement of such right, the company can bring an action and not the its shareholder. It was observed that, it is settled law that in order to redress a wrong done to the company, the action should prima facie be brought by the company itself. Although the shareholders of the company, may in a sense, be interested to observe that the company of which he is a shareholder is not deprived of its property, he cannot be heard as a complainant in his own name and on his own behalf for the infringement of the fundamental right to property of the company.

TRANSFERABILITY OF SHARES

- The capital of a company is divided into parts, called shares;
- The shares are said to be movable property;
- The shares are subject to certain conditions levied by law on free transferability;
- No shareholder is permanently or necessarily wedded to a company.

Shares are Movable Properties

Section 44 of the Companies Act, 2013 enunciates the principle by providing that the shares held by the members are movable property and can be transferred from one person to another in the manner provided by the articles. If the articles do not provide anything for the transfer of shares and the Regulations contained in Table "F" in Schedule I to the Companies Act, 2013, are also expressly excluded, the transfer of shares will be governed by the general law relating to transfer of movable property.

A member may sell his shares in the open market and realise the money invested by him. This provides liquidity to a member (as he can freely sell his shares) and ensures stability to the company (as the member is not withdrawing his money from the company). The Stock Exchanges provide adequate facilities for the sale and purchase of shares of listed entities.

In the listed companies, the shares are transferable through Electronic mode i.e. through Depository Participants in dematerialised form instead of physical transfers.

Transferability of Shares of a Private Limited Company

However there are restrictions with respect to transferability of shares of a Private Limited Company. Even if share of a Private Limited Company is in demat form, restrictions by the Articles of the company shall apply.

The concept of free transferability of shares in a public and private company is discussed in the case of Western Maharashtra Development Corporation Ltd. Vs. Bajaj Auto Ltd 2010 154 com cases 593 Bom. In the case, the court held that the Company Act makes a clear distinction regarding the transferability of shares relating to private and public companies. By its definition, a 'private company' is a company, which restricts the right to transfer its shares. In the case of a public company, the Act provides that the shares or debentures and any interest of the company are freely transferable.

Test Yourself

Question. In case of any shareholders' agreement amongst the shareholders with specific restriction like right of first refusal or pre-emptive right given to any shareholders, whether such restrictions are enforceable or not if the same are not part of the articles of association?.

Answer. As as per the decision of Supreme Court in V.B. Rangaraj v. V.B Gopalakrishnan and other AIR 1992 SC 453, it was held that the clause of shareholders agreement shall be enforceable provided the same are main part of the article of association.

CAPACITY TO SUE OR BE SUED

A company being a body corporate
- can sue
- and be sued

To sue, means to institute legal proceedings against (a person) or to bring a suit in a court of law. All legal proceedings against the company are to be instituted in its name. Similarly, the company may bring an action against anyone in its own name. A company's right to sue arises when some loss is caused to the company, i.e. to the property or the personality of the company. Hence, the company is entitled to sue for damages in libel or slander as the case may be [Floating Services Ltd. v. MV San Fransceco Dipaloa (2004) 52 SCL 762 (Guj)]. A company, as a person distinct from its members, may even sue one of its own members.

A company has a right to seek damages where a defamatory material published about it, affects its business. Where video cassettes were prepared by the workmen of a company showing, their struggle against the company's management, it was held to be not actionable unless shown that the contents of the cassette would be defamatory. The court did not restrain the exhibition of the cassette. [TVS Employees Federation v. TVS and Sons Ltd., (1996) 87 Com Cases 37]. The company is not liable for contempt committed by its officer. [Lalit Surajmal Kanodia v. Office Tiger Database Systems India (P) Ltd., (2006) 129 Com Cases 192 Mad].

In Rajendra Nath Dutta Vs. Shibendra Nath Mukherjee (1982) 52 Comp. Cas. 293 (Cal.)

In the above mentioned case, it was held that for any wrong done, the company must sue or be sued in its own name. It was observed that as the company is a distinct legal personality, distinct from its shareholders and/or directors, the company if aggrieved by some wrong done to it by any person, it must sue or contrarily be sued in the name of the company itself. In the referred case, a lease deed was executed by the director of the company without seal of the company. Subsequently, a suit was filed by the directors and not the company to avoid lease on ground that a new term had been fraudulently included in the lease deed by the defendants. It was held that a director of the Board of Directors or a managing director could not file a suit, unless it was by the company, in order to avoid the any deed which admittedly was executed by one of the directors and admittedly also the company received the rent. The case as made out in the pliant was not made by the company but some of the directors of the company and the company was not even a plaintiff. It the company was aggrieved, it was the company which was to file the suit and not the directors. Therefore, the suit was not maintainable in the eyes of court.

Illustration:

Suppose there is a company Antriksh Limited. Antriksh Limited can file a defamation case against a defamatory article that was published against it. It can also file police complaints for various offences. It can basically undertake all sorts of litigations through an Authorized Representative.

It is pertinent to note that an Authorized Representative of a Company can be changed during the course of the litigation and doing so would not hamper the pending case before the Courts / Authorities.

COMPANY IS NOT A CITIZEN

The company, though a legal person, is not a citizen under the Citizenship Act, 1955 or the Constitution of India.

The reason as to why a company cannot be treated as a citizen is that, citizenship is available to individuals or natural persons only and not to juristic persons.

In State Trading Corporation of India Ltd. v. C.T.O., A.I.R. 1963 S.C. 1811, the Supreme Court held that the State Trading Corporation though a legal person, was not a citizen and can act only through natural persons. Nevertheless, it is to be noted that certain fundamental rights enshrined in the Constitution for protection of "person", e.g., right to equality (Article 14) etc. are also available to company. Section 2(f) of Citizenship Act, 1955 expressly excludes a company or association or body of individuals from citizenship.

CASE LAW

In R.C. Cooper v. Union of India, AIR 1970 SC 564

In this case, the Supreme Court held that where the legislative measures directly touch the company of which the petitioner is a shareholder, he can petition on behalf of the company, if by the impugned action, his rights are also infringed. In that case, the court entertained the petition under Article 32 of the Constitution at the instance of a director as shareholder of a company and granted relief. It is, therefore, to be noted that an individual's right is not lost by reason of the fact that he is a shareholder of the company.

Company has Nationality and Residence

CASE LAW

Bennet Coleman Co. v. Union of India, AIR 1973 SC 106

In this case, the Supreme Court stated that:

> "It is now clear that the Fundamental Rights of shareholders as citizens are not lost when they associate to form a company. When their Fundamental Rights as shareholders are impaired by State action, their rights as shareholders are protected. The reason is that the shareholders' rights are equally and necessarily affected if the rights of the company are affected."

Company has Nationality and Residence

Though it is established through judicial decisions that a company cannot be a citizen, yet it has nationality, domicile and residence. In Gasque v. Inland Revenue Commissioners, (1940) 2 K.B. 88, Macnaghten. J. held that a limited company is capable of having a domicile and its domicile is the place of its registration and that domicile clings to it throughout its existence. He observed in this case:

> "It was suggested that a body corporate has no domicile. It is quite true that a body corporate cannot have a domicile in the same sense as an individual. But by analogy with a natural person the attributes of residence, domicile and nationality can be given to a body corporate."

CASE LAW

In Tulika v. Parry and Co., (1903) I.L.R. 27 Mad. 315, Kelly C.B. observed

"A joint stock company resides where its place of incorporation is, where the meetings of the whole company or those who represent it are held and where its governing body meets in bodily presence for the purposes of the company and exercises the powers conferred upon it by statute and by the Articles of Association."

LIMITED LIABILITY

"The privilege of limited liability for business debts is one of the principal advantages of doing business under the corporate form of organisation." The company, being a separate person, is the owner of its assets and bound by its liabilities.

The liability of a member as shareholder, extends to the contribution to the capital of the company up to the nominal value of the shares held and not paid by him.

Members, even as a whole, are neither the owners of the company's undertakings, nor liable for its debts. In other words, a shareholder is liable to pay the balance, if any, due on the shares held by him, when called upon to pay and nothing more, even if the liabilities of the company far exceed its assets. This means that the liability of a member is limited.

For example, if A holds shares of the total nominal value of 1,000 and has already paid Rs.500/- (or 50% of the value) as part payment at the time of allotment, he cannot be called upon to pay more than Rs. 500/-, the amount remaining unpaid on his shares. If he holds fully-paid shares, he has no further liability to pay even if the company is declared insolvent. In the case of a company limited by guarantee, the liability of members is limited to a specified amount of the guarantee mentioned in the memorandum.

Buckley, J. in Re. London and Globe Finance Corporation, (1903) 1 Ch.D. 728 at 731, has observed: "The statutes relating to limited liability have probably done more than any legislation of the last fifty years to further the commercial prosperity of the country. They have, to the advantage of the investor as well as of the public, allowed and encouraged aggregation of small sums into large capitals which have been employed in undertakings of "great public utility largely increasing the wealth of the country".

Exceptions to the principle of limited liability

- Members are severally liable in certain cases- The following are the prerequisites for attracting the provisions of Section 3A:-

    1. The number of members of the Company is reduced to below seven in case of public company or below two in case of private company;
    2. The company carries on business for more than six months with such less number of members;
    3. The members are cognizant of fact that the company is carrying business with such less number of members.

    In such case the remaining members so continuing in the company shall be liable for the payment of whole debts of the company contracted during that time.

- When the company is incorporated as an Unlimited Company under Section 3(2)(c) of the Act.

- Where a company has been got incorporated by furnishing any false or incorrect information or representation or by suppressing any material fact or information in any of the documents or declaration filed or made for incorporating such company or by any fraudulent action, the Tribunal may, on an application made to it, on being satisfied that the situation so warrants, direct that liability of the members of such company shall be unlimited. [Section 7(7)(b)]
- Further under section 339(1), where in the course of winding up it appears that any business of the company has been carried on with an intent to defraud creditors of the company or any other persons or for any fraudulent purpose, the Tribunal may declare the persons who were knowingly parties to the carrying on of the business in the manner aforesaid as personally liable, without limitation of liability, for all or any of the debts/liabilities of the company.[Section 339]
- Under Section 35(3), where it is proved that a prospectus has been issued with intent to defraud the applicants for the securities of a company or any other person or for any fraudulent purpose, every person who was a director at the time of issue of the prospectus or has been named as a director in the prospectus or every person who has authorised the issue of prospectus or every promoter or a person referred to as an expert in the prospectus shall be personally responsible, without any limitation of liability, for all or any of the losses or damages that may have been incurred by any person who subscribed to the securities on the basis of such prospectus.
- As per section 75(1), where a company fails to repay the deposit or part thereof or any interest thereon referred to in section 74 within the time specified or such further time as may be allowed by the Tribunal and it is proved that the deposits had been accepted with intent to defraud the depositors or for any fraudulent purpose, every officer of the company who was responsible for the acceptance of such deposit shall, without prejudice to other liabilities, also be personally responsible, without any limitation of liability, for all or any of the losses or damages that may have been incurred by the depositors.
- Section 224(5) states that where the report made by an inspector states that fraud has taken place in a company and due to such fraud any director, key managerial personnel, other officer of the company or any other person or entity, has taken undue advantage or benefit, whether in the form of any asset, property or cash or in any other manner, the Central Government may file an application before the Tribunal for appropriate orders with regard to disgorgement of such asset, property, or cash, and also for holding such director, key managerial personnel, officer or other person liable personally without any limitation of liability.

CONTRACTUAL RIGHTS

What are contractual rights?

They refer to a guaranteed set of rights given to all the parties (two or more) when they enter into a valid contact. Contract rights usually involve business matters. Some common types of contractual rights are:

- Right to purchase a product or service;
- Right to sell a product or service, etc.

A company, being a legal entity different from its members, can enter into contracts for the conduct of the business in its own name. A shareholder cannot enforce a contract made by his company; he is neither a party to the contract, nor be entitled to the benefit derived from it, as a company is not a trustee for its shareholders. Likewise, a shareholder cannot be sued on contracts made by his company. The distinction between a company and its members is not confined to the rules of privity but permeates the whole law of contract. Thus, if a director fails to disclose a breach of his duties towards his company, and in consequence a shareholder is induced to enter into a contract with the director on behalf of the company which he would not have entered into had there been disclosure, the shareholder cannot rescind the contract.

Similarly, a member of a company cannot sue in respect of torts committed against the company, nor can he be sued for torts committed by the company. Therefore, the company as a legal person can take action to enforce its legal rights or be sued for breach of its legal duties. Its rights and duties are distinct from those of its constituent members.

Disadvantages of Registered Companies

We have discussed the various features of registered companies, now let us discuss certain disadvantages of incorporated companies:

- Formality and Expense: Registration of a company involves a lot of statutory formalities and the consequent expense. The affairs and working of a company have to be conducted strictly in accordance with the applicable legal provisions, non-compliance of which entails penal consequence.

  Other forms of business organization are comparatively relieved from various legal compulsions and formalities.

- Privacy Loss: Another form of disadvantage of a company of loss of privacy. Various returns, resolutions and documents are to be uploaded and filed with the Registrar of Companies. The office of Registrar of Companies is a public office and accessible to public on payment of prescribed fees for inspection of any document filed by company to Registrar.
- Diversified Control: The members of the company cannot have as effective control over the workings of company as in sole proprietorship and partnership business models. Normally, the shareholders of the company are very in high in numbers and its acts through the representatives of he shareholders in the name of-the Directors/ KMPs.
- Public Accountability: The Company cannot work in contravention to public interest, because as and when the public interest will come in conflict with corporate working, intervention by regulatory authorities will be triggered.
- Fraud Possibilities: The company operates through control of economic resources in a few hands, there is a possibility that the other people who have contributed funds to the company either as shareholder or debenture holder or creditor or lender, those few hands may defraud by diverting funds of the company to their private channels. By the time it comes to notice of regulatory authorities the damage is already done.

TYPES OF REGISTERED COMPANIES

A company is nothing but a group of persons who have come together or who have contributed money for some common purpose and who have incorporated themselves as a separate legal entity in the form of a company for that purpose.

> Under Halsbury's Laws of England, the term " Company" has been defined as a collection of many individuals united into one body under special denomination, having perpetual succession under an artificial form and vested by the policies of law with the capacity of acting in several respect as an individual, particularly for taking and granting of property, for contracting obligation and for suing and being sued, for enjoying privileges and immunities in common and exercising a variety of political rights, more or less extensive, according to the design of its institution or the powers upon it, either at the time of its creation or at any subsequent period of its existence.

Types of Companies

Statutory Company: A company may be incorporated by means of a special Act of the Parliament or any State legislature. Such companies are called statutory companies. These companies are generally formed to carry out some special public understakings, e.g railways, waterways, electricity generation etc.

Registered Companies: The companies registered under the Companies Act, 2013 or the earlier Companies Acts are called registered companies. Such companies come into existence when they are registered under the Companies Act and a Certificate of incorporation is granted to them by the Registrar.

Unregistered Companies: An unregistered company is a company which is not registered or covered under the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013. It includes partnership firms, society or co-operation society, railway company incorporated under any Act of Parliament or any other Indian law or registered under any previous law.

In India, the two common types of companies which may be registered are:

Private Company	Public Company

A company's liability may be limited by shares, in which case the liability of the company's members is limited to the amount of the shares held by them, or it may be limited by guarantee, in which case the liability is limited to a predetermined amount to which the company's members have agreed to contribute if the company is dissolved with outstanding liabilities.

Section 3 of the Companies Act, 2013 read with the Companies (Incorporation) Rules, 2014, states that:

(1) A company may be formed for any lawful purpose by–

(a) seven or more persons, where the company to be formed is a public company;

(b) two or more persons, where the company to be formed is a private company; or

Some of the basic forms of classification of companies are mentioned as below:

(i) Classification on the basis of Incorporation: Companies may be incorporated under the following categories:

(a) Registered Companies: The companies which are incorporated under the Companies Act, 2013 or under any previous company law and registered with the Registrar of Companies, fall under this category.

(b) Statutory Companies: These are constituted by a Special Act of Parliament or State Legislature. The provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 do not apply to them.

For examples: Life Insurance Corporation of India.

(ii) Classification on the basis of Liability: Under this category there are three types of companies: -

(a) Companies limited by shares: A company that has the liability of its members limited by the liability clause in the memorandum to the amount, if any, unpaid on the shares respectively held by them is termed as a company limited by shares. Section 2(22) of the Companies Act, 2013 provides that "Company limited by shares" means a company having the liability of its members limited by the memorandum to the amount, if any, unpaid on the shares respectively held by them.

For example, a shareholder who has paid Rs.75 on a share of face value Rupees 100 can be called upon to pay the balance of Rupees.25 only. Companies limited by shares are by far the most common and it may be either public or private.

(b) Companies limited by guarantee: Section 2(21) of the Companies Act, 2013 provides that a company that has the liability of its members limited to such amount as the members may respectively undertake, by the memorandum, to contribute to the assets of the company in the event of its being wound-up, is known as a company limited by guarantee. (iv) "layer" in relation to a holding company means its subsidiary or subsidiaries.

(i) a co-operative society registered under any law relating to co-operative societies; and

(ii) any other body corporate (not being a company as defined in this Act), which the Central Government may, by notification, specify in this behalf.

(d) Associate Companies/ Joint Venture Company: As per section 2(6) of the Companies Act, 2013 the "associate company", in relation to another company, means a company in which that other company has a significant influence, but which is not a subsidiary company of the company having such influence and includes a joint venture company.

(f) Small Company: The MCA for the Ease of doing Business has revised the definition of Small companies by increasing their threshold limits for paid up capital from "not exceeding Rs. 2 Crore" to "not exceeding Rs. 4 Crore" and turnover from "not exceeding Rs. 20 Crore" to "not exceeding Rs. 40 Crore". Thus, the definition of small company under Section 2(85) read with Rule 2(1)(t) of the Companies (Specification of definitions Details) Rules, 2014 with effect from September 15, 2022 is hereunder: "Small company" means a company, other than a public company, —

(i) paid-up share capital of which does not exceed four crores rupees or such higher amount as may be prescribed which shall not be more than ten crore rupees; and

(ii) turnover of which as per profit and loss account for the immediately preceding financial year does not exceed forty crore rupees or such higher amount as may be prescribed which shall not be more than one hundred crore rupees:

Provided that nothing in this clause shall apply to— (A) a holding company or a subsidiary company; (B) a company registered under Section 8; or (C) a company or body corporate governed by any special Act.

(g) Domestic Company: A domestic company is a company that conducts its affairs in its home country. It should be registered under the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 or earlier law applicable in India. The domestic company shall have registered office in India. PRIVATE COMPANY

As per Section 2(68) of the Companies Act, 2013, "private company" means a company having a minimum paid-up share capital as may be prescribed, and which by its articles:–

(i) restricts the right to transfer its shares;

(ii) except in case of One Person Company, limits the number of its members to two hundred:

Provided that where two or more persons hold one or more shares in a company jointly, they shall, for the purposes of this clause, be treated as a single member:

Provided further that -

(a) persons who are in the employment of the company; and

(b) persons who, having been formerly in the employment of the company, were members of the company while in that employment and have continued to be members after the employment ceased, shall not be included in the number of members; and

(iii) prohibits any invitation to the public to subscribe for any securities of the company.

The aforesaid definition of private limited company specifies the restrictions, limitations and prohibitions, which must be expressly provided in the articles of association of a private limited company.

As per proviso to Section 14 (1) of the Act, if a company being a private company alters its articles in such a manner that they no longer include the restrictions and limitations which are required to be included in the articles of a private company under this Act, such company shall, as from the date of such alteration, cease to be a private company.

The words 'Private Limited' must be added at the end of its name by a private limited company.

As per section 3(1), a private company may be formed for any lawful purpose by two or more persons, by subscribing their names to a memorandum and complying with the requirements of this Act in respect of registration.

Section 149(1) further lays down that a private company shall have a minimum number of two directors. The only two members may also be the two directors of the private company.

Some examples of Private Limited Companies in India:

Therefore, it may be interpreted that the exemption cannot be claimed by first being enrolled as the members and then inducted as employee.

Further if a director is also employed by the company in any other capacity such as works Manages, Sales Manager or as the Company Secretary, he may be treated as employee of the company notwithstanding his directorship. He will not then be counted towards the maximum numbers of members.

Can number of Debenture Holders exceed the limit of 200?

- Limited Liability structure:

  The liability of each member or shareholders is limited. It means that if a company faces loss under any circumstances then its shareholders are not liable to sell their own assets for payment. Thus, the personal, individual assets of the shareholders are not at risk.

  Exception to limited liability Section 3A provides that if the number of members of a private company is reduced below two, and the business is carried on for more than six months, while the number of members is so reduced, every person who is a member of the company during this period and is cognisant of this fact, shall be severally liable for the payment of the whole debts of the company contracted during that time, and may be severally sued therefore.

- Perpetual succession:

  The Company keeps on existing in the eyes of law even in the case of death, insolvency, the bankruptcy of any of its members. This leads to perpetual succession of the company. The life of the company keeps on existing forever.

- Index of members:

  An index of the names entered in the respective registers of members and the index shall, in respect of each folio, contain sufficient indication to enable the entries relating to that folio in the register to be readily found. The maintenance of index of members is not necessary in case the number of members of the company is less than fifty. Which is a privilege to a private company wherein number of members is less than fifty.

- A number of directors:

  When it comes to directors, a private company needs to have minimum two directors. With the existence of 2 directors, a private company can come into existence and can start with its operations.

- Paid up capital:

  There is no minimum capital requirement in case of private limited companies.

- Prospectus:

  Prospectus is a detailed statement of the company affairs which is issued by a company for its public. However, in the case of private limited company, the act prohibits any invitation to the public to subscribe for any securities of the company. There is no such need to issue a prospectus because in this type of companies, public is not invited to subscribe for the shares of the company.

- Commencement of Business:

Privileges and Exemptions of Private Company

The Companies Act, 2013, confers certain privileges on private companies which are not subsidiaries of public companies. Such companies are also exempted from complying with quite a few provisions of the Act. The basic rationale behind this is that since private limited companies are restrained from inviting capital and deposits from the public, not much public interest is involved in their affairs as compared to public limited companies. Private limited companies lose the privileges and exemptions the moment they cease to be private companies.

- Easy to Form: Under the Companies Act, 2013, a private limited company is relatively easier to form than a public limited company. A mere two persons can form a private company as opposed to the requirement of seven or more persons for a Public limited company. There is no requirement of minimum paid up share capital even for a private limited company.

- Provisions for Alteration of Articles of the Company: Articles of Association of Private Limited Company may contain provisions for Entrenchment to the effect that specified provisions may be altered only if conditions or procedures as that are more restrictive than those applicable in case of special resolution are met or complies with.

  Entrenchment clause in Article of a private company leads to give additional legal safeguard by placing the clause in a very strong position, that cannot be changed easily or addition of provision which makes certain amendments either more difficult or cumbersome by way of procedure, checks and safeguards. All the members of the Private Company is required to agree to the Entrenchment clause in the Articles.

- Lesser Compliance for Issue of Shares: A Private Company, while issuing further capital, is not required to make a prospectus or submit a statement in lieu of this prospectus to the Registrar of companies. A prospectus and Registrar's permission is requisite for a public company which can make public offers to larger number of potential investors. Since a private company does not have the capability of making a public offer, it is exempted from this requirement.

  Rule 9A of Companies (Prospectus and Allotment of Securities) Rules, 2014 pertaining to Dematerialization of Shares requires every unlisted public company to Issue the securities only in dematerialized form; and to facilitate dematerialization of all its existing securities. However, such compliance is not required for Private Company.

- Closure of Register of Members or Debenture Holders or Other Security Holders: Section 91 read with Rule 10 of the Companies (Management and Administration) Rules, 2014, provides that a company closing the register of members or the register of debenture holders shall give at least seven days previous notice and in such manner, as may be specified by Securities and Exchange Board of India, if such company is a listed company or intends to get its securities listed, by advertisement at least once in 2 newspapers, once in a vernacular newspaper in the principal vernacular language of the district and at least once in English language in an English newspaper circulating in that district and having wide circulation in the place where the registered office of the company is situated and publish the notice on the website as may be notified by the Central Government and on the website, if any, of the Company.

  This requirement is not applicable to a private company provided that the notice has been served on all members of the private company not less than seven days prior to closure of the register of members or debenture holders or other security holders.

- Lesser Compliances related to Directors of Private Companies: A Private Company has the privilege of having as less as two directors as opposed to the requirement of three directors for a Public Company. Further, at every annual general meeting of a public company, one-third of such of the directors for the time being as are liable to retire by rotation. However, directors of Private Companies are not liable to retire by rotation.

However, Private Companies are exempted from appointing such Independent Directors.

- Report on Annual General Meeting: Section 121 provides that Private companies are not required to file report on annual general meeting through E Form MGT-15 unlike Listed Companies.

- Audit Committee and Nomination and Remuneration Committee: Section 177 and 178 provides that every listed public company or Public Companies having paid up share capital of ten crore rupees or more; or turnover of one hundred crore rupees or more; or have, in aggregate, outstanding loans, debentures and deposits, exceeding fifty crore rupees is required to constitute an Audit Committee and Nomination and Remuneration Committee. However, Private Companies are exempted from constituting such committees.

- Corporate Social Responsibility Committee: Section 135 read with CSR Rules provides that a private company having only two directors on its Board is required to constitute its CSR Committee with two such directors only.

The Private Companies are economy boosters therefore, the Ministry of Corporate Affairs time to time considers the relaxation to the provisions applicable to private companies, wherever the situation requires, in order to provide hassle free compliance access to the promoters and professionals.

PUBLIC COMPANY

By virtue of Section 2(71), a public company means a company which:

(a) is not a private company;

(b) has a minimum paid-up share capital, as may be prescribed;

(c) subsidiary of a public company shall be deemed to be public company.

As per section 3(1)(a), a public company may be said to be an association consisting of not less than 7 members, which is registered under the Act. In principle, any member of the public who is willing to pay the price may acquire shares in or debentures of it. The securities of a public company may be quoted on a Stock Exchange. The number of members is not limited to two hundred.

The concept of free transferability of shares in public and private companies is very succinctly discussed in the case of Western Maharashtra Development Corpn. Ltd. v. Bajaj Auto Ltd. [2010] 154 Com Cases 593 (Bom). It was held that the Companies Act, makes a clear distinction in regard to the transferability of shares relating to private and public companies.

By definition, a “private company” is a company which restricts the right to transfer its shares. In the case of a public company, the Act provides that the shares or debentures and any interest therein, of a company, shall be freely transferable.

The provision contained in the law for the free transferability of shares in a public company is founded on the principle that members of the public must have the freedom to purchase and, every shareholder should have the freedom to transfer. The incorporation of a company in the public, as distinguished from the private, realm leads to specific consequences and the imposition of obligations envisaged in law. Those who promote and manage public companies assume those obligations. Corresponding to those obligations there are some rights, which the law recognizes as inherent in the members of the public who subscribe to shares of the company.

Some examples of Public Limited Companies In India:

- Bharat Heavy Electricals Ltd. (BHEL)

Public limited companies are headed by a board of directors and Key Managerial Personnel of the Company. Composition of the board of directors is set out in the company's articles of association and the applicable rules and regulations.
- Limited Liability: Shareholder liability for the losses of the company is limited to their share contribution only. This is what makes it a separate legal entity from its shareholders. The business can be sued on its own and not involve its shareholders. The company does not belong to any person since one person can own only a part of it.

Exception to limited liability

Section 3A provides that if the number of members of a public company is reduced below seven and the business is carried on for more than six months, while the number of members is so reduced, every person who is a member of the company during this period and is cognizant of this fact, shall be severally liable for the payment of the whole debts of the company contracted during that time, and may be severally sued therefore.

They are freely transferable between its members and people trading in the stock exchange.
- Life Span: A public limited company is not affected by death of one of its shareholders, but the shares are transferred to the next kin or legal heir of such deceased shareholder and the company continues to run its business as usual. In the case of a director's death, the Board is empowered to fill the resulting casual vacancy that may be filled by Board of Directors at Board meeting which shall be subsequently approved by members in the immediate next general meeting.
- Financial Privacy: Public limited companies are strictly regulated and are required by law to publish their complete financial statements annually. This ensures that they reveal their true financial position to their owners and to potential investors so that they can determine the true worth of its shares.

- Capital: Public limited companies enjoy an increased ability to raise capital since they can issue shares to the public through the stock market. They can also raise additional capital by issuing debentures and bonds through the same market from the public. Debentures and bonds are in the form of secured or unsecured debts issued to a company on the strength of its integrity and financial performance by the general public or its members etc.

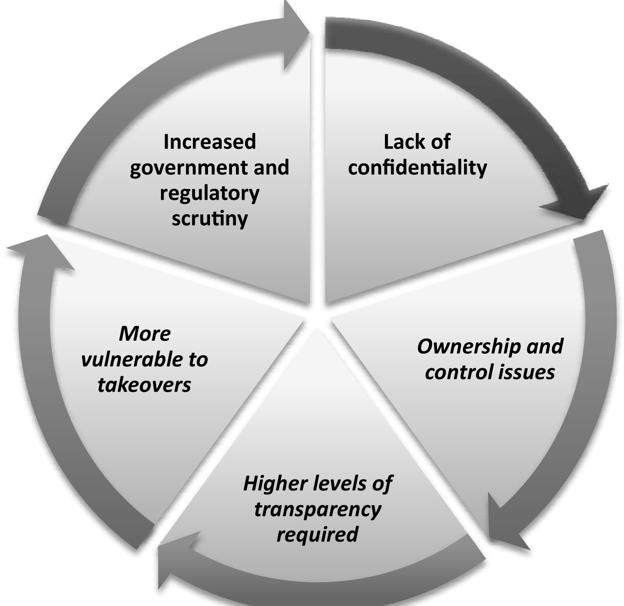
DISADVANTAGES OF PUBLIC COMPANIES



SMALL COMPANY

Meaning and Explanation under Companies Act, 2013

For the first time in India, the concept of Small Company was introduced in the Companies Act, 2013. This is a new step towards the de-regulation of entities through providing some exemptions, privileges and liberation with lesser compliances burden on the entities which are smaller in size and operations.

> Ministry of Corporate Affairs (MCA), time to time amending the definition of Small Company to provide many advantages to Corporates. This move of MCA is expected to lighten the compliance burden of small companies in India. The move is motivated to get more companies under the 'small' category and benefit them in terms of the compliance requirements. As due to this move, many Companies will get exemptions of so many compliances of Companies Act, 2013. This move would benefit Start-ups in India. Therefore, we can state that the decision to amend the definition of small company is a pragmatic and growth-oriented step of the government.

New Definition of a Small Company

The MCA for the Ease of doing Business has revised the definition of Small companies by increasing their threshold limits for paid up capital from "not exceeding Rs. 2 Crore" to "not exceeding Rs. 4 Crore" and turnover from "not exceeding Rs. 20 Crore" to "not exceeding Rs. 40 Crore".

Thus, the definition of small company under Section 2(85) read with Rule 2(1)(t) of the Companies (Specification of definitions Details) Rules, 2014 with effect from September 15, 2022 is hereunder:

"Small company" means a company, other than a public company, —

(i) paid-up share capital of which does not exceed four crores rupees or such higher amount as may be prescribed which shall not be more than ten crore rupees; and

(ii) turnover of which as per profit and loss account for the immediately preceding financial year does not exceed forty crore rupees or such higher amount as may be prescribed which shall not be more than one hundred crore rupees.

Provided that nothing in this clause shall apply to—

(A) a holding company or a subsidiary company;

(B) a company registered under Section 8; or

(C) a company or body corporate governed by any special Act.

Advantages of a Small Company

A private limited company that can be classified as a small company enjoys a number of benefits under the Companies Act, 2013 and lesser compliance formalities. Some of the advantages enjoyed are:

1. Filing of annual return: The annual return of a private limited company classified as a small company, can be signed by a Company Secretary, or where there is no company secretary, by a Director of that company.

2. Board's Report: As per Section 134(3A) of the Companies Act, 2013, the Central Government has prescribed an abridged form of Board's report for a small company. Rule 8A of the Companies (Accounts) Rules, 2014 has been notified for small companies which includes the following disclosures:

   (a) the web address, if any, where annual return referred to in sub-section (3) of section 92 has been placed;

   (b) number of meetings of the Board;

   (c) Directors' Responsibility Statement as referred to in sub-section (5) of section 134;

   (d) details in respect of frauds reported by auditors under sub-section (12) of section 143 other than those which are reportable to the Central Government;

   (e) explanations or comments by the Board on every qualification, reservation or adverse remark or disclaimer made by the auditor in his report;

   (f) the state of the company's affairs;

   (g) the particulars of contracts or arrangements with related parties referred to in sub-section (1) of section 188 in the Form AOC-2;

   (h) the financial summary or highlights;

   (i) material changes from the date of closure of the financial year in the nature of business and their effect on the financial position of the company;

   (j) the details of directors who were appointed or have resigned during the year;

   (k) the details of significant and material orders passed by the regulators or courts or tribunals impacting the going concern status and company's operations in future.

   As per Notification Dated 13th June, 2017, in case of small company Section 143(3)(i) shall not apply which says that the Auditor's Report shall state whether the company has adequate internal financial controls with reference to financial statements in place and the operating effectiveness of such controls.

3. Board Meeting: It is sufficient for a small company to conduct only two Board Meetings in a calendar year, one in every half calendar year with a gap of not less than 90 days between these two meetings.

4. Cash Flow Statement: A private limited company classified as a small company need not prepare cash flow statement as a part of the financial statements.

5. Rotation of Auditors:

   (a) Private limited company classified as a small company are not required to rotate their statutory Auditors.

   (b) Private limited company not classified as a small company must rotate their Auditors every 5 or 10 years as per the provisions of the Act, if these companies falls within the prescribed category such as their paid up share capital is more than Rs.50 Crores more or these are having public borrowings from financial institutions, banks or public deposits of Rs. 50 Crores or more.

Further, as per the definition of a small company, holding and subsidiary companies are specifically excluded from the concept of small company.

Thus, even though both the holding company and subsidiary company may fulfil the capital or turnover requirement of a small company, they will still fall outside the purview of small company and accordingly, the benefits which are available to a small company cannot be applied to a company which is holding or subsidiary company.

In other words, a holding or a subsidiary company can never enjoy the privileges of a small company even though they may fulfil the capital or turnover requirement of a small company.

Similarly, a company may be classified as a small company in a particular year but may become ineligible in the next year and may become eligible again in the subsequent year.

The privileges/exemptions available to a small company are same as that available to a one person company, but not all privileges available to a one person company are available to a small company.

So also, a company registered under Section 8 of the Companies Act, 2013 is also specifically excluded from the definition of small company. Hence, any company registered under Section 8 of the Companies Act, 2013 would not be small company though it may be a private company.

Further, Section 233 of the Companies Act, 2013 was notified with effect from December 15, 2016 and the Companies (Compromises, Arrangements and Amalgamations) Rules came into effect from the said date. Section 233 deals with fast track mergers. Two or more small companies are permitted to undertake fast track merger under section 233 of the Act. Such merger would require approval of Registrar of Companies having jurisdiction over the company, the Official liquidator, members holding at least 90% of total number of shares and majority of creditors representing 9/10th in value of the creditors or class of creditors of respective companies indicated in a meeting convened by the company by giving a notice of twenty-one days along with the scheme to its creditors for the purpose, or otherwise approved in writing.

Rule 25 of the Companies (Compromises, Arrangements and Amalgamations) Rules, 2016, has allowed scheme of merger or amalgamation under section 233 of the Companies Act, 2013 (fast track mergers through relatively simpler procedure) between any of the following class of companies, namely:-

(i) two or more start-up companies; or

(ii) one or more start-up company with one or more small company.

6. Reduced Penalties for non-compliance: If penalty is payable for non-compliance of any of the provisions of this Act by a small company or by any of its officer in default, or any other person in respect of such company, then such company, its officer in default or any other person, as the case may be, shall be liable to a penalty which shall not be more than one-half of the penalty specified in such provisions subject to a maximum of two lakh rupees in case of a company and one lakh rupees in case of an officer who is in default or any other person, as the case may be. This provision has overriding effect on any other contradictory provisions of the Act.

7. E-forms Certifications: As per the provisions of the Act, there is no necessity of certification of the eforms of a Small Company from Professional (CA/CS/CMA).

Examples of Small Company:

1. Local Auto Repairs companies
2. Food Services in form of small eateries

HOLDING COMPANY OR PARENT COMPANY

As per the Company law, a company controlled by another company is called a subsidiary company and the controlling company is called a holding company. Thus "control" is used as the benchmark in Company Law to determine holding company's status. The control can be through control of management or through ownership of shares.

Holding Company

Key Features:

Maintains control

Capital raising flexibility

Business diversity

Division of tax burden

By definition, a holding company is a company organized with the intention of acquiring equity ownership in other companies. Holding companies are popular in India, mainly in two forms –

(1) Corporate groups running multiple and varied businesses; and

(2) Private equity funds looking to create platforms to consolidate multiple assets within specific sectors or verticals, in which there are not the companies of the required size and scale.

This structure lends several advantages to either the corporate group or the investor.

Firstly, a holding company can gain control over its subsidiaries without investing the entire equity requirement.

Examples of a Holding Company:

- Alphabet Inc.
- Sony Corporation
- JP Morgan Chase & Co.
- Johnson & Johnson

An example of a well-known holding company is Berkshire Hathaway, which owns assets in various public and private companies, including Dairy Queen, Clayton Homes, Duracell, GEICO, Fruit of the Loom, RC Wiley Home Furnishings and Marmon Group.

Thus, a holding company allows for structural leverage due to its ability to control the business of its subsidiaries by holding majority (just over 50% shareholding), but at the same time allowing for fresh external investment for the balance stake.

Secondly, it can assist in raising capital based on the consolidated financial strength of its subsidiaries, which otherwise could be difficult for each individual subsidiary company. Flexibility to reorganize and structure finances is also available for individual businesses. Another key advantage of a holding company structure is that while it allows investment in multiple businesses under one parent company, it also ring-fences each business from the risks of the other, by preventing the business performance of one business from affecting the performance and valuation of another. For investors, this offers the option to gain an exposure to any preferred business along with the flexibility to structure the investment (as debt, equity etc.) to meet their investment objectives.

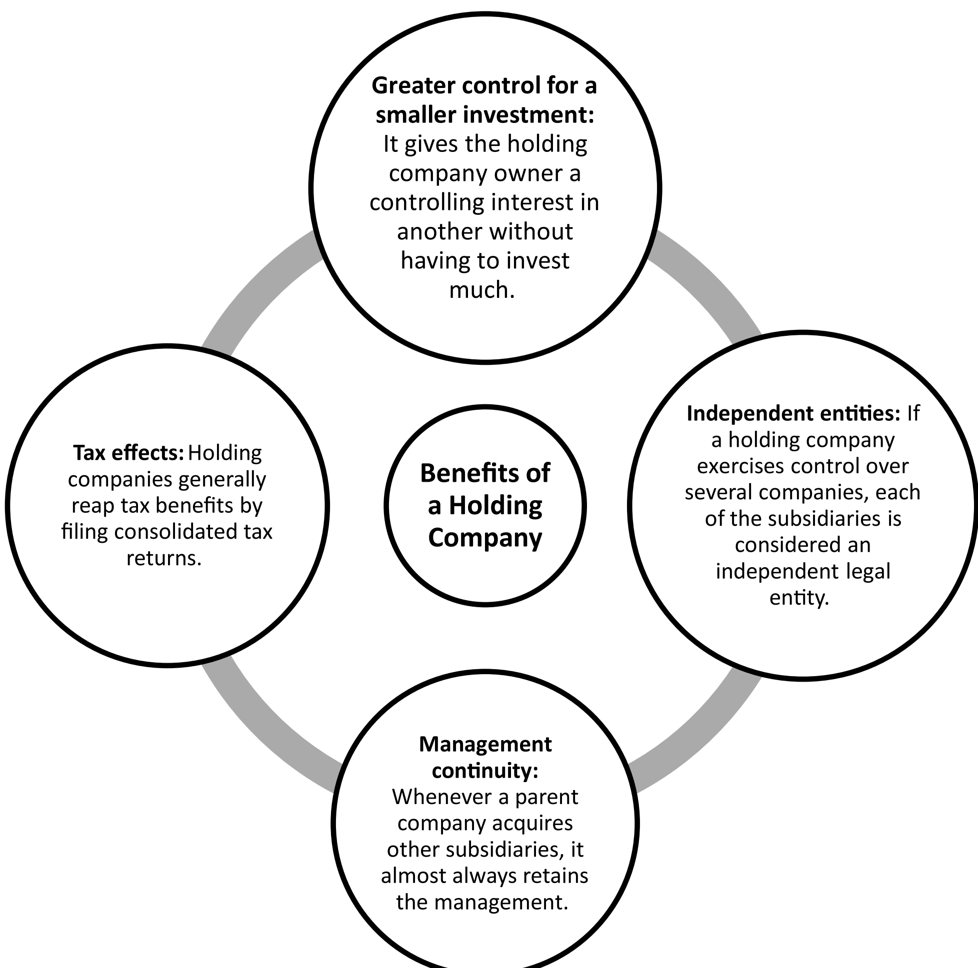
Types of Holding Companies

- Pure Holding: A holding company is described as pure if it was formed for the sole purpose of owning stock in other companies.
- A mixed holding company not only controls another firm but also engages in its own operations.
- An immediate holding company is one that retains voting stock or control of another company, in spite of the fact that the company itself is already controlled by another entity.
- An intermediate holding is a firm that is both a holding company of another entity and a subsidiary of a larger corporation.

Clause (46) of section 2 of the Companies Act, 2013 states as under:

A "holding company" in relation to one or more other companies, means a company of which such companies are subsidiary companies.

Explanation: For the purpose of this clause, the expression "Company" includes anybody corporate.



Provisions in the Companies Act, 2013 relating to holding company: The summarized provisions relating to financial statements as contained in Section 129 and the Companies (Accounts) Rules, 2014 are given below:

Financial Statements of Holding Company:

The Consolidated Financial Statement of holding company is required to disclose prescribed details about subsidiary companies, associate companies and joint ventures.

If Holding Company has more than one subsidiary:

If a Company has one or more subsidiaries, associate companies and joint ventures, it shall, prepare a consolidated financial statement of the company and of all the subsidiaries, associate companies and joint venture in the same form and manner as that of its own.

Separate financial statement of Holding Company:

This Statement is in addition to the separate financial statement of the holding company. The consolidated financial statement shall also be placed before the annual general meeting of the holding company along with the laying of its own financial statement.

Disclosure in balance Sheet of Holding Company:

Balance sheet of holding company shall specifically disclose investments in the subsidiaries.

Disclosure in Profit and Loss account of Holding Company:

Profit and Loss account of Holding company shall disclose:

(a) Dividends from subsidiary Companies

(b) Provisions for losses of subsidiary Companies

Every Company having a subsidiary or subsidiaries has to submit consolidated financial statements in addition to its own 'financial statements' to Registrar of Companies within 30 days from the date of Annual General Meeting along with the prescribed fees. {Sub section (1) of section 137}.

In case the company has a website:

The Company is required to place separate audited accounts in respect of each of its subsidiary on its website, if any, and provide a copy of separate audited financial statements in respect of each of its subsidiary, to any shareholder of the Company, who asks for it [4th proviso to sub section (1) of section 136].

DISADVANTAGES OF HOLDING COMPANIES:

- Over capitalization: Since capital of holding company and its subsidiaries companies may be pooled together, it may result in over capitalization. Shareholders would get not get a fair return on their invested capital.
- Exploitation of subsidiaries: The subsidiaries companies might face challenging situation where they are compelled to buy goods from the holding at high prices and vice versa.
- Manipulation: Information about subsidiaries may be used for personal gains. For example information of the financial performance of subsidiary companies may be misused to indulge in speculative activities.
- Concentration of economic power: There is concentration of economic power in the hands of those who manage the holding company.
- Monopoly: Holding companies, by absorbing more and more subsidiaries companies, may also create conglomerates and a monopolistic market if they may own multiple companies in the same industry.

SUBSIDIARY COMPANY

As per Section 2(87), a "subsidiary company" or "subsidiary", in relation to any other company (that is to say the holding company), means a company in which the holding company –

(i) controls the composition of the Board of Directors; or

(ii) exercises or controls more than one-half of the total voting power either at its own or together with one or more of its subsidiary companies:

Explanation*: – For the purposes of this clause –*

(a) a company shall be deemed to be a subsidiary company of the holding company even if the control referred to in sub-clause (i) or sub-clause (ii) is of another subsidiary company of the holding company;

(b) the composition of a company's Board of Directors shall be deemed to be controlled by another company if that other company by exercise of some power exercisable by it at its discretion can appoint or remove all or a majority of the directors;

(c) the expression "company" includes any body corporate;

(d) "layer" in relation to a holding company means its subsidiary or subsidiaries.

Illustration:

Where the composition of the Board of Directors of a company (including body corporate), say S Ltd., is controlled by another company (holding company), say H Ltd., either directly (on its own) or together with its one or more subsidiaries, then such company (or body corporate) [S Ltd.] is said to be subsidiary of the other company, H Ltd. Such control can also be through any subsidiary of the holding company, H Ltd. The composition of a company's Board of Directors shall be deemed to be controlled by another company, even if the same is not actually so controlled, if that other company by exercise of some power exercisable by it at its discretion can appoint or remove all or a majority of the directors .

The term 'control' is defined under section 2(27) as under:

'Control' shall include the right to appoint majority of the directors or to control the management or policy decisions exercisable by a person or persons acting individually or in concert, directly or indirectly, including by virtue of their shareholding or management rights or shareholders agreements or voting agreements or in any other manner.

Illustration:

Where more than one-half of the total voting power of a company (including body corporate), Z Ltd., is controlled by another company (holding company), Y Ltd., either directly (on its own) or together with its one or more subsidiaries, then such company (or body corporate), Z Ltd., is said to be subsidiary of the other company, Y Ltd. Such control can be through any one or more subsidiary / subsidiaries of the holding company.

CASE LAW

In Re Oriental Industrial Investments Corporation Ltd vs. Union of India (1981) 51 Comp. Cas 487 Delhi

Control over the composition of a subsidiary company's Board of Directors can arise from provisions in subsidiary's memorandum or articles or from a contract with subsidiary empowering holding company to appoint directors to subsidiary's Board.

Further, the proviso to section provided as under:

Provided that such class or classes of holding companies as may be prescribed shall not have layers of subsidiaries beyond such numbers as may be prescribed. The said proviso got notified with effect from 20th September, 2017 by issue of the Companies (Restriction on Number of Layers) Rules, 2017. Under Rule 2 of the said Rules, no company, other than a company belonging to a class specified in sub-rule (2) of the said Rules shall have more than two layers of subsidiaries.

The following classes of companies are exempt from restriction on number of layers:

- A banking company;

- A non-banking financial company which is registered with the Reserve Bank of India and considered as systematically important non-banking financial company by the Reserve Bank of India;
- An insurance company being a company which carries on the business of insurance; and
- A Government company.

The first proviso to Rule 2 of the Companies (Restriction on Number of Layers) Rules, 2017 provides exemption to a Company from acquiring a company incorporated in a country outside India with subsidiaries beyond two layers as per the laws of such country.

The obvious intent of this carve-out is that Indian law cannot extend its sweep beyond the territorial jurisdiction, and when it comes to propagation of subsidiaries in offshore jurisdictions, India will have to rely on the regulations in the relevant country. In case of off-shore subsidiaries, it is quite a commonplace practice to have multiple layers of subsidiaries based on the need of specific countries to have a business incorporated in the country of jurisdiction, while at the same time, to direct the FDI into that country from a location of choice.

What Is a Wholly Owned Subsidiary Company?

A wholly owned subsidiary company is a company that is incorporated under the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 and in which holds hundred percent share capital of such company. In other words, a wholly owned subsidiary company can be defined as an entity whose entire share capital is held by another Indian or foreign company.

Example:

Starbucks company Japan is a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Starbucks group.

Reliance Industrial Investment and Holdings Limited (RIIHL), is a wholly owned susbidiary of the Reliance Group of Company.

BENEFITS OF A SUBSIDIARY COMPANY INCLUDE:

- Limited financial liability for the bigger holding company, containing potential losses within the subsidiary company.
- Subsidiaries focusing on specific product or technology development can strengthen the corporation as a whole.
- Specific brand or product as subsidiaries own legal entity to maintain independence.
- Maintain an acquired company's independence whilst exerting managerial control.
- Favorable tax rates.

The cap on layers of subsidiaries useful to keep a check on usage of multiple layers of holding-subsidiary structures for siphoning off /routing of funds and will enable regulators/ authorities to identify the ultimate beneficiaries of complex corporate structures.

ASSOCIATE COMPANY

Under section 2(6) of the Companies Act, 2013, "associate company", in relation to another company, means a company in which that other company has a significant influence, but which is not a subsidiary company of the company having such influence and includes a joint venture company.

Below is the explanation for the purpose of this clause –

(a) the expression "significant influence" means control of at least twenty per cent of total voting power, or control of or participation in business decisions under an agreement;

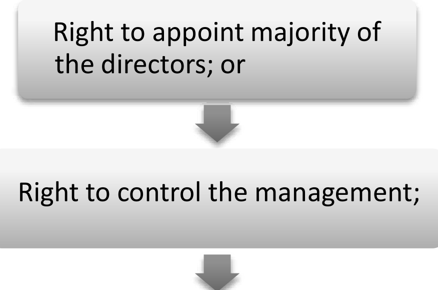
(b) the expression "joint venture" means a joint arrangement whereby the parties that have joint control of the arrangement have rights to the net assets of the arrangement.

For the purpose of "significant Influence", the following conditions need to be fulfilled:

(i) Control of at least 20% of total voting power but less than 50% of Share Capital by another company.

(ii) Control of business decisions under an agreement.

Section 2(27) of Companies Act, 2013 defines 'control'. It includes –



The second condition, namely, "control of business decisions under an agreement" has been the subject of controversy and debate. It may be noted that if this condition is satisfied, then a company will be an associate company, even if there is no control of even 20% of total voting power. The clause is applicable even when the control of business decision is under an oral agreement or a written agreement.

Additional compliances/restrictions under the Companies Act:

If a company has an Associate Company- section 2(76)

It will be considered as Related Party. Section 188 (Related Party Transaction) as per the Companies Act, 2013 will be applicable where the transactions prescribed in section 188(1) of the Companies Act, 2013 are being entered by the company with its Associate Company.

Section 129

Consolidated Financial Statements shall also include financial statements of Associate Company.

Section 149(6)

Following persons cannot be appointed as independent director in a company if they are:

1. A promoter or related to promoters or Director of an Associate Company.
2. Has/had or any of his relatives has or had pecuniary relationship with Associate Company.
3. Holding or any of their relative(s) held the position of key managerial personnel or has been employee of an Associate Company.

Section 192

If directors of an Associate Company want to do any Non-Cash transactions with the company, then they need to pass Ordinary resolution. This section provides for the manner in respect of regulation of arrangements with respect to acquisition of assets for consideration other than cash. Such arrangements shall require prior approval by a resolution in general meeting and if the director or connected person is a director of its holding company, approval is required to be obtained by passing a resolution in general meeting of the holding company.

Illustration:

There is a company ABC Limited and below are the list of shareholders:

List of shareholders:

S. No.	Name of Shareholder	% of shares Held
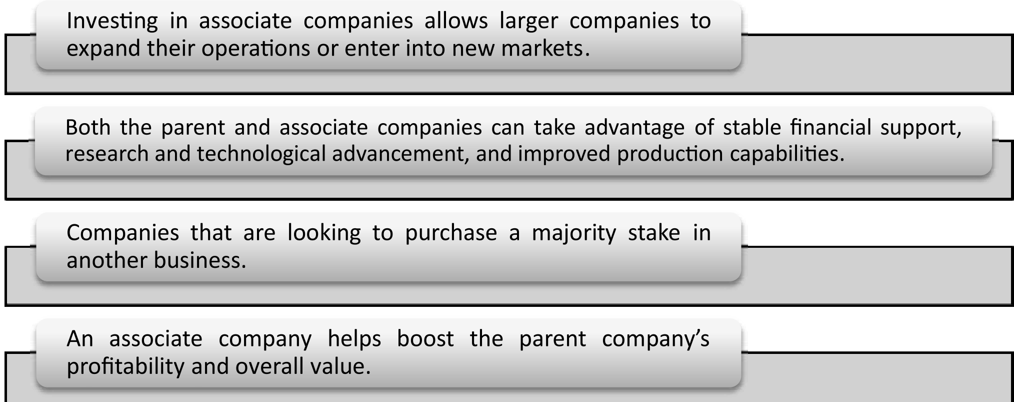
1	Y Limited	21
2	Z Limited	18
3	X Limited	17
Y limited is the associate company of ABC Limited, because it is holding 21% shares of ABC Limited.

Advantages of Associate Company:



Difference between Associate and Subsidiary Company

Associate Company	Subsidiary Company
The parent company holds a minimum of 20% but less than 50% of the total voting power.	Parent company holds more than 50% of the total voting power.

The parent company has significant influence, that is, the power to participate in the financial and operating decisions of the Associate company.	The Parent company has controlling power over the financial and operating decisions of the subsidiary company.
There may be presence of certain number of common promoters/directors.	The parent company controls the management of the subsidiary company.

DORMANT COMPANY/ INACTIVE COMPANY

The definition of an Inactive Company can be found in the explanation to Section 455(1) of the Companies Act, 2013. It reads as under:

(i) "inactive company" means a company which has not been carrying on any business or operation, or has not made any significant accounting transaction during the last two financial years, or has not filed financial statements and annual returns during the last two financial years.

Why Obtain Dormant Status?

The section provides that where a company is formed and registered under this Act for a future project or to hold an asset or intellectual property and has no significant accounting transaction, such a company or an inactive company may make an application to the Registrar in such manner as may be prescribed for obtaining the status of a dormant company.

Thus, the words "dormant company" and "inactive company" are synonymous. However, a company has to obtain a status as "dormant company" and hence, such companies are not incorporated as such.

Procedural aspects relating to dormant company / inactive company:

To obtain the status of dormant company, an application is to be filed in Form MSC-1 with the Registrar. After considering the same, the Registrar shall issue a certificate in Form MSC-2 allowing the status of a Dormant Company.

(i) no inspection, inquiry or investigation has been ordered or taken up or carried out against the company;

(ii) no prosecution has been initiated and pending against the company under any law;

(v) there is no dispute in the management or ownership of the company and a certificate in this regard is enclosed with Form MSC-1;

(vi) the company does not have any outstanding statutory taxes, dues, duties etc. payable to the Central Government or any State Government or local authorities etc.;

(vii) the company has not defaulted in the payment of workmen's dues;

(viii) the securities of the company are not listed on any stock exchange within or outside India.

Compliance Process for Dormant Company:

- Application to ROC in Form MSC-1
- Issuance of Certificate by Registrar in Form MSC-2
- Filing of return of Dormant Company (Audited by PCA) Within 30 days of end of each financial year

MEMORANDUM OF ASSOCIATION

Introduction

A company is formed and registered when a number of people come together for achieving a specific purpose. This specific purpose is usually commercial in nature. Companies are generally formed to earn profit from business activities. To register a company, an application form has to be filed with the Registrar of Companies (ROC). This application form is required to be submitted with a certain number of specified documents. One of the fundamental documents that are required to be submitted with the application form for incorporation of company is the Memorandum of Association (MoA).

What is Memorandum of Association?

- Memorandum of Association is a legal document which describes the purpose for which the company is formed and therefore identified the possible scope of its operations beyond which its action cannot go. It defines as well as confines the powers of the company. If anything is done beyond these powers that will be ultra vires (beyond the powers) of the company and so void.
- The first step in the formation of a company is to prepare a document called the memorandum of association. In fact, memorandum is one of the most essential pre-requisites for incorporating any form of company under the Companies Act, 2013 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act').

"The Memorandum of Association", as observed by Palmer, "is a document of great importance in relation to the proposed company".

The requirement of memorandum is evidenced in Section 3 of the Act, which provides the mode of incorporation of a company and states that a company may be formed for any lawful purpose:

- by seven or more persons, where the company to be formed is a public company;
- two or more persons, where the company to be formed is a private company; or
- one person, where the company to be formed is a One Person Company

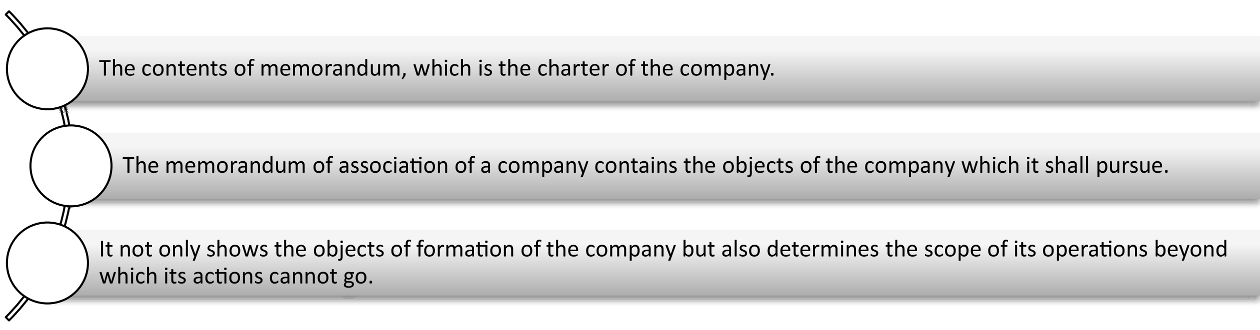
Definition and provisions pertaining to Memorandum under the Companies Act, 2013:

According to Section 2(56) of the Act "memorandum" means the memorandum of association of a company as originally framed and altered, from time to time, in pursuance of any previous company law or this Act.

Section 4 of the Act specifies in clear terms:



CASE LAWS

In the celebrated case of Ashbury Railway Carriage & Iron Co. Ltd. v. Riche, (1875) L.R. 7 H.L. 653, Lord Cairn observed: "The memorandum of association of a company is its charter and defines the limitations of the powers of the company. It contains the both which is affirmative and that which is negative. It states affirmatively the ambit and extent of vitality and powers which by law are given to the corporation, and it states negatively, if it is necessary to state, that nothing shall be done beyond that ambit" [Egyptian Salt and Soda Co. Ltd. v. Port Said Salt Association Ltd. (1931) A.C. 677].

In Re Attorney General Vs. Great Eastern Railway (1880) 5 AC 473, It was held that the court will consider ancillary/incidental objectives along with main objects of the company.

Memorandum enables shareholders, creditors and all those who have business terms with company to know what its powers are and what is the range of its activities. An intending shareholder can find out the purposes for which his money is going to be used by the company and what type of risk he is taking by investing the company. In same manner, anyone dealing with the company, viz. supplier of goods, will know whether the transaction he intends to make with the company is within the objects of the company and not ultra vires its objects.

Question: Do all the companies require MoA?

Answer: Yes, it is mandatory for every company to have a MoA as it defines the scope of its operations. The entire structure of the company is detailed in the MoA. It is to be submitted to the Registrar of Companies. It is a public document, and any person can view the MoA of the company by paying the required fees to the Ministry of Corporate Affairs (MCA).

The above clauses are compulsory and are designated as “conditions” prescribed by the Act, on the basis of which a company is incorporated.

It is to be noted that the Companies Act, 2013 shall override the provisions in the Memorandum and Articles of a company, if the latter contains anything contrary to the provisions in the Act (Section 6).

1. Name Clause:

This clause defines the name of the company. The name of the company should not be identical or resemble too nearly to any existing company. Also, if it is a private company, then it should have the word ‘Private Limited’ at the end. And in case of public company public company, then it should add the word “Limited” at the end of its name.

Example:

a) ABC Private Limited in case of the private company;

b) ABC Limited for a public company.

A company being a legal entity must have a name of its own to establish its separate identity. The name of the company is a symbol of its independent corporate existence. The first clause in the memorandum of association of the company states the name by which a company is to be known. The company may adopt any suitable name provided it is not undesirable.

According to section 4(2), the name stated in the memorandum shall not –

(a) be identical with or resemble too nearly to the name of an existing company registered under this Act or any previous company law; or

(b) be such that its use by the company –

(i) will constitute an offence under any law for the time being in force; or

(ii) is undesirable in the opinion of the Central Government.

Section 4(3) of the Act provides that without prejudice to the provisions of section 4(2), a company shall not be registered with a name which contains –

(a) any word or expression which is likely to give the impression that the company is in any way connected with, or having the patronage of, the Central Government, any State Government, or any local authority, corporation or body constituted by the Central Government or any State Government under any law for the time being in force; or

Section 4(5)(i) lays down that upon receipt of an application under sub-section (4), the Registrar may, on the basis of information and documents furnished along with the application, reserve the name for a period of twenty days from the date of the application.

Provided that in case of an application for reservation of name or for change of its name by an existing company, the Registrar may reserve the name for a period of sixty days from the date of approval.

The object is to prevent the use of a name which is likely to mislead the public. For example, a company is not allowed to use a name which is prohibited under the Emblems and Names (Prevention of Improper Use) Act, 1950, or suggestive of any connection with Government or of State patronage where there is none.

CASE LAWS

The Registrar must make preliminary enquiries to ensure that the name allowed by him is not misleading or intended to deceive with reference to the Objects Clause of the memorandum [Methodist Church v. Union of India, (1985) 57 Com Cases 443 (Bombay)].

The Registrar is not, however, required to carry out any elaborate investigation at the time of registration of the company. Unless the purpose of the company appears to be unlawful ex-facie or is transparently illegal or prohibited by any statute, it cannot be regarded as an unlawful association [T.V. Krishna v. Andhra Prabha (P) Ltd., (1960) 30 Com Cases 437 (AP)].

In the case of Atlas Cycles (Haryana) Ltd. v. Atlas Products Pvt. Ltd [146 (2008) DLT 274 (DB)], use of the brand name as corporate name was settled. Both the plaintiff and the defendant companies belong to the same family. The Appellant-plaintiff was the proprietor of the trade mark in the name "Atlas". The Respondent- defendant company containing the name "Atlas" in its corporate name started dealing in bicycles. The plaintiff objected to the use of the name "Atlas" by the defendant company. The Defendants were restrained from using the word 'Atlas' in their corporate/trade name in respect of bicycles and bicycle parts.

Where a company is directed to change the name, the court cannot directly tell the Registrar to effect the change in the name of the company. The Court can only direct the company to do so. The company cannot simply file the Court order regarding the change, but it will have to follow the prescribed procedure. [Halifax Plc v. Halifax Repossessions Ltd. (2004) 2 BCLC 455 (CA)].

A person cannot be permitted to name a company even after his personal name if that name resembles the name of an existing company. [K.G. Khosla Compressors Ltd. v. Khosla Extractions Ltd., (1986) 1 Comp LJ 211: AIR 1986 Del 181]

In Re Vardhaman Crop Nutrients (P.) Ltd. Vs. Union of India High Court of Punjab and Haryana LPA No. 101 of 2015 (O&M).

Brand name 'Vardhaman' was already registered trade mark of respondent-company Vardhaman Fertilizers and Seeds (P.) Ltd. and both appellant (Vardhaman Crop Nutrients Private Limited) and respondent companies were doing same business, the respondent-company filed an application under section 22 seeking direction to the appellant-company to change/delete the brand name 'Vardhaman', the registered Trade Mark of the respondent-company, as the same was undesirable and causing great loss of business, reputation and goodwill of its company, and the appellant-company, on merits it was held that appeal was dismissed and the appellant company was granted three months' time from the date of receipt of certified copy of order, to change its name to some other name, after deleting the word "VARDHAMAN" from its existing name.

2. Situation Clause:

This clause connotes the name of the State in which the registered office of the company is situated. This helps to determine the jurisdiction of the Registrar of Companies (RoC). The company is required to inform the location of the registered office to the Registrar of Companies within 30 days from the date of incorporation of the company and all time thereafter, the company must have a registered office to which all communications and notices may be sent.

Example:

Registered office of Reliance Capital Limited is "Trade World, B-Wing, 7th Floor, Kamala Mills Compound, Senapati Bapat Marg, Lower Parel, Mumbai Mumbai City MH 400013."

Publication of Name and Address of the Company:

According to Section 12(3) of the Act, every company is required to display its name and address in legible letters in conspicuous position and in all its business letters, bill heads, letter papers. Accordingly, the company shall –

(a) paint or affix its name, and the address of its registered office, and keep the same painted or affixed, on the outside of every office or place in which its business is carried on, in a conspicuous position, in legible letters, and if the characters employed therefor are not those of the language or of one of the languages in general use in that locality, also in the characters of that language or of one of those languages;

(b) have its name engraved in legible characters on its seal, if any;

(c) get its name, address of its registered office and the Corporate Identity Number along with telephone number, fax number, if any, e-mail and website addresses, if any, printed in all its business letters, billheads, letter papers and in all its notices and other official publications; and

(d) have its name printed on negotiable instruments such as hundies, promissory notes, bills of exchange and such other document as may be prescribed.

Every company which has a website for conducting online business or otherwise, shall disclose/publish its name, address of its registered office, the Corporate Identity Number, Telephone number, fax number if any, email and the name of the person who may be contacted in case of any queries or grievances on the landing/home page of the said website.

However, where a company has changed its name or names during the last two years, it shall paint or affix or print, as the case may be, along with its name, the former name or names so changed during the last two years.

Further, in case of One Person Company, the words "One Person Company" shall be mentioned in brackets below the name of such company, wherever its name is printed, affixed or engraved.

Ministry of Corporate Affairs (MCA) has clarified that display of its name in English in addition to the display in the local language will be a sufficient compliance with the requirements of the section.

CASE LAW

The words 'outside of every office' do not mean outside the premises in which the office is situated [Dr. H.L. Batliwalla Sons & Company Ltd. v. Emperor (1941) 11 Com Cases 154 : AIR 1941 (Bom.) 97]. Where office is situated within a compound, the display outside the office room, though inside the building, is sufficient.

3. Object Clause:

Under section 4(1)(c) of the Act, all companies must state in their memorandum the objects for which the company is proposed to be incorporated and any matter considered necessary in furtherance thereof. It defines the objects for which the company is proposed to be incorporated and any matter considered necessary in furtherance thereof.

It indicates the purpose for which the company has been set up and its actual capability, besides its sphere of activities. It states affirmatively the ambit and extent of powers of the company and, stated negatively, that nothing should be done beyond that ambit and that no attempt shall be made to use the company for any other purpose than that which is specified. The purpose of the objects clause is to enable the persons dealing with the company to know its permitted range of activities. The acts beyond this ambit are ultra vires and hence void. Even the entire body of shareholders cannot ratify such acts.

Although express powers are necessary, a company may do anything which is incidental to and consequential upon the powers specified, and the act will not be ultra vires [Attorney General v. G.E. Rly. Co., (1880) 5 A.C. 473]. Thus, a trading company has an implied power to borrow money, draw and accept bills of exchange in the ordinary form, but a railway company cannot issue bills although it may borrow money.

CASE LAWS

The memorandum of association of a company is its charter defining the objects of its existence and operations. As pointed out in Cotman v. Brougham 1918 AC 514, its purpose is 'to enable the shareholders, creditors and those dealing with the company to know what is the permitted range of the enterprise. The objects clause or clauses in the memorandum are to be so construed as to confer on the company all powers reasonably required to the attainment of the objects.' "A memorandum of association like any other document must be read fairly and its importance derived from a reasonable interpretation of the language which it employs" [Egyptian Salt and Soda Co. Ltd. v. Port Said Salt Association Ltd. AC 677: (1931) 1 Com Cases 285: AIR 1931 PC 182; 62 MLJ 163; Deuchar v. Gas, Light and Coke Co., (1925) AC 691)]. The natural and ordinary meaning of the language used in several clauses should be taken into consideration for determining whether a particular transaction does or does not fall within the objects stated in the memorandum [Bell Houses Ltd. v. City Wall Properties Ltd. (1966) 36 Com Cases 779: (1966) 2 All ER 674 (CA)].

It is ultra vires for a company to act beyond the limits of its memorandum. Any attempted departure will be invalid and cannot be validated even if assented to by all the shareholders of the company. Ultra vires means an act or transaction of a company, which though it may not be illegal, is beyond the company's powers by reason of not being within the objects of the memorandum of association. The memorandum is, so to speak, the limit beyond which a company cannot travel. [Ashbury Railway Carriage and Iron Company v. Riche, (1875) LR 7 HL 653]. An act beyond the objects mentioned in the memorandum is ultra vires and void and cannot be ratified [Dr. Lakshmanaswami Mudaliar A. v. LIC (1963) Comp LJ 248: 1963 33 Com Cases 420: AIR 1963 SC 1185]. Where no connection or nexus exists between the exercise of a power and the attainment of an object, exercise of power will be ultra vires [Radha Cinema & Co. v. Chitralipi Films, 1974 Tax LR 2180 (Cal)].

4. Liability Clause:

It states the liability of the members of the company. In case of an unlimited company, the liability of the members is unlimited whereas in case of a company limited by shares, the liability of the members is restricted by the amount unpaid on their share. For a company limited by guarantee, the liability of the members is restricted by the amount each member has agreed to contribute at the time of incorporation.

Section 4 sub-section 1(d) of the Act, states that the liability of members of the company is to be specifically mentioned in the MoA. It is provided that the liability of member may either be limited or unlimited.

5. Capital Clause:

This clause specifies the maximum capital that a company can raise which is also called the authorized/ nominal capital of the company. This also explains the division of such capital amount into the number of shares of a fixed amount each.

The capital is variously described as "nominal", "authorized" or "registered".

The amount of nominal capital is determined having regard to the present as well as future requirements of the company with reference to its objects. The usual way to state the capital in the memorandum is:

"The capital of the company is 10,00,000 rupees divided into 1,00,000 equity shares of 10 rupees each".

This amount lays down the maximum limit beyond which the company cannot issue shares without altering the memorandum as provided by Section 61 of the Companies Act, 2013.

If there are both equity and preference shares, then the division of the capital is to be shown under these two heads. A company is not authorized to issue capital beyond its authorized/nominal/registered capital.

If it receives applications for shares beyond the shares covered by the authorized capital, the amount received on excess number of shares should be returned.

Out of the issued capital, the total amount actually subscribed or agreed to be subscribed is known as subscribed capital, and this subscribed capital again may be wholly paid or partly paid, in which latter case the balance would be payable on future calls when made. The amount actually paid by the shareholders is called the paid- up capital.

6. Subscription Clause:

The Subscription Clause defines who are signing the memorandum of company. Each subscriber must state the number of shares he is subscribing to. The subscribers have to sign the memorandum in the presence of two witnesses. Each subscriber must subscribe to at least one share.

The subscribers to the memorandum declare: "We, the several persons whose names and addresses are subscribed below, are desirous of being formed into a company in pursuance of this memorandum of association, and we respectively agree to take the number of shares in the capital of the company set opposite our respective names". Then follow the names, addresses, description, occupations of the subscribers, and the number of shares each subscriber has agreed to take and their signatures attested by a witness.

The statutory requirements regarding subscription of memorandum are that:

- Necessary changes are required to be made in the letter heads, books, records etc. of the company. The necessary changes are required to be made in PAN, TAN or various returns under the GST etc and inform all the Government departments, banks, customers and others wherever required.

CASE LAWS

- No notice of the petition is required to be served on the State, but in view of the wider language of Section 17 [Corresponds to section 13 of the Companies Act, 2013] Central Government may direct notice to be served on the State if it is of the view that the interest of the State will be affected by the alteration. Where the alteration is affected by changing the registered office from one State to another State, the loss of revenue in one State would be accompanied by increase in revenue in the other and in such a case the interest of a particular State ought not to be considered but it is the interest of the country as a whole which should be considered. The decision to shift the registered office of the company to another state being a domestic matter rests with shareholders and the company is the best judge of how to run its business more economically, efficiently or conveniently, even though it would result in loss of revenue to the State. [Satyashree Balaji Wires & Cables (P) Ltd., In re (2006) 71 CLA 231 (CLB)].
- A company was allowed to shift its registered office from Bihar to West Bengal in spite of the fact that Bihar Government had granted lease of land for the company's factory on the condition that it would not shift its registered office. The CLB also held that interest free loans, sales tax, electricity and other subsidies would have no bearing on the shifting [Usha Beltron Re, (2000) 27 SCL 124].

Employees' right to object in case of shifting of registered office from one state to another – Some legal cases

CASE LAWS

- In the case of Bharat Commerce and Industries Ltd., Re, (1973) 43 Com Cases 162 (Cal.), it was held that employees' union, which was a registered body and which represented quite a number of the employees at the registered office of the company, would have the legal standing to appear before the court and oppose the application on the ground that their interests are likely to be prejudicially affected if the resolution for shifting the registered office of the company from one state to another is confirmed by the court. However, it was held that the employees' union cannot oppose on the ground that there would be loss of revenue or unemployment in the State or that the meeting at which the special resolution was passed was itself not valid.
- Further, in the case of Metal Box India Ltd. Re, (2000) 37 CLA 15, it was held that where the shifting of the registered office was in accordance with a scheme approved by the BIFR, it was held that the workers had no right of objection because their continuation in the company's employment was ensured unless, of course, a worker preferred voluntary retirement.

- A different dimension to the employees' right can be seen in the case of Kwality Ice Creams (India) P Ltd., Re, (2009) 91 SCL 231 : (2009) 148 Com Cases 631 : (2010) 98 CLA 218 (CLB). In that case, the company's petition for shifting its registered office from West Bengal to Delhi was opposed by two employees of the head office on the ground that their action against the company would be prejudiced.

  The CLB said that the facility for litigation is not a valid ground to stall shifting. There was no restraint order from any Court against the proposed shifting. The Company Law Board allowed shifting subject to the condition that the interest of none of the employees at the registered office would be prejudiced by retrenchment or otherwise.

   (g) Every Alteration made in the memorandum of the company shall be noted in every copy of the Memorandum of Association. [Section 15(1)]

Notes:

1. No alteration of object clause of Memorandum of Association shall have any effect until it has been registered in accordance with the provisions of this section. [Section 13(10)]

2. Any alteration of the memorandum, in the case of a company limited by guarantee and not having a share capital, purporting to give any person a right to participate in the divisible profits of the company otherwise than as a member, shall be void. [Section 13(11)]

Section 13(6)(a) provides that a company shall, in relation to any alteration of its memorandum, file with the Registrar:

(a) the special resolution passed by the company under section 13(1); and

(b) the approval of the Central Government under section 13(2), if the alteration involves any change in the name of the company.

The special resolution shall be filed with the Registrar within thirty days of the passing or making thereof in the prescribed manner and payment of prescribed fees within the time specified under section 403.

As per section 13(9), the Registrar shall register any alteration of the memorandum with respect to the objects of the company and certify the registration within a period of thirty days from the date of filing of the special resolution in accordance with section 13 (6)(a).

Further section 13(7) provides that where an alteration of the memorandum results in the transfer of the registered office of a company from one State to another, a certified copy of the order of the Central Government approving the alteration shall be filed by the company with the Registrar of each of the States within such time and in such manner as may be prescribed, who shall register the same, and the Registrar of the State where the registered office is being shifted to, shall issue a fresh certificate of incorporation indicating the alteration.

The certificate of incorporation shall be conclusive evidence that all the requirements of this Act with respect to the alteration and confirmation thereof have been complied with. The Registrar of the State from which the registered office is transferred will send to the Registrar of the other State all the documents relating to the company registered in his office.

No alteration made under section 13 (i.e., alteration of memorandum) shall have any effect until it has been registered in accordance with the provisions of this section. [Section 13(10)].

The main spirit behind Section 13(7) of the Companies Act, 2013 in regard to the filing of the order confirming the transfer of the company's registered office from one State to another State with the Registrar of Companies of each State is that the Registrar of Companies from whose State the registered office is transferred should keep the order duly registered in his office as an evidence to such shifting and should transfer all other records of the company to the Registrar of Companies to whose State the Registered Office of the company has been so shifted. The other Registrar of Companies will register the other copy of the order and keep that order with the records transferred to him by his counterpart.

ARTICLES OF ASSOCIATION

Introduction

- Articles of association form a document that specifies the regulations for a company's operations and defines the company's purpose.

- The document can be thought of as a user's manual for a company, defining its purpose and outlining the methodology for accomplishing necessary day-to-day tasks.
- Articles of association lays out how tasks are to be accomplished within the organization, including the process for appointing directors and the handling of financial records.

Definition and provisions pertaining to Articles

According to Section 2(5) of the Companies Act, 2013, 'articles' means the articles of association of a company as originally framed or as altered from time to time or applied in pursuance of any previous company law or of this Act. It also includes the regulations contained in Table A in Schedule I of the Act, in so far as they apply to the company.

Further, In terms of section 5(1), the articles of a company shall contain the regulations for management of the company.

The articles of association of a company are its bye-laws or rules and regulations that govern the management of its internal affairs and the conduct of its business. The articles play a very important role in the affairs of a company. It deals with the rights of the members of the company inter se. They are subordinate to and are controlled by the memorandum of association. The general functions of the articles have been aptly summed up by Lord Cairns, L.C. in Ashbury Railway Carriage and Iron Co. Ltd. v. Riche, (1875) L.R. 7 H.L. 653 as follows:

"The articles play a part that is subsidiary to the memorandum of association. They accept the memorandum of association as the charter of incorporation of the company, and so accepting it, the articles proceed to define the duties, rights and powers of the governing body as between themselves and the company at large, and the mode and form in which business of the company is to be carried on, and the mode and form in which changes in the internal regulations of the company may from time to time be made... The memorandum, is as it were... the area beyond which the action of the company cannot go; inside that area shareholders may make such regulations for the governance of the company as they think fit".

Thus, the memorandum lays down the scope and powers of the company, and the articles govern the ways in which the objects of the company are to be carried out and can be framed and altered by the members.

The articles must be printed, divided into paragraphs, numbered consecutively, stamped adequately, signed by each subscriber to the memorandum and duly witnessed and filed along with the memorandum. The articles must not contain anything illegal or ultra vires the memorandum, nor should it be contrary to the provisions of the Companies Act 2013.

CASE LAWS

The articles regulate the internal management of the affairs of the company by way of defining the powers of its officers and establishing a contract between the company and the members and between the members inter se. This contract governs the ordinary rights and obligations incidental to membership in the company [Naresh Chandra Sanyal v. The Calcutta Stock Exchange Association Ltd., AIR 1971 SC 422, (1971) 41 Com Cases 51].

But the Articles of Association of a company are not 'law' and do not have the force of law. In Kinetic Engineering Ltd. v. Sadhana Gadia, (1992) 74 Com Cases 82 : (1992) 1 Comp LJ 62 (CLB), the Hon'ble CLB held that if any provision of the articles or the memorandum is contrary to any provisions of any law, it will be invalid in total.

Articles Subordinate to Memorandum

CASE LAWS

The articles of a company are subordinate to and subject to the memorandum of association and the Act. Any clause in the Articles going beyond the memorandum will be ultra vires. But the articles are only internal regulations, over which the members of the company have full control and may alter them according to what they think fit. Only care has to be taken to see that regulations provided for in the articles do not exceed the powers of the company as laid down by its memorandum [Ashbury v. Watson, (1885) 30 Ch. D 376 (CA)]. Articles that go beyond the company's sphere of action are inoperative, and anything done under the authority of such article is void and incapable of ratification.

But, neither the articles nor the memorandum can authorize the company to do anything so as to contravene any of the provisions of the Act. [See Re Peveril Gold Mines, (1989) 1 Ch 122 (CA)].

The functions of the Articles in relation to the Memorandum have already been summed up in the Ashbury Railway Carriage case and even though the articles are subordinate to the memorandum yet if there be any ambiguity in the memorandum, the articles may be used to explain it but not so as to extend the objects. [Re. South Durham Brewery Company (1885) 3 Ch. D 261]. The memorandum of a company was not clear as to the classes of shares to be issued by a company, but the articles made clear the doubt by giving the power to the company to issue shares of different classes.

The relationship between the two documents was further emphasized in Guinness v. Land Corporation of Ireland, (1882) 22 Ch D 349, where it was observed: "The memorandum contains the fundamental conditions upon which alone the company is allowed to be incorporated. They are conditions introduced for the benefit of the creditors, and the outside public, as well as of the shareholders. The articles of association are the internal regulations of the company. How can it be said that in all cases the fundamental conditions of the charter of incorporation and the internal regulations of the company are to be construed together... In any case it is, as it seems to me, certain that for anything which the Act of Parliament says shall be in the memorandum you must look at the memorandum alone. If the legislature has said one instrument is to be dominant you cannot turn to another instrument and read it in order to modify the provisions of the dominant instrument".

Where the memorandum clearly establishes the rights of shareholders, a reference in the memorandum to the articles and an ambiguity said to arise from the construction of the articles should not be used to depart from the clear meaning of the memorandum so as to diminish those rights [Scottish National Trust Co. Ltd. 1928 SC 499 (Scot); Kinetic Engineering Ltd. v. Sadhana Gadia, (1992) 1 Comp LJ 62 (CLB)].

REGISTRATION OF ARTICLES

Section 7(1) provides that at the time of incorporation of a company the company shall file with the Registrar within whose jurisdiction the registered office of a company is proposed to be situated, the memorandum and articles of the company duly signed by all the subscribers to the memorandum in the prescribed manner.

- The articles of a company shall be in respective forms specified in Tables, F, G, H, I and J in Schedule I as may be applicable to such company either in totality or otherwise. [Section 5(6)].
- A company may adopt all or any of the regulations contained in the model articles applicable to such company. [Section 5(7)].

- In terms of Section 5 of the Companies Act, 2013, a public company limited by shares may at its option register its articles of association signed by the same subscribers as to the memorandum, or alternatively it may adopt all or any of the regulations contained in Table F of First Schedule of the Act.
- If articles are not registered, automatically Table F in Schedule I would apply, and if registered, Table F in Schedule I would apply except in so far as it is excluded or modified by the articles. To avoid any confusion, normally every public company delivers its articles along with the memorandum for registration. Further, it will be specifically stated therein that Table 'F' will not apply.
- The articles of a private company must contain the three restrictions as contained in Section 2(68).
- However, nothing in section 5 shall apply to the articles of a company registered under any previous company law unless amended under this Act [Section 5(9)].

Alignment of AoA with the Companies Act, 2013:

Section 6 of the Companies Act, 2013 provides that: -

(a) the provisions of this Act shall have effect notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the memorandum or articles of a company, or in any agreement executed by it, or in any resolution passed by the company in general meeting or by its Board of Directors, whether the same be registered, executed or passed, as the case may be, before or after the commencement of this Act; and

(b) any provision contained in the memorandum, articles, agreement or resolution shall, to the extent to which it is repugnant to the provisions of this Act, become or be void, as the case may be.

In the light of above provisions, if there is a provision in the Articles empowering the Directors of the company to expel any member of the company under any of the given conditions, then such a provision shall be totally inconsistent with the provisions of Section 6 of the Act. It is opposed to the fundamental principles of the company's jurisprudence and is ultra vires of the company. [(Circular No. 32 of 1975) dated 01.11.1975)]

But the Stock exchanges, registered under the provisions of the Companies Act, can carry such a provision in its Articles. The regulation of stock exchanges is mainly governed by Securities Contracts Regulation Act, 1956 (SCRA) and SEBI, Act, 1992 which are Special Acts. Hence, the Articles of Stock Exchange may provide for additional matters as per SCR Act, which may not be possible for inclusion in the Articles of a company, as per the provisions of the Companies Act. [Madras Stock Exchange Ltd. v. S.S.R. Rajkumar (2003) 116 Com Cases 214 (Mad.)].

ENTRENCHMENT PROVISIONS

The articles may contain provisions for entrenchment to the effect that specified provisions of the articles may be altered only if conditions or procedures that are more restrictive than those applicable in the case of a special resolution, are met or complied with. [Section 5 (3)]

> The Companies Act 2013, recognizes an interesting concept of entrenchment. Essentially, the entrenchment provisions allow for certain clauses in the articles to be amended upon satisfaction of certain conditions or restrictions greater than those prescribed under the Act (such as obtaining 100% consent). This provision acts as a protection to the minority shareholders and is of specific interest to the investment community. This shall empower the enforcement of any pre-agreed rights and provide greater certainty to investors, especially in joint ventures.

According to section 5(4), the provisions for entrenchment referred in section 5(3) shall be made either :

(a) on formation of a company, or

(b) by an amendment in the articles agreed to by all the members of the company in the case of a private company and by a special resolution in the case of a public company.

Where the articles contain provisions for entrenchment, whether made on formation or by amendment, the company shall give notice to the Registrar of such provisions in such form and manner as may be prescribed. [Section 5 (5)].

Where the articles contain the provisions for entrenchment, the company shall give notice to the Registrar of such provisions in SPICe+ (Simplified Proforma for Incorporating company Electronically Plus: INC-32) as the case may be, along with the fee as provided in the Companies (Registration offices and fees) Rules, 2014 at the time of incorporation of the company or in case of existing companies, the same shall be filed in Form No.MGT.14 within thirty days from the date of entrenchment of the articles, as the case may be, along with the fee as provided in the Companies (Registration offices and fees) Rules, 2014.

CONTENTS OF ARTICLES

The articles of association usually specifies the way a company issues securities, distributes dividends, and performs financial records. The document is focused on giving the streamlined information about the methods a company uses to achieve its goals. In general, it includes the following:

1. Exclusion wholly or in part of Table F
2. Adoption of preliminary contracts
3. Share capital variation of rights, Number and value of shares.
4. Meetings and rules regarding committees of the Board.
5. Provisions on shareholder meetings

The articles must contain provisions in respect of all matters which are required to be contained therein so as not to hamper the working of the company later.

INTERPRETATION OF MEMORANDUM AND ARTICLES

Articles should be construed as a business document so as to give business efficacy preference to a construction which will prove unworkable [Holmes v. Keyes (Lord) (1958) 2 All ER 129 (CA);]. Where the conduct of the parties reveals that there has been some practice in vogue for several years which was accepted by everyone concerned without any challenge or question, then that practice in the course of long years in itself becomes an indication that the rules or articles which are framed by way of internal management were understood in that sense [Krishnaswamy (S) v. South India film Chamber of Commerce, AIR 1969 Mad 42 : (1968) 1 Comp LJ 75; cited in Sunil Dev v. Delhi and District Cricket Assn., (1990) 2 Comp LJ 245, 255 : (1994) 80 Com Cases 174 (Del)].

The memorandum must like any other document be construed according to accepted principles applicable to the interpretation of all legal documents. No rigid canon of construction is to be applied to such a document. Like any other document, it must be read fairly and its import derived from a reasonable interpretation of the language which it employs. [A Lakshamanaswami Mudaliar v. LIC of India (1963) 33 Com Cases 420, 430 (SC); Egyptian Salt & Soda Co. Ltd. v. Port Said Salt Assn Ltd., (1931) AC 677 : AIR 1931 PC 182)].

The memorandum and articles must be read together in the event of any ambiguity. In Angostura Bitters & Co. Ltd. v. Kerr, (1933) AC 550 : (1934) 4 Com Cases 1; the Privy Council held, "Except in respect of such matters as must be statutorily provided for by the conjunction with the articles. The two documents must be read together at all events so far as may be necessary to explain any ambiguity appearing in the terms of the memorandum or to supplement it upon any matter as to which it is silent" – quoted with approval by the Supreme Court in A. Lakshmanaswami Mudaliar v. LIC of India Ltd. (1963) SC 1185.

DISTINCTION BETWEEN MEMORANDUM AND ARTICLES

The main points of distinction between the memorandum and articles are given below:

Memorandum of Association	Articles of Association
Memorandum of association is the charter of the company and defines the fundamental conditions and objects for which the company is granted incorporation.	Articles of association are the rules and regulations framed to govern this internal management of the company.
Clauses of the memorandum cannot be easily altered. They can only be altered in accordance with the mode prescribed by the Act. In some of the cases, alteration requires the permission of the Central Government or the Court.	In the case of articles of association, members have a right to alter the articles by a special resolution. Generally, there is no need to obtain the permission of the Court or the Central Government for alteration of the articles.
Memorandum of association cannot include any clause contrary to the provisions of the Companies Act.	The articles of association are subsidiary both to the Companies Act and the memorandum of association.
The memorandum generally defines the relation between the company and the outsiders,	The articles regulate the relationship between the company and its members and between the members inter se.
Acts done by a company beyond the scope of the memorandum are absolutely void and ultra vires and cannot be ratified even by unanimous vote of all the shareholders.	The acts of the directors beyond the articles can be ratified by the shareholders.

LEGAL EFFECT OF THE MEMORANDUM AND ARTICLES

According to section 10(1):

The memorandum and articles, when registered, bind the company and its members to the same extent as if they have been signed by the company and by each member to observe and be bound by all the provisions of the memorandum and of the articles.

Further sub-section 2 of section 10 of the Act states that, all monies payable by any member to the company under the memorandum or articles shall be a debt due from him to the company.

We shall examine the extent to which the memorandum and articles bind:

(a) the members to the company;

(b) the company to the members;

(c) the members inter se; and

(d) the company to outsiders.

Members Bound to the Company

The memorandum and articles constitute a contract binding on the members of the company. The members, as members, are bound to the company. Each member must, therefore, observe the provisions of the memorandum and articles.

Each member is bound by the covenants of the Memorandum as originally made and as altered from time to time [Malleson v. National Insurance Co.]. In another case, the shareholders could not enter into an agreement which was contrary to or inconsistent with the articles of association of the company [V.B. Rangaraj v. V.B. Gopalkrishnan (1992) 73 Com Cases 201 (SC)].

CASE LAW

In Boreland's Trustee v. Steel Brother and Co. Ltd. (1901) 1 Ch. 279, the articles of a company contained a clause that on the bankruptcy of a member his shares would be sold to other persons and at a price fixed by the directors. B, a shareholder was adjudicated bankrupt. His trustee in bankruptcy claimed that he was not bound by these provisions and should be at liberty to sell the shares at their true value. It was held that the trustee was bound by the articles, as the shares were purchased by B in terms of the articles

Company Bound to the Members

Since the articles constitute a contract binding the company to its members in their capacity as members, a member can bring an action against the company for infringement by it of the memorandum or articles. For example, an individual member can sue the company for an injunction restraining it from improper payment of dividend [Hoole v. Great Western Railway (1867) 3 Ch. D. 262]. Further, the company is bound to individual members in respect of their ordinary rights as members, e.g. the right to receive share certificate in respect of shares allotted to them, or to receive notice of general meeting, etc. Normally, action for breach of articles against the company can be brought only by a majority of the members. Individual or minority members cannot bring such a suit except when it is intended for enforcement of personal rights of members or to prevent the company from doing any ultra vires or illegal act, fraud, or oppression and mismanagement.

Member bound to Member

As between the members inter se each member is bound by the articles to the other members but that does not mean the memorandum and articles create an express contract among the members of the company. Thus, a member of a company has no right to bring a suit to enforce the articles in his own name against any other member or members. It is the company alone which can sue the offender so as to protect the aggrieved member. It is in this way that the rights of members inter se are regulated. A shareholder may, however, sue in his own name to restrain another, or others from doing fraudulent or ultra vires acts.

Articles do not affect or regulate the rights arising out of a commercial contract, with which the members have no concern, i.e., rights completely outside the company's relationship.

Company not bound to Outsiders

The term "outsider" signifies a person who is not a member of the company even if he is a director of or solicitor to the company. Even in regard to members, the articles bind the company to them in their capacity as members.

As between outsiders and the company, neither the memorandum nor the articles would give any contractual rights to outsiders against the company or its members even though the names of outsiders are mentioned in those documents in connection with the arrangements that the company might have contemplated for carrying on its business. The articles do not confer any contractual rights even upon a member in a capacity other than that of a member. To succeed, the party suing must prove a contract outside and independent of the articles [Eley v. Positive Life Insurance Co., (1876) 1 E.X.D. 88].

In this case the articles provided that the solicitor to the company would not be removed from office except for misconduct. Eley acted as solicitor to the company and also became a member of the company. The company discontinued his services and then he sued the company for damages for breach of contract. It was held that he had no cause of action because the articles did not constitute any contract between the company and himself. His action was dismissed.

This rule, however, proved to be rather harsh and so the Courts later on modified it. The modified rule is as follows:

(i) While the articles cannot create a contract between the company and any person other than a member in his capacity as a member, they may indicate the basis upon which contracts may be made by the company. If such a contract is entered into whether with a member of the company or any other person, the conditions stated in the articles will be tacitly adopted by that contract, unless expressly stated in the negative form or varied by the contract itself.

(ii) The question sometimes arises as to whether directors are bound by whatever is contained in the articles. In case the directors contravene the provisions in the articles, the directors render themselves liable for an action by members. On the other hand, members can also ratify acts of directors. If any loss is incurred by the company, directors are liable to reimburse to the company any loss so incurred.

ALTERATION OF ARTICLES OF ASSOCIATION OF A COMPANY

Any Company which intended to make any change to the Articles, will have to comply with the provisions as mentioned under section 14 of Act along with any other applicable provisions of the Act and applicable rules.

A Company may alter its Articles in accordance with the above provisions in any of the following manner:

(a) by adoption of new set of articles;

(b) by addition/insertion of a new Clause/s;

(c) by deletion of a Clause/s ;

(d) by amendment of a specific Clause/s ;

(e) by substitution of a specific Clause/s.

i) Section 14(1) provides that subject to the provisions of the Act and the conditions contained in its memorandum, if any, a company may, by a special resolution, alter its articles including alterations having the effect of conversion of –

A) a private company into a public company; or

B) a public company into a private company.

First proviso to section 14(1) lays down that where a company being a private company alters its articles in such a manner that they no longer include the restrictions and limitations which are required to be included in the articles of a private company under this Act, the company shall, as from the date of such alteration, cease to be a private company.

Further, the second proviso to section 14(1) stipulates that any alteration having the effect of conversion of a public company into a private company shall not take effect unless it is approved by an order of the Central Government on an application made in prescribed form shall make such order as it may deem fit.

ii) Every alteration of the articles under this section and a copy of the order of the Central Government approving the alteration as per section 14(1) shall be filed with the Registrar, together with a printed copy of the altered articles, within a period of fifteen days in such manner as may be prescribed, who shall register the same. [Section 14 (2)]

iii) Any alteration of the articles registered under section 14(2) shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, be valid as if it were originally in the articles. [Section 14(3)]

CASE LAWS

In Re Cyrus Investments (P.) Ltd. vs. Tata Sons Ltd. [2019] 112 taxmann.com 264 (NCLAT)

If any company decides to alter its articles having effect of conversion of a 'Private Company' into a 'Public Company' or a 'Public Company' into a 'Private Company', it is required to pass a special resolution and as per sub-section (2) of section 14, it requires approval by Tribunal

In Re Walker v. London Tramway Co. (1879) 12 Ch. D. 705

The right to alter the articles is so important that a company cannot in any manner, either by express provisions in the articles or by independent contract, deprive itself of the powers to alter its articles.

Alterations of memorandum or articles to be noted in every copy

Every alteration made in the memorandum or articles of a company shall be noted in every copy of the memorandum or articles, as the case may be. [Section 15(1)]

If a company makes any default in complying with the provisions of section 15(1), the company and every officer who is in default shall be liable to a penalty of one thousand rupees for every copy of the memorandum or articles issued without such alteration. [Section 15(2)]

Limitations on power to alter Articles

- Articles must not exceed the powers given by the MoA
- Must not be inconsistent with provisions of Companies Act
- Alteration not be inconsitent with any alteration made by the Tribunal
- Alteration must not include anything with is illegal or opposed to public policy
- Alteration must be bonafide for the benefit of the company
- Alteration must not constitute fraud on the minority
- Alteration of articles cannot operate restrospectively

In spite of the power to alter its articles, a company can exercise this power subject only to certain limitations. These are:

1. The alteration must not exceed the powers given by the memorandum. In the event of conflict between the memorandum and the articles, it is the memorandum that will prevail.

2. The alteration must not be inconsistent with any provisions of the Companies Act or any other statute.

   Similarly, where a resolution was passed expelling a member and authorizing the director to register the transfer of his shares without an instrument of transfer, the resolution was held to be invalid as being against the provisions of the Act [Madhava Ramachandra Kamath v. Canara Banking Corporation [1941] 11 Com Cases 78 (Mad)].

   On the other hand, articles may impose on the company conditions stricter than those provided under the law; for example, they may provide that a matter should be passed by a special resolution when the Act requires it to be passed by an ordinary resolution.

3. The Articles must not include anything which is illegal or opposed to public policy.

4. The alteration must be bona fide for the benefit of the company as a whole.

5. The alteration must not constitute a fraud on the minority by a majority. If the alteration is not for the benefit of the company as a whole, but for majority of shareholders, then the alteration would be bad. In other words, an alteration to the articles must not discriminate between the majority shareholders and the minority shareholders so as to give the former an advantage over the latter. [All India Railway Mens Benefit Fund v. Jamadar Baheshwarnath Bali (1945) 15 Com Cases 142 (Nag.)]

   In Mathrubhumi Printing & Publishing Co. Ltd. v. Vardhaman Publishers Ltd. [1992] 73 Com Cases 80 (Ker.), the Hon'ble Kerala High Court held that no majority of shareholders can, by altering the article retrospectively, affect, the prejudice of the consenting owners of shares, the right already existing under a contract nor take away the right accrued, e.g., after a transfer of share is lodged, the company cannot have a right of lien so as to defeat the transfer.

6. Articles cannot be altered so as to compel an existing member to take or subscribe for more shares or in any way increase his liability to contribute to the share capital, unless he gives his consent in writing (Section 38 of the Companies Act, 1956).

7. By effecting alteration in its articles, a company cannot defeat escape from its contractual obligation with any person. The company will always be liable in such a case.

8. The Articles of Association cannot be altered so as to have retrospective effects. The articles only operate from the date of the amendment [Pyare Lal Sharma v. Managing Director, J.K. Industries Ltd. (1989) 3 Comp LJ (SL) 70].

CASE LAWS

In Re See Menier N. Hooper Telegraph Works (1874) 9 Ch. App. 350

A section or a class of shareholders cannot be unfairly or oppressively treated. Thus, though the requisite majority of members could pass a special resolution to alter the Articles and if the alteration has the effect of making a fraud on the minority, the minority shareholders not being less than the number specified under law could move the Court for redressing their grievances. The Courts have entertained such applications from shareholders even where they are smaller in number.

In Re Southern Foundries v. Shirlaw, [1940] AC 701

As already mentioned, a company is not prevented from altering its Articles on the ground that such an alteration would be breach of a contract but an action for damages may lie against the company.

In Re Foss v. Harbottle (1843) 2 Hare 461

The discussion on the above matter will not be complete without referring to the rule in Foss v. Harbottle (1843) 2 Hare 461 where the court held that no individual shareholder nor a minority of shareholders in a company can take it upon himself or themselves to remedy an alleged wrong involved in the actions of directors if the said wrongful act is something which the majority can regularize and approve.

3. Make necessary amendments in all the copies of Articles of association of the Company. [Section 15(1)]

The alteration to AOA should conform to the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013. For example, the alteration should not modify the membership or shareholding of the company. The alteration should not increase or alter the liability of any member or shareholder of the company. The articles are procedural, and hence the alteration can be of only the procedural matters contained therein.

Likewise, the alteration of the articles should not violate the memorandum of association of the company. The alteration should be in accordance with the powers conferred by the memorandum. The AOA is subordinate to the memorandum of association of the company. The alteration cannot alter the objects of the company or the address of the registered office of the company. These matters are dealt with by the Memorandum of Association of the company.

5. Stamp duty on alteration of articles:

   The company need not pay any stamp duty on the alteration of articles. Stamp duty has to be paid only at the time of incorporation of a company.

Note:

Where a private company alters its articles in such a manner that they no longer include the restrictions and limitations which are required to be included in the articles of a private company under this Act, the company shall, as from the date of such alteration, cease to be a private company. [First proviso to Section 14(1)]

Any alteration having the effect of conversion of a public company into a private company shall not take effect except with the approval of the Tribunal which shall make such order as it may deem fit. [Second proviso to Section 14(1)]

Incorporation Contracts and Agreements

A company being an artificial person can contract only through its agents. A contract will be binding on a company only, if it is made on its behalf by any person acting under its authority, express or implied. The powers of the company are defined by its Memorandum of Association and any contract made beyond the limits laid down in the Memorandum of Association, will be ultra vires to the company and void even if all the shareholders assent to it.

> There are various types of pre-incorporation contracts that can be made by a company according to their need before incorporation, such as a lease agreement, employment agreement, founder's agreement, shareholder agreement, etc.

There are two situations as discussed below in the case of every company (whether public or private) in which contracts are made:

(a) Contracts made on behalf of the company before its incorporation—preliminary or pre-incorporation contracts.

(b) Contracts made after the incorporation.

Pre-incorporation Contracts:

It is likely that due to non-availability of a suitable name, lack of clarity among the promoters or for other reasons, the formation of a company may take time. In the meanwhile, the promoters may enter into contracts on behalf of proposed company, like purchase of land, ordering machinery, employing key personnel, investment tie up etc. and also incur expenses relating to incorporation of the company. These must be ratified on the incorporation of the company.

The Articles must authorize the directors to pay the expenses relating to registration of the company. The directors do not have any implied power to incur pre-incorporation expenses.

Promoter's Liability:

During execution, the promoters enter into the contracts on behalf of the company. Although, the promoters act as company's agent to represent their interest, the principal is not in existence while registration. The contracts entered into by the promoters are therefore not binding on the company or third parties.

As per section 15 of Specific Relief Act, 1963; if promoters have made a contract before incorporation of a company for the purpose of the proposed company, and if the contract is warranted by the terms of incorporation, the company may adopt and enforce the contract. The term 'warranted by the terms of incorporation' means 'within the scope of the company's objects as stated in the memorandum of the company'. Thus, the contract should be for the purposes of the company.

As per section 19 of Specific Relief Act, 1963, if the pre-incorporation contract is adopted or accepted by the company after its incorporation and if it is within the terms of incorporation, the other party can also enforce the contract, if such acceptance was communicated to other party to the contract.

However, pre-incorporation contracts are not binding upon the company, if these are not adopted or accepted by the company after its incorporation. Adoption or acceptance of contracts practically means ratification of contract. A Board resolution should be passed for adoption of pre-incorporation contracts at the first Board meeting of the company. On passing such resolution, the contract shall be binding on the company.

CASE LAWS

Preliminary contracts are contracts purported to be made on behalf of a company before its incorporation. Before incorporation, a company is non-existent and has no capacity to contract. Consequently, nobody can contract as agent on its behalf because an act which cannot be done by the principal himself cannot be done by him through an agent. Hence, a contract by a promoter purporting to act on behalf of a company prior to its incorporation never binds the company because at the time the contract was concluded the company was not in existence. Therefore it has no legal existence. Even if the parties act on the contract it will not bind the company. [Northumberland Avenue Hotel Co., (1886) 33 Ch.D.16 (CA)].

In Kelner v. Baxter (ibid) three persons A B and C purported to enter into a contract as agents on behalf of a company before its incorporation for the purchase of certain goods from Kelner and signed it : "A, B and C, Directors". The company later obtained the certificate of incorporation but collapsed before the money was paid for the goods which were supplied to it by Kelner. It was held that A, B and C were personally liable on the agreement and no subsequent ratification by the company would relieve them from that liability without the assent of Kelner.

A company cannot acquire shares prior to its incorporation. Where a company was named as the transferee in the share transfer forms prior to its incorporation, it was held that such transfers could not be registered. [Inlec Investment (P) Ltd. v. Dynamatic Hydraulics Ltd., (1989) 3 Comp LJ 221, 225 (CLB)].

In Weavers Mills Ltd. v. Balkies Ammal [AIR 1969 Mad 462], In this case, the promoters had agreed to purchase some properties for and on behalf of the company which was yet to be incorporated. After incorporation of the company, the company assumed possession of the properties and constructed some structures on the property. It was held that even in absence of conveyance of property by the promoter in favor of the company after its incorporation, the company's title over the property could not be set aside.

The procedure for ratification of pre-incorporation contract is as under:-

- Ensure that the power to enter and adopt pre-incorporation contracts is given in the objects, incidental or ancillary to the attainment of the main objects clause of the memorandum of the company.
- Ensure that the articles also give power to the directors to adopt such pre-incorporation contracts in the board meeting.
- Prepare a statement of the pre-incorporation contracts giving the amount involved in the each contract separately.
- Convene the first board meeting after giving notice to all the directors of the company as per section 173 and place the above mentioned statement before the board meeting.
- The statement should be initialed by the Chairman of the Board meeting and then pass a resolution adopting the pre-incorporation contract.

LESSON ROUND-UP

- The Memorandum of Association is a document which sets out the constitution of the company and is the foundation on which the structure of the company stands. It defines as well as confines the powers of the company. If the company enters into contract or engages in any trade or business which is beyond the powers conferred on it by the memorandum, such a contract or the act will be ultra vires the company and hence void. However, the Companies Act, 2013 shall override the provisions in the memorandum of a company, if the latter contains anything contrary to the provisions in the Act.
- A company may, by a special resolution and after complying with the procedure specified in this section, alter the provisions of its memorandum.
- The memorandum of association of a company may be altered by changing its name, altering it in regard to the State in which the registered office is to be situated or its objects, altering or reorganizing its share capital, reducing its capital or making the liability of the directors unlimited.
- Articles means the articles of association of a company as originally framed or as altered from time to time in pursuance of any previous company law or of this Act. It also includes the regulations contained in Tables F to J in Schedule I of the Act, in so far as they apply to the company.
- The memorandum lays down the scope and powers of the company and the articles govern the ways in which the objects of the company are to be carried out and can be framed and altered by the members.
- A company has a statutory right to alter its articles of association. But the power to alter is subject to the provisions of the Act and to the conditions contained in the memorandum. Any alteration so made shall be as valid as if originally contained in the articles.
- The memorandum and articles, when registered, bind the company and its members to the same extent as if they have been signed by the company and by each member to observe and be bound by all the provisions of the memorandum and of the articles.
- Pre-incorporation contracts are contracts purported to be made on behalf of a company before its incorporation. Before incorporation, a company is non-existent and has no capacity to contract. Consequently, nobody can contract as agent on its behalf because an act which cannot be done by the principal himself cannot be done by him through an agent. Hence, a contract by a promoter purporting to act on behalf of a company prior to its incorporation never binds the company because at the time the contract was concluded the company was not in existence.

This certificate is a prime facie evidence of title to the shares in the possession of shareholders [Society Generale De Paris vs. Walker, (1885) 11A AC 20, 29].

- Share certificate is the only documentary evidence of title and that the share certificate is a declaration by the company that the person in whose name the certificate is issued is a shareholder in the company [Ghanshyam Chhaturbhuj vs. Industrial Ceramics (Pvt.) Ltd. (1995) 4 Com LJ 51].

- Also the company cannot dispute the amount mentioned on the certificate as already paid [Bloomenthal v. Ford (1897) AC 156(HL)].

- As already mentioned, a person acting on the share certificate issued by the company may recover compensation for the damages suffered by him. The measure of damage is the value of the shares at the time of the refusal by the company to recognize him as a shareholder together with interest from that date. [Bahla and San Francisco Rly. Co., (1868) LR 3 QB584].

Query: In case the company on registering the transfer of shares has sent certificate to another person. Elucidate.

Solution: In that case the company should surrender the original share certificate and if the said certificate is not so surrendered, the same should be cancelled by the company and duplicate certificate should be issued to the real owner. It was held in BPL Sanyo Technology Ltd. vs. Rahul Agarwal [1995] 83 Comp Cas 885 decided by the Rajasthan High Court that the bank should surrender the original share certificate and if the said certificate is not so surrendered, the same should be cancelled by the company and duplicate certificate should be issued to the real owner.

Whether Share Certificate an Official Publication

The question whether a share certificate is an official publication was considered by the Department of Company Affairs (Now, Ministry of Corporate Affairs) and the Department has clarified vide Circular No. 3/73[8/10(47)]/72-CL-V dated 3.2.1973 as follows:

"It will be seen that in terms of section 44 of the Companies Act, 2013, the shares in a company are movable property transferable in the manner provided in the articles of the company.

Section 46 of the Companies Act, 2013 provides that a certificate under the common seal of the company specifying any share held by any member shall be prima facie evidence of the title of the member to such share. [With the Companies (Amendment) Act, 2015 coming into force the common seal is no more mandatory.

Thus, shares are movable property transferable in the manner provided in the articles of the company and that the share certificates are certificates of title and are movable property but are not publications in the nature of prospectus, balance sheet, profit and loss account, notice or advertisement.

Legal Effect of Share Certificate

We have already stated that a share certificate is prima facie evidence to the title of the person whose name is entered on it. It means that the share certificate is a statement by the company that the moment when it was issued, the person named in it was the legal owner of the shares specified in it, and those shares were paid-up to the extent stated. It does not constitute title but it is merely evidence of title. It is, however a statement of considerable importance, for it is made with the knowledge that other persons may act upon it in the belief that it is true and this fact brings into operation the doctrine of estoppel. As a result, a share certificate once issued by the company binds it in two ways,namely:

(a) by estoppel as to title, and

(b) by estoppel as to payment.

Estoppel as to Title: A share certificate once issued binds the company in two ways. In the first place, it is a declaration by the company to the entire world that the person in whose name the certificate is made out and to whom it is given is a shareholder in the company. In other words the company is estopped from denying his title to the shares.

Estoppel as to Payment: If the certificate states that on each of the shares full amount has been paid, the company is estopped as against a bonafide purchaser of the shares, from alleging that they are not fully paid.

If a person knows that the statements in a certificate are not true, he cannot claim an estoppel against the company Barrow case (1880) 14 Ch D 432: 42LT 891CA.

Despite everything, a certificate must be issued by someone who has the authority. For example, where the secretary forged the signature of two Directors in a company, the company had refused to register the holder of shares as a member. Further a certificate is not evidence as to the equitable interest in, where an individual is aware of the false statements in a certificate, he will not be entitled to claim an estoppel.

Personation of Shareholders [Section 57]

Meaning: To 'personate' means to pretend to be someone else, especially for fraudulent purpose such as casting a vote in another person's name. Personation and impersonation imply the same thing.

Where any person deceitfully personates as an owner of any security or interest in a company, or of any share warrant or coupon issued in pursuance of this Act, and

(i) thereby obtains or attempts to obtain any such security or interest or any such share warrant or coupon; or

(ii) receives or attempt to receive any money due to any such owner.

He shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than 1 year but which may extend to 3 years and with fine which shall not be less than 1 lakh rupees but which may extend to 5 lakh rupees.

PART C: ISSUE AND ALLOTMENT OF SECURITIES

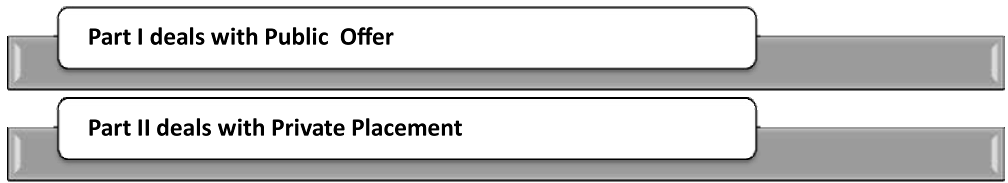
Financial markets have an important relationship with economic development. A company decides to issue securities for different reasons; the main reasons being raising capital to meet its financial requirements may be for starting a –

- new venture;
- repaying debts;
- expansion and diversification etc.

This actually reflects indulgence of enormous investor wealth for the sublime reason of economic development. This economic dependence of the corporate sector is a compelling rationale for an orderly regulated environment that boosts investor confidence and assures conformity with prescribed norms. It helps in creating conducive ownership base and wide capacities to create an impact on the national economy. When an investor buys securities he is enabling the company to carry on its business using those funds.

Primarily, issues can be classified as a Public issue, Rights or Preferential issues (also known as private placements). While public and rights issues involve a detailed procedure, private placements or preferential issues are relatively simpler.

Chapter III of the Companies Act, 2013 deals with "Prospectus and allotment of securities", the chapter is divided into two parts:



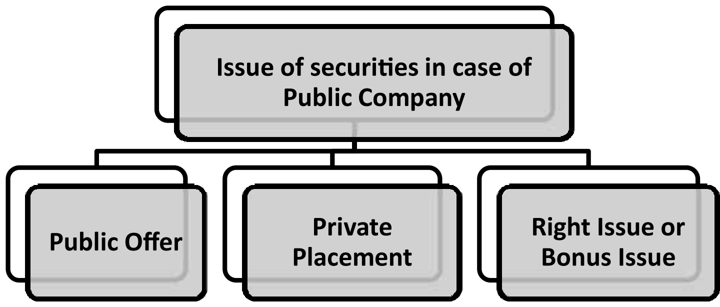
Section 23 of the Companies Act, 2013 provides that a company whether public or private may issue securities.

As per Section 23(1), a public company may issue securities:

(a) to public through prospectus ("public offer") by complying with the provisions of Part I of Chapter III of the Companies Act, 2013; or

(b) through private placement by complying with the provisions of Part II of Chapter III of the Companies Act, 2013; or

(c) through a rights issue or a bonus issue in accordance with the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 and in case of a listed company or a company which intends to get its securities listed also with the provisions of the SEBI Act, 1992 and the rules and regulations made there under.

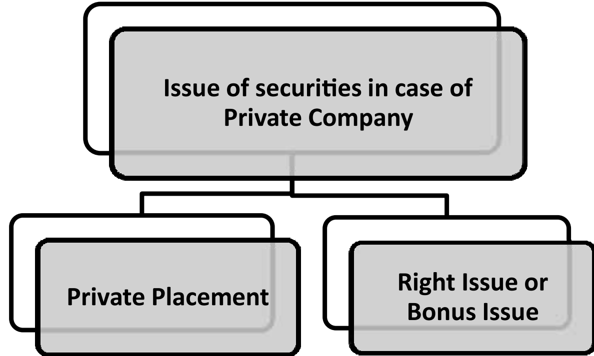


Public offer includes initial public offer or further public offer of securities to the public by a company, or an offer for the sale of securities to the public by an existing shareholder, through issue of prospectus.

For a private company, Section 23(2) provides that a private company may issue securities:

(a) by way of rights issue or bonus issue in accordance with the provisions of this Act; or

(b) through private placement by complying with the provisions of Part II Chapter III of the Act.



The section 23(2) deals with issue of securities, which is a wider term not restricted to equity, preference or debentures.

Such class of public companies may issue such class of securities for the purposes of listing on permitted stock exchanges in permissible foreign jurisdictions or such other jurisdictions, as may be prescribed.

The Central Government may, by notification, exempt any class or classes of public companies referred to in sub- section (3) from any of the provisions of this Chapter, Chapter IV, section 89, section 90 or section 127 and a copy of every such notification shall, as soon as may be after it is issued, be laid before both Houses of Parliament.

Explanation I to Section 42 defines private placement as any offer or invitation to subscribe or issue of securities to a select group of persons by a company (other than by way of public offer) through private placement offer-cum-application, which satisfies the conditions specified in this section.

GOVERNING LAWS

Issue of Securities is governed in the following manner:

In the case of a Public Company, which is a listed entity or is desirous of listing its securities on the recognized stock exchange in India, the issue of securities is governed by –

- The Companies Act, 2013;
- Securities Contract (Regulation) Act, 1956;
- The SEBI Act, 1992; and
- The SEBI (ICDR) Regulations, 2018.

In the case of all issues by Private Companies, the same is governed by the Companies Act and the power of administration is exercised by the Central Government, the Tribunal or the Registrar of Companies as the case may be.

Section 24 of the Companies Act empowers the SEBI to regulate the matters relating to issue and transfer of security non- payment of dividend by listed companies or those companies which intend to get their securities listed. The explanation to Section 24 provides that all powers relating to all other matters relating to prospectus, return of allotment, redemption of preference shares and any other matter specifically provided in the Act shall be exercised by the Central Government, the tribunal or the Registrar of Companies as the case may be. Further the power relating to forward dealing and insider trading has been delegated to SEBI for listed companies or the companies which intend to get their securities listed.

KINDS OF ISSUE OF SHARES

1. Issue of Securities at a Premium

Meaning: A company may issue securities at a premium when it is able to sell them at a price above par or above nominal value. The Companies Act, 2013, does not stipulate any conditions or restrictions regulating the issue of securities by a company at a premium. However, the Companies Act does impose conditions regulating the utilization of the amount of premium collected on securities.

Share Premium to be transferred to 'Securities Premium Account'

Section 52(1) states that when a company issues shares at a premium, whether for cash or otherwise, a sum equal to the aggregate amount of the premium received on those shares shall be transferred to a "securities premium account"and the provisions of this Act relating to reduction of share capital of a company shall, except as provided in this section, apply as if the securities premium account were the paid-up share capital of the company.

Utilisation of Securities premium

In accordance with the provisions of Section 52(2) of the Act, the securities premium can be utilised only for:

(a) issuing fully paid bonus shares to members;

(b) writing off the balance of the preliminary expenses of the company;

(c) writing off commission paid or discount allowed, or the expenses incurred on issue of shares or debentures of the company;

(d) for providing for the premium payable on redemption of any redeemable preference shares or debentures of the company; or

(e) for the purchase of its own shares or other securities under section 68.

CASE LAW

Utilisation of securities premium account for selective capital reduction

Brillio Technologies Pvt. Ltd. (Appellant) vs. Registrar of Companies, Karnataka & Ors. (Respondents) dated April 19, 2021

The NCLAT observed that Security Premium Account can be utilized for making payment to non-promoter shareholders. Further, it can be held that selective reduction is permissible if the non-promoter shareholders are being paid fair value of their shares, whose shares have been extinguished pursuant to selective capital reduction, after obtaining prior approval of the NCLT.

Section 52(3) further states that the securities premium account may, notwithstanding anything contained in sub- sections (1) and (2), be applied by such class of companies, as may be prescribed and whose financial statement comply with the accounting standards prescribed for such class of companies under section 133,–

(a) in paying up unissued equity shares of the company to be issued to members of the company as fully paid bonus shares; or

(b) in writing off the expenses of or the commission paid or discount allowed on any issue of equity of the company; or

(c) for the purchase of its own shares or other securities under section 68.

Where a company issues shares at a premium, even though the consideration may be other than cash, a sum equal to the amount or value of the premium must be transferred to the securities premium account. (Section 52(1)) [Head (Henry) & Co. Ltd. v. Ropner Holding Ltd. (1951) 2 All ER 994: (152) Ch 124 (Ch D)].

POINTS TO REMEMBER:

- Firstly, the premium cannot be treated as profit and as such the amount of premium is not available for distribution as dividend.
- Secondly, the amount of premium whether received in cash or in kind must be kept in a separate account, known as the “Securities Premium Account”.
- Thirdly, the amount of premium is to be maintained with the same sanctity as the share capital.

Any premium paid does not give the shareholder any preferential rights in case of a winding up. Monies in the securities premium account cannot be treated as free reserves, as they are in the nature of capital reserve [Departmental Circular No. 3/77 dated 15.4.1977].

Illustration: A company ABC Limited has issued shares on security premium and the amount has been separately kept in Security Premium Account. Now the company wants to use this amount for the following purposes. Guide as Company Secretary of the Company:

a) Writing off the balance of preliminary expenses.

b) For distribution of dividend

c) For buyback of shares.

Solution: The company can use the security premium amount for purpose (a) and (c) and not for the purpose (b).

2. PROHIBITION TO ISSUE THE SHARES AT DISCOUNT

Section 53 states that except as provided in section 54 (i.e. issue of sweat equity shares), a company shall not issue shares at a discount. Any share issued by a company at a discount shall be void.

Exception: A company may issue shares at a discount to its creditors when its debt is converted into shares in pursuance of any statutory resolution plan or debt restructuring scheme in accordance with any guidelines or directions or regulations specified by the Reserve Bank of India under the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934 or the Banking (Regulation) Act, 1949.

Penalty: Where any company fails to comply with the provisions of this section, such company and every officer who is in default shall be liable to a penalty which may extend to an amount equal to the amount raised through the issue of shares at a discount or five lakh rupees, whichever is less, and the company shall also be liable to refund all monies received with interest at the rate of twelve percent per annum from the date of issue of such shares to the persons to whom such shares have been issued.

CASE LAWS

Related to return of allotment

(A) In case of Sri Gopal Jalan & Co. vs. Calcutta Stock Exchange Association Ltd. 1963-(033)-Com Cases-0862-SC, the Supreme Court held that the exchange was not liable to file any return of the forfeited shares under Section 75(1)of the Companies Act,1956 [Corresponds to section 39 of the Companies Act, 2013] when the same were re-issued. The Court observed that when a share is forfeited and re-issued, there is no allotment, in the sense of appropriation of shares out of the authorised and unappropriated capital and approved the observations of Harries C.J. in S.M. Nandy's case that: "On such forfeiture all that happened was that the right of the particular shareholder disappeared but the shares considered as a unit of issued capital continued to exist and was kept in suspense until another shareholder was found for it";

(B) In case of Alote Estate vs. R.B. Seth Hiralal Kalyanmal Kasliwal [1970] 40 Com Cases 1116 (SC), inadequacy of consideration, the shares will be treated as not fully paid and the shareholder will be liable to pay for them in full, unless the contract is fraudulent;

(C) Harmony and Montage Tin and Copper Mining Company; Spargo's case (1873).

Any payment which is presently enforceable against the company such as consideration payable for property purchased, will constitute payment in cash;

(D) In case of Chokkalingam vs. Official Liquidator AIR 1944, allotment of shares against promissory notes shall not be valid.

GENERAL PRINCIPLES REGARDING ALLOTMENT

"Allotment" of shares means the act of appropriation by the Board of Directors of the company out of the previously un-appropriated capital of a company of a certain number of shares to persons who have made applications for shares (In Re Calcutta Stock Exchange Association, AIR 1957 Cal. 438). It is on allotment that shares come into existence.

The following general principles should be observed with regard to allotment of securities:

1. The allotment should be made by proper authority. The proper authority may be the Board of Director of the company, or a committee authorised to allot securities on behalf of the Board.
2. Allotment of securities must be made within a reasonable time (As per Section 6 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, an offer must be accepted within a reasonable time). What is reasonable time is a question of fact in each case. An applicant may refuse to take securities if the allotment is made after along time. (As per Section 56 within a period of two months from the date of allotment in the case of allotment of any of its shares)
3. The allotment should be absolute and unconditional. Securities must be allotted on same terms on which they were applied for and as they are stated in the application for securities. Allotment of securities subject to certain conditions is also not valid. Similarly, if the number of securities alloted is less than those applied for, it cannot be termed as absolute allotment.
4. The allotment must be communicated. As mentioned earlier posting of letter of allotment or allotment advice will be taken as a valid communication even if the letter is lost in transit.
5. Allotment against application only. Section 2(55) of the Act requires that a person should agree in writing to become a member.

6. Allotment should not be in contravention of any other law. If securities are allotted on an application of a minor, the allotment will be void.

CASE LAWS

(A) An allotment may be valid even if some defect was there in the appointment of Directors but which was subsequently discovered. [Section 290 and the Rule in Royal British Bank vs. Turquand (1856)];

(B) An allotment by a Board irregularly constituted may be subsequently ratified by a regular Board [Portugese Consolidated Copper Mines, (1889) 42 Ch. D 160 (CA)];

(C) A director who has joined in an allotment to himself will be estopped from alleging the invalidity of the allotment [Yark Tramways Co. vs. Willows, (1882)];

(D) Grant applied for certain shares in a company, the company dispatched letter of allotment to him which never reached him. It was held that he was liable for the balance amount due on the shares. [Household Fire And Carriage Accident Insurance Co. Ltd. vs. Grant (1879)];

(E) There can be no proper allotment of shares unless the applicant has been informed of the allotment [British and American Steam Navigation Co. Re. (1870)].

Remedies available for Preference shareholders in relation to redemption of preference shares

The National Company Law Appellate Tribunal (NCLAT) in the matter of Bank of Baroda (Appellant) vs. Aban Offshore Limited (Respondent), Company Appeal (AT) No.35 of 2019, held that intention of the legislature while promulgating Section 55 of the Companies Act, 2013 was to compulsorily provide for redemption of preference shares by doing away with the issue of or redeemable preference shares. Therefore, even though there is no specific provision stipulated under the Companies Act, 2013 through which relief can be sought by preference shareholders in case of non- redemption by the company or consequent non-filing of petition under Section 55 of the said Act, the intention of the legislature being clear and absolute, Tribunal's inherent power can be invoked to get an appropriate relief by an aggrieved preference shareholder(s).

Alternatively, preference shareholders coming within the definition of 'member(s)' under Section 2(55) read with Section 88 of the Companies Act, 2013, may file a petition under Section 245 of the said Act, as a class action suit, being aggrieved by the conduct of affairs of the company. Thereby, it was held that preference shareholders are not remediless and for redemption of preference shares, they can file an application under Section 55(3) of the Companies Act, 2013 or alternatively they may also file application under Section 245 of the Companies Act, 2013 as a class action suit and the NCLT while exercising the inherent power viz. Rule 11 of NCLT Rules, 2016 can pass appropriate order.

CASE LAW

Related to further issue of shares by a company

(1) Nanalal Zaver vs. Bombay Life Assurance Co. Ltd., AIR 1950 SC 172: (1950): Section 81 (Corresponding to section 62 of the Companies Act, 2013) is intended to cover cases where the Directors decide to increase the capital by issuing further shares within the authorised limit, because it is within that limit that the Directors can decide to issue further shares, unless, of course, they are precluded from doing that by the Articles of Association of the company. Accordingly, the section becomes applicable only when the Directors decide to increase the capital within the authorised limit, by issue of further shares.

The above judgement was followed by the Supreme Court in Needle Industries (India) Ltd. vs. Needle Industries Newey (India) Holding Ltd.(1981). The Court pointed out that the Directors of a company must exercise their powers for the benefit of the company. The Directors are in a fiduciary position and if they does not exercise powers for the benefit of the company but simply and solely for personal aggrandisement and to the detriment of the company, the Court will interfere and prevent the Directors from doing so;

(2) Needle Industries (India) Ltd. vs. Needle Industries Newey (India) Holding Ltd.: The power to issue shares need not be used only when there is a need to raise additional capital. The power can be used to create a sufficient number of shareholders to enable a company to exercise statutory powers or to enable it to comply with statutory requirements.

The Department of Company Affairs, now Ministry of Corporate Affairs has clarified that 'one year' specified in the section is to be counted from the date on which the company has allotted any share for the first time;

(3) Balkrishan Gupta vs. Swadeshi Polytex Ltd. (1985): Although the term 'holders of the equity shares' is used in Sub-section (1)(a) and 'members' in Sub-section (1A)(b) of Section 81 (Corresponding to section 62 of the Companies Act, 2013), the two terms are synonymous and mean persons whose names are entered in the register of members;

(4) In Worldwide Agencies (P) Ltd. vs. Margaret T. Desor, (1990), it was held that persons who have become entitled to the shares of a deceased member can exercise all the membership rights of the deceased irrespective of the fact whether their name is in the register of members or not;

(5) Mathalone (R) vs. Bombay Life Assurance Co. Ltd. AIR 1953 SC 385: (1954): The Court held that the transferor could not be compelled by the transferee to take up on his behalf the rights shares offered to the transferor and all that he could require the transferor to do was to renounce the rights issue in the transferee's favour.

    (a) make payment of consideration in cash to those shareholders or security holders whose securities have been accepted; or

    (b) return the share certificates to the shareholders or security holders whose securities have not been accepted at all or the balance of securities in case of part acceptance.

17. Other Points to be considered:

    In case the number of shares or other specified securities offered by the shareholders or security holders is more than the total number of shares or securities to be bought back by the company, the acceptance per shareholder shall be on proportionate basis out of the total shares offered for being bought back.

CASE LAWS

1) Birla Global Finance Ltd. Company Petition No. 228 of 2002 Connected With C.A. No. 149 of 2002, in re: In this case the court held that the redemption of preference shares is nothing but repayment of the preference capital and amounts to reduction of share capital.

2) Sandvik Asia Ltd. v. Bharat Kumar Padamsi (2009 (3) Bom CR 57): Here the court held that once it is established that non-promoter shareholders are being paid fair value of their shares, and an overwhelming majority of them have voted in favour of resolution for reduction of share capital, the court will not be justified in withholding the sanction to the resolution.

3) Elpro International Ltd. (2009 4 Comp LJ 406 (Bom): The Bombay High Court while dealing with a special resolution passed in favour of reduction of capital, held that a company can reduce the share capital of any shareholder in any way so long as the procedure is fair and gets the approval of the majority shareholders.

4) Indian National Press (Indore) Ltd., In re, (1989) 66 Com Cases 387, 392 (MP)- The need for reducing capital may arise in various ways, for example, trading losses, heavy capital expenses, and assets of reduced or doubtful value. As a result, the original capital may either have become lost or a company may find that it has more resources than it can profitably employ. In either case, the need may arise to adjust the relation between capital and assets.

In the matter of Josco Jewellers Private Limited Vs. RoC, Kerala CP/06/KOB/2020: The Petitioner Company had filed a petition under Section 66 of the Companies Act, 2013 against the Registrar of Companies, Kerela seeking reduction of its share capital from Rs. 120 crores to Rs. 1 crore. After a review of the capital structure, the Board of Directors of the Petitioner Company observed that the company's paid up capital was more than the required amount for the existing business of the company and that it would be beneficial for the company to remit back its excess capital by way of reduction of share capital. The NCLT, Kochi Bench held that since all the requisite statutory procedures have been fulfilled and no objections has been received from any shareholders, the company petition filed for reduction of its share capital is hereby allowed.

DIMINUTION OF SHARE CAPITAL IS NOT A REDUCTION OF CAPITAL

As per section 61(1)(e) of the Companies Act, 2013, diminution of capital is the cancellation of the unsubscribed part of the issued capital. It can be effected by an ordinary resolution provided articles of the company authorises to do so. According to section 61(2), cancellation of shares under section 61(1) shall not be deemed to be reduction of share capital. It does not need any confirmation of the Tribunal under section 66.

Reduction of share capital by following methods also do not need any sanction/approval of the Tribunal:

(a) Redemption of redeemable preference shares.

(b) Purchase of shares of a member by the Company on order of the Tribunal under Section 242 of the Companies Act, 2013.

(c) Buy-back of its own securities under Section 68.

In the following cases, the diminution of share capital is not to be treated as reduction of the capital:

(i) Where the company cancels shares which have not been taken or agreed to be taken by any person [Section 61(1)(e) Companies Act, 2013];

(ii) Where redeemable preference shares are redeemed in accordance with the provisions of Section 55 [Explanation to section 55(3) of the Companies Act, 2013];

(iii) Where any shares are forfeited for non-payment of calls and such forfeiture amounts to reduction of capital;

(iv) Where the company buys-back its own shares under Section 68 of the Act [Section 66(6)];

(v) Where the reduction of share capital is effected in pursuance of the order of the Tribunal sanctioning any compromise or arrangement under section 230.

Points to remember:

The above cases do not require the approval or sanction of Tribunal as well as the procedure for reduction of capital as laid down in Section 66 is not attracted.

CASE LAWS

(A) SIEL Ltd., Inre. [(2008)144 Com Cases 469 (Del)], the view was that reduction of the share capital of a company is a domestic concern of the company and the decision of the majority would prevail. If the majority by special resolution decides to reduce the share capital of the company, it has the right to decide to reduce the share capital of the company and it has the right to decide how this should be effected. While reducing the share capital, the company can decide to extinguish some of its shares without dealing in the same manner with all other shares of the same class. A selective reduction is permissible within the frame work of law for any company limited by shares.

(B) British and American Trustee and Finance Corpn. vs. Couper, (1894) AC 399, 403: (1991-4), the Act does not prescribe the manner in which the reduction of capital is to be effected. Nor is there any limitation of the power of the Court to confirm the reduction except that it satisfied that all the creditors entitled to object to the reduction have either consented or been paid or secured.

(C) British and American Trustee Corpn. vs. Couper, (1894) (ibid), when exercising its discretion, the Court must ensure that the reduction is fair and equitable. In short the Court shall consider the following, while sanctioning the reduction:

(i) The interests of creditors must be safeguarded;

(ii) The interests of shareholders must be considered; and

(iii) Lastly, the public interest must be considered as well.

(D) Borough Commercial and Bldg. Society, (1893), Reduction in shares capital of an unlimited company: An unlimited company to which Section 100 (corresponds to section 66 of the Companies Act, 2013) does not apply, can reduce its capital in any manner that its Memorandum and Articles of Association allow. It is not governed by Sections 61 and 66 of the Act (corresponds to section 27 and 30 of the Companies Act, 2013). Section 13 (corresponds to section 4 of the Companies Act, 2013) does not provide that its capital shall be stated in the Memorandum. However, even if its capital is stated in the Memorandum, the Companies Act impliedly gives power to the member to alter it.

(E) Great Universal Stores Ltd., Re (1960), Reduction of capital when company is defunct: The Registrar of Companies has been empowered under Section 560 (corresponds to section 248 of the Companies Act, 2013) to strike off the name of the company from register on the ground of non-working. Therefore, where the company has ceased to trade and Registrar exercises his power under Section 560 (corresponds to section 248 of the Companies Act, 2013) a reduction of capital cannot be prevented.

(F) Marwari Stores Ltd. vs. Gouri Shanker Goenka, (1936), Equal Reduction of Shares of One Class: Where there is only one class of shares, prima facie, the same percentage should be paid off or cancelled or reduced in respect of each share, but where different amounts are paid-up on shares of the same class, the reduction can be effected by equalising the amount so paid-up. The same principle is to be followed where there are different classes of shares [Bannatyne v. Direct Spanish Telegraph Co., (1886) 34 Ch D 287].

(G) Asian Investments Ltd. Re, (1992), It is, however, not necessary that extinguishment of shares in all cases should necessarily result in reduction of share capital. Accordingly where reduction is not involved Section 100 (corresponds to section 66 of the Companies Act, 2013) would not be attracted.

REDUCTION OF SHARE CAPITAL WITHOUT SANCTION OF THE TRIBUNAL

The following are cases which amount to reduction of share capital and where no confirmation by the Tribunal is necessary:

(a) Surrender of shares — "Surrender of shares" means the surrender to the company on the part of the registered holder of shares already issued. Where shares are surrendered to the company, whether by way of settlement of a dispute or for any other reason, it will have the same effect as a transfer in favour of the company and amount to a reduction of capital. But if, under any arrangement, such shares, instead of being surrendered to the company, are transferred to a nominee of the company then there will be no reduction of capital [Collector of Moradabad vs. Equity Insurance Co. Ltd., (1948)]. Surrender may be accepted by the company under the same circumstances where forfeiture is justified. It has the effect of releasing the shareholder whose surrender is accepted from further liability on shares.

The Companies Act contains no provision for surrender of shares. Thus, surrender of shares is valid only when Articles of Association provide for the same and:

(a) Where forfeiture of such shares is justified; or

(b) When shares are surrendered in exchange for new shares of same nominal value.

Both forfeiture and surrender lead to termination of membership. But in the former case, it is at the initiative of company and in the latter case at the initiative of member or shareholder.

(b) Forfeiture of shares — A company may if authorised by its articles, forfeit shares for non-payment of calls and the same will not require confirmation of the Tribunal.

Where power is given in the articles, it must be exercised strictly in accordance with the regulations regarding notice, procedure and manner stated therein, otherwise the forfeiture will be void. Forfeiture will be effected by means of Board resolution. The power of forfeiture must be exercised bonafide and in the interest of the company.

In Re Jubilant Clinsys Ltd. CA No. 94/ALD/2016, NCLT-Allahabad Bench

In this case, the Court held that where proposed reduction of share capital did not prejudicially affect interest of any shareholder nor it had any adverse effect on public at large and all requisite statutory requirements in respect to said reduction had been complied, reduction of share capital was to be allowed.

In Re Economy Hotels India Services Private Limited Vs. Registrar of Companies & Anr. (NCLAT) Company Appeal (AT) No. 97 of 2020, NCLAT Delhi

The Appellant Company had filed a petition under Section 66 of the Companies Act praying for confirming the reduction of share capital. In the extract of the minutes submitted to NCLT, it was written that the 'unanimous ordinary resolution' required for reduction has been obtained. The NCLT rejected the application for reduction. Hence the company has filed and appeal with NCLAT pleading that it was a mere typographical error in the minutes characterising the 'special resolution' as 'unanimous ordinary resolution' and the Appellant had filed the special resolution with ROC and fulfilled all the statutory requirements prescribed in the Companies Act, 2013, hence the order of the Tribunal is liable to set aside.

The court held that merely a 'typographical error' in the extract of 'Minutes', characterising the 'special resolution' as 'unanimous ordinary resolution' will not render a special resolution as invalid. The special resolution passed is very well valid. NCLAT has allowed the reduction.

Effect of Forfeiture

When the shares have been forfeited, the defaulting shareholder ceases to be member of the company and he loses all rights or interests in his shares. But notwithstanding the forfeiture he remains liable to pay to the company all monies which at the date of forfeiture were payable by him to the company in respect of the shares.

Re-issue of forfeited shares

The Company may re-issue the forfeited shares to any willing buyer after having specific powers to that effect in the Articles. The shares are generally issued at a price at par with other shares as reduced by amounts already received in respect of the said shares.

Reissue of forfeited shares is a sale of shares and it does not amount to an allotment. The company should duly record the particulars of the members who acquire those shares as if it were a transfer of shares.

The directors would fix a price for the forfeited share that should not be lower than the amount of the call(s) due and unpaid on the share at the time of forfeiture.

In the case of a company whose shares are listed in a recognized stock exchange, re-issue of forfeited shares shall be as per Guidelines for Preferential Issue of the Securities and Exchange Board of India and the listing agreement.

Conclusiveness of certificate for reduction of capital

Where the Registrar had issued his certificate confirming the reduction, the same was held to be conclusive although it was discovered later that the company had no authority under its articles to reduce capital [Re Walkar & Smith Ltd., (1903) 88 LT 792 (Ch D)]. Similarly, in a case the special resolution for reduction was an invalid one, but the company had gone through with the reduction. It was held that the reduction was not allowed to be upset [Ladies's Dress Assn. v. Pulbrook, (1900) 2 QB 376].

PART E: TRANSFERABILITY OF SHARES

What is transfer of shares?

When the owner of shares transfers his ownership of shares to another person is called as transfer of shares. The person who transfers is known as 'Transferor' and the person to whom shares are transferred is known as 'Transferee'.

TRANSFER OR TRANSMISSION OF SECURITIES

Transferability of securities

One of the most important characteristics of a company is that its shares are transferable. Section 44 of the Companies Act, 2013 states that the shares or debentures or other interest of any member in a company shall be movable property, transferable in the manner provided by the articles of the company. Therefore, there cannot be an absolute prohibition on the right to transfer shares. The right to transfer may be subjected to restrictions contained in the articles and there cannot be total prohibition or ban on transferability of shares. However, only permissible restriction on transferability may be contained Articles of association

Governing Provisions of Companies Act 2013: Section 56 of the Companies Act deals with transfer and transmission of securities.

- PUBLIC COMPANY: Freely Transferable
- PRIVATE COMPANY: Restricted to Transfer

PRIVATE COMPANIES

Shares of a private company are not marketable securities due to restriction on right to transfer. Such shares by their very nature are not freely transferable in the market. The objective behind the right of restriction on the transfer of shares is to preserve the composition of the shareholding.

- The section 2(68) of the Companies Act, 2013 restricts the right to transfer shares but does not prohibit the right to transfer shares. In case of transfer of shares of a private company, the provisions or restrictions contained in the Articles of Association should be duly complied with by the transferor and transferee.
- Restrictions upon transfer of shares in private companies are not applicable in following cases:-
  - (a) On the right of a member to transfer his/her shares in a case where the shares are to be transferred to his/her representative(s).
  - (b) In the event of death of a shareholder, legal representatives may require the registration of shares in the names of heirs, on whom the shares have been devolved.
  - (c) In respect of shares which are proposed to be issued on a right basis, existing members would have a right to renounce shares likely to be allotted to them. If the existing shareholders renounce their shares then these shares will be allotted to the renounces for the first time and therefore no transfer of shares will take place.

➢ Restriction on right to transfer shares is generally placed by using following two methods:

(a) Right of pre-emption: If a member wishes to sell some or all of his shares, such shares shall first be offered to other existing members of the company at a price determined by the directors or by the auditor of the company or by the use of formula set out in the articles. If no existing member is determined to acquire shares, then shares can be transferred by the transferor to the proposed transferee. A member is not bound to sell his shares to other members under pre-emption clause unless any other member or members agree to buy all the shares proposed to be sold. The transfer between the members is outside the purview of pre-emption clause. The pre-emption clause cannot place a complete ban on right to transfer; they cannot completely prohibit the transfer.

(b) Valuation of Shares under Preemption clause: Articles of Association of private company provide that the shares are to be sold under pre-emption clause at a fair price determined by the directors or the auditor of the company. It may also be provided that the fair price would be certified by the auditor of the company. If the pre-emption clause requires that the shares are required to be offered to other members at a price certified by the directors or auditor(s), the Court is not in a position to enquire into the correctness of valuation, unless there is evidence that valuation was not correctly made. If the person who made the valuation has acted negligently and failed to take into account all the necessary factors for arriving at the value of share, in such case the transferor may sue for the damages to the person who made the valuation for difference between the value of the share as computed by the valuer, and the real value of shares.

In Nanalal Zaver v. Bombay Life Assurance Co. Ltd, the Supreme court held that the existing shareholders must be given the first option by the company.

(c) Powers of directors to refuse registration of transfer of shares: The Powers of directors to refuse registration of transfer of shares are specified in the articles of association of the company. This power is to be exercised by the Board of Directors in good faith.

PUBLIC COMPANY

As per section 58(2), the securities or other interest of any member in a public company shall be freely transferable. The Board of Directors of a company or the concerned depository has no discretion to refuse or withhold transfer of any security. The transfer has to be effected by the company/depository automatically and immediately.

However, proviso to section 58(2) provides that any contract or arrangement between two or more persons in respect of transfer of securities shall be enforceable as a contract. It is now possible to contractually agree on terms such as right of first refusal, right of first offer, tag along, call option, put option, etc. in the shareholder agreements/ investment agreements, in the case of a public company as well. These terms would now be binding on the investors. Therefore, private arrangements or contracts between two or more persons would be enforceable contracts.

➢ Instruments of transfer to be presented to the company (Form SH-4)

According to Section 56(1) a company, shall not register a transfer of securities of, the company, unless a proper instrument of transfer duly stamped, dated and executed by or on behalf of the transferor and the transferee has been delivered to the company by the transferor or transferee within a period of 60 days (irrespective of the nature of the company, whether listed or unlisted) from the date of execution along with the certificate relating to the securities, or if no such certificate is in existence, then along with the related certificate or letter of allotment of securities. In case of loss of the instrument, the company may register the transfer on terms as to indemnity.

Such instrument of transfer of securities held in physical form shall be in Form No. SH.4. Where a company not having share capital, the instrument of transfer herein should also be in Form No. SH.4 and other conditions be complied where the references therein to securities were references instead to the interest of the member in the company.

However, nothing in section 56(1) shall prejudice any power of the company to register, on receipt of an intimation of transmission of any right to securities by operation of law from any person to whom such right has been transmitted [Section56(2)].

- Registration of partly paid up shares – Notice to the transferee (Form No. SH.5)

According to section 56(3), where an application is made by the transferor alone and relates to partly paid shares, the transfer shall not be registered, unless the company gives the notice in Form No. SH.5 to the transferee and the transferee gives 'no objection' to the transfer within two weeks from the receipt of the notice.

- Time Limit for Delivery of certificates: One Month

Every company, unless prohibited by any provision of law or any order of Court, Tribunal or other authority, deliver the certificates fall securities transferred or transmitted within a period of one month in case of transfer or transmission of securities.

➢ Stamp duty payable and affixation/ cancellation of stamps at the time of transfer of shares

Before the transfer is lodged with the company, it should be duly stamped. The transfer of securities attracts prescribed stamp duty under the Indian Stamp Act, 1899.

The amount of consideration is required to be mentioned in the share transfer deed as otherwise the companies cannot verify whether share transfer stamp duty has been correctly charged thereby attracting the penal provisions of the Stamp Act in case of a default.

Under Section 56(1), a company cannot register the transfer of securities unless a instrument of transfer duly stamped, dated and executed by or on behalf of the transferor and the transferee has been delivered to the company along with the certificate relating to the securities in question.

Meaning of 'Duly stamped': The expression 'duly stamped' has not been defined in the Companies Act. Under Section 2(11) of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899, 'duly stamped' as applied to an instrument, means that the instrument bears an adhesive or impressed stamp of not less than the proper amount and that such stamp has been affixed or used in accordance with the law for the time being in force in India.

Stamp must be cancelled: Under Section 12(1) of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899, whoever affixes an adhesive stamp to an instrument which has been executed by any person shall, when affixing such stamp, cancel the same so that it cannot be used again. Sub-section (2) thereof makes it clear that any instrument bearing an adhesive stamp which has not been cancelled so that it cannot be used again, shall, so far as such stamp is concerned, be deemed to be unstamped. Sub-section (3) thereof provides the manner in which the adhesive stamp can be cancelled and provides that the stamp be cancelled by writing on or a cross the stamp his name or initials or the name or initials of his firm. Section 17 of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899 makes it clear that all instruments chargeable with duty and executed shall be stamped before, or at the time of execution. Therefore, the legal requirement is that the stamp must be cancelled either before or at the time of execution.

It is necessary that the value of the consideration paid for a transfer must be determined as a part of the agreement because in the absence of such valuation it would not be possible to know whether stamp duty has been paid according to the value or not. A transfer form which does not indicate the value of the shares purposes of transfer would be void and not capable of being accepted.

The "value of the shares" means the price which the shares would fetch at the time of the transfer and not the face value of the shares. The consideration actually paid or agreed to be paid is the value of the shares. So long as there is nothing to indicate that the consideration was not truly stated in the transfer, the one mentioned therein should be accepted as the consideration that was paid [Union of India vs. Kulu Valley Transport Ltd. (1958).

CASE LAWS

A company cannot register transfer of shares unless the instrument of transfer is duly stamped and is delivered to the company. The expression "duly stamped" has to be construed with reference to the provisions of Section 2(11) of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899 and the document in question would be an invalid one if the stamp affixed there on has not been cancelled. Under Section 108(1) of the Companies Act, 1956 [Corresponds to section 56(1) of the Companies Act, 2013] it is mandatory that the company shall not register the transfer of shares unless a properly executed instrument of transfer duly stamped has been delivered to the company. [Shri Parveen Sharda vs. Chopsani Ice Aerated Water and Oils Mills Ltd., Appeal No. 1 of 1982 decided on 10.1.1983 (CLB)].

In Vardhaman Publishers Ltd. vs. Mathrubhumi Printing & Publishing Co. Ltd. (1990), the Kerala High Court held that affixing stamps on a separate sheet of paper and attaching it to the transfer application or cancellation of stamps by drawing a line across the stamp was not improper and would not invalidate the said application. On the question of whether a newly added Article empowering the Board to reject transfer of shares would affect transactions of sale of shares entered into before the insertion of the Article, the Court held that the property in the shares passes on the date of transfer and the right to have the shares registered in the transferee's name becomes crystallised on that day itself. Any alteration of articles will not affect concluded transactions and in respect of such transactions, the existing articles would prevail. So, if the original (unaltered) Articles as on the date of transfer permit free transfer of shares, the Board cannot refuse registration of the transfer.

The Share Transfer details shall be given to ROC in Annual Return of the company in Form MGT-7.

STATUTORY REMEDY IN CASE BOARD REFUSES REGISTRATION OF TRANSFER/TRANSMISSION OF SHARES

Section 58 of the Companies Act, 2013, deals with process of the company to be followed by on refusal to register the transfer of securities.

PRIVATE COMPANY

(i) If a private company limited by shares refuses (whether in pursuance of any power of the company under its articles or otherwise) to register the transfer of, or the transmission of the right to any securities or interest of a member in the company, then the company shall send notice of the refusal to the transferor and the transferee or to the person giving intimation of such transfer, within a period of thirty days from the date on which the instrument of transfer, or the intimation of such transmission, was delivered to the company. Notice shall contain the reasons for refusal to register the transfer or transmission.

(ii) The transferee may appeal to the Tribunal against the refusal within a period of thirty days from the date of receipt of the notice or in case no notice has been sent by the company, within a period of sixty days from the date on which the instrument of transfer or the intimation of transmission, was delivered to the company [Section 58(3)].

PUBLIC COMPANY

(i) If a public company without sufficient cause refuses to register the transfer of securities within a period of thirty days from the date on which the instrument of transfer or the intimation of transmission, is delivered to the company, the transferee may, within a period of sixty days of such refusal or where no intimation has been received from the company, within ninety days of the delivery of the instrument of transfer or intimation of transmission, appeal to the Tribunal [Section 58(4)].

(ii) The Tribunal, while dealing with an appeal may, after hearing the parties, either dismiss the appeal, or by order-

(a) direct that the transfer or transmission shall be registered by the company and the company shall comply with such order within a period of ten days of the receipt of the order; or

(b) direct rectification of the register and also direct the company to pay damages, if any, sustained by any party aggrieved [Section 58(5)].

(iii) If a person contravenes the order of the Tribunal he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term not less than one year but may extend to three years and with fine not less than one lakh rupee may extend to five lakh rupees [Section 58(6)].

CASE LAWS

(A) Refusal to register share transfer on suspicion that the employee if admitted as a member will attend general meetings of the company and may create nuisance by raising irrelevant issues and also obtain access to the records to the company as a shareholder is not a valid reason. [Appeal to the CLB No. 27, of 1975 dated 17th August, 1976, Shri Nirmal Kumar vs. Jaipur Metal and Electrical Limited];

(B) The mere attempts of a person to wind up a company more than once cannot be a ground for refusing to register transfer by the directors [Rangpur Tea Association Ltd. vs. Makkan Lal Samaddar (1979)];

(C) The power to refuse registration of shares which is conferred on the directors by the articles, is a discretionary power and must be exercised reasonably, and in good faith for the benefit of the company. Unless the contrary is proved, the power is deemed to have been exercised properly. [Berry & Stewart vs. Tottenham Hostpur Football and Athletic Co. Ltd., 1936];

(D) Where the appellant transferee and respondent company were in the same line of business and were rivals, the refusal on the ground of rivalry will be justified in terms of the decision rendered by the Supreme Court in the Bajaj Auto Case. Under these circumstances, the investment cannot be considered to have been made bona fide with the intention of making profits. The respondent company is entitled to refuse the registration even in the absence of an enabling provision in articles in view of the provisions of Section 111(2)[Corresponds to section 58(3) and 58(4) of the Companies Act, 2013] [Modi Carpets Ltd. v. Trans- Asia Carpets Ltd., Appeal No. 2 of 1980 decided on 26.12.1981(CLB)];

(E) In Shri T.N. Kuriakos vs. Premier Tyres Ltd., decided on 13.6.1983 (CLB), the appeal against the refusal by the respondent company to register transfer of shares was allowed by the Company Law Board (Now Tribunal) on the ground that the refusal of the respondent to register transfer of shares in favour of the appellant was based on the decision of the Transfer Committee, a sub-committee of the Board of Directors and not that of the Board of Directors as such, and, therefore, the said decision was not a valid and legal decision;

(F) The Supreme Court of India in Mackintosh Burn Limited v. Sarkar and Chowdhury Enterprises Private Limited, (2018) 5 SCC 575 held that the registration of a share transfer may not only be refused on the ground of it resulting in a violation of any law but also for any other sufficient cause.

RECTIFICATION OF REGISTER OF MEMBERS (SECTION 59)

Section 59 of the Companies Act, 2013 provides the procedure for the rectification of register of members after the transfer of securities. The provision states that –

1. Remedy to the aggrieved for not carrying the changes in the register of members: Grounds of appeal: If, without sufficient cause –

   (i) The name of any person is entered in the register of members; or

   (ii) The name of any person having entered in the register of members is without sufficient reason omitted there from; or

   (iii) Default or unnecessary delay is being made in entering in the register, the fact of any person having become a member; or

   (iv) Default or unnecessary delay is being made in entering in the register, the fact of any person having ceased to be a member; or

   (v) The person aggrieved, or any member of the company, or the company may appeal in such form as may be prescribed, to the Tribunal. In case of foreign members or debenture holders residing outside India, the appeal shall be filed in a competent Court outside India as may be specified by the Central Government by notification.

2. Order of the Tribunal: The Tribunal may, after hearing the parties to the appeal by order, either dismiss the appeal or direct that the transfer or transmission shall be registered by the company within a period of ten days of the receipt of the order, or direct rectification of the records of the depository or the register and in the latter case, direct the company to pay damages, if any, sustained by the party aggrieved.

3. Right to transfer not restricted: Section 59 of the Act shall not restrict the right of a holder of securities, to transfer such securities. Any person acquiring such securities shall been titled to voting rights unless the voting rights have been suspended by an order of the Tribunal.

4. Contravention of provisions of the law: Where the transfer of securities is in contravention of any of the provisions of the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956, the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992 or this Act or any other law for the time being in force, the Tribunal may, on an application made by the depository, company, depository participant, the holder of the securities or the Securities and Exchange Board, direct any company or a depository to set right the contravention and rectify its register or records concerned.

5. Specific instances of rectification:

   Rectification has been held to be permissible in the following cases:

   (a) Applicant induced to take shares by misrepresentation;

   (b) Shareholders' name removed under unlawful surrender of his shares;

   (c) Irregular allotment;

   (d) Name of nominee entered in register without his knowledge or consent;

   (e) Allotment of shares to a non-resident without taking necessary permission for foreign exchange;

   (f) Allotment in violation of memorandum of association of the company.

6. Mutation of name in other Company's register of members: The Company which has changed its name would been titled to ask those companies in which it is holding shares to substitute a company's new name in their register of members in the place of old name. [Sulphur Dyes v. Hicks on & Dadajee Ltd. (1995) 83 Com Cases 533(Bom)]

LOST TRANSFER DEEDS

- It is sometimes found that the transfer documents sent to companies are lost, say, in transit. In such a case, the provision to section 56(1) of the Act provides that where the instrument of transfer has been lost or the instrument of transfer has not been delivered within the prescribed period (within 60 days from the date of execution of the instrument of transfer), the company may register the transfer on such terms as to indemnity as the Board may think fit.
- The Board of Directors of the company should be satisfied that the instrument of transfer signed by or on behalf of the transferor and by or on behalf of the transferee has been lost. The proof may be in the form of an affidavit from the transferor or the transferee and supported by the purchase or sale note of the broker and the registration receipt issued by the postal authorities.
- In addition, the Board can take an indemnity on such terms as it may think fit to safeguard its position and after that company may register the transfer.

DELEGATION OF POWERS FOR TRANSFER

It is the articles of the company which authorise the Board of Directors to accept or refuse transfer of securities, at their discretion. The Board further have the power to delegate all or any of their powers to any of the company or any person even not in the employment of the company. Therefore, the articles of association should authorise the Board of Directors to delegate the powers suitably. Only in the case of refusal to register a transfer, the directors are required to exercise their discretion.

TRANSFER OF DEBENTURES

In case of transfer of debentures, a proper instrument of transfer duly stamped, dated and executed by or on behalf of the transferor and the transferee should be delivered to the company by the transferor or transferee with in a period of 60 days from the date of execution along with the certificate relating to the debentures or if no such certificate is in existence with the letter of allotment of debentures.

After registering the transfer, the particulars thereof have to be recorded in the Debenture Transfer Register and should be initialed by the appropriate authority. After making appropriate endorsements, the debenture certificate may be sent to the party concerned.

TRANSFER OF SHARES TO MINOR

In India, a minor is not competent to enter into any contract, as under Section 11 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, a person who has attained the age of majority is only competent to contract. Since a minor cannot enter into a contract or agreement except through a guardian, and since as per Section 153, no notice can be taken of the fact that the guardian holds a share in trust for a minor, it follows that his name cannot be entered in the Register of Members and therefore, he cannot become a member of a company. There is, however, no objection in law to the guardian of a minor entering into a contract on behalf of a minor, by virtue of the statutory right conferred on the guardian of a minor under Section 8 read with Section 4 to 6 of the Hindu Minority and Guardianship Act,1956. Since Section 56 of the Companies Act, 2013 enables execution of transfer deed by or on behalf of the transferor or the transferee, the transfer deed can be executed by a minor through his natural guardian as transferee, and the contract so entered into by a minor through his natural guardian is a binding and valid contract under Section 8 of the Hindu Minority and Guardianship Act, 1956.

The articles of association of a company cannot impose a blanket ban prohibiting transfer of shares in favour of a minor, as such a restriction is unreasonable and not sustainable. Section 44 of the Companies Act, 2013 provides that shares in a company are movable property and are transferable in the manner provided by the Articles. The expression 'in the manner provided by the articles of association of the company' can only be interpreted to mean the procedure to be adopted for transfer and impose restrictions, which are meaningful and reasonable. In case, the restriction imposed on transfer to a minor is accepted, it would mean that the shares of a deceased member can never be inherited by the legal heir who might be a minor. This would lead to a highly unjust situation and cannot be accepted as tenable. Accordingly, if the shares can be transmitted in favour of a minor, there is no reason why the shares which are fully paid-up and in respect of which no financial liability devolves on the minor are to be held as not transferable merely because of the ban imposed in the articles of association [Saroj v. Britannia Industries Ltd., Appeal No.5/80 decided on 14.12.81 by CLB].

TRANSFER OF SHARES TO PARTNERSHIP FIRM

A firm is not a person and as such is not entitled to apply for membership. The Department of Company Affairs (Now, Ministry of Corporate Affairs) has in its Circular No. 4/72 dated 9.2.1972 stated that a firm not being a person cannot be registered as a member of a company except where the company is licensed under Section 25 (Corresponds to section 8 of the Companies Act, 2013).

TRANSFER OF SECURITIES TO A BODY CORPORATE

An incorporated body being a legal person can acquire securities in its own name. Where a company is a transferee, the following documents are required to be submitted to the company:

(a) A certified true copy of the Board resolution and/or power of attorney authorizing the signatory of the instrument of transfer to execute the instruments;

(b) A certified true copy of a Board resolution passed under Section 179(3)(e) of the Companies Act; and

(c) A certified true copy of Memorandum and Articles of Association of a company.

> Transfer of shares without Authority of Owner is void:
> transfer of shares by the husband of a lady owner without her authority was void and the transferee obtained no rights.

WHEN TRANSFEROR ACT AS TRUSTEE

When a transferor makes a transfer, he makes an implied representation that the transfer will be registered by the company in the name of the transferee in the place of transferor. If the company refuses to register the transfer for no fault or default of the transferee, the transferor, by reason of the shares continuing to stand in his name, will, in cases where he has received consideration for the transfer, be treated as trustee for the transferee and bound to act in accordance with his direction and for his benefit in respect of the shares, unless the transferee rescinds the contract and seeks to recover his money on consideration which has failed.

However, after the transfer form has been executed the transferor cannot be compelled to undertake any financial burden in respect of the shares at the instance of transferee where, after the transfer of shares, but before the company had registered the transfer, the company offered rights shares to its members. The transferor could not be compelled by the transferee to take up on his behalf the rights shares offered to the transferor.

TRANSFER IN VIOLATION OF ARTICLES

Where the article of a private company requires that transfers of the company shares should be made with the previous sanction of the company's Board of Directors, the Supreme Court held that any transfer without such approval would be invalid. John Tinson & co. P. Ltd. v. Surjeet Malhan (Mrs.) (1997) 88 Com Cases 750: AIR 1997 SC 1411.

Where a transfer was made in violation of a private company's articles requiring that shares must be first offered to existing members, it was held that the transferor was not the proper person to object.

TRANSMISSION OF SECURITIES

Transmission of securities has not been defined by the Companies Act, 2013. 'Transmission by operation flaw' is not a transfer. It refers to those cases where a person acquires an interest in property by operation of any provision of law, such as by right of inheritance or succession or by reason of the insolvency or lunacy of the holder of securities or by purchase in a Court-sale.

Thus, transmission of securities takes place when the registered holder of securities dies or is adjudicated as an insolvent, or if the holder of securities is a company, it goes into liquidation. Because a deceased person cannot own anything, the ownership of all his property passes, after his death, to those who legally represent him. Similarly, when a person is declared insolvent, his entire property vests in the Official Assignee or Official Receiver. Upon the death of a sole registered holder of security, so far as the company is concerned, the legal representatives of the deceased holder of securities are the only persons having title to the securities unless securities-holder had appointed a nominee, in which case he would been titled to the exclusion of all others.

> Transmission of shares do not require the execution through instrument of transfer in Form SH-4

Transmission in Case of Sole Owner

On the death of a sole owner of shares, vesting of rights and liabilities goes in favor of the legal heirs. They are entitled to be registered as the holders of shares. [Scott v. Scott (London) Ltd., (1940) Ch. 794; Safeguard Industrial Investments Ltd. vs. National West minister Bank Ltd., (1980) 3 All ER 849.] But the legal heirs do not by itself become members of the company. The company cannot register them as members without the consent. [Re, Cheshire Banking Co. Duff's Executor's case, (1886) 32 Ch D 301.] A company cannot compel them to become member nor it is a duty to do so.[State of Kerala vs. West Coast Planters Agencies Ltd.,(1958) 28 Com Cases 13 (Ker).] The company can justifiably register them as members when they apply for it.

Transmission of shares to widow

If a widow applies for transmission of the shares standing in the name of her deceased husband without producing a succession certificate and if the articles of association of the company so authorises, the directors may dispense with the production of succession certificate, probate or letter of administration upon such terms as to indemnity as the directors may consider necessary, and transmit the shares to the widow of the deceased by obtaining an indemnity bond.

Transmission of joint holdings

In case some shares are registered in joint names and the articles of the company provide that the survivor shall be the only person to be recognised by the company as having any title to the shares, the company is justified in refusing to register the transmission of title by operation of law in favour of the son of the deceased holder even though he may obtain succession certificate from the Court.

Section 56(1) of the Companies Act, 2013 states that the transfer of securities must be effected by a proper instrument of transfer and that a provision in the articles of an automatic transfer of securities of a deceased securities-holder is illegal and void. Such transfer does not amount to transmission which takes place by operation of law. Section 56(2) of the Act provides that nothing in the sub-section (1) shall prejudice the powers of the company to register, on receipt of an intimation of transmission of any right to securities by operation of law from any person to whom such right has been transmitted. It follows that, for such transmission, instrument of transfer is not required, and, merely an application addressed to the company by the legal representative is sufficient.

Articles of companies generally provide for formalities to be observed for transmission of shares. In the absence of such provision in the articles of the company, Regulations 23 to 27 of Table F of Schedule I to the Act will govern the procedure for transmission. According to these regulations, the legal representatives are entitled to the shares held by deceased member and the company must accept the evidence of succession e.g., a succession certificate or letter of administrations or probate or any other evidence properly required by the Board of Directors. He is, however, not a member of the company by reason only of being the legal owner of the shares. But he may apply to be registered as a member. On the contrary, instead of being registered himself as a member, he may make such transfer of the shares as the deceased or insolvent member could have made. The Board of directors also have the same right to decline registration as they would have had in the case of transfer of shares before death. But if the company unduly refuses to accept a transmission, the same remedies are available to the legal representative as in the case of a transfer namely, an appeal to the Tribunal under Section 58.

Distinction between Transfer and Transmission

S. No.	Basis	Transfer of Securities	Transmission of Securities
1.	Nature	Transfer takes place by a voluntary or deliberate act of the parties by way of a contract.	Transmission is the result of the operation of law. For example, due to death, insolvency or lunacy of a member.
2.	Instrument	An instrument of transfer is required in case of transfer.	No instrument of transfer is required in case of transmission.
3.	Circumstance	Transfer is a normal course of transferring property.	Transmission takes place on death or insolvency of a holder of securities.
4	Consideration	Transfer of securities is generally made for some consideration.	Transmission of securities is generally made without any consideration.
5	Stamp Duty	Stamp duty is payable on transfer of securities by a holder of securities.	No stamp duty is payable on transmission of securities.
6	Liability	As soon as transfer is complete, the liability of the transferor ceases.	Shares continue to be subject to the original liabilities.

The Board of Directors of a company or the concerned depository has no discretion to refuse or withhold transfer of any security.

Rejected Documents

Documents which are not duly stamped or where stamps are not cancelled should be returned to the person lodging them pointing out the errors so as to enable them to rectify the error. In Feder. vs. Smt. Sarla Devi Rathi (1997), the company had not registered 100 shares that Smt. Sarla Devi Rathi, the respondent, had purchased and neither they returned the share certificates to her. The company urged that since the respondent had not become a shareholder of the company, no cognizance of the complaint could be taken. The High Court held that there was a prima-facie case against the company.

The CLB had pointed out that the company on not registering the transfer should have returned the documents to the party who lodged them (the transferee in this case) and not the transferor as the transferor loses his right in the shares as soon as he executes the transfer in blank.

Time for pointing out Insufficiency of Stamps

Where a company by mistake or otherwise registers a transfer which should have been refused because of insufficient or uncancelled stamps, or because of the instrument being unstamped, it should point out the error to the transferee within such time (within one year from the date of execution) that the transferee can have the matters rectified through the orders of the Collector. Afterwards it would be too late. [Kothari Industrial Corpn. Ltd. vs. Lazor Detergents P. Ltd. (1994) 1 Comp LJ 178 (CLB – Mad)].

Impounding of Documents Relating to Share Transfer

The Board of directors are not persons to impound or regularise an instrument of transfer which is not duly stamped, Mathrubhumi Co. Ltd. vs. Vardhaman Publishers Ltd., (1992) 73 Com Cases 8093 (Ker) as they have no authority under Sections 33 and 42 of the Stamp Act.

CASE LAWS

Related to Transfer of Shares

(A) Hindustan Mercantile Bank Ltd. vs. D.N. Choudhury Cotton Mills Ltd. (2008) 83 SCL 399 (CLB–KOL.), the legal opinion on which the transferor company had relied upon was on the basis that the transferee company along with a few other companies was acting in concert to acquire shares in violation of the SEBI (Substantial Acquisition of Shares and Takeovers) Regulations, 1997 [Replaced by SEBI (Substantial Acquisition of Shares and Takeovers) Regulations, 2011]. To come to the conclusion that the transferee along with others was acting in concert, reliance had been placed on commonality of directors both in the transferee-company and other companies. Since the company was not a listed company, the SEBI (Substantial Acquisition of Shares and Takeovers) Regulations, 1997, were not applicable. Further, it was found that neither the transferee company nor other companies had acquired shares of the transferor company. Accordingly, the company was to be directed to register the transfer of shares in favour of the transferee.

(B) Sham Sunder Kukreja vs. Hindustan Lever Ltd. (2001) 44 CLA 38 (CLB), if, by virtue of Section 111A(3) of the Companies Act, 1956 [Corresponds to section 59(1) of the Companies Act, 2013], the petition should have been filed within 2 months of the registration of the securities submitted for transfer, and where on the basis of facts and circumstances of the case, the transfer was effected in a fraudulent manner, the period of limitation (2 months) shall not apply.

(C) Dr. Rajiv Das v. The United Press Ltd. (2001) (CLB), in the case, where the shares of a company were held in joint names and one of these joint holders requested the company to split the shares equally between the joint holders by issuing fresh certificates, the company shall not be legally bound to do so unless the share transfer deeds executed by both the joint holders duly completed and stamped were lodged with the company together with the relevant share certificates, in terms of the provisions of Section 108 of the Companies Act, 1956 [Corresponds to section 56 of the Companies Act, 2013].

(D) T.S. Premkumar vs. Tamil Nadu Mercantile Bank Ltd. 2001 (CLB). there shall be no justification, if a company/ bank asks for information on Income Tax Returns (including that of the nominees of the transferee), the sources of the consideration paid for the purchase of share, the details of the group to which the transferee is attached, for the purposes of registration of transfer of shares, if the number of the shares which are subject matter of transfer, is insignificant, and after the registration of which the controlling of interest in the company/bank is not changing.

(E) Transferor Holds Bonus Shares Only as a Trustee for the Transferee. Charanjiv Lal vs. ITC Ltd. and Another (2005) 5 COMP LJ 138 (CLB), the petitioner-transferee purchased 100 equity shares of ITC limited of bearing and lodged the same through post, which were received by the company on 10th December, 1991. However, the company did not take any action to register the shares in name of the petitioner and informed him that it had not received the share certificates and the transfer instrument. To prevent any unauthorized transfer of the shares, he obtained a status quo order from Senior Civil Judge, Delhi.

In theme an while, the company declared 60 bonus shares on two occasions against the impugned 100 shares of which the certificate relating to first 60 bonus shares had been sent to the transferor. The suit filed by the transferee-petitioner was dismissed for want of jurisdiction and hence the petitioner-transferee approached the Company Law Board. The Petition was allowed. The view expressed by the Judge was that the bonus shares always go with the original shares and the transferor holds bonus shares only as a trustee for the transferee. Considering that the original shares have been sold before the record date, in the absence of denial by the transferor nearly a month before the record date, it is the petitioner transferee who is entitled to the bonus shares and not the transferor.

Transfer of Shares in Depository Mode

Depository system maintains the ownership records of securities in the book entry form while in physical mode every share transfer is required to be accompanied by physical movement of share certificates to, and registration with the company concerned. The process of physical movement of share certificates often involves long delays and a significant portion of transactions end up as bad deliveries due to the faulty completion of paperwork, or signature differences with the specimens on record with the companies, or for other procedural lapses. Investors also face problems on account of loss of share certificates, forgery and mutilation. The significant time involved in effecting ownership changes also impounds a substantial volume of shares at any given time leading to lower trading volumes.

FORGED TRANSFER

It may happen that a forged instrument of transfer is presented to the company for registration. In order to avoid the consequences which will follow a forged transfer, companies normally write to the transferor about the lodgement of the transfer instrument so that he can object if he wishes. The company informs him that if no objection is made by him before a day specified in the notice, it would register the transfer.

The consequences of a forged transfer are detailed here under:

(a) A forged transfer is a nullity and, therefore, the original owner of the shares continues to be the shareholder and the company is bound to restore his name on the register of members [People's Ins. Co. vs. Wood and Co., 1961]. A forged document never has any legal effect. It can never move ownership from one person to another, however, genuine it may appear. Thus, a forged instrument of transfer leaves the ownership of the shares exactly where it always was in the so-called transferor. It follows that if a company registers a forged transfer, the true owner can apply so as to be replaced on the register and his name will be restored. But the company does not incur any liability in damages by putting the name on the register.

(b) However, if the company issues a share certificate to the transferee and he sells the shares to an innocent purchaser, the company is liable to compensate such a purchaser, if it refuses to register him as a member, or if his name has to be removed on the application of the true owner.

(c) If the company is put to loss by reason of the forged transfer, as it may have paid damages to an innocent purchaser, it may recover the same independently from the person who lodged the forged transfer.

The fact that the transferee was a bona fide purchaser for valued id not make any difference and the transferee was bound to return the scrips to the person to whom the same rightfully belong. [Kaushalya Devi vs. National Insulated Cable Company of India 1977 Tax LR 1928(Del)]

In case of joint share holdings, a transfer to be effective must be executed by all and if the signature of any one be forged, the transfer will be void.

A person acting in good faith, sends in and procures registration of the transfer and the issue of a fresh certificate on the basis of a forged deed is bound to indemnify the company against the untoward consequences. This happens when a stock broker, trusting his clients innocently forwards forged document to the company. [Yeung vs. Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corpn., (1980)].

Further Section 57 states that if any person deceitfully personates as an owner of any security or interest in a company, or of any share warrant or coupon issued in pursuance of this Act, and thereby obtains or attempts to obtain any such security or interest or any such share warrant or coupon, or receives or attempts to receive any money due to any such owner, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than one year but which may extend to three years and with fine which shall not be less than one lakh rupees but which may extend to five lakh rupees.

A forged transfer cannot pass any title and is a nullity.

DEATH OF A JOINT SHAREHOLDER

Where shares are held in joint names, and one of the joint shareholder dies, the survivor alone will be recognized as the holder of the said shares. It would be sufficient for the company to delete the name of the deceased shareholder after obtaining satisfactory evidence of his death. This of course does not prevent a third person from calling on the company to register his name as holder of the shares after obtaining evidence such as probate of a will for the purpose of proving his title to the shares as against the surviving joint holders.

TRANSPOSITION OF NAME

In the case of joint-shareholders, one or more of them may require the company to alter or rearrange order of their names in the register of members of the company. In this process, there will be need for effecting consequential changes in the share certificates issued to them. If the company provides in its articles that the senior-most among the joint- holders will be recognised for all purposes like service of notice, a copy of balance sheet, profit and loss account, voting at a meeting etc., the request of transposition may be duly considered and approved by the Board or other authorised officer of the company. Since no transfer of any interest in the shares take place on such transposition, the question of insisting on filling transfer deed with the company, may not arise. Transposition also does not require stamp duty.

> Transposition of names of shareholders in the register of members do not require the execution through instrument of transfer in Form SH-4.

The Stock Exchange Division of the Department of Economic Affairs has clarified that there is no need of execution of transfer deed for transposition of names if there quest for change in the order of names was made in writing, by all the joint-holders. If transposition is required in respect of a part of the holding, execution of transfer deed will be required.

DEATH OF TRANSFEROR OR TRANSFEREE BEFORE REGISTRATION OF TRANSFER

Where the transferor dies and the company has no notice of his death the company would obviously register the transfer. But if the company has notice of his death, the proper course is not to register until the legal representative of the transferor has been referred to.

Where the transferee dies and company has notice of his death, a transfer of shares cannot be registered in the name of the deceased. With the consent of the transferor and the legal representatives of the transferee, the transfer may be registered in the names of the later. But if there is a dispute, an order of Court will have to be insisted upon.

In KillickNixon Ltd. vs. Dhanraj Mills Ltd., it was held that the company is not bound to enquire into the capability of the transferee to enter into a contract. The company has to act on the basis of what is presented in the transfer deed.

Proof in a transfer by representative

Where a transfer is executed by a person in a representative capacity such as an officer of a body corporate or by an attorney, proof of the authority and the Board resolution authorizing the representative to execute the transfer on behalf of body corporate must be produced, before the transfer can be registered.

Relationship between Transferor and Transferee

Pending registration, the transferee has only an equitable right to the shares transferred to him. He does not become the legal owner until his name is entered on the Register of Members in respect of the shares. But as between the transferor and the transferee, immediately after the transfer is made, the contract of transfer will subsist and the transferee becomes the beneficial owner of the shares so transferred to him. A relation of trustee (transferor) and beneficiary (transferee) is thereby established between them. The transferor is under obligation to comply with all reasonable directions of the transferee. The transferee should, however, take prompt steps to get himself registered as a member.

Section 126 of the Companies Act, 2013 provides that where the transferor gives a mandate to pay the dividend to the transferee pending registration of transfer, the same should be paid to the transferee, otherwise the dividend in relation to such shares should be transferred to the Unpaid Dividend Account mentioned in Section 124. It is further provided that in the case of offer of rights shares or fully paid bonus shares, the same should be kept in abeyance till the title to the shares is decided.

RIGHTS OF TRANSFEROR

Transferor's right to indemnity for calls - Where a transferor has paid for calls to the company after the shares are transferred, there arises an implied promise by the transferee to indemnify the transferor. Such a promise to indemnify can be implied even in the case of blank transfers [Ashworth Partington & Co.,(1925)1K].

Transferee's right to Dividends, Bonus and Rights Shares - Where the transferor, by reason of the shares standing in his name, has received after the transfer, any dividend on shares, bonus or other benefit accruing in respect thereof, the transferee being the person lawfully entitled thereto, can recover the same from the transferor, provided that he has not allowed his claim to become time barred under the provisions of the Limitation Act. [Chunnilal Khushaldas Patel vs. H.K. Adhyaru, (1956) 26 Com Cases 168 : AIR 1956 SC 655].

Dividend to transferee after transfer - In one case the transfer was registered and dividends paid to the transferee. Later, the register was rectified by removing the transferee's name from the register on the ground of a technical nature, like inadequacy of stamps, it was held that the transferee was not bound to hand over the dividend amount to the transferor. [Kothari Industrial Corpn. Ltd. vs. Lazor Detergents P. Ltd., (1994)1 Comp LJ 178 (CLB-Mad)]. However the Madras High Court held that the company should not be allowed to rectify the register on a technical ground after transferring the shares.

Position under the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956 - As regards the position of a transferor after transfer, Section 27 of the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956 may also be noted. It provides as follows:

Title to dividends -

1. It shall be lawful for the holder of any security whose name appears on the books of the company issuing the said security to receive and retain any dividend declared by the company in respect thereof for any year, notwithstanding that the said security has already been transferred by him for consideration, unless the transferee, who claims the dividend from the transferor has lodged the security and all other documents relating to the transfer which may be required by the company with the company for being registered in his name within fifteen days of the date on which the dividend became due.

   Explanation: The period specified in this section shall be extended -

   (i) in case of death of the transferee, by the actual period taken by his legal representative to establish his claim to the dividend;

   (ii) in case of loss of transfer deed by theft or any other cause beyond the control of the transferee, by the actual period taken for the replacement thereof; and

   (iii) in case of delay in the lodging of any security and other documents relating to the transfer due to causes connected with the post, by the actual period of the delay.

2. Nothing contained in Sub-section (1) shall affect -

   (a) the right of a company to pay any dividend which has become due to any person whose name is for the time being registered in the books of the company as the holder of the security in respect of which the dividend has become due; or

   (b) the right of the transferee of any security to enforce against the transferor or any other person his rights, if any, in relation to the transfer in any case where the company has refused to register the transfer of the security in the name of the transferee.

EFFECTS OF TRANSFER

Once a transfer form has been executed, the transfer is complete as between the transferor and the transferee and the transferee acquires the right to have his name entered in the register of members. No further application is necessary for having the name of the transferee entered in the register of members and the transferee perfects his title to the share after the entry in the Register of Members. Once the transferee becomes a member of the company, a contractual relationship arises with the company, [Killick Nixon Ltd. vs. Dhanraj Mills Pvt. Ltd., (1983) 54 Com Cases 432 (DB)(Bom)].

A company cannot refuse to register a transfer on the ground that the transfer was without consideration or that there was a collusion and connivance between the transferor and transferee. Any objection about inadequate consideration can be raised only by the transferor himself and not by the company particularly where the shares are fully paid.

Where the transfer is in a spot delivery contract, Section 108 [Corresponds to section 56 of the Companies Act, 2013] is not applicable. [Sanatan Investment Co. Pvt. Ltd. vs. Prem Chand Jute Mills Ltd. (1983) 54 Com Cases 186(Cal)].

CASE LAW

The National Company Law Appellate Tribunal (NCLAT) held that the Company has to register the transfer of 60,000 shares in the name of legal heirs of one of its deceased shareholders which were due to him on right basis as Letter of Administration for succession has been submitted by legal heirs, so company could not insist for production of affidavit and indemnity bond in the matter of DLF Ltd. & Anr. vs. Satya Bhushan Kaura & Anr., dated January 13, 2020.

Priority among Transferees

It was held in Society General De Paris vs. Jonet Walker and other (1886), that where a share holder has fraudulently sold his shares to two different transferees, the first purchaser will, on the ground of time alone, be entitled to the shares in priority to the second.

For example, a person as signed his property, including some shares, for the benefit of his creditor. The assignee failed to get the share certificates registered in his name, but gave notice of assignment to the company. The assignor sold the shares to an other who applied for registration. It was held that the assignee's claim was prior in time and therefore, entitled to registration. [Peat vs. Clayton, (1906) 1 Ch.659].

Pledging of Shares

Shares of a company can be a subject matter of a valid pledge. Section 2(7) of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930, defines the term 'goods' as meaning every kind of moveable property other than actionable claim and money and includes stocks and shares. Shares are goods under the Sale of Goods Act, 1930 and therefore can be a subject matter of pledge under the Indian Contract Act, 1872. In Kanhaiyalal Jhanwar vs. Pandit Shirali And Co. And Ors [AIR 1953 Cal 526], the Calcutta High Court held that the deposit of share certificates themselves is sufficient to create a pledge thereon.

On the death of a sole owner of shares, the rights and liabilities goes in favour of the legal heirs. They are entitled to be registered as the holder of the shares. But the company can register them as members with only their consent and when they apply for it. Re Cheshire Banking Co.,Duff's executor's case (1886) 32 Ch D 301.

LEGAL FRAMEWORK FOR DEPOSITORY SYSTEMS

The legal framework for depository system in the Depositories Act provides for the establishment of single or multiple depositories.

In the depository system, share certificates belonging to the investors are dematerialised and their names are entered in the records of depository as beneficial owners. Consequent to these changes, the investors' names in the companies register are replaced by the name of depository as the registered owner of the securities. The depository however, does not have any voting rights or other economic rights in respect of the shares as a registered owner. The beneficial owner continues to enjoy all the rights and benefits and be subject to all the liabilities in respect of the securities held by a depository. Shares in the depository mode are fungible and do not have distinctive numbers. The ownership changes in the depository are done automatically on the basis of delivery payment.

The companies which enter into an agreement with the depository will give an option to the holders of eligible securities to avail the services of the depository through participants. The investors desiring to join the depository are required to surrender the certificates of securities to the issuer company in the specified manner and on receipt of information about dematerialisation of securities by the issuer company, the depository enters in its records the names of the investors as beneficial owners. Similarly, the beneficial owner has right to opt out of a depository in respect of any security and claim the share certificates and get his name substituted in the register of members as the registered owner in place of the depository.

There has to be regular, mandatory flow of information about the details of ownership in the depository record to the company concerned. In case of any reservation about the acquisition of securities on the ground that the transfer of securities is in contravention of any of the provisions of the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956, SEBI Act, 1992 or Companies Act, 2013 or any other law for the time being in force, the depository, company, depository participants, the holder of securities or SEBI shall have a right to make an application to the Tribunal for rectification of register or records concerned. Pending decision of the Tribunal, the holder of securities can transfer such securities and the transferee concerned shall be entitled to voting rights unless voting rights have been suspended by an order of the Tribunal.

The Act provides for detailed regulations to be framed by SEBI and detailed bye-laws to be framed by depositories with the approval of SEBI.

How does an investor avail services of a depository?

(a) In the case of existing securities:

An investor before availing the services of a depository, shall enter into an agreement with the depository through a participant and then shall surrender security certificates to the issuer. The issuer on receipt of security certificate shall cancel them and substitute in its records the name of the depository as the registered owner in respect of that security and inform the depository accordingly. The depository shall there after enter the name of the investor in its records as beneficial owner.

(b) In the case of fresh issue:

At the time of initial offer the investor would indicate his choice in the application form. If the investor opts to hold a security in the depository mode, the issuer shall intimate the concerned depository about the details of allotment of a security made in the favour of investors and records the depository as registered owner of the securities. On receipt of such information, the depository shall enter in its records the names of allottees as beneficial owners. In such case a prior agreement by the investor with the depository as well as an agreement between the issuer company and depository may be necessary.

(c) In the case of exit from the depository:

If a beneficial owner or a transferee of a security desires to take a way a security from depository, he shall inform the depository of his intention. The depository in turn shall make appropriate entries in its records and inform the issuer. The issuer shall make arrangements for the issue of certificate of securities to the investor within 30 days of the receipt of intimation from the depository.

(d) In the case of transfer within the depository:

The depository shall record all transfers of securities made among the beneficial owners on receipt of suitable intimation to the effect that a genuine purchase transaction has been settled.

(e) In the case of pledge:

Before creation of any pledge or hypothecation in respect of a security, the beneficial owner is required to obtain prior approval of the depository and on creation of pledge or hypothecation; the beneficial owner shall give intimation of such pledge or hypothecation to the depository. The depository shall make appropriate entries in its records which will be admissible as evidence.

DEMATERIALISATION AND REMATERIALISATION OF SHARES

Dematerialisation of Shares

Dematerialisation of securities means holding of securities in electronic form in lieu of physical certificates. Dematerialisation is comparable to keeping your money in a bank account. In demat form, physical share certificates are replaced by electronic book entries; purchase of shares are reflected as credits in demat account and sales are reflected as debits. The risk associated with physical share certificates such as loss, replacement, theft, damage, etc. are overcome in the share certificates held in Dematerialisation form which are totally risk free.

- Dematerialisation of shares of a company is regulated by the Depositories Act, 1996.
- According to the Depositories Act, 1996, an investor has the option to hold securities either in physical or electronic form. Part of holding can be in physical form and part in demat form. However, SEBI has notified that settlement of market trades in listed securities should take place only in the demat mode.
- Section 29 of the Companies Act, 2013 provides that every company making public offer; and such other prescribed companies shall issue the securities only in dematerialised form by complying with the provisions of the Depositories Act, 1996 and the regulations made there under. Any number of securities can be transferred/ delivered with one delivery instruction. Therefore, the paperwork and signing of multiple transfer forms is done away with.

REMATERIALISATION OF SECURITIES

An investor may opt to rematerialise his shares even after Dematerialisation. Rematerialisation is conversion of electronic securities into physical certificates of such securities.

This can be done in the following manner:

(1) Beneficial owner sends request to DP.

(2) DP intimates Depository (NSDL or CDSL) of such request electronically.

(3) Depository confirms rematerialisation request to the company's Share Transfer Agents.

(4) Share Transfer Agent updates accounts, prints certificates and confirms the Depository.

(5) Depository updates accounts and downloads the details to the DP.

(6) Share Transfer Agent dispatches certificates to holder thereof.

(7) The DP also sends intimation about rematerialisation to its client.

THE TERM - "MEMBERS"

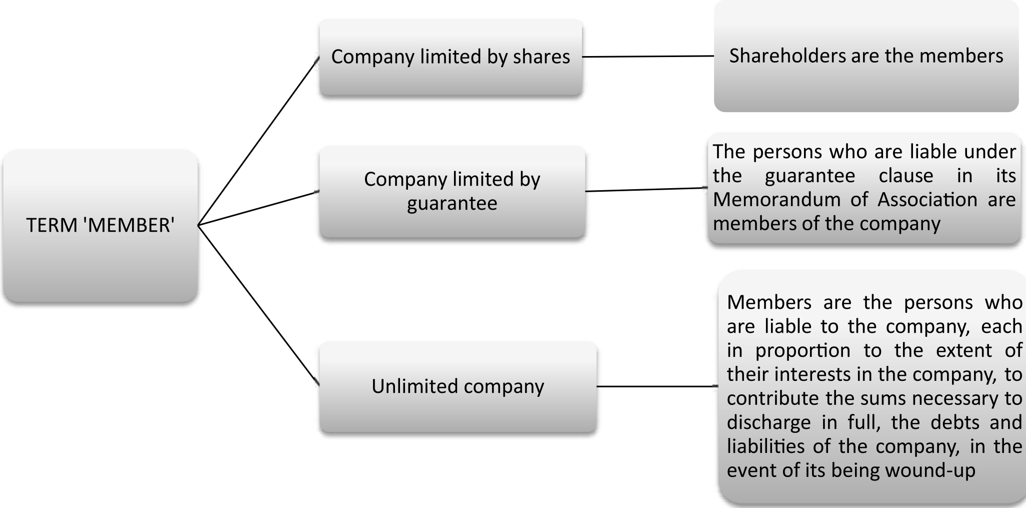
Members defined under the Companies Act, 2013

According to Section 2(55) of the Companies Act, 2013, member, in relation to a company, means,

1. The subscribers to the memorandum of a company who shall be deemed to have agreed to become members of the company, and on its registration, shall be entered as members in its register of members;
2. Every other person who agrees in writing to become a member of a company and whose name is entered in its register of members shall, be a member of the company;
3. Every person holding shares of a company and whose name is entered as a beneficial owner in the records of a depository shall be deemed to be a member of the concerned company.

A company is composed of members, though it has its own separate legal entity. The members of a company are the persons who, for the time being, constitute the company, as a corporate entity.

Definition-"Members" in different kinds of the company



Essential Elements for Membership of the Company

There are two important elements which must be present before a person can acquire membership of a company viz., –

- An agreement to become a member; and
- Entry of the name of the person so agreeing, in the register of members of the company.

> In Herdilia Unimers Ltd. v. Renu Jain [1995] 4 Comp. LJ. 45 (Raj.), it was held that the moment the shares were allotted and share certificate signed and the name entered in the register of members, the allottee became the shareholder, irrespective of whether the allottee received the shares or not.

Member -Competency to Contract under Indian Contract Act, 1872

The person desirous of becoming a member of a company must have the legal capacity of entering into an agreement in accordance with the provisions of the Indian Contract Act, 1872. Section 11 of the Indian Contract Act lays down that:

Every person is competent to contract who:-

(i) is of the age of majority according to the law to which he is subject.

(ii) is of sound mind.

(iii) is not disqualified from contracting by any law to which he is subject.

WAYS TO ACQUIRE MEMBERSHIP OF THE COMPANY

As per Section 2(55) of the Companies Act, 2013, a person may acquire the membership of a company:

- Subscribers to MOA: by subscribing to the Memorandum of Association (deemed agreement); or
- Entering an Agreement: by agreeing in writing to become a member:
  - (i) Allotment: by making an application to the company for allotment of shares; or
  - (ii) Transfer: by executing an instrument of transfer of shares as transferee; or
  - (iii) Transmission: by consenting to the transfer of share of a deceased member in his name; or
  - (iv) Estoppel: by acquiescence or estoppel.
- Beneficial Owner in Depository's Records: by holding shares of a company and whose name is entered as beneficial owner in the records of a depository (Under the Depositories Act, 1996).
- Entering the name in Register of Members: On his name being entered in the register of members of company.

(a) Subscribers to the Memorandum

In the case of a subscriber, no application or allotment is necessary to become a member. By virtue of his subscribing to the memorandum, he is deemed to have agreed to become a member and he becomes ipso facto member on the incorporation of the company and is liable for the shares he has subscribed.

In accordance with the provisions of Section 10(2) of the Companies Act, 2013 all monies payable by any member to the company under the memorandum or articles shall be debt due from him to the company.

A subscriber to the memorandum cannot rescind the contract for the purchase of shares even on the ground of fraud by the promoters. [In Re. Metal Constituents Co., (1902) 1.Ch. 707.]

Further, a subscriber to the memorandum must pay for his shares in cash even if the promoters have promised him the shares for services rendered in connection with the promotion of the company. Again, he must take the shares directly from the company, and not through transfer from other member(s).

When a person signs a memorandum for any number of shares he becomes absolutely bound to take those shares and no delay will relieve him from that liability unless he fulfills the obligation. His liability remains right up to the time when the company goes into liquidation and he is bound to bring the money for which he is liable to pay to the creditors of the company.

(b) Agreement in Writing

(i) By an application and allotment

A person who applies for shares becomes a member when shares are allotted to him, a notice of allotment is issued to him and his name is entered on the register of members. The general law of contract applies to this transaction. There is an offer to take shares and acceptance of this offer when the shares are allotted.

An application for shares may be absolute or conditional. If it is absolute, an allotment and its notice to the applicant will be sufficient acceptance. On the other hand, if the offer is conditional, the allotment must be made according to be condition as contained in the application. If there is conditional application and unconditional allotment, there is no contract.

(ii) By transfer of shares

Shares in a company are movable property as provided in Section 44 of the Act and are transferable in the manner as provided in the articles of the company and as provided in Section 56 of the Companies Act, 2013. A person can become a member by acquiring shares from an existing member and by having the transfer of shares registered in the books of the company, i.e. by getting his name entered in the register of members of the company.

(ii) By transmission of shares

A person may become a member of a company by operation of law i.e. if he succeeds to the estate of a deceased member. Membership by this method is a legal consequence. On the death of a member, his executor or the person who is entitled under the law to succeed to his estate, gets the right to have the shares transmitted and registered in his name in the company's register of members. No instrument of transfer is necessary in this case.

If the legal representative of deceased member desires to be registered as a member in place of the deceased member, the company shall do so or in the alternative he may request the company to transfer the shares in the name of another person of his choice. The Official Assignee or Official Receiver is likewise entitled to be a member in place of the shareholder, who has been adjudged insolvent.

(iii) By acquiescence or estoppels

A person is deemed to be a member of a company if he allows his name, without sufficient cause, to be on the register of members of the company or otherwise holds himself out or allows himself to be held out as a member. In such a case, he is estopped from denying his membership. He can, however, escape his liability by taking prompt action for having his name removed from the register of members on permissible grounds.

(c) Holding Shares as Beneficial Owner in the Records of Depository

Every person holding shares of the company and whose name is entered as a beneficial owner in the records of the depository shall be deemed to be a member of the concerned company.

Differences between Members and Shareholders

Every company must have members as specified under the law. The fact that a person owning shares in the company does not make him a member of the company.

The following are the differences between members and shareholders:

MEMBER	SHAREHOLDER
Section 2(55) of the Companies Act, 2013 specifies the meaning of 'member'	On the other hand, the meaning of 'shareholder' is not defined under the Companies Act, 2013
A shareholder becomes a member of a company, once his name is entered into the company's register of members or if he is a subscriber to the incorporation of the company	The person who has ownership of shares of a company is known as shareholder Further, in case of companies limited by guarantee do not have a share capital, and consequently, their members are not shareholders
The person who signs the memorandum of association with the company becomes a member	After signing the memorandum, a person may become shareholder only when the shares are allotted to him
The bearer of a share warrant is not a member	Whereas, the holder of a share warrant is a shareholder

WHO MAY BECOME A MEMBER

Subject to the Memorandum and Articles, any sui juris (a person who is competent to contract) except the company itself, can become a member of a company. However, it is important to note the following points in relation to certain organizations and persons:

S. No.	Entities	Eligible to become Member or not
1.	Company	Can become a member of another company
2.	Subsidiary Company	Can't become member of a Holding Company
3.	Partnership firm	Can't become member until registered
4.	Limited Liability Partnership	Can become a member
5.	Section 8 Company	Can become a member if authorized by MOA
6.	Foreigners	Can become a member
7.	Minors	Can't become member
8.	Society	Can become a member

(a) Company as a member of another company: A company is a legal person and so is competent to contract. Therefore, it can become a member of any other company. However, it must be authorised by its Memorandum of Association to invest in the shares of that company or any other company. Also a company cannot become a member of itself.

> As per section 19 of the Companies Act, 2013, a subsidiary company cannot become a member of its holding company.
> EXCEPTIONS:
> However, a subsidiary can hold shares in its holding company only under the following exceptional circumstances–
> - where the subsidiary company holds such shares as the legal representative of a deceased member of the holding company; or
> - where the subsidiary company holds such shares as a trustee; or
> - where the subsidiary company is a shareholder even before it became a subsidiary company of the holding company.

(b) Partnership firm as a member of the company: A partnership firm is not a legal person and as such it cannot, in its own name, become a member of a company except in company registered u/s 8 of Act.

(c) Limited Liability Partnership as a member of the company, being an incorporated body under Limited Liability Partnership Act, 2008 can become a member of a company.

(d) Section 8 Company as a member of the company: A non-profit making company licensed under Section 8 of the Act, can become a member of another company if it is authorised by its Memorandum of Association to invest into shares of the other company.

(e) Foreigners as members: A foreigner may take shares in an Indian company and become a member subject to the provisions of the Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999, but in the event of war with his country, he becomes an alien enemy and his power of voting and his rights to receive notices are suspended.

(f) Minor as member: A member who is not a sui juris e.g., a minor, is wholly incompetent to enter into a contract and as such cannot become a member of a company. Consequently, an agreement by a minor to take shares is void ab-initio.

It has been held by the Company Law Board (replaced by the Tribunal under the Companies Act, 2013) that an agreement in writing for a minor to become a member may be signed on behalf of the minor by his lawful guardian and the registration of transfer of shares in the name of the minor, acting through his or her guardian, especially where the shares are fully paid cannot be refused on the ground of the transferee being a minor [Miss Nandita Jain v. Benett Coleman and Co. Ltd., Appeal No. 27 of 1972 dated 17.2.78].

After attaining majority, the minor, if he does not want to be a member, must repudiate his liability on the shares on ground of minority, and if he does so, the company can not plead estoppel on the ground of his having received dividends during his minority or that he had fraudulently misrepresented his age in his application for shares [Sadiq Ali v. Jai Kishori, (1928) 30 Bom. L.R. 1346].

If shares are transferred to a minor, the transferor will remain liable for all future calls on such shares so long as they are held by the minor even if the transferor was ignorant of his minority. If the company knows of his minority it may refuse to register the transfer, unless the transfer was made through the guardian.

(g) Insolvent as member: An insolvent may be a member of a company as long as he is on the register of members. He is entitled to vote, but he loses all beneficial interest in the shares and company will pay dividend on his shares to the Official Assignee or Receiver [Morgan v. Gray, (1953) All E.R. 213].

(h) HUF as member*:* HUF is not a juristic person, although it is a person for purposes of the Income-tax Act, 1961. HUF is represented by its Karta. There is no legal bar on HUF to invest its money in shares and securities and the Companies Act does not prohibit membership of HUF. In case of an HUF, the shares can be registered in the name of 'A' as Karta of HUF as held in [Vickers Systems International Limited v. Mahesh P. Keshwani [(1992) 13 Com Cases 317 (CLB)].

(i) Pawnee: A pawnee has no right of foreclosure since he never had the absolute ownership at law and his equitable title cannot exceed what is specifically granted by law. In this sense, a pledge differs from a mortgage. In view of the above, a pawnee cannot be treated as the holder of the shares pledged in his favour, and the pawner continues to be a member and can exercise the rights of a member [Balakrishna Gupta v. Swadeshi Polytex Ltd., (1985) 58 Com Cases 563 (S.C.)].

(j) Receiver: A receiver whose name is not entered in the register of members cannot exercise any of the membership rights attached to a share unless in a proceeding to which company is a party and an order is made therein. Mere appointment of a receiver in respect of certain shares of a company without more rights cannot, deprive the holder of the shares whose name is entered in the register of members of the company, the right to vote at the meeting of the company [Balakrishna Gupta v. Swadeshi Polytex Ltd., (1985) 58 Com Cases 563 (S.C.)].

(k) Society as a member: Department's Clarification dated 24.11.1962 has clarified that "a society registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 should not be deemed to be a 'body corporate' within the meaning of the aforesaid provisions [Refer to Section 2(7) (i) of the Companies Act, 1956 (currently refer section sub clause (i) of clause 11 of section 2 of the Companies Act ,2013) although such a society can be treated as a 'person' having separate legal entity apart from the members constituting it and thereby capable of becoming a member of a company under section 41(2) of the erstwhile Companies Act, 1956."

(l) Persons taking shares in fictitious names: A person who takes shares in the name of a fictious person, becomes liable as a member besides incurring criminal liability under Section 38 of the Act, wherein punishment is provided for commission of fraud.

Penalty under Companies Act, 2013: As per section 447 of the Companies Act, 2013, without prejudice to any liability including repayment of any debt under this Act or any other law for the time being in force, any person who is found to be guilty of fraud involving an amount of at least 10 lakh rupees or 1% of the turnover of the company, whichever is lower shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than 6 months but which may extend to 10 years and shall also be liable to fine which shall not be less than the amount involved in the fraud, but which may extend to three times the amount involved in the fraud.

Provided that where the fraud in question involves public interest, the term of imprisonment shall not be less than 3 years.

Provided further that where the fraud involves an amount less than 10 lakh rupees or 1% of the turnover of the company, whichever is lower, and does not involve public interest, any person guilty of such fraud shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to 5 years or with fine which may extend to 50 lakh rupees or with both.

(m) Trade Union as member: A trade union registered under the Trade Union Act, can be registered as a member and can hold shares in a company in its own corporate name [All India Bank Officers Confederation v. Dhanlakshmi Bank Ltd., (1997) 90 Com Cases 225].

A holder of Global Depository Receipts (GDRs) – Can became a Member of the Company?

It is clarified by the Ministry of Corporate Affairs, vide Circular No.1/2009 No.17/67/2009 CL-V dated 16/6/2009 that:

(a) As per section 41(1) and (2) of the Companies Act, 1956, [Corresponds to section 2(55) (i) & (ii) of the Companies Act, 2013] a person is a member of the company, –

(i) who is a subscriber to the Memorandum or

(ii) Whose name has been entered in the register of members. Since, holder of Global Depository Receipts is neither the subscriber to the Memorandum nor a holder of the shares, his name cannot be entered in the Register of Members. Therefore, a holder of Global Depository Receipts cannot be called a member of the company.

(b) As per Section 41(3) of the Companies Act, 1956, [Corresponds to section 2(55) (iii) of the Companies Act, 2013] a person holding a share capital of the company and whose name is entered as beneficial owner in the records of the depository, is deemed to be a member of the company. Since the Overseas Depository Bank as referred in the 'Scheme' is neither the Depository as defined in the Companies Act, 1956 and the Depository Act, 1996 nor holding the share capital, therefore, it cannot be deemed to be a member of the company.

(c) A holder of Global Depository Receipts may become a member of the company only on transfer/ redemption of the GDR into underlying equity shares after following the procedure provided in the "Scheme"/ provisions of the Companies Act.

(d) Since the underlying shares are allotted in the name of Overseas Depository Bank, the name of such Overseas Depository Bank is to be entered in the Register of Members of the issuing company. However, until transfer/ redemption of such GDR's into underlying shares, Overseas Depository Bank cannot be considered a nominee of the holder of GDR for the purpose of Section 42 read with Section 41 of the Companies Act, 1956 [Corresponds to section 19 read with section 2(55) of the Companies Act, 2013].

Joint Members

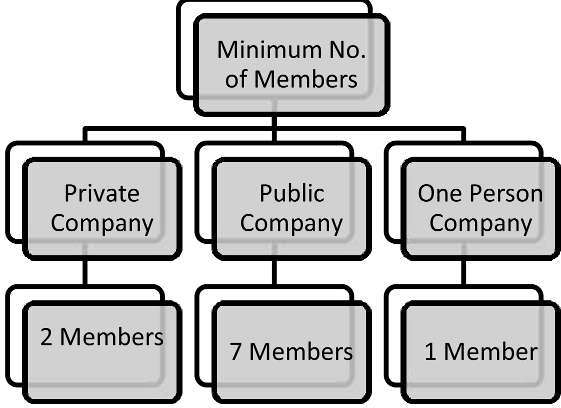
If more than one person apply for shares in a company and shares are allotted to them, each one of such applicant becomes a member (Narandas v. India Mfg. Co., A.I.R. 1953 Bom. 433]. Unless the Articles of the company otherwise provide, joint members can insist on having their names registered in any order they may require. They may also have their holding split into several joint holdings with their names in different orders so that all of them may have a right to vote as first named holding in one or the other joint holdings. Burns v. Siemens Brothers Dynamo Works Ltd. (1919) 1 Ch. 225.

Nominee joint members

Where the shares of a company were registered in the joint name of the company and one of the directors, it was held that the director was a nominee of the company for that purpose. He could act jointly with the company and not individually. He had no rights of his own in respect of the shares and was not entitled to bring proceedings on the basis of being one of the registered holders as held in Exchange Travel (Holdings) Ltd., Re [(1991) BCLC 728 (Ch D)].

Minimum Number of Members

Section 3(1) of the Companies Act, 2013 provides that a company may be formed for any lawful purpose by seven or more persons, where the company to be formed is to be a public company; or two or more persons, where the company to be formed is to be a private company; or one person, where the company to be formed is to be One Person Company that is to say, a private company, by subscribing their names or his name to a memorandum and complying with the requirements of this Act in respect of registration.



Restriction on Membership

By virtue of Section 2(68)(ii) of the Companies Act, 2013, the maximum number of members of a private company except in the case of One Person Company is limited to two hundred excluding the present and past employees of the company who continue to be members of the company.

There is no restriction with regard to the maximum number of members of a public company

CESSATION OF MEMBERSHIP

Cessation of membership of the company means discontinuation of membership. A person ceases to be a member of a company when his name is removed from its register of members, which may occur in any of the following situations:

Cessation of membership means removal of name of member from Register of members of the company.

(a) Transfer: He transfers his shares to another person, the transfer is registered by the company and his name is removed from the register of members;

(b) Forfeiture: His shares are forfeited;

(c) Sale: His shares are sold by the company to enforce a lien;

(d) Death: He dies (his estate, however, remains liable for calls);

(e) Insolvency: He is adjudged insolvent and the Official Assignee disclaims his shares;

(f) Redemption: His redeemable preference shares are redeemed;

(g) Cancellation: He rescinds the contract of membership on the ground of fraud or misrepresentation or a genuine mistake;

(h) Purchase by another member/ by company itself: His shares are purchased either by another member or by the company itself under an order of the Tribunal under Section 242 of the Companies Act, 2013;

(i) Winding up: The member is a company which is being wound-up in India, and the liquidator disclaims the shares;

(j) The company is wound up.

Though one ceases to be a member, he remains liable as a contributory and is also entitled to share in the surplus, if any.

Expulsion of a Member

A controversy had arisen as to whether a public limited company had powers to insert an article in its Articles of Association relating to expulsion of a member by the Board of Directors of the company where the directors were of the view that the activities or conduct of such a member was detrimental to the interests of the company.

The Department of Company Affairs (now, Ministry of Corporate Affairs) clarified that an article for expulsion of a member is opposed to the fundamental principles of the Company Jurisprudence and is ultra vires the company, the reason being that such a provision against the provisions of the Companies Act relating to the rights of a member in a company, the powers of the Central Government as an appellate authority under Section 111 of the Act and the powers of the Court under Sections 107, 395 and 397 of the Companies Act, 1956. [These sections correspond to sections 58, 48, 235 and 241 of the Companies Act, 2013 respectively.]

According to Section 6 of the Companies Act, 2013, the Act overrides the Memorandum and Articles of Association and any provision contained in these documents repugnant to the provisions of the Companies Act, is void.

The Department of Company Affairs (now MCA) has, therefore, clarified that any assumption of the powers by the Board of Directors to expel a member by alteration of Articles of Association shall be illegal and void.

As, under Article 141 of the Constitution, the law declared by the Supreme Court is binding on all courts within the territory of India, any provision pertaining to the expulsion of a member by the management of a company which is against the law as laid down by the Supreme Court will be illegal and ultra vires. In the light of the aforesaid position, it is clarified that assumption by the Board of Directors of a company of any power to expel a member by amending its articles of association is illegal and void [Circular: Letter No. 32/75, dated 1.11.1975].

REGISTER OF MEMBERS

Section 88 of the Companies Act, 2013 lays down:

1. Every company shall keep and maintain the following registers in such form and in such manner as may be prescribed, namely :–

2. Inclusion of index: Every register maintained under sub-section (1) of section 88 of the Act shall include an index of the names included therein.

3. The register and index of beneficial owners maintained by a depository under section 11 of the Depositories Act, 1996, shall be deemed to be the corresponding register and index for the purposes of this Act.

4. Register - an evidence

Section 95 of the Companies Act, 2013 provides that the registers, their indices and copies of annual returns maintained under sections 88 and 94 shall be prima facie evidence of any matter directed or authorised to be inserted therein by or under this Act.

A register of members is prima facie evidence of the truth of its contents. Accordingly, if a person's name, to his knowledge, is there in the register of members of a company, he shall be deemed to be a member and onus lies on him to prove that he is not a member. He must promptly appeal to the Tribunal or a competent Court outside India specified by the Central Government by notification, in respect of foreign members or debenture holder residing outside India for rectification of the register under Section 59 of the Act to take his name off the register, failing which the doctrine of holding out will apply.

In Re. M.F.R.D. Cruz, A.I.R. 1939 Madras 803, the plaintiff applied for 4,000 shares in a company but no allotment was made to him. Subsequently 4,000 shares were transferred to him without his request and his name was entered in the register of members. The plaintiff knew it but took no steps for rectification of the register of members. The company went into liquidation and he was held liable as a contributory. The Court held "when a person knows that his name is included in the register of shareholders and he stands by and allows his name to remain, he is holding out to the public that he is a shareholder and thereby he loses his right to have his name removed".

Foreign Register

Section 88(4) of the Companies Act, 2013 empowers companies to keep foreign registers of members or debenture- holders, other security holders or beneficial owners residing outside India. It states:

"A company may, if so authorised by its articles, keep in any country outside India, in such manner as may be prescribed, a part of the register referred to in sub-section (1), called "foreign register" containing the names and particulars of the members, debenture-holders, other security holders or beneficial owners residing outside India."

A foreign register is deemed to be a part of the company's principal register and it should be kept in the same manner as the principal register and be likewise open to inspection.

A duplicate of such register should be maintained at the registered office in India and all entries made in the foreign register should be made in the duplicate register at the registered office as soon as possible.

A company may discontinue a foreign register at any time but all the entries made in it must be transferred to the principal register.The decision of a competent Court in the State or Country in which a foreign register is kept, with regard to its rectification, shall be as effective as if it were a decision of a competent Court in India, if the Central Government, by notification in the Official Gazette, so directs.

Maintenance of Foreign Register

Rule 7 of the Companies (Management and Administration) Rules, 2014 deals with maintenance of foreign register, it is provided that a company which has share capital or which has issued debentures or any other security may, if so authorised by its articles, keep in any country outside India, a part of the register of members or as the case may be, of debenture holders or of any other security holders or of beneficial owners, resident in that country (hereafter in this rule referred to as the "foreign register").

Filing form with Registrar : The company shall, within 30 days from the date of the opening of any foreign register, file with the Registrar notice of the situation of the office in Form No.MGT.3 along with the fee where such register is kept; and in the event of any change in the situation of such office or of its discontinuance, shall, within 30 days from the date of such change or discontinuance, as the case may be, file notice in Form No.MGT.3 with the Registrar of such change or discontinuance.

A foreign register shall be deemed to be part of the company's register (hereafter in this rule referred to as the "principal register") of members or of debenture holders or of any other security holders or beneficial owners, as the case may be.

The foreign register shall be maintained in the same format as the principal register.

A foreign register shall be open to inspection and may be closed, and extracts may be taken there from and copies thereof may be required, in the same manner, mutatis mutandis, as is applicable to the principal register, except that the advertisement before closing the register shall be inserted in at least two newspapers circulating in the place wherein the foreign register is kept.

If a foreign register is kept by a company in any country outside India, the decision of the appropriate competent authority in regard to the rectification of the register shall be binding.

Entries in the foreign register maintained under sub-section (4) of section 88 shall be made simultaneously after the Board of Directors or its duly constituted committee approves the allotment or transfer of shares, debentures or any other securities, as the case may be.

The company shall-

(a) transmit to its registered office in India a copy of every entry in any foreign register within fifteen days after the entry is made; and

(b) Keep at such office a duplicate register of every foreign register duly entered from time to time.

Every such duplicate register shall, for all the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be part of the principal register.

Subject to the provisions of section 88 of the Act and the rules made thereunder, with respect to duplicate registers, the shares or as the case may be, debentures or any other security, registered in any foreign register shall be distinguished from the shares or as the case may be, debentures or any other security, registered in the principal register and in every other foreign register; and no transaction with respect to any shares or as the case may be, debentures or any other security, registered in a foreign register shall, during the continuance of that registration, be registered in any other register.

The company may discontinue the keeping of any foreign register; and thereupon all entries in that register shall be transferred to some other foreign register kept by the company outside India or to the principal register.

Closing of Register of Members

Section 91 of the Companies Act, 2013 contains guidelines for closing the register of members. It lays down:

- Time Limit for Register of Members: A company may close the register of members or the register of debenture-holders or the register of other security holders for any period or periods not exceeding in the aggregate 45 days in each year, but not exceeding 30 days at any one time, subject to giving of previous notice of at least 7 days or such lesser period as may be specified by Securities and Exchange Board for listed companies or the companies which intend to get their securities listed, in the prescribed manner.

- Penalty: If the register of members or of debenture-holders or of other security holders is closed without giving the notice as provided above, or after giving shorter notice than that so provided, or for a continuous or an aggregate period in excess of the limits specified in that sub-section, the company and every officer of the company who is in default shall be liable to a penalty of 5000 rupees for every day subject to a maximum of 1 lakh rupees during which the register is kept closed.

In a decided case law it was held that the provisions contained in Section 154 of the Companies Act, 1956 (Corresponds to section 91 of the Companies Act, 2013) are permissive and not mandatory. The section has application only when a company desires to close its register of members and in such a situation, the requirements of the section are to be complied with. [Talyar Tea Co. v. Union of India, (1991) 71 Com Cases 95].

The power in this section is intended for the convenience of the company in order to enable the register of members to be brought up to date for the purpose of calculating dividend and bonus, etc. However, even if the register of members is closed, the company is obliged to make certain entries during the period of closure, such as entries relating to registration and probates and letters of administration, notices of change of name and address and court orders, such as changing orders, etc. [Killick Nixon Ltd. v. Dhanraj Mill Pvt. Ltd., (1983) 54 Com Cases 432 (DB) (Bom)].

The closure of the register is cloaked with the right to refuse the transfer of shares/debentures. Record date is an alternate for closing the registers. The purpose of closing the registers is to get the registers updated and to fix a cut-off date for the purpose of payment of dividend or issue of rights and bonus shares. This purpose can also be achieved by fixing a record date for a day.

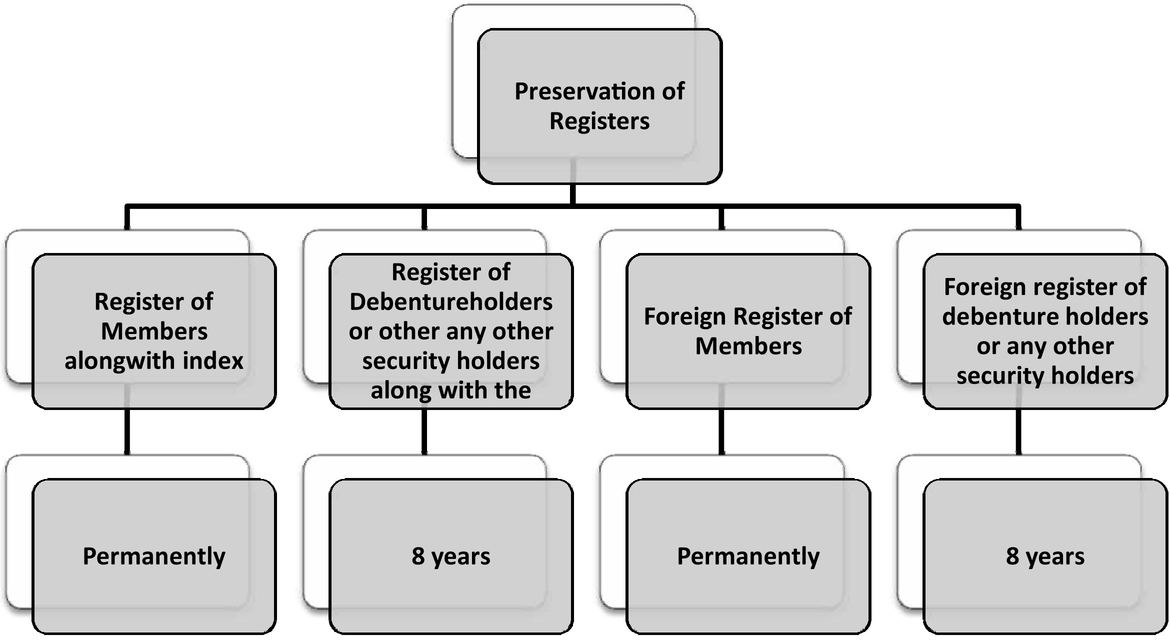
Further Rule 10 of the Companies (Management and Administration) Rules, 2014 in relation to Closure of register of members or debenture holders or other security holders provides that a company closing the register of members or the register of debenture holders or the register of other security holders shall give at least seven days previous notice and in such manner, as may be specified by Securities and Exchange Board of India(SEBI), if such company is a listed company or intends to get its securities listed, by advertisement at least once in a vernacular newspaper in the principal vernacular language of the district and having a wide circulation in the place where the registered office of the company is situated, and at least once in English language in an English newspaper circulating in that district and having wide circulation in the place where the registered office of the company is situated and publish the notice on the website as may be notified by the Central Government and on the website, if any, of the Company.

The above mentioned provisions shall not be applicable to a private company provided that the notice has been served on all members of the private company not less than seven days prior to closure of the register of members or debenture holders or other security holders.

Preservation of Registers

Rule 15 of the Companies (Management and Administration) Rules, 2014 provides that the register of members along with the index shall be preserved permanently and shall be kept in the custody of the Company Secretary of the company or any other person authorized by the Board for such purpose and the register of debenture holders or any other security holders along with the index shall be preserved for a period of 8 years from the date of redemption of debentures or securities, as the case may be, and shall be kept in the custody of the company secretary of the company or any other person authorized by the Board for such purpose.

The foreign register of members shall be preserved permanently, unless it is discontinued and all the entries are transferred to any other foreign register or to the principal register. Foreign register of debenture holders or any other security holders shall be preserved for a period of 8 years from the date of redemption of such debentures or securities. The foreign register shall be kept in the custody of the company secretary or person authorised by the Board.



Power of the Central Government to Investigate into the Ownership of Company

Sometimes, the registered holder of shares in a company may be a nominee for some other person, who really owns the shares. This enables persons, who in fact control a company, to conceal their real status from the shareholders and from the public and practice fraud with regard to the management of the company. To check such a practice, Sections 216 of the Act, empowers the Central Government to appoint an inspector to investigate into and report on the ownership of a company.

Some more practical scenarios for determining SBOs:

(i) S holds directly 10% of equity in A Ltd. and he holds 55% of equity in H Ltd. which holds 1% equity in A Ltd.

S holds directly 10% of equity in A Ltd. and he holds 55% of equity in H Ltd. which holds 1% equity in A Ltd. - S is a Significant Beneficial Owner since he holds 11% totally through indirect and direct holdings.

(ii) S holds 8% of equity while M holds 7% of equity in A Ltd. and they are deemed to act together.

S holds 8% of equity while Mr. M holds 7% of equity in A Ltd. and they are deemed to act together - S and M are not Significant Beneficial Owner, as there is no indirect holding and their acting together is irrelevant.

(iii) S holds 8% of equity in A Ltd. directly. S is also the Karta of a HUF that holds 7% equity in A Ltd.

S holds 8% of equity in A Ltd. directly. Mr. S is also the Karta of a HUF that holds 7% of equity in A Ltd. S is a Significant Beneficial Owner since he holds total 15% equity through indirect and direct holdings.

(iv) S holds 8% of equity in A Ltd. directly. S is also the trustee of a discretionary trust that holds 3% equity in A Ltd.

S holds 8% of equity in A Ltd. directly. Mr S is also the trustee of a discretionary trust that holds 3% equity in A Ltd. He is a Significant Beneficial Owner since he holds total 11% equity in A Ltd. through indirect and direct holdings. Holding by way of being a trustee of a discretionary trust is considered to be indirect holding.

Rectification of a Register of Members

The register of members of a company contains names, addresses, occupations, if any etc. only of members of the company. Any person, whose name is entered in the register of members of a company, considered to be its member, although he may not own the shares which are shown in his name in the register of members. On the contrary, a person, whose name is not entered in the register of members is not considered as member of the company even though he may have done everything to entitle him to be put on the register of members. Injustice may, therefore, result from such omission or commission.

CASE LAW

Where the petitioners failed to produce their share certificates, it could not be said that they had not transferred their shares in favour of respondents and thus, petitioners were not entitled to the relief for rectification of Register of Members of respondent company. [Held in the case of M/s Bhupendra Patel v. Hotel Satyaketu (P.) Ltd. (2017) NLT – Ahmedabad.]

Section 59 of the Companies Act, 2013 confers powers on the Tribunal or a competent court outside India specified by the Central Government by notification in respect of foreign members or debenture-holders residing outside India to order rectification of register of members of a company if an appeal is made by the aggrieved person or by any member of the company or the company on any of the following grounds:

(a) where the name of a person is without sufficient cause, entered in the register of members of a company;

(b) where his name, after having been entered in the register, is omitted without sufficient cause; or

(c) where default is made or unnecessary delay takes place in entering in the register of members the fact of any person having become, or ceased to be, a member of the company.

This may happen where a person has transferred his shares according to law and the company either refuses or delays registration of transfer in the transferee's name.

The Tribunal may, after hearing the parties to the appeal for rectification of register of members either dismiss the appeal or direct that the transfer or transmission shall be registered by the company within ten days of the receipt of the order or direct for rectification of records of the depository or the register and in the latter case also direct the company to pay damages if any, sustained by the party aggrieved.

The provisions of this section shall not restrict the right of a holder of securities, to transfer such securities and any person acquiring such securities shall be entitled to voting rights unless the voting rights have been suspended by an order of the Tribunal [Section 59(3)].

It is pertinent to note that though the time limit for filing an application for rectification of register of members has not been specified in the Act, the provisions of Article 137 of the Limitation Act would apply and in consequence, the application for rectification must be made within three years from the date on which the right occurs [Ref. Anil Gupta v. Delhi Cloth & General Mills Co. Ltd., (1983) 54 Com Cases 301 (Delhi)].

Where the transfer of securities is in contravention of any of the provisions of the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956, the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992 or this Act or any other law for the time being in force, the Tribunal may, on an application made by the depository, company, depository participant, the holder of the securities or the Securities and Exchange Board, direct any company or a depository to set right the contravention and rectify its register or records concerned. [Section 59(4)]

RIGHTS OF MEMBERS

When once a person becomes a member he is entitled to exercise all the rights of a member until he ceases to be a member in accordance with the provisions of the Act. The appointment of a receiver, the attachment of the shares, the pledge of the shares or taking over of the management of a company which is holding shares in another company will not alter the position. So long a person's name stands registered in the books as a member, even if he has sold the share and has given the share certificates and the blank transfer deed duly signed, he alone is entitled to exercise the rights of membership [Balakrishna Gupta & Others v. Swadeshi

Polytex Ltd. and Others (1985) 58 Com Cases 563 (S.C.); and Life Insurance Corporation of India v. Escorts Ltd. & Others (1986) 59 Com Cases 548 (S.C.)]. These rights are derived by virtue of the membership contract between the company and the member and the general law. Some of these rights can be exercised by him individually and others along with other members unless member himself holds shares equivalent to the minimum holding prescribed under the various provisions of the Companies Act, 2013.

(xi) Right of Nomination. (Section 72);

(xii) Right to file a suit or take any other action in case of any misleading statement or the inclusion or omission of any matter in the prospectus. (Section 37).

Collective Shareholder Rights

Members of a company have certain rights which can be exercised by members collectively by means of democratic process, i.e. by majority of members usually unless otherwise prescribed. This involves the principle of submission by all members to the will of the majority, provided that the will is exercised in accordance with the law and the Memorandum and Articles of Association of the company. Thus, the shareholders in majority determine the policy of the company and exercise control over the management of the company.

- Application to Board in case of Oppression and Management: However, if and when the majority becomes oppressive or is accused of mismanagement of the affairs of the company, Section 241 read with section 244 of the Act, confers right, to not less than one hundred members of a company or not less than one-tenth of the total number of its members whichever is less or any member or members holding not less than one-tenth of the issued share capital of the company (but they must have paid all calls and others sums due on their shares) and in the case of a company not having a share capital, not less than one-fifth of the total number of its members, to apply to Board under Section 241 for relief in cases of oppression or for relief in cases of mismanagement respectively.

- Making a requisition for calling Extra Ordinary General Meeting: Section 100 of the Companies Act, 2013 confers on members, holding not less than one-tenth of the paid-up share capital of a company, right to make a requisition to the Board of Directors to call an extraordinary general meeting of the company. The section also confers on members having not less than one-tenth of the total voting power in a company not having a share capital, to make a requisition to the Board to call an extraordinary general meeting of the company. If the Board of Directors of the company does not, within twenty-one days from the date of the deposit of a valid requisition in regard to any matter, proceed to call a meeting for the consideration of those matters on a day not later than forty-five days from the date of deposit of the requisition, the meeting may be called and held by the requisitionists themselves within a period of 3 months from the date of the requisition.

Voting Rights of Members

The right of attending shareholders' meetings and voting thereat is the most important right of a member of a company, as shareholders' meetings play a very important role in the company's life. Directors are appointed by the shareholders, who direct the affairs of the company, formulate short-term plans and long-term policies of the company, appoint management personnel to constitute organisation to implement their plans and policies in order to achieve the objects of the company.

- Voting Rights on Poll: Section 47 of the Act, provides that every member of a company limited by shares and holding equity share capital therein, shall have right to vote on every resolution placed before the company and his voting right on a poll shall be in proportion to his share in the paid up equity share capital of the company.

  Section 43 of the Companies Act, 2013 provides that a company limited by shares shall be entitled to issue (i) equity share capital with voting rights or (ii) with differential rights as to dividend, voting or otherwise in accordance with such rules as may be prescribed by the Central Government.

- Preference Shareholder Rights: Preference shareholders ordinarily vote only on matters directly affecting the rights attached to preference share capital and on any resolution for winding up of the company or for the repayment or reduction of the equity or preference share capital. The voting right of a preference shareholder on poll shall be in proportion to his share in the paid-up preference share capital of the company. In respect of a resolution on a matter affecting both equity shareholders and preference shareholders, the proportion of the voting rights of equity shareholders to the voting rights of the preference shareholders shall be in the same proportion as the paid-up capital in respect of the equity shares bears to the paid-up capital in respect of the preference shares. However, where the dividend in respect of a class of preference shares has not been paid for a period of two years or more, such class of preference shareholders shall have a right to vote on all the resolutions placed before the company (Section 47).

  Section 50 of the Act lays down that a company may, if authorised by its articles, accept from any member the whole or a part of the amount remaining unpaid on any shares held by him although no part of that amount has been called up. Such advance payment, however, shall not confer on the member concerned any voting rights.

- Shareholders' Pre-emptive Rights with regard to further issue of share capital (Right Shares): To preserve the shareholders' proportionate dividend, liquidation and voting rights, pre-emptive rights are often recognised, but their existence and scope can be effected by provisions in the articles. However, Section 62 of the Companies Act, 2013 secures shareholders' pre-emptive rights with regard to the further issue of share capital by the company. The Section lays down:

  "(1) Where at any time, a company having a share capital proposes to increase its subscribed capital by the issue of further shares, such shares shall be offered to persons who, at the date of the offer, are holders of equity shares of the company in proportion, as nearly as circumstances admit, to the paid-up share capital" on those shares by sending a letter of offer subject to the condition that unless the articles of the company otherwise provide, the offer aforesaid shall be deemed to include a right exercisable by the person concerned to renounce the shares offered to him or any of them in favour of any other person and the notice of offer shall contain a statement of this right [Sub- clause (a)].

Rights of Dissenting Shareholders

Section 48(2) of the Companies Act, 2013 confers certain rights upon the dissenting shareholders. According to section 48(2), where the rights of any class of shares are varied, the holders of not less than ten per cent of the issued shares of that class, being persons who did not consent to such variation or vote in favour of the special resolution for the variation, can apply to the Tribunal to have the variation cancelled. Where any such application is made to the Tribunal, the variation will not be effective unless and until it is confirmed by the Tribunal.

The above application shall be made within twenty-one days after the date on which the consent was given or the resolution was passed, as the case may be, and may be made on behalf of the shareholders entitled to make the application by such one or more of their number as they may appoint in writing for the purpose.

(7) All the limitations, restrictions and provisions of the Act relating to the right to transfer and the registration of transfers of securities shall be applicable to any such notice or transfer as aforesaid as if the death of the share or debenture holder had not occurred and the notice or transfer were a transfer signed by that shareholder or debenture holder, as the case may be.

(8) A person, being a nominee, becoming entitled to any securities by reason of the death of the holder shall be entitled to the same dividends or interests and other advantages to which he would have been entitled to if he were the registered holder of the securities except that he shall not, before being registered as a holder in respect of such securities, be entitled in respect of these securities to exercise any right conferred by the membership in relation to meetings of the company.

The Board may, at any time, give notice requiring any such person to elect either to be registered himself or to transfer the securities, and if the notice is not complied with within ninety days, the Board may thereafter withhold payment of all dividends or interests, bonuses or other moneys payable in respect of the securities, as the case may be, until the requirements of the notice have been complied with.

SHAREHOLDERS' DEMOCRACY

The concept of shareholders' democracy in the present day corporate world denotes the shareholders' supremacy in the governance of the business and affairs of corporate sector either directly or through their elected representatives.

Democracy means the rule of people, by the people and for the people. In that context the shareholders democracy means the rule of shareholders, by the shareholders, and for the shareholders in the corporate enterprise, to which the shareholders belong. Precisely it is a right to speak, congregate, communicate with co-shareholders and to learn about what is going on in the company.

Under the Companies Act the powers have been divided between two segments: one is the Board of Directors and the other is of shareholders. The directors exercise their powers through meetings of Board of directors and shareholders exercise their powers through General Meetings. Although constitutionally all the acts relating to the company can be performed in General Meetings but most of the powers in regard thereto are delegated to the Board of directors by virtue of the constitutional documents of the company viz. the Memorandum of Association and Articles of Association.

Under Section 179 of the Companies Act 2013 a general power has been conferred on the Board of directors. The section provides that "Subject to the provisions of this Act, the Board of directors of a company shall be entitled to exercise all such powers and to do all such acts and things, as the company is authorised to exercise and do."

Proviso to this section restricts the power of the Board of Directors to do things which are specifically required to be done by shareholders in the General Meetings under the provisions of Companies Act or Memorandum of Association or the Articles of Association.

Thus the Companies Act has tried to demarcate the area of control of directors as well as that of shareholders. Basically all the business to be transacted at the meetings of shareholders is by means of an ordinary resolution or a special resolution or by postal ballot.

Few businesses which are required to be transacted by shareholders

1. Alteration of Memorandum of Association and Articles of Association.
2. Further issue of share capital.
3. To transfer some portions of uncalled capital to reserve capital to be called up only in the event of winding up of the company.
4. To reduce the share capital of the company.
5. To shift the registered office of the company outside the local limits of any city, town or village where the registered office is situated.
6. To decide a place other than the registered office of the company where the statutory books, required to be maintained.
7. Payment of interest on paid-up amount of share capital for defraying the expenses on construction when plant cannot be commissioned for a longer period of time.
8. To approach Central Government for investigation into the affairs of the company.
9. Any contract or arrangement with related party, above the threshold limits.

10. Payment of commission of more than statutory requirement to a managing or a whole-time director or a manager.

11. To make loans, to extend guarantee or provide security to other companies or make investment beyond the limit specified.

12. To borrow money and to charge out the assets of the company to secure the borrowed money where the sums to be borrowed along with money already borrowed exceeds the paid-up capital of the company and its free reserves i.e. reserves not set apart for any specific purpose.

13. To appoint directors.

14. To increase or reduce the number of directors within the limits laid down in Articles of Association.

15. To cancel, redeem debentures etc.

16. To make contribution to funds not related to the business of the company.

In view of the rights conferred on shareholders to be exercised at General Meetings, the Act casts an obligation on the directors to send notices for convening general meetings or else the meetings shall be declared to be void as also all proceedings transacted thereat.

Apart from the rights which are vested in the shareholders to be exercised in relation to the conduct of the business of the company, the directors of the company have certain obligations towards the shareholders.

The courts have determined two broad duties to be performed by a director:

1. Duty of utmost care and skill in managing the affairs of the company or else be liable for damages.

2. Fiduciary duty to act bona fide in the interest of the company, not to exercise powers for collateral benefit and not to earn profit from the position as a director.

VARIATION OF SHAREHOLDER'S RIGHTS

Shareholder's rights are determined by the Companies Act, Memorandum of association, and Articles of association of the company and the terms of issue of shares. Rights attached to a class of shares are known as "class rights".

Shareholder's rights relate to dividend, voting at members' meetings and return of capital. Preference shareholders may have rights to a fixed amount or a fixed rate of dividend or to cumulative dividend. Where the ordinary shareholders are conferred the right to participate in the surplus assets on winding up of a company, it is not deemed to be a class right as it is implied even in the absence of any express provision in the articles.

Section 48 (1) of the Companies Act, 2013 lays down that where a share capital of the company is divided into different classes of shares, the rights attached to the shares of any class can be varied with the consent in writing of the holders of not less than three-fourths of the issued shares of that class or with the sanction of a special resolution passed at a separate meeting of the holders of the issued shares of that class. Further, the variation of rights of shareholders can be effected only:

(i) if provision with respect to such variation is contained in the Memorandum or Articles of association of the company; or

(ii) in the absence of any such provision in a Memorandum or Articles of association of the company, if such a variation is not prohibited by the terms of issue of the shares of that class.

However, if variation by one class of shareholders affects the rights of any other class of shareholders, the consent of three-fourths of such other class of shareholders shall also be obtained and the provisions of this section shall apply to such variation.

LIABILITY OF MEMBERS

The liability of a member depends on the nature of the company. If the company is registered with unlimited liability, every member is liable in full for all the debts of the company contracted during the period of his membership. Where the company is limited by guarantee, each member will be bound to contribute in the event of winding up a sum specified in the liability clause of the memorandum of association. In case of company limited by shares, each member is bound to contribute the full nominal value of shares and his liability ends there. If before the full nominal value of the shares is paid, the company goes into liquidation, the member becomes liable as contributory to pay the balance when called upon to pay, by the liquidator of the company.

Where a company has been incorporated by furnishing any false or incorrect information or representation or by suppressing any material fact or information in any of the documents or declaration filed or made for incorporating such company or by any fraudulent action, the Tribunal may, on an application made to it, on being satisfied that the situation so warrants, direct that liability of the members shall be unlimited [Section 7(7) of the Act].

If a member ceased to be member of a company within one year prior to the commencement of the winding up of the company he is liable to pay on the shares which he held to the extent of the amount unpaid thereon, if:

(i) on the winding up, debts exist which were incurred while he was a member, and

(ii) it appears to the Tribunal that the present members are not able to satisfy the contribution required from them in respect of their shares.

A person is liable as member inspite of a valid transfer of shares by him, if the name of the transferee is not placed on the register of members, in place of the transferors' name. If a person applies for shares in the name of a fictitious person or a person not in existence or uses another person's name for himself, or uses an alias, and shares are allotted in that name or alias, he will be liable as a member.

SHAREHOLDERS' AGREEMENT

Shareholders' agreements (SHA) are quite common in business. In India shareholder's agreement have gained popularity and currency only lately with bloom in newer forms of businesses. There are numerous situations where such agreements are entered into – family companies, JV companies, venture capital investments, private equity investments, strategic alliances, and so on. Shareholders' agreement is a contractual arrangement between the shareholders of a company describing how the company should be operated and the defining inter-se shareholders' rights and obligations. SHAs are the result of mutual understanding among the shareholders of a company to which, the company generally becomes a consenting party. Such agreements are specifically drafted to provide specific rights, impose definite restrictions over and above those provided by the Companies Act. SHA creates personal obligation between the members signing such agreement however, such agreements do not become a regulation of the company in the way the provisions of Articles are.

Enforceability of the Shareholder's Agreement

Though the international view is split but to a large extent courts are inclined towards favouring SHA as long as they are not found to be detrimental to the minority stakeholder's rights. In the leading case of Russell v. Northern Bank Development Corporation Ltd [1992] BCC 578; [1992] 1 WLR 588, the House of Lords found that though a company cannot deprive itself of its power to alter its constitution, the members of the company could agree in a shareholders' agreement as to how they will exercise their voting rights on a resolution to alter the articles/constitution. The US Courts have largely accepted shareholder agreements. [Blount v. Taft [246 S.E.2d 763 at 769 (1978)]

While shareholders' agreements are enforceable in England regardless of whether they have been incorporated in the articles of association of the company, in India courts have either refused to recognize clauses in shareholders agreements or, even when consistent with company legislation, enforced such clauses only if they have been incorporated in the articles of association of the company. There is a series of rulings where the courts have upheld that in case of any conflict between the Articles and the SHA, the former will always prevail. Some of these are:

- V.B. Rangaraj v. V.B. Gopalakrishnan (AIR 1992 SC 453)
- Shanti Prasad Jain v. Kalinga Tubes Ltd., (35 Com. Cas. 351 SC)
- Mafatlal Industries Ltd., v. Gujarat Gas Co. Ltd (97 Comp Cas 301 Guj),
- Pushpa Katoch v. Manu Maharani Hotels Limited [(2006) 131 Comp Cas 42 (Delhi)]

The Supreme Court in V.B. Rangaraj v. V.B. Gopalakrishnan, AIR 1992 SC 453 held that a restriction which is not specified in the articles of association is not binding either on the company or on the shareholders. This decision was reiterated by the Bombay High Court in IL & FS Trust Co. Ltd. v. Birla Perucchini Ltd. [2004] 121 Comp Cas 335 (Bom).

However, the Supreme Court in 2003 in its decision in M.S. Madhusoodhanan v. Kerala Kaumudi Pvt. Ltd. (2003 117 Comp Cas 19 (SC) not disagreeing with the decision in V.B Rangaraj case mentioned above, but distinguishing itself from the facts in that judgment, held that a restriction in relation to identified members on identified shares of a private company did not amount to restriction of transferability of shares per se.

In Western Maharashtra Development Corporation Ltd. v. Bajaj Auto Ltd. [(2010) 154 Company Cases 593 (Bom)], it was held that such clauses are to hamper the free transferability of shares and in violation of the Companies Act, and hence, are not enforceable. Subsequently in the case of Messer Holdings Limited v. Shyam Madanmohan Ruia and Ors [(2010) 98 CLA 325] the Division Bench of Bombay High Court overruled its judgement in Western Maharashtra Development Corporation Ltd and provided a more liberal interpretation and recognised the rights inter se among shareholders in case of restrictions on transfer of shares.

In Indian context, while the landmark decision of the Supreme Court in V.B. Rangaraj case mentioned above is often cited in the context of shareholders' agreements, most other decisions have been rendered by the High Courts in various states especially the Bombay High Court. The decisions on shareholders' agreements are not uniformly inclined in a direction. The High Court decisions are limited in their applicability as they are susceptible to disagreements by other High Courts, thereby conferring limited precedential value. It is difficult to come to clear and crisp answers as to enforceability of Shareholder's agreement.

VETO POWER

Meaning of the term – "veto"

A veto – Latin for "I forbid" – is the power to unilaterally stop an official action, especially the enactment of legislation.

A veto may give power only to stop changes, thus allowing its holder to protect the status quo.

The Companies Act, 2013 introduced various provisions to essentially bridge the gap towards protection and welfare of the minority shareholders under the Companies Act, 1956. As per the Companies Act, 1956, shareholders who hold the majority of shares, rule the company. This majority principle is recognised in a land mark case Foss vs. Harbottle (1843). The decision taken by the majority shareholders was binding on the minority. Now this principal has been replaced and minority shareholders have been given greater power under the Companies Act, 2013.

Veto Power or Rights

A right is inherent. Shareholders rights refer to rights enshrined in the constitutional document of the company or as provided by the law. A power has its genesis under the provisions of law.

As per the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 there are some resemblance where the management can take decisions on their own, by virtue of law. However, there are some instances where the consent of the shareholders is mandatory to approve any decision or transaction which is said to be as the veto power or veto right of shareholders of the company.

For instance in case of related-party transactions, promoters, who are majority shareholders, cannot vote in resolutions in cases of related-party transactions (however a company in which ninety percent or more members in number are relatives of promoters or are related parties can vote in resolutions in cases of related-party transactions). As stated under the provisions of Section 188 any related-party transaction that is not done in the ordinary course of business and is not at an arm's length will need approval of minority shareholders by way of a resolution.

Difference between Veto Power and Casting Vote

Veto power is different than casting vote of Chairman. Casting vote is applicable in case of equality of votes in favour and against. In case of equality the Chairman may give vote either in favour or against the resolution and it can be carried accordingly. Veto power has not been defined in the Companies Act. However, dictionary meaning of veto power is: "to refuse to admit or approve; specifically: to refuse assent to (a legislative bill) so as to prevent enactment or cause reconsideration."

Shareholders Agreement and Articles of Association of a company may provide for certain rights to the minority shareholder who has invested funds in the company. Such powers may include power to refuse capital expenditure over certain specified limit. In case the representative of the minority group is not in favour of the capital expenditure proposed by the company, he can exercise his right under the Articles which in common terminology is referred to as "veto powers".

Veto Rights and 'Control'

The introduction of the concept of 'control' in the 2013 Act has implications for investors in Indian companies. Under the 2013 Act, 'control' is understood to include the right to:

(i) appoint a majority of directors; or

(ii) control the management or policy decisions exercisable by a person or persons acting individually or in concert, directly or indirectly, including by virtue of their shareholding or management rights or shareholding agreements or voting agreements, or in any other manner.

The definition is similar to the definition of 'control' under the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Substantial Acquisition of Shares and Takeovers) Regulations, 2011 ("Takeover Code").

The definition of 'control' and the jurisprudence surrounding the same under the Takeover Code has been developed with the objective of protecting minority shareholders and providing an exit to them in the event of change in its control.

The definition of 'control' is linked closely with the definition of 'promoter'. The 2013 Act provides that a person having control over the affairs of the company would be regarded as its 'promoter'.

Given the similarity in the definition of 'control' under the Takeover Code and the 2013 Act and its linkage to the definition of 'promoter' it is likely that the jurisprudence of control under the Takeover Code would be applied under the 2013 Act, as well.

But, the scope of the term 'control' under the Takeover Code itself is not clear. The uncertainty around the interpretation of control would impact negotiation of shareholder agreements. Affirmative voting rights in favour of investors under a shareholders agreement are meant to be an effective tool for safeguarding investment or the interest of the investors. These rights are negotiated and decided in the shareholders' agreement, which are subsequently incorporated into the articles of association of a target company.

Accordingly, an investor or shareholder who has secured for itself certain rights which enable a degree of control over 'management or policy decisions', whether by way of board representation or veto rights, may be regarded as having 'control' of the company and therefore be classified as a 'promoter'. Investors would need to carefully consider the obligations and liabilities associated with the position of a promoter under the 2013 Act when negotiating rights and powers in a company under the shareholders agreement.

ASSIGNMENT OF SHARES IN A COMPANY

Section 44 of the Companies Act, 2013 defines the nature of property in the shares of a company. It lays down: "The shares or debentures or other interest of any member in a company shall be movable property, transferable in the manner provided by the articles of the company."

The definition of "goods" in the Sale of Goods Act, 1930, specifically includes stocks and shares. Hence, it is necessary to provide by the articles the manner in which transfer of shares are to be affected. A "share" in a company is a right to a specified amount of the share capital of the company, carrying with it certain rights and liabilities, while the company is a going concern and in the winding up. It represents the interest of the holder measured for purposes of liability and dividend by a sum of a money.

A company cannot refuse to transfer shares except as provided by its articles. It is well settled that unless the articles otherwise provide, a shareholder has a free right to transfer his shares to whom he chooses. It is not necessary to look to the articles for a power to transfer, since that power is given by the Act. It is only necessary to look to the articles of association to ascertain the mode of transfer and the restrictions upon it.

As between buyer (transferee) and seller (transferor) of shares, the buyer is entitled to all dividends declared after the contract of sale, unless otherwise agreed. Whatever may be the agreement, a transfer of shares after declaration of dividend, does not, as against the company, carry the dividend, even though the transfer may be cum-dividend.

PART A

BORROWING POWERS OF COMPANY AND DEBT CAPITAL

Borrowings - "the act of one who borrows".

In simple language borrowing can be defined as to obtain or receive money on loan with the promise or understanding that it will be repaid.

The one may not always have the money required to do certain things or to buy certain things. In such situations, individuals and businesses/firms/ Companies/institutions go for the option of borrowing money from lenders.

In order to run a business effectively and successfully, adequate amount of capital is necessary. In some cases capital which is arranged through internal resources i.e. by way of issuing equity share capital or using accumulated profit is not adequate and the organisation is resorted to external resources of arranging capital i.e. Bank Loan, Term Loan, Working Capital Loan, Overdraft facility from Bank, Debentures, Public Fixed Deposits, External Commercial borrowing (ECB) etc. Thus, borrowing is a mechanism used whereby the money is arranged through external resources with an implied or expressed intention of returning money.

What is Loan ?

A loan is a sum of money that one or more individuals or companies borrow from banks or other financial institutions so as to financially manage planned or unplanned events. In doing so, the borrower incurs a debt, which he has to pay back with interest and within a given period of time.

When a lender gives money to an individual or entity with a certain guarantee or based on trust that the recipient will repay the borrowed money with certain added benefits, such as an interest rate, the process is called lending or taking a loan.

Debts vs. Loans

Loan and debt are terms often used interchangeably due to the reason that they both primarily mean borrowing money. However, there is a small difference between the two. A loan is money borrowed from a lender. The lender can be a bank or a financial institution. Moreover, a loan is more structured in terms of payment, and the principal amount is paid back to the borrower in instalments over a period of time.

The term debt connotes that debt is the money that the company raises through the issuance of bonds and debentures. Governments, companies, trusts, or corporations can issue bonds and debentures to fund their business, and the lender, in this case, will be the investor. The investor will receive interest payment regularly until the bond or debenture matures. Also, upon maturity, the investor gets back the entire principal amount in lump sum.

Every company needs additional capital for its business from time to time. The company can meet such requirement of capital, to an extent, by the issue of share, and at times has to raise loans. Borrowing can be defined as a means through which companies arrange financial funds through external sources like bank loans, shareholders, public investment, etc. The manner to borrow money, from whom it can borrow, to the extent it can borrow and compliances to be done by a company is regulated by various provisions of Companies Act, 2013 ("Act").

Powers & Restrictions of Board u/s 179 and 180 of the Companies Act, 2013

Borrowings being an external source of raising money, a company cannot borrow money until it is so authorised by its memorandum.

Under Section 179 of the Companies Act, 2013, the Board of Directors of a company are entitled to exercise its power to borrow monies subject to the provisions contained in the Act and as contained in the memorandum or articles of association of the Company or in any regulations not inconsistent therewith, by passing a resolution at duly convened meeting of Board of Directors of the Company.

In terms of First proviso to section 179(3) of the Companies Act, 2013 the Board may, by a resolution passed at a meeting may delegate the power to borrow monies to any committee of Director the managing director, the manager or any other principal officer of the company or in the case of a branch office of the company, the principal officer of the branch office.

While section 179 of the Companies Act deals with Powers of Board and section 180 of the Companies Act, 2013 deals with restrictions on powers of Board.

Section 180(1) of the Companies Act, 2013 states that the Board of Directors of a company shall exercise the powers conferred under this section only with the consent of the company by a special resolution.

The power conferred under section 180(1)(c) talks about "to borrow money, where the money to be borrowed, together with the money already borrowed by the company will exceed aggregate of its paid-up share capital and free reserves and securities premium, apart from temporary loans obtained from the company's bankers in the ordinary course of business unless they have received the prior sanction of the company by a special resolution in general meeting.

Provided that the acceptance by a banking company, in the ordinary course of its business, of deposits of money from the public, repayable on demand or otherwise, and withdrawable by cheque, draft, order or otherwise, shall not be deemed to be a borrowing of monies by the banking company within the meaning of this clause.

It is explained that, the expression "temporary loans" means loans repayable on demand or within six months from the date of the loan such as short-term, cash credit arrangements, the discounting of bills and the issue of other short-term loans of a seasonal character, but does not include loans raised for the purpose of financial expenditure of a capital nature;".

Exemption:

As per the exemption notification no 464(E) dated 5th June, 2015 issued by Ministry of Corporate Affairs, private companies have been exempted to comply the entire provisions of Section 180 of the Companies Act 2013, as a result special resolution is not required for private companies to borrow monies.

Unauthorised / Ultra Vires Borrowings

Ultra-vires

It is a Latin term made up of two words "ultra" which means beyond and "vires" meaning power or authority. So we can say that anything which is beyond the authority or power is called ultra-vires. In the context of the company, we can say that anything which is done by the company or its directors which is beyond their legal authority or which was outside the scope of the object of the company is ultra-vires.

Doctrine of Ultra-Vires

Memorandum of association is considered to be the constitution of the company. It sets out the internal and external scope and area of company's operation along with its objectives, powers, scope. A company is authorized to do only that much which is within the scope of the powers provided to it by the memorandum. A company can also do anything which is incidental to the main objects provided by the memorandum. Anything which is beyond the objects authorized by the memorandum is an ultra-vires act.

Consequences of Ultra Vires Borrowings

- Void ab initio: The ultra-vires acts are null and void ab initio. These acts are not binding on the company. Neither the company can sue, nor it can be sued for such acts. [Ashbury Railway Carriage and Iron Company v. Riche].
- Estoppel: Estoppel or ratification cannot convert an ultra-vires act into an intra-vires act.
- Injunction: the lender has been given authority under law to restrain the company for using the money lent. 'The members can restrain it from doing so by getting an injunction from the court". [Attorney General v. Gr. Eastern Rly. Co., (1880) 5 A.C. 473]
- Subrogation: Where the money of an ultra-vires borrowing has been used to pay off lawful debts of the company, he would be subrogated to the position of the creditor paid off and to that extent would have the right to recover his loan from the company. Subrogation is allowed for the simple reason that when a lawful debt has been paid off with an ultra-vires loan, the total indebtedness of the company remains the same. By subrogating the ultra-vires lender, the Court is able to protect him from loss, while debt burden of the company is in no way increased.
- Liability of directors: In case of ultra-vires borrowing, the lender may be able to sue the directors for breach of warranty of authority, especially if the directors deliberately misrepresented their authority.

Intra vires* Borrowing but outside the Scope of Agents' Authority

A distinction should always be made between a company's borrowing powers and the authority of the directors to borrow. Where the directors borrowed money beyond their authority but the borrowing is not ultra-vires of the company, such borrowing is called Intra vires borrowing but outside the Scope of Agents' Authority. The company will be liable to such borrowing if the borrowing is within the directors' ostensible authority and the lender acted in good faith or if the transaction was ratified by the company.

Where the borrowing is intra vires of the company but outside the authority of the directors e.g. where the articles provide that the directors shall have the power only up to Rs. 100 lakhs and prior approval of the shareholders would be required to borrow beyond Rs. 100 lakhs; any borrowing beyond Rs.100 lakhs without shareholders approval i.e. intra vires borrowing by the company but outside the authority of directors and can be ratified by the company, then it becomes binding on the company. Here the legal position is quite clear. The company has power or capacity to borrow, but the authority of the directors is restricted either by the articles of the company or by the statute, and they have exceeded it. The company may, if it wishes, ratify the agent's act in which case the loan binds the company and the lender as if it had been made with company's authority in the first place.

On the other hand, the company may refuse to ratify the agent's act. Here the normal principles of agency apply. The doctrine of Indoor Management (also known as rule in Royal British Bank v. Turquand (1856) Cl & B 327) shall protect the lender, provided he can establish that he advanced the money in good faith. A third-party who deals with an agent knowing that the agent is exceeding his authority has no right of action against the principal. Bearing in mind that the memorandum and articles are public documents, the contents of which the third-party is deemed to know, he will obviously have no right of action against the company if the agent's lack of authority is obvious from reading them. But a third-party is not effected by secret restrictions on the agent's authority, as the lack of authority is not clear from the public documents and the lender can not be aware of it from some other source. Therefore, the company will be liable.

CASE LAWS

Related to borrowing power of a company

(a) The behaviour of the directors, as the company's agents, can have no effect whatsoever on the validity of the loan for no agent can have more capacity than his principal. No agent can have a power which is not with the principal. If, therefore, the borrowing is ultra-vires the company, so that the company has no capacity to undertake it, the lender can have no rights at common law. No debt is created and any security which may have been created in respect of the borrowing is also void. The lender cannot sue the company for the repayment of the loan. [Sinclain v. Brouguham (1914) 88 LJ Ch 465].

(b) If the borrowing by the directors is ultra-vires their powers, the directors may, in certain circumstances, be personally liable for damages to the lender, on the ground of the implied warranty given by them, that they had power to borrow [Firbank's Executors vs. Humphreys, (1886) 18 QBD 54; Garrard v. James, 1925 Ch. 616].

(c) Sometimes it happens that a power to borrow exists but is restricted to a stated amount, in such a case if by a single transaction an amount in excess is borrowed, only the excess would be ultra-vires and not the whole transaction [Deonarayan Prasad Bhadani v. Bank of Baroda, (1957) 27 Com Cases 223 (Bom)].

(d) The acquiescence of all shareholders in excess loans contracted by directors beyond their powers but not ultra-vires the powers of the company would be sufficient to validate such excess debts. [Sri Balasar aswathi Ltd. v. Parameswara Aiyar, (1956) 26 Com Cases 298, 308: AIR 1957 Mad 122].

(e) If the borrowing is unauthorized, the company will be liable to repay, if it is shown that the money had gone into the company's coffers [Lakshmi Ratan Cotton Mills Co. Ltd. v. J.K. Jute Mills Co. Ltd., (1957) 27 Com Cases 660: AIR 1957 All 311].

(f) In V.K.R.S.T Firm v. Oriental Investment Trust Ltd., AIR 1944 Mad 532 under the authority of the company, its managing director borrowed large sums of money and misappropriated it. The company was held liable stating that where the borrowing is within the powers of the company, the lender will not be prejudiced simply because its officer have applied the loan to unauthorised activities provided the lender had no knowledge of the intended misuse.

(g) In Equity Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Dinshaw& Co., AIR 1940 Oudh 202, it was held that "where the managing agent of a company who is not authorised to borrow, has borrowed money which is not necessary, neither bona fide, nor for the benefit of the company, the company is not liable for the amount borrowed".

(h) In SurajBabu v. Jaitly & Co. AIR 1946 All 372, P & Co., were the managing agents of L & Co., which was in liquidation. P the manager borrowed a sum of money from J in his own name. In one letter to J he indicated that the loan was for a requirement of L & Co. and that company had actually benefited. It was held that there was no intention to bind the company. "The mere fact that the company had benefited was not in itself sufficient to bind the company".

Types of Borrowings

A company uses various kinds of borrowing to finance its operations. The various types of borrowings can generally be categorized into:

1. Long term Borrowing: means liabilities that represent money borrowed from banks or other lenders to fund the on-going operations of a business and that will not come due within one year.

   Funds borrowed for a period ranging for five years or more are termed as long-term borrowings. A long term borrowing is made for getting a new project financed or for making big capital investment like purchase of property, plant, equipment and other fixed assets etc. Generally Long term borrowing is made against charge on fixed assets of the company.

2. Short term Borrowing: The funds are borrowed for a short period of up to one year. It is a temporary support for business and meeting the working capital needs is the main purpose. These are borrowings that have to be paid off within a year.

3. Medium Term Borrowing: Where the funds to be borrowed are for a period ranging from one to five years, such borrowings are termed as medium term borrowings. The commercial banks normally finance purchase of land, machinery, vehicles etc.

4. Secured Borrowing: A debt obligation is considered secured, if creditors have recourse to the assets of the company on a proprietary basis or otherwise ahead of general claims against the company.

5. Unsecured Borrowing: Under this, the debt consists of financial obligation. There is no collateral issued against the unsecured borrowings.

6. Syndicated borrowing: If a borrower requires a large or sophisticated borrowing facility this is commonly provided by a group of lenders known as a syndicate under a syndicated loan agreement. The borrower uses one agreement covering the whole group of banks and different types of facility rather than entering into a series of separate loans, each with different terms and conditions.

7. Bilateral borrowing: Refers to a borrowing made by a company from a particular bank/financial institution. In this type of borrowing, there is a single contract between the company and the lender.

8. Private borrowing: Under this, the company takes a loan from the bank of a financial institution. It consists of bank loan obligations.

9. Public Borrowing: Is a general definition covering all financial instruments that are freely tradable on a public exchange or over the counter, with few, if any, restrictions i.e. Debentures, Bonds etc.

Funding

How Companies execute funding?

Companies can fulfil their financial requirements by issuing equity or debt, borrowing funds through financial institutions. Unlike equity, debt has a specified interest rate and a schedule of dates when interest is to be paid and all the principal fully repaid. Equity is money the company already has in its coffers or can raise from investors.

Many companies would prefer to use debt to support their growth, rather than equity, as it is less expensive form of financing but there must still be sufficient operating cash flow generated by the Company to meet the debt's interest and principal payment obligations.

In every corporate organization engaged in doing business or involved in manufacturing activity or industry providing services etc., there is always requirement of finances and funds. In order to run a business effectively and successfully, adequate amount of capital is necessary. In some cases it is capital is arranged by way of issuing equity share capital or using accumulated profit. But, Equity funds most of the times when not adequate to meet the financial demand of the company for long run, the organization is resorted to external resources for arranging capital i.e. External Commercial Borrowing (ECB), Debentures, Bank Loan, Public Fixed Deposits etc.

The finances raised through debentures are generally long-term debt. Since debentures have no collateral backing, they must rely on the creditworthiness and reputation of the issuer for support. Both corporations and governments frequently issue debentures to raise capital or funds.

Debentures & Bonds

Meaning of Debentures

The word 'debenture' has been derived from a Latin word 'debere' which means to borrow. Debenture is a written instrument acknowledging a debt. It contains a contract for repayment of principal after a specified period or at intervals or at the option of the company and for payment of interest at a fixed rate payable usually either half-yearly or yearly on fixed dates. For better understanding of the concept of Debentures, one must need to understand the few terms like, debt instruments, securities (convertible / Non-convertible) etc. as Debentures are one of the form of Debt securities.

Definitions

SEBI (Issue of Capital and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2018 defines the following terms:

Regulation 2(1)(j)

Under the Companies Act, 2013

Section 2(30)

“Debenture” includes debenture stock, bonds or any other instrument of a company evidencing a debt, whether constituting a charge on the assets of the company or not.

Provided that–

(a) the instruments referred to in Chapter III-D of the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934; and

(b) such other instrument, as may be prescribed by the Central Government in consultation with the Reserve Bank of India, issued by a company, shall not be treated as debenture;

From the above discussion, it can be said that debentures / debt securities are defined under various statues.

Concepts – Bonds & Debentures

Bonds and Debentures both are debt instrument issued by the government or companies. Both of these are fund raising tools for the issuer / forms of borrowed capital for companies.

Debentures, in comparison to other forms of bonds, serve a more specific purpose. While both are used to raise funds, debentures are frequently used to fund the costs of an upcoming project or to pay for a planned corporate expansion. These debt securities are a common form of long-term funding for companies.

A debenture is a marketable security that businesses can issue to obtain long-term financing without needing to dilute their equity. In corporate finance, a debenture is a medium- to long-term debt instrument used by large companies to borrow money, at a fixed rate of interest. The legal term “debenture” originally referred to a document that either creates a debt or acknowledges it, but in some countries the term is now used interchangeably with bond, loan stock or note. A debenture is thus like a certificate of loan or a loan bond evidencing the company’s liability to pay a specified amount with interest. Although the money raised by the debentures becomes a part of the company’s capital structure, it does not become share capital. Senior debentures get paid before subordinate debentures, and there are varying rates of risk and payoff for these categories.

Debentures are freely transferable by the debenture holder. Debenture holders have no rights to vote in the company's general meetings of shareholders, but they may have separate meetings or votes e.g. on changes to the rights attached to the debentures. The interest paid to them is a charge against profit in the company's financial statements.

Another term used in companies in the same perspective is 'Bond'. Bond is also an instrument of acknowledgement of debt. Traditionally, the Government issued bonds, but these days, bonds are also being issued by semi-government and non-governmental organisations. In simple words it can be illustrated as, Bonds are debt financial instruments issued by large corporations, financial institutions and government agencies that are backed up by collaterals or physical assets.

The terms 'debentures' and 'Bonds' are many times used inter-changeably. The holder of bonds is called as lender, while the issuer of bonds is called as the borrower. There are various types of bonds and debentures, and an investor can invest their money depending on the preferences and risk-taking ability. Below are the points distinguishing between the two:

Difference between Bonds and Debentures

Basis of Difference	Debentures	Bonds
Nature	Debentures are debt financial instruments issued by private / public companies, for raising capital from the investors.	Bonds are debt financial instruments issued by large corporations, financial institutions and government agencies for raising additional fund from the public.
Security	Debentures can be secured as well as unsecured.	Bonds are secured in nature.
Owner	The owner of a debenture is called a debenture holder.	The owner of a bond is called a bondholder.
Collateral	Debentures do not get secured by the collateral or physical assets of the issuing company. Lenders purchase these instruments solely based on the reputation of the issuing company.	Bonds get secured by the collateral or physical assets of the issuing company.
Tenure	Debentures are generally short to medium term investments and their tenure is usually lower than bonds.	Bonds are long term investments and their tenure is generally higher than debentures.
Convertibility	Issuing company can convert only convertible and also partially convertible debentures into shares on the expiry as specified in the clause.	Bonds cannot be converted into equity shares of the company.
Rate of Interest	The debentures carry a fixed or floating interest rate that is generally higher than bonds because they are less stable in terms of repayment, and they are also not backed by collateral.	The bonds carry a fixed or floating interest rate that is generally lower than debentures because they are more stable in terms of repayment, and they get backed by collateral of the issuing company.

Liquidation	During liquidation, the debenture holders are paid after the bondholders.	During company liquidation, Bondholders are given priority over the debenture holders.
Payment Structure	The payment of interest for bonds is done on a periodical basis and depends on the company's performance.	The payment of interest for bonds is on an accrual basis. The issuing company pays this amount on a monthly, half-yearly or yearly basis and this payment is not dependent on the performance of a company.

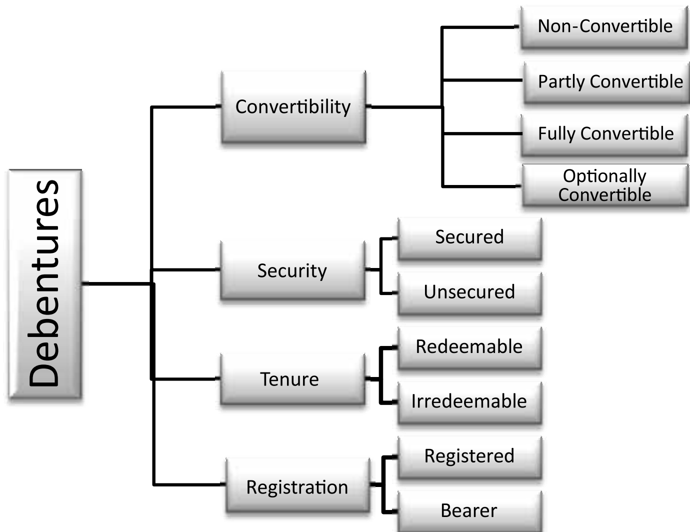
Nature of Debentures

As per Section 44 of the Companies Act 2013, the debentures or other interest of any member in a company shall be movable property transferable in the manner provided by the Articles of Association of the company.

As per the provisions of Section 56, securities will be transferable vide form SH-4. Transferability is governed by the provisions of the Articles of Associations.

Kinds of Debentures

Debentures are generally classified into different categories:



On the basis of Convertibility

(a) Non-Convertible Debentures (NCD): These instruments retain the debt character for the whole of the tenure and cannot be converted into equity shares or any other form of security.

(b) Partly Convertible Debentures (PCD): Partly convertible debentures, as the name suggests, a certain portion of these debentures are partially converted into equity shares upon exhaustion of the specified duration. These instruments allow holders to convert only a portion of their investment into equity shares at the end of the pre-determined period. The holders has the option to redeem the remaining amount of the debenture on maturity. Additionally, at the time of issuance, the Company chooses the conversion ratio for these debentures. Moreover, the holders of these debentures become shareholders in the Company to the extent of their holdings after being partially converted into equity.

(c) Fully convertible Debentures (FCD): These are fully convertible into Equity shares or any other form of security at the issuer's notice. The ratio of conversion is decided by the issuer. Upon conversion the investors enjoy the same status as shareholders of the company.

(d) Optionally Convertible Debentures (OCD): The investor has the option to either convert these debentures into shares at price decided by the issuer/agreed upon at the time of issue.

On the basis of Security

(a) Secured Debentures: Debentures that are issued against a security are called secured debentures. In other words, a charge is made against the assets of the issuing company. So, if the issuer fails on payment of the principal or interest amount, his assets can be sold to repay the liability to the investors. Section 71(3) of the Companies Act, 2013 provides that secured debentures may be issued by a company subject to such terms and conditions as may be prescribed by the Central Government through rules.

(b) Unsecured Debentures: Debentures which are issued without any charge against the issuing company's assets are called unsecured debentures. These instruments are unsecured in the sense that if the issuer defaults on payment of the interest or principal amount, the investor has to be along with other unsecured creditors of the company, are also said to be naked debentures. Unlike secured debentures, unsecured debentures are issued by the Company without creation of charge over the assets of the Company. In case a Company is unable to pay the principal or interest on due date, these debentures do not offer any protection to the debenture holders.

On the basis of Tenure

(a) Redeemable Debentures: Redeemable debentures clearly spell out the exact terms and date by which the issuer of the bond must repay their debt in full. It refers to the debentures which are issued with a condition that the debentures will be redeemed at a fixed date or upon demand, or after notice etc.

(b) Irredeemable Debentures: An irredeemable debenture is a type of debenture in which there is not fixed time for the issuer to repay the amount. The debenture holder cannot demand payment as long as the company is a going concern and does not make default in making payment of the interest. But all debentures, whether redeemable or irredeemable become payable on the company going into liquidation. Irredeemable (non-redeemable) debentures, on the other hand, do not hold the issuer liable to repay in full by a certain date. Because of this, irredeemable debentures are also known as perpetual debentures. However, after the commencement of the Companies Act, 2013, now a company cannot issue perpetual or irredeemable debentures.

On the basis of Registration

(a) Registered Debentures: Registered debentures are made out in the name of a particular person, whose name appears on the debenture certificate and who is registered by the company as holder on the Register of debenture holders. Such debentures are transferable in the same manner as shares by means of a proper instrument of transfer duly stamped and executed and satisfying the other requirements specified in Section 56 of the Companies Act, 2013.

(b) Bearer debentures: Bearer debentures on the other hand, are made out to bearer, and are negotiable instruments, and so transferable by mere delivery like share warrants. The person to whom a bearer debenture is transferred become a "holder in due course" and unless contrary is shown, is entitled to receive and recover the principal and the interest accrued thereon. [Calcutta Safe Deposit Co. Ltd. v. Ranjit Mathuradas Sampat (1971) 41 Com Cases 1063]

Pari Passu Clause in case of Debentures

Debentures are usually issued in a series with a pari passu clause and it follows that they would be on an equal footing as to security and should the security be enforced, the amount realised shall be divided pro-rata, i.e., they are to be discharged rateably. In the event of deficiency of assets, they will abate proportionately. The expression 'pari passu' implies with equal step, equally treated, at the same rate, or at par with. When it is said that existing debentures shall be issued at pari passu clause, it implies that no difference will be made between the old and new debentures.

If the words pari passu are not used, the debentures will be payable according to the date of issue, and if they are all issued on the same day, they will be payable accordingly to their numerical order. However, a company cannot issue a new series of debentures so as to rank pari passu with prior series, unless the power to do so is expressly reserved and contained in the debentures of the previous series.

Debenture Stock

A company, instead of issuing debentures, each in respect of separate and distinct debt, may raise one aggregate loan fund or composite stock known as 'debenture stock'. Accordingly, a debenture stock is a borrowed capital consolidated into one mass for the sake of convenience. Instead of each lender having a separate bond or mortgage, he has a certificate entitling him to a certain sum being a portion of one large loan. It is generally secured by a trust deed. As in the case of shares, a person may subscribe for, or transfer any amount even a fraction amount. Debenture stock is the indebtedness itself, and the debenture stock certificate furnishes evidence of the title or interest of the holder in the indebtedness. Debenture is the document which furnishes evidence of the debt. Debenture stock must be fully paid, while debenture may or may not be fully paid.

ISSUE AND REDEMPTION OF DEBT SECURITIES

- Section 71(1) of the Act states that a company may issue debentures with an option to convert such debentures into shares, either wholly or partly at the time of redemption. Further, the issue of debentures with an option to convert such debentures into shares, wholly or partly, shall be approved by a special resolution passed at a general meeting.
- No company shall issue any debentures carrying any voting rights [Section 71(2)].
- Section 71(3) read with Rule 18(1) of Companies (Share Capital and Debentures) Rules, 2014 provides that the secured debentures may be issued only when the following conditions are compiled with: -
  - Redemption Clause - The date of redemption of Secured Debentures shall not exceed ten years from the date of issue.

    The following classes of Companies may issue secured debentures for a period exceeding 10 years but not exceeding 30 years,

    (i) Companies engaged in setting up of infrastructure projects;

    (ii) Infrastructure Finance Companies as defined in clause (viia) of sub direction (1) of direction 2 of Non-Banking Financial (Non-deposit accepting or holding) Companies Prudential Norms (Reserve Bank) Directions, 2007;

    (iii) Infrastructure Debt Fund Non-Banking Financial Companies' as defined in clause (b) of direction 3 of Infrastructure Debt Fund Non-Banking Financial Companies (Reserve Bank) Directions, 2011;

    (iv) Companies permitted by a Ministry or Department of the Central Government or by Reserve Bank of India or by the National Housing Bank or by any other statutory authority to issue debentures for a period exceeding ten years.
  - Appointment of Debenture Trustee & execution of Debenture Trust deed - The company shall appoint the debenture trustee before the issue of prospectus or letter of offer for subscription of its debentures and not later than 60 days after the allotment of the debentures, execute a debenture trust deed to protect the interest thereon.

- Creation of security - In terms of Rule 18(1)(b) of Companies (Share Capital and Debentures) Rules, 2014, an issue of secured debentures shall be secured by the creation of a charge on the properties or assets of the company or its subsidiaries or its holding company or its associates companies, having a value which is sufficient for the due repayment of the amount of debentures and interest thereon.

In terms of Rule 18(1)(d) of Companies (Share Capital and Debentures) Rules, 2014, the security for the debentures by way of charge or mortgage shall be treated in favour of the debenture trustee on:

i. any specific movable property of the company or its holding company or subsidiaries or associate companies or otherwise;

ii. any specific immovable property wherever situated, or any interest therein.

In case of a non-banking financial company, the charge or mortgage as aforesaid may be created on any movable property.

In case of any issue of debentures by a Government company which is fully secured by the guarantee given by the Central Government or one or more State Government or by both, the requirement for creation of charge under this sub-rule shall not apply.

In case of any loan taken by a subsidiary company from any bank or financial institution, the charge or mortgage may also be created on the properties or assets of the holding company.

The term "Creation of Security" means mortgaging the property in favour of Debenture Trustee for the benefit of debenture holders. This is an incidence of ownership of property and creation of security has to be done by the owner of the property. However, the debenture holders are beneficiaries and they have no access to mortgaged property. The debenture trustee holds the secured property on behalf of issuer of security and for benefit of debenture holders. In the event of default by the issuer of security, the Debenture Trustee will have the power and authority to bring the secured property to sale following the procedure in the Transfer of Property Act and the proceeds of sale will have to be applied to redeem the debentures.

However, the same shall be approved by a special resolution passed at a general meeting. There being no prescribed rule under the Companies Act 2013 governing the procedure for the same, hence the provisions of section 42 and 62 of the Companies Act 2013 read with applicable rules governing the provisions for issue of shares / security must be taken into consideration.

DEBENTURE REDEMPTION RESERVE (DRR)

Meaning of DRR:

Debenture Redemption Reserve (DRR) is a fund maintained by companies who have issued debentures. Its purpose is to minimize the risk of default on repayment of debentures. The DRR ensures availability of funds for meeting obligations towards debenture holders on maturity. The DRR involves two components. The first component is setting aside a portion of the profit. The allocation of profit is done in a process known as 'earmarking of funds'. It ensures that adequate profits are available for repaying the debentures. The second component involves an investment of funds. It ensures that the company has enough liquidity to make the repayment.

Purpose and Uniqueness:

Companies which have borrowed money through debentures may at the time of maturity not have the funds to make a repayment. To minimize the chances of default, the Government introduced the concept of a Debenture Redemption Reserve. The primary reasons for default on maturity are a lack of profitability and a lack of liquidity. To address both these concerns, the concept of a DRR provides for two requirements:

- Annually, a portion of the profit is 'earmarked' for transfer to the DRR. Such earmarked amount cannot be used until repayment of the debentures is made. The effect of this strategy is that the dividend available to shareholders is reduced. When dividends are lowered, enough funds are retained in the company to enable a future settlement to debenture-holders. Thus, the chance that the company may make a default due to profitability related issues is minimized.

- Every year, investments are purchased for an amount equal to the transfer made to the DRR. Only securities approved by the government can be purchased for investments. The investments cannot be sold for any purpose other than meeting the liability toward the debenture holders. The effect of this strategy is that a part of the company's assets is reserved for repaying the debenture liability. Thus, the chance that the company may make a default due to profitability related issues is minimized.

Creation of Debenture Redemption Reserve under Companies Act 2013 and its Adequacy

Section 71(4) of the Companies Act 2013 states that where debentures are issued by a company, the company shall create a debenture redemption reserve account out of the profits of the company available for payment of dividend and the amount credited to such account shall not be utilized by the company except for the redemption of debentures.

Rule 18(7) of the Companies (Share Capital and Debenture) Rules, 2014 states that the company shall comply with the requirements with regard to Debenture Redemption Reserve (DRR) and investment or deposit of sum in respect of debentures maturing during the year ending on the 31st day of March of next year, in accordance with the conditions given under said Rule.

Rule 18(7)(a) of the Companies (Share Capital and Debenture) Rules, 2014 states that Debenture Redemption Reserve shall be created out of profits of the company available for payment of dividend.

Rule 18(7)(b) of the Companies (Share Capital and Debenture) Rules, 2014 states that the limits with respect to adequacy of Debenture Redemption Reserve and investment or deposits, as the case may be, shall be as under:

CASE LAWS

(1) The Regional Director has filed an affidavit on behalf of the central government in which two observations have been made. The first observation of the Regional Director is that at the meeting of the shareholders of the petitioner company, nine shareholders together holding 527 equity shares voted against the scheme. The second observation of the Regional Director is that in terms of section 117C(1) of the Companies Act, 1956 where a company issues debentures, it has to create a debenture redemption reserve for redemption of such debentures to which adequate amount has to be credited from out of its profits every year until such debentures are redeemed. [Britannia Industries ltd vs. Unknown(2010)]

(2) The apex court has considered as to whether the debenture redemption reserve is a reserve within the meaning of the Companies Act. The Supreme Court has held in the said case that any amount set apart in the accounts of the company to redeem the debentures must be treated as monies set apart to meet a known liability. The debentures will have to be shown in the company's balance sheet of the year as liability.

Merely because the debentures are not redeemable during the accounting period, the liability of redeemed debenture does not cease to exist. The Supreme Court further held that the debenture redemption Reserve must be regarded as a provision made by the assessee-company to enable it to redeem the said debentures when they become due for redemption. The Supreme Court further stated that the amounts set apart for redemption of debentures are not in the nature of charge against profit but are merely appropriation of profits. The said debenture redemption reserve account cannot be held to be a reserve on that ground itself. [Rayon Corpn. Ltd. (supra)]

(3) The mere fact that a Debenture Redemption Reserve is labeled as a reserve will not render it as a reserve in the true sense or meaning of that concept. An amount which is retained by way of providing for a known liability is not a reserve. Consequently, the Tribunal was correct in holding that the amount which was set apart as a Debenture Redemption Reserve is not a reserve within the meaning of Explanation (b) to Section 115JA of the Income Tax Act, 1961. [Alembic Limited, Baroda vs. Dy.Cit.,Circle-1(1)(2016)]

PART B

OVERVIEW OF COMPANY DEPOSITS

Funds can be raised by the Company by issuing shares, debentures, or by taking loan or by inviting deposits from public. Companies have always been attracted towards financing through deposits and, at times, problems have arisen in the context of such deposits. In order to control the malpractices, the Companies Act, 2013 has introduced strict provisions under the deposit regime. Sections 73 to 76 of the Companies Act 2013 read with the Companies (Acceptance of Deposits) Rules, 2014 made under Chapter V of Companies Act, 2013 regulate the receipt of money not to be considered as deposit, invitation, acceptance and repayment of deposits by Companies. CASE LAW

19/09/2018	M/s Ind-Swift Limited (Appellant) v. Registrar of Companies (Respondent)	NCLAT

Repayment of Deposits accepted before Commencement of the Companies Act, 2013

The Company filed application before CLB and obtained relief under Section 58AA read with Section 58A(9) of the Companies Act, 1956 and got instalments fixed to repay deposits, Appellant sought re-fixing of periods, instalments and rate of interest from NCLT, New Delhi under Section 74 of the Companies Act, 2013 which was rejected by NCLT, New Delhi bench. This Appeal is against rejection of the application/s.

The NCLAT observed that the NCLT considered that the Appellant had at the time of first grant of time got relief of huge extension and that there was no reason to accept the plea for further extension. The NCLT appears to have found that when big relief had already been granted to the Company, further extension was not justified.

Section 76 makes it clear that legislature has put in many safeguards when deposits are to be taken from public. One of the important provisions is to ensure that the Company creates a charge of its assets of an amount not less than the amount of deposits accepted in favour of the deposit holders.

Section 76(2) read with Sections 73 and 74 would apply to acceptance of deposits from public by eligible Companies but it saves the Company which had accepted or invited public deposits under the relevant provisions of the old Act and Rules thereunder and has been repaying such deposits and interests thereon in accordance with such provisions, then the provisions of Clause (b) of Sub-Section (1) of Section 74 of the new Companies Act, 2013 shall be deemed to have been complied with. This is, however, subject to the fact that the Company complies with the requirements under the Act and the Rules and “continues to repay such deposits and interest due thereon on due dates for the remaining period” as per the terms and conditions.

Considering these provisions, it appears to us that Section 74(1)(b) was attracted and when it appears from record that the Appellant defaulted, the penal provisions would get attracted.

Thus, when once a scheme had been got settled, from CLB, default on the part of the Appellant would attract penal provisions as the earlier scheme itself laid down. Hence, present appeal for further extension is dismissed.

LESSON ROUND-UP

- All companies are given power to borrow by their articles which fix the maximum limit of borrowings.
- The power to borrow monies and to issue debentures (whether in or outside India) can only be exercised by the Directors at a duly convened meeting.
- Where the company borrows without the authority conferred on it by the Articles or beyond the amount set out in the Articles, it is an ultra-vires borrowing and hence void. Ultra vires borrowings cannot even be ratified by a resolution passed by the company in general meeting. In case of ultra-vires borrowings the lender has the following remedies: (a) Injunction and Recovery, (b) Subrogation, (c) Suit against Directors.
- A debenture is a document given by a company under its seal as an evidence of a debt to the holder usually arising out of a loan and most commonly secured by a charge.
- Debentures may be of different kinds, viz. redeemable debentures, registered and bearer debentures, secured and unsecured or naked debentures, convertible debentures.
- A debenture stock is a borrowed capital consolidated into one mass for the sake of convenience.
- A loan creates a right in the creditor to demand repayment, and the substance of a debt is a liability upon the debtor to repay the money.
- A debenture trust deed is one of the several instruments required to be executed to secure redemption of debentures and payment of interest on due dates.
- Section 71(4) of the Act required every company to create a debenture redemption reserve account to which adequate amount shall be credited out of its profits available for payment of dividend until such debentures are redeemed and shall utilize the same exclusively for redemption of a particular set or series of debentures only.
- Certificate of deposit is a document of title to a time deposit.
- Commercial paper refers to unsecured promissory notes issued by credit worthy companies to borrow funds on a short term basis.

- Section 73 prohibits a company to invite, accept or renew deposits from public except in the manner provided under Chapter V. This prohibition however shall not apply in case of banking company and non- banking financial company and such other company as the Central Government may specify.
- A company can invite deposits from its members subject to the passing of a resolution in general meeting subject to some conditions.
- No company under sub-section (2) of section 73 or any eligible company shall issue a circular or advertisement inviting secured deposits unless the company has appointed one or more deposit trustees for creating security for the deposits.
- The Company accepting deposits shall, on or before 30th day of April each year, deposit a sum not less than twenty percent of the amount of deposits maturing during the following year in a scheduled bank in a separate bank account to be called deposit repayment reserve account. The said reserve shall not be used by the Company for any purpose other than repayment of deposits.
- The company accepting deposits shall maintain at its registered office one or more registers for deposits accepted or renewed.

REGULATORY FRAMEWORK

- The Companies Act, 2013 (Section 77-87, 117, 180, 179)
- The Companies (Registration of Charges) Rules, 2014

INTRODUCTION

A charge is a form of security for a loan under which certain property is agreed to be "charged". It is a right created by a Company ("the borrower") on its assets or properties or any of its undertakings present and future, in favor of a financial institution or a bank or any other lender("the lenders"), which has agreed to extend financial assistance.

A charge may be created by executing loan agreements, hypothecation agreements, mortgage deeds and any other similar documents, which the borrowing company is required to execute in favour of the lending institutions and banks.

Definition & Meaning of "Charge"

Charge as defined under Transfer of Property Act, 1882- According to section 100 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, "where an immovable property of one person is by act of parties or operation of law made security for the payment of money to another and the transaction does not amount to a mortgage, the latter person is said to have a charge on the property, and all the provisions which apply to a simple mortgage shall, so far as may be, apply to such charge."

> In Kent and Sussex Sawmills Ltd. [1947] 17 Comp Cas 169 (Ch D), it was held by the Court that 'Whether a particular transaction is a charge or not is determined not by the form in which it is couched but by looking at the substance of it. Though a document is given in the form of an assignment, if, in reality, it is an instrument creating a security, registration as a charge cannot be evaded.'

Charge as defined under the Companies Act, 2013- Clause 16 of Section 2 of the Companies Act, 2013 defines the term "charge" as an interest or lien created on the property or assets of a company or any of its undertakings or both as security and includes a mortgage.

> Charge also includes a lien and an equitable charge whether created by an instrument in writing or by the deposit of title deed (In Dublin City Distillery Co. v. Deherty, 1914 AC 823)

Meaning of the key word "Interest" and "Lien" used in the definition of Charge:

Interest

- The meaning of "interest" as per Black's law dictionary is 'legal share in something: all or part of a legal or equitable claim to or right in property, right, title, and interest. Collectively, the word includes any aggregation of rights, privileges, powers and immunities; distributively, it refers to anyone right, privilege, power, or immunity.'
- Any and all, partial or total right to property or for the use of property, including an easement to pass over a neighboring parcel of land, the right to drill for oil, a possibility of acquiring title upon the happening of some event, or outright title.

Lien

- Lien is a French word meaning 'knot or binding' that was brought to Britain with the French language during the Norman Conquest in 1066.
- As per Black's Law Dictionary-"It is a legal right or interest that a creditor has in another's property lasting usually until a debt or duty it secures is satisfied."
- It is defined by Story as 'Lien, strictly is neither a jus in rem nor a jus ad rem, but is simply a right to possess and retain property until some claim attaching to it is satisfied or discharged."
- `Lien' in its primary sense is a right of a person to retain a property which is in his possession belonging to another until the present and accrued claims of the person in possession are satisfied. In this primary sense is given by law and not by contract.
- In view of this the term 'lien' as used in the definition of the 'Charge' in Section 2(16) of the Companies Act, 2013 would also include a 'negative lien' since a 'negative lien' is a subset of a 'lien'. Thus, in terms of Section 77 of the Companies Act, 2013 a 'Charge' created by a company in favour of a Corporate Lender over its assets, including shares which is form of a 'negative lien' will have to be registered with the Registrar of Companies.

- In the case of K. Saradambal v Jaganathan & Bros. (1972) 42 Comp Cas 359 (Mad), it was held that a holder of a lien is a secured creditor and if the lien is statutory, his claim need not be registered under erstwhile section 125 of the Companies Act, 1956.

  However, as per the provisions of clause (16) of section 2 read with section 77 of the Companies Act, 2013, it is required to be registered as a charge with the Registrar.

- In the case of the Bank of India Ltd. vs. Rustom Fakirji Cowasjee (1955) 57 BOMLR 850, it was held that negative lien, like any other type of lien, is merely an assurance to keep the property unencumbered and does not amount to right to sale. As per the inclusive definition of 'charge' such type of lien shall also be included.

As per U.K. Companies Act, 2006, "charge includes a mortgage, a standard security, assignation in security, and any other right in security constituted under the law of Scotland, including any heritable security, but not including a pledge.

Essential Features of Charge

In general, a charge has the following essential features:

Parties to the Charge

There are minimum two parties to the transaction, the creator of the charge (company on whose property the charge is created) and the charge holder (one who lends money).

Subject Matter

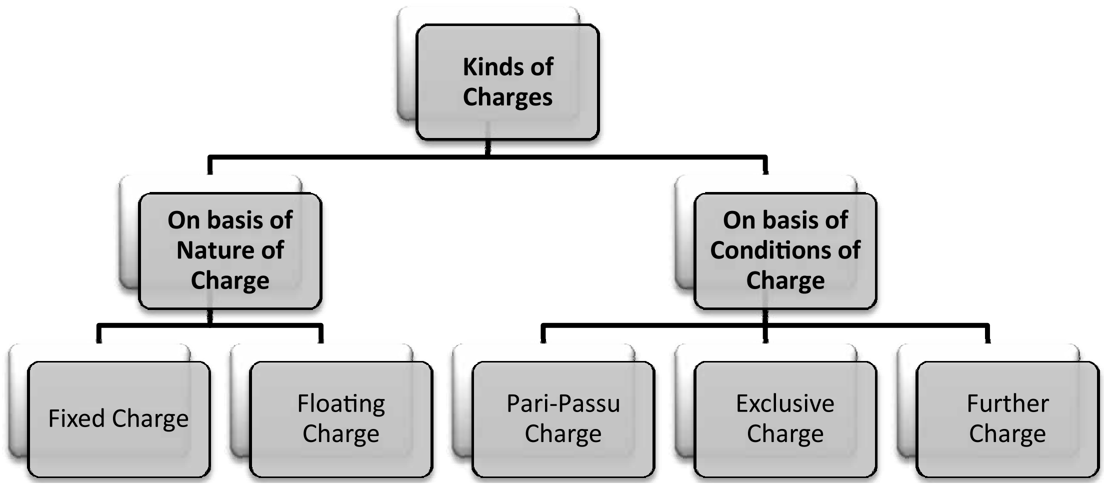
There must be a subject matter for which the charge is created.The subject matter of charge may be on current or future assets and properties of the borrower.

Agreement

There must be an agreement between the two parties specifying the security rendered for repayment of borrowed money, together with payment of interest at the agreed rate etc.

Therefore, one should be able to distinguish between the charge created by an act of parties or by operation of law. As the section uses the expression 'duty of every company creating a charge', it refers to only such charge which are created by act of parties i.e. between the company and the lender and not to charge created by way of operation of statute or a decree.

Types of Charges



Difference between Fixed or Specific Charge and Floating Charge

Basis	Fixed Charge	Floating Charge
Nature	It is a legal Charge	It is an equitable Charge
Meaning	Security in terms of certain specific property	Security remains dormant until it is fixed or crystallised
Scope	It is created to cover assets which are ascertained and definite or are capable of being ascertained and defined, at the time of creating the charge	It is created on variable property which keeps on changing or moving. The property or assets of the Company cannot be specifically ascertained
Created on	It is created on fixed assets like land, building, or plant and machinery	It is created on floating assets like stock-in-trade, debtors etc.
Priority	It has priority over floating Charge	No such priority
Disposing of assets	The Mortgagor i.e., Company cannot dispose off the property without the consent of the charge holder	The Mortgagor is free to deal with the property as it sees fit until the holders of charge take steps to enforce their security

On the basis on the conditions of the charge

The charge may be created in favour of the charge holders as per the terms and conditions agreed by the parties in the following manner:

- Pari-Passu* charge - Under this, the charge is shared by more than one lender in the ratio of their outstanding amount. The prior consent of the existing charge holder is required by the company.

- Exclusive charge - The security under the exclusive charge is provided to a particular lender only.
- Further charge - With the consent on the first charge holder, the particular assets on which charge is already created may be provided to other lenders as second charge. In case of liquidation of assets, the first charge holder has the right to recover his dues and the balance is recovered by the second charge holder followed by others.

Crystallization of Floating Charge

A floating charge is a security (that is mortgage, lien etc) that has an underlying asset or group of assets which is subject to change in quantity and value. It is a security interest over a fund of changing assets of a company or other artificial person, which 'floats' until the point at which it is converted into a fixed charge; at which point the charge attaches to specific asset of the business.

A floating charge attaches to the company's property generally and remains dormant till it crystallizes or becomes fixed. The company has a right to carry on its business with the help of assets over which a floating charge has been created till the happening of some event which determines this right.

This conversion of the floating charge into a fixed charge known as crystallization can be triggered by following events:

(1) Cessation of business, including winding up and ceasing business operations as a going concern prior to winding up; and

(2) Debenture holder intervention, including appointment of a receiver or manager, taking possession as debenture holder and obtaining an injunction against company dealings with charged asset generally;

(3) On the happening of event specified in deed.

CASE LAWS

The Supreme Court has remarked in Narendra Kumar Maheshwari vs Union of India & Ors (1989 SCR (3) 43, as follows: "The concept of floating charge was, invented by the Victorian Lawyers only because of its special advantages in as much as it leaves a company free to deal with its assets in the ordinary course of business and does not require the permission of debenture-holders or debenture trustees for dealing with them or creating further charges.

It has been pointed out that the business of a corporation would be paralysed if it could not deal with its assets and create future charges, ranking superior in priority, and if it would have to obtain the permission of the debenture holders for doing so."

While elaborating another contour of floating charges it remarked further, "This however does not mean that the company can keep on creating future charges with superior ranking without any let or hindrance because the debenture holders/ trustees can any time move to crystallise the floating security if they feel that the security is in jeopardy."

In Government Stock Investment Co. Ltd. v. Manila Railway Co. Ltd., (1897) A.C. 81, the debentures were secured by a floating charge. Three months' interest became due but the debenture holders took no steps and so the charge did not crystallize but remained floating. The company then made a mortgage of a specific part of its property. Held, the mortgagee had priority. The security for the debentures remained merely a floating security as the debenture holders had taken no steps to enforce their security.

Maturi U. Rao v. Pendyala (A.I.R 1970 A.P 225)- In this case, it was held that when floating charge crystallizes it becomes fixed and the assets comprised are subject to the same restrictions as the fixed charge.

Suppose, Xenon Ltd. borrowed money from Bank till 2021, and the bank has created a floating charge on the company's stock. If the company does not pay the borrowed amount till 2021, then their stock will be crystallised, and they won't be able to sell their goods from 2021.

From the above example, it is clear that the company has the right to carry on its business with its stock having a floating charge till the time the charge comes into action or the charge holder determines its rights.

Effect of Crystallisation of a Floating Charge

On crystallization, the floating charge converts into a fixed charge on the property of the company. It has priority over any subsequent equitable charge and other unsecured creditors. But preferential creditors who have priority for payment over secured creditors in the winding-up, gets priority over the claims of the debenture holders having floating charge.

CASE LAWS

In Permanent Houses (Holdings) Ltd. 1988 BCLC 563(CHD), where a company issued debenture creating a charge in favor of a lending bank mentioning that the charge shall crystallize on happening of an event or default in payment. When the payment was not made on demand by bank, it was held that the charge was no longer a floating charge at the time when receiver was appointed.

The learned Judges from an English case reported in case of Evans v. Rival Granite Quarries Ltd. "A floating security is not a future security; it is a present security, which possibly affects all the assets of the company expressed to be included in it.

On the other hand, it is not a specific security; the holder cannot affirm that the assets are specifically mortgaged to him. The assets are mortgaged in such a way that the mortgagor can deal with them without the concurrence of the mortgagee. A floating security is not a specific mortgage of the assets, plus a license to the mortgagor to dispose of them in the course of the business, but is a floating mortgage applying to every item comprised in the security, but not specifically affecting any item until some event occurs or some act on the part of the mortgagee is done which causes it to crystallize into a fixed security."

In Stein v Saywell (1968-1969)``Its distinguishing feature is that, the class of present and future assets that are charged being such as in the ordinary course of the company's business would be changing from time to time, the company is left at liberty, until one of the `crystallizing' events happens, to dispose freely, in the ordinary course of its business, of any property to which it attaches."

Official Liquidator vs. Sri Krishna Deo, (1959) 29 Com Cases 476: AIR 1959 All 247 and Roy& Bros. v. Ramnath Das, (1945) 15 Com Cases 69, 75 (Cal)]. The plant and machinery of a company embedded in the earth or permanently fastened to things attached to the earth became a part of the company's immovable property and therefore apart from the registration under the Companies Act, registration under the Indian Registration Act would also be necessary to make the charge valid and effective.

Cosslett (Contractors) Ltd., Re, (1996) 1 BCLC 407 (Ch D) A construction company's washing machine which was in use at the site was declared under the terms of the contract to be the employer's property during the period of construction. This was held to have created a fixed charge and not a floating charge on the machine because the machine was only one fixed item and was not likely to change.

In Lord Macnaghten in Government Stock Investment Company Ltd. vs. Manila Rly. Company Ltd., (1897) A.C. 81, observed "is an equitable charge on the assets for the time being of a going concern. It attaches to the subject charged in the varying condition in which it happens to be from time to time. It is the essence of such a charge that it remains dormant until the undertaking charged ceases to be a going concern, or until the person in whose favour the charge is created intervenes".

Illingworth & Another vs. Holdsworth & Another, [1904] AC 355 "A floating charge is ambulatory and shifting in its nature hovering over and so to speak floating with the property which it is intended to affect until some event occurs or act is done which causes it to settle and fasten on the subject of the charge within its reach and grasp.

In Smith vs. Bridgend County Borougn Council (2002) 1 BCLC 77 (HC), the agreement was held to constitute a floating charge, in so far as it allowed the employer, in various situations of default by the contractor,to sell the contractor's plant and equipment and apply the proceeds in discharge of its obligations. A right to sell an asset belonging to a debtor and appropriate the proceeds to payment of the debt could not be anything other than a charge. It was a floating charge because the property in question was a fluctuating body of assets which could be consumed or removed from the site in the ordinary course of the contractor's business.

Whether Preferential Creditors having priority over the floating charge-holder?

Yes, Preferential Creditors who have priority for payment over secured creditors in the winding up get priority over the claims of the Debenture holders having floating charge.

Difference between Mortgage and Charge

S. No.	Mortgage	Charge
1.	A mortgage is created by the act of the parties.	A charge may be created either through the act of parties or by operation of law.
2.	A mortgage requires registration under the Transfer of Property Act, 1882.	A charge created by operation of law does not require registration but a charge created by act of parties requires registration.
3.	A mortgage is a transfer of an interest in specific immovable property.	A charge only gives a right to receive payment out of a particular property. There is no such transfer of interest in the case of a charge. Charge does not operate as transfer of an interest in the property and a transferee of the property gets the property free from the charge provided, he purchases it for value without notice of the charge.
4.	A mortgage is for a fixed term.	The charge may be in perpetuity.
5.	A mortgage is good against subsequent transferees.	A charge is good against subsequent transferees with notice.
6.	A simple mortgage carries personal liability unless excluded by express contract.	In case of charge, no personal liability is created. But where a charge is the result of a contract, there may be a personal remedy.

In a charge, the right to sell the property is contractual and can be defeated by a bona fide purchaser for value without notice, whereas, in the case of a mortgage, the right to sell will consist of interest in the property being transferred to the mortgagee. In the case of a charge as well as in the case of a mortgage two elements are common. First, that there is a loan and secondly, that there is a security for the repayment of the loan. The only difference between a charge and a mortgage is that in the case of a mortgage there is transfer of interest but in the case of a charge there is no transfer of interest. The above dictum was propounded in In Re. Calcutta National Bank Ltd. v. Rangaroon Tea Co. Ltd [(1970) 40 Comp. Cas. 565(Cal.)]. Clause 16 of section 2 of the Act states that "charge" means an interest or lien created on the property or assets of a company or any of its undertakings or both as security and includes a mortgage. A charge includes a lien and also an equitable charge.

Difference between Charge and Pledge

S. No.	Charge	Pledge
1.	It is not a physical transfer of property of one to another.	It is a bailment of personal property as security for some debt or engagement, redeemable on certain terms, and with an implied power of sale on default.
2.	It is a right created in favour of one, referred to as "the lender" in the immovable property of another, referred to as "the borrower", as security for repayment of the loan and payment of interest on the terms and conditions contained in the loan documents evidencing charge.	It consists of a delivery of goods by a debtor to his creditor as security for a debt or other obligation, to be held until the debt is repaid along with interest or other obligation of the debtor is discharged, and then to be delivered back to the pledger, the title not being changed during the continuance of the pledge.
Both a pledge and a charge are the result of voluntary act of parties. Both create security but the nature of the security is different.

Registrable Charges

Section 2(16) and section 77 of the Act require to register the charge created by way of every kind of interest or lien (including negative lien) on the property or assets, tangible or otherwise, of a company as security, including mortgage. The section does not list down types of charge to be registered unlike provisions of section 125 of the Companies Act, 1956.

However, by adding fourth proviso to sub-section(1) to Section 77, the Central Government has been empowered to prescribe certain charges to which section 77 is not made applicable.

The following is an indicative list of charges to be registered with the Registrar:—

I. a charge created for the purpose of securing any issue of debentures or deposits;

II. a charge on uncalled share capital of the company;

III. a charge on any immovable property, wherever situate, or any interest therein. This includes mortgage by deposit of title deeds. [Wallis v. Simmonds (Builders) Ltd. (1974) 1 All ER 561];

IV. a charge on any book debt of the company. Assignment of book-debts as security is covered. [Paul and Frank Ltd v. Discount Bank Overseas Ltd. (1966) 2 All ER 9221 (Ch D)];

V. a lien on sub freight is a charge on book-debt of the company. {Welsh Irish Ferries Ltd. (1985) [ECLE 327 (Ch D)]]; Ladenberg & Co. v. Goodwin (1912) 3 KB 275;

VI. a charge, on any movable property of the company;

VII. a floating charge on the undertaking or any property of the company including stock-in-trade;

VIII. a charge on calls made but not paid;

IX. a charge on a ship or any share in a ship;

X. a charge on intangible assets, including goodwill, patent, a license under a patent, trade mark, copy right or a license under a copyright;

XI. a charge or assignment on insurance policies obtained by the company;

XII. all and every kind of pledge margin money, including shares, is a pledge;

XIII. Lien on shares in the company (e.g. company A has invested in shares of company B. The latter, through its Articles has lien over shares including fully paid shares for any debts due from member including trade debts. Company B supplies goods to company A on credit. On such supply, lien is created and should be registered as charge).

Illustration:

There are two Companies ABC Ltd and XYZ td. ABC Ltd. took loan from the Bank and XYZ Ltd. gave guarantee on its property.

- Whether Charge will be created in ABC Ltd?
- Whether Charge will be created in XYZ Ltd?

In the above situation XYZ Ltd. is giving its assets as security to bank for loan to ABC Ltd., therefore assets of the XYZ Ltd. is involved. Charge will be created in the XYZ Ltd and not on the property of ABC Ltd.

REGISTRATION OF CHARGES (SECTION 77, 78 &79)

Primarily, under section 77(1) of the Act, every company creating a charge is required to register the particulars of charge signed by the company and its charge-holder together with the instruments creating the charge.

The legislative intent behind the section 77 of the Act, is to ensure that all encumbrances made by the company on its property or assets or any of its undertakings are made public. This is especially required to protect the interest of the lenders to ensure that the assets being offered as security for their proposed facilities are not already encumbered.

Once a charge is registered, it will be in the public domain and the lender can verify the details of financial facilities obtained and charge created on property or assets or any of its undertakings. This section serves two fold purpose: preventing the company from simultaneously borrowing on the same assets without notice to previous lender and providing clear information to the new lender about the status of the assets.

The provisions applicable to the registration of a charge under Section 77 shall mutatis mutandis apply to modification of the charge.

The MCA has prescribed the following additional fees or ad valorem fees as the case may be, payable with effect from 01.08.2019 on the charges created after 02.11.2018: -

Period of delay	Small Companies and One Person Company	Other than Small Companies and One Person Company
Up to 30 days of Delay (up to 60 Days from the date of Creation or Modification)	3 times normal fee	6 times normal fee
More than 30 days and up to 90 days delay (up to 120 days from the date of Creation or Modification)	3 times of normal fees plus an ad valorem fee of 0.025 per cent. of the amount secured by the charge, subject to the maximum of rupees one lakh.	6 times of normal fees, plus an ad valorem fee of 0.05 per cent. of the amount secured by the charge, subject to the maximum of rupees five lakhs.

After amendments in Section 77 of the Act, the provisions restricts the ability of the company to register charge after expiry of 120 days resulting beyond 120 days the charge cannot be registered. In such case the lending institution or the company should ensure registration before 120 days otherwise the entire purpose of registration of charge to have transparent information in public domain will be defeated. This situation also deprives genuine lenders to recover their dues. This also gives wrong picture of charges on the property of the company, when third party takes search of MCA for registration of charges.

Verification of Instruments- Rule 3(4) of the Companies (Registration of Charges) Rules, 2014

A copy of every instrument evidencing any creation or modification of charge are required to be filed with the Registrar in pursuance of section 77, 78 or 79 shall be verified as follows:

- where the instrument or deed relates solely to the property situated outside India, the copy shall be verified by a certificate issued either under the seal, if any, of the company, or under the hand of any Director or Company Secretary of the company or an authorised officer of the charge holder or under the hand of some person other than the company who is interested in the mortgage or charge, stating that it is a true copy;

- where the instrument or deed relates, whether wholly or partly, to the property situated in India, the copy shall be verified by a certificate issued under the hand of any Director or Company Secretary of the company or an authorised officer of the charge holder, stating that it is a true copy.

Subsequent Registration shall not Prejudice any Right

Third Proviso to Section 77(1) states that any subsequent registration of a charge shall not prejudice any right acquired in respect of any property before the charge is actually registered which means that the rights of the former charge holder will not be affected in case of the creation of the subsequent charge.

Non-Applicability to certain charges as prescribed in consultation

Fourth Proviso to Section 77(1) states that the section w.r.t. registration of charges, shall not apply to such charges as may be prescribed in consultation with the Reserve Bank of India.

Central Government has been empowered that in consultation with RBI, they may specify certain charges, for which section 77 is not applicable. Therefore, registration of such charges is not required to be registered with the ROC.

Consequences of Non-Registration of Charges

According to Section 77 of the Companies Act, 2013, all types of charges created by a company are to be registered by the ROC, where they are non-compliant and are not filed with the Registrar of Companies for registration, it shall be void as against the liquidator and any other creditor of the company. This does not, however, mean that the charge is altogether void and the debt is not recoverable. So long as the company does not go into liquidation, the charge is good and may be enforced.

Void against the liquidator means that the liquidator on winding up of the company can ignore the charge and can treat the concerned creditor as unsecured creditor. The property will be treated as free of charge i.e. the creditor cannot sell the property to recover its dues.

Void against any creditor of the company means that if any subsequent charge is created on the same property and the earlier charge is not registered, the earlier charge would have no consequence and the latter charge if registered would enjoy priority. In other words, the latter charge holder can have the property sold in order to recover its money.

Thus, non-filing of particulars of a charge does not invalidate the charge against the company as a going concern. It is void only against the liquidator and the creditors at the time of liquidation. The company itself cannot have a cause of action arising out of non- registration [Independent Automatic Sales Ltd. v. Knowles & Foster (1962) 32 Comp Cas].

In light of the expression "Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, no charge created by a company shall be taken into account by the liquidator appointed under this Act or the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016, as the case may be, or any other creditor unless it is duly registered under sub-section (1) of Section 77 and a certificate of registration of such charge is given by the Registrar under sub-section(2).

In other words, unless the charge created is registered with the Registrar and a certificate of registration of such charge is given by the Registrar, no other law can force the liquidator or other creditor to take into account the said charge.

The liquidator or other creditor of the company need not consider the said unregistered charge against assets of the company.

CASE LAWS

In the case of ONGC Ltd v. Official Liquidators of Ambica Mills Co. Ltd. (2006) 132 Comp Cas 606 (Guj). The ONGC had not been able to point out whether the so called charge, on the basis of which it was claiming preference as a secured creditor, was registered or not. It was held that in the light of this failure, ONCG could not be treated as a secured creditor in view of specific provisions of section 125 under the erstwhile Companies Act, 1956 and the statutory requirement under the said section. This does not, however, mean that the charge is altogether void and the debt is not recoverable. So long as the company does not go into liquidation, the charge is good and may be enforced.

In the case of Antifriction Bearing Corporation Limited v. State of Maharashtra, [(1966) (1999) 20 SCL, 373 (Bom)] it was held that charges were to be void against the liquidator or creditor unless registered. The Bombay High Court observed that filing of copy of document of charge with Registrar is not the formality but a definite legal requirement and that non-filing creates a certain legal impediment.

In the case of Official Liquidator v. Suryakant Natvarlal Surati [(1986) 59 Comp Cas 147 (Bom)] it was held that if a decree was passed on an unregistered charge, before company was ordered to be wound up, section 125 of the Companies Act, 1956 (Now section 77 of the Companies Act, 2013) would still apply in case the decree keeps the unregistered charge alive.

In the absence of registration of a charge, on date of winding up order, Official Liquidator would be justified in treating such charge holder as ordinary creditor. [Rajasthan Financial Corporation v. Official Liquidator, Jaipur Spinning & Weaving Mills Ltd. (In liquidation)][(1997) 88 Comp Cas 192 (Raj)]

Unless and until a charge is registered with the Registrar, it has no sanctity notwithstanding the fact that such charge was brought into vogue by reason of agreement inter-parties between the two creditors or by registration of guarantee bond. [A.P. State Financial Corpn. v. Mopeds India Ltd. [(2005) 124 Comp Cas 833 (AP)].

Volkswagen Finance Pvt. Ltd vs. Shree Bala Printopack Pvt Ltd & Ors, NCLAT, 19th October, 2020

Fact of the Case

The Company (under Liquidation) namely Shree Balaji Printopack Pvt. Ltd. executed a Loan and Hypothecation Agreement on 25.11.2013, for an amount of Rs. 36,00,000/- payable in 84 monthly instalments of Rs. 61,964/- each from 15.12.2013 to 15.11.2020, for the purchase of an AUDI Q3 TDI 2.0 vehicle. It was stated by the Appellant that they have security of the vehicle in terms of Sections 52 and 53 of the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016. It was averred that a demand of Rs. 21,83,819.18/- was made which was not paid and hence there was a 'default' and the amount became 'due and payable'.

The Learned Adjudicating Authority had appointed a Liquidator vide Order dated 03.04.2019 and Claims were invited Company Appeal (AT) (Insolvency) No. 02 of 2020 from the Creditors as per the provisions of the Code. The Applicant namely, M/s. Volkswagen Finance Pvt. Ltd. filed its claim on 22.07.2019 with the copies of the Loan Agreement, the Hypothecation Deed, the Demand Letter and the Registration Certificate of the vehicle together with the invoices concerned for the consideration of the Liquidator. The Applicant had informed the Liquidator that the 'Charge' was duly registered by way of hypothecation registration with the Regional Transport Office (RTO) in terms of Section 51 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 (M.V. Act). It is the Applicant's case that there was no requirement of registration of 'Charge' with the R.O.C and that the Liquidator, without examining the Certificate issued by the Registration Authority under the 'M.V. Act' dismissed the Claim made by the Applicant. Being aggrieved with the decision dated 26.07.2019 of the Liquidator, the Applicant approached the Adjudicating Authority seeking to set aside the Order of the Liquidator.

The Learned Adjudicating Authority while dismissing the Application observed as follows;

The Liquidator has referred to Regulation 21 of the IBBI (Liquidation Process) Regulation, 2016 and submitted that the claim of the Applicant is not supported by any documentary evidence as prescribed under the said Regulation and the Applicant cannot be treated as a secured creditor. Further, as per submission of the Liquidator, the Applicant is to be treated as Unsecured Financial Creditor.

Further, the claim of the Applicant is not fulfilling any of the requirements under Regulation 21 of the IBBI (Liquidation Process) Regulation, 2016. Further, the Liquidator has referred to the provisions of Section 77(3) of the CA, 2013 and submitted that no charge has been registered under Section 77(1) in relation to the Subject Property.

Arguments

Learned Counsel appearing for the Appellant contended that the Learned Adjudicating Authority failed to take into consideration that the 'Charge' of the Appellant was duly registered by way of hypothecation under Registration Certificate with the RTO in terms of Section 51 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988; that the Hypothecation Deed, Loan Agreement, CIBIL Record, Admission of the 'Debt and Default' was not considered; that Hypothecation is a method of creation of security of movable property and the goods so hypothecated continued to be in possession of the owner, i.e. the Borrower and hence it is a way of Company Appeal (AT) (Insolvency) No. 02 of 2020 creating security without delivery of possession and as in the literal sense of term, the lender is 'hypothetically' in control of the property; that the definition of 'Hypothecation', 'Charge', 'Secured Asset', 'Financial Asset', 'Financial Creditor', 'Secured Creditor', clearly explains the position of Law on the subject more particularly Sections 3 (4), 3 (31), 3 (37) of IBC and Sections 2(1)(b) and 2 (16) of the Companies Act 2013; that the hypothecated vehicle of the Applicant is the 'Security' as recognised under Law and, therefore, the Appellant has every right under Sections 52 and 53 read with Section 36(4)(b) of the IBC to proceed independently. The Learned Appellant Counsel strenuously contended that Hypothecation is merely an extended form of 'Pledge' which allows a lender to retain possession in trust for himself and, therefore, Hypothecation is a subset of 'Pledge'.

He further contended that Section 77 (1), 77 (2) require that 'Charge' is to be registered, but nowhere categorises on what items Company Appeal (AT) (Insolvency) No. 02 of 2020 the 'Charge' is to be registered by a Company or a Financial Institution. Section 77 (3) states that unless 'Charge' is registered, the claim would not be considered and read with Section 77 (4) and Section 79, it is made clear that non-Registration of 'Charge' does not impact the original contract and 'Security' so created.

He submitted that the Learned Adjudicating Authority failed to adopt a Harmonious Construction of the 'MV Act' and the IBC Code.

Learned Counsel for the Respondent relied on the Judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Kerala State Financial Enterprises Ltd. vs. Official Liquidator, High Court of Kerala, (2006) 10 SCC 709, in which the Hon'ble Apex Court, while confirming the Order of the Hon'ble High Court of Kerala observed that 'ordinarily a 'Charge' should be registered in terms of Section 125 of the Act and if the charges are not registered the same would be void against the Liquidator or Creditors'. He also drew our attention to the Judgement of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Oil and Natural Gas Corporation Ltd. vs. Official Liquidator of Ambica Mills Co. Ltd. and Ors., (2015) 5 SCC 300 in which the Hon'ble Apex Court while placing reliance on Indian Bank vs. Official Liquidator, Chemmeens Exports (P.) Ltd. and Ors., (1998) 5 SCC 401 in which the Hon'ble Apex Court has observed that 'Section 125 applies to every 'Charge' created by the Company on or after 01.04.1914. But where the 'Charge is by Operation of Law or is created by order or decree of the Court, Section 125 has no Application'.

Point of Contention

The main issue which falls for consideration in this Appeal is whether the Liquidator was justified in rejecting the Application filed by the Applicant on the ground that the Applicant was not a 'Secured Financial Creditor' in the absence of the 'Charge' being registered with the Registrar of Companies (ROC) under Section 77 (1) of the Companies Act 2013 with respect to the Subject Property that the Appellant was not a Secured Creditor entitled to realise the security interest in accordance with Section 52(1)(b) of the Code.

Decision

In connection with the above, it is relevant to refer to the judgement passed by the Hon'ble High Court of Kerala in Kerala State Financial Enterprises vs. Official Liquidator, reported in (2006) 133 Company Case 912 (Kerala), wherein it has been held that if, 'the charge had not been registered under Section 125 of the Companies Act 1956, then, undisputedly the Appellant has to be considered as an Unsecured Creditor and has to be in que with other creditors to receive its dues as and when assets of the company are collected by the Official Liquidator for distribution in accordance with law'.

The said judgement was upheld by the Hon'ble Apex Court on the Appeal filed as reported in (2006) Company Appeal (AT) (Insolvency) No. 02 of 2020 133 Company Case 915 (SC).

It is concluded that no charge has been registered under the provisions of Section 77(1) of the CA, 2013 in relation to the Subject Property. This is also confirmed from the format as provided under the Rule 3(1) of the Companies (Registration of charges) Rules, 2014 (Form No. CHG-1), which indicated various types of charge i.e. immovable Property, book debts, Motor Vehicle (hypothecation), goodwill etc. indicating that motor vehicle is one of the specific type of charge which is mandatory to be registered with ROC. Therefore, the Applicant cannot be treated as Secured Financial Creditor. Accordingly, the issue framed herein above is decided against the Applicant and in favour of the Liquidator.

Certificate of Registration of Charge & Certificate of Modification of Charge Section 77(2) read with Rule 6 of Companies (Registration of Charges) Rules, 2014

Registrar shall issue, to the company or to the person in whose favor the charge is created, in the below mentioned form:
Certificate of registration of charge	Form CHG-2
Certificate of modification of charge	Form CHG-3

The certificate issued by the Registrar whether in case of registration of charge or registration of modification of charge, as the case may be shall be conclusive evidence that the requirements of Chapter VI of the Act (Registration of Charges) and the rules made thereunder as to registration of creation or modification of charge, as the case may be, have been complied with.

Importance of Registration of Charge and its Certificate

As per Section 77(3) of the Companies Act, 2013 , the registration under Section 77(1) and Certification under Section 77(2) plays very important role. This is because of the initial words under sub-section(3) "Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force". This has overriding effect to take cognizance of any charge either by the liquidator appointed under the Companies Act, 2013 or under the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016, if and only if it is registered and certificate is issued as per this section.

However, Section 77(4) provides an exemption to this stringency. Under this sub-section, it will not prejudice any contract or obligation for the repayment of the money secured by a charge, even though it is not registered and a certificate is not issued by the Registrar as mentioned under this section.

CASE STUDY

Indiabulls Housing Finance Ltd vs. Samir Kumar Bhattacharya & Anr on 18 December, 2019, NCLAT

Fact of the case

It is the case of the Appellant that the Appellant was treated as Unsecured Financial Creditor in the Resolution Plan although according to the Appellant, the Appellant should have been treated as a Secured Financial Creditor.

Learned Counsel for the Appellant has argued that the Appellant had given loan to the Corporate Debtor sometime in 2012 and against the loan provided, Title Deed belonging to the Corporate Debtor were handed over to the Appellant and thus it is stated that the equitable mortgage had been created. Learned Counsel states that when CIRP started, the Appellant filed the claim before the Resolution Professional-Respondent No. 1 but the Resolution Professional treated the Appellant as Unsecured Claimant on the basis that the Charge was not created under Section 77 of the Companies Act, 2013.

Arguments

Learned Counsel for the Appellant submits that as per Section 77 of the Companies Act, 2013, it was the responsibility of the Corporate Debtor to get the Charge registered and thus the Appellant could not be made to suffer. It is argued that in spite of this, the Appellant applied to ROC on 05.12.2018 for registering its charge and when ROC pointed out that Delay Condonation Application was required, the same was filed on 19.07.2019 and the Charge has now been registered on 03.10.2019. Submission of the learned Counsel for the Appellant is that the Appellant should be treated as Secured Financial Creditor.

Learned Counsel for the Respondent No. 2 referred to Sections 77 and 78 of the Companies Act, 2013 to submit that when a Charge is created, the Company creating Charge and Charge holder both are required to get the Charge registered and if the concerned Company fails to register the Charge within given period of 30 days from the date of creation of Charge, (referring Section 78 of Companies Act, 2013) there is an option even for the Charge Holder to move ROC and get the Charge registered. It is the submission that no such steps had been taken till CIRP started. The benefit cannot be taken by such Creditor.

Decision

The NCLAT observed that, the CoC (Committee of Creditors) had made it clear that in absence of Charge being registered, the Appellant could not be treated as Secured Financial Creditor. Although the transaction is stated to be of 2012, it is clear that the Charge was not got registered either by the Corporate Debtor or the Appellant till now on 03.10.2019 which is after the Resolution Plan was approved on 04.07.2019.

Section 77 of the Companies Act, 2013 required the Charge to be registered and the Appellant had an option to resort to even Section 78 of Companies Act, 2013, if there were any grievances. Not having done so, when CIRP started trying to rely on the equitable mortgage without a charge created, we do not find there was any error in the CoC meetings which in its wisdom did not recognize creation of security. The transaction did not even reflect in the Books of Account of the Corporate Debtor. Appellant should be happy that it has been at least treated as Financial Creditor. Appellant took no actions since 2012 and till late stage of CIRP. Charge registered after Resolution Plan is approved cannot be considered.

It is held that, there is no reason to interfere now in the Appeal directly filed before us without subject having been taken up with the Adjudicating Authority at any earlier time nor when the Resolution Plan was being discussed. In the circumstances, there is no substance in the appeal. The appeal is dismissed.

APPLICATION FOR REGISTRATION OF CHARGE (SECTION 78)

- Where a company fails to "register the charge within the period of thirty days referred to in sub-section (1) of section 77", the person in whose favor the charge is created may apply to the Registrar for registration of the charge along with the instrument created for the charge in Form No.CHG-1 or Form No.CHG- 9, as the case may be, within the period as specified in Section 77 duly signed along with payment of additional fee or ad valorem fee.
- The registrar may, on such application, give notice to the company about such application. The company may either itself register the charge or shows sufficient cause why such charge should not be registered.
- On failure on part of the company, the Registrar may allow registration of such charge within 14 days after giving notice to the company. This does not extinguish the liability of the company in case any offence has been committed in registration like delay to register the charge.

- Where registration is affected on application of the person in whose favour the charge is created, that person shall be entitled to recover from the company, the amount of any fee or additional fees paid by him to the Registrar for the purpose of registration of charge.

Acquiring Property subject to a Charge (Section 79)

The provisions of section 77 relating to registration of charges shall, so far as may be, apply to -

- a company acquiring any property subject to a charge within the meaning of that section; or
- where there is modification in the terms or conditions or the extent or operation of any charge registered under that section.

(a) Company acquiring any property subject to a Charge

When the modification in the particulars of charge by Asset Reconstruction Company (ARC) in terms of Securitization and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Interest Act, 2002 (SERFASAI). The Charge is required to be registered as required in case of the registration of Charge under section 77 of the Companies Act, 2013.

The time limit provided under the section 77 shall apply from the date of completion of acquisition as the assets become assets of the company form such date.

Test Yourself

Any person acquiring property (on which charge is registered under section 77) shall be deemed to have notice of the charge from:

(a) end of 30 days (b) date of application for charge (c) date acquiring the property (d) date of such registration

(b) Modification of Charge

The term 'modification' includes variation of any of the terms of the agreement including variation of rate of interest, increase / decrease in amount of borrowings, change / swap of security, extension of time for repayment, which may be by mutual agreement or by operation of law. Even if the rights of a charge holder are assigned to a third party, it will be regarded as a modification.

Modification of charge is a stage subsequent to the creation of charge. It is quite likely that the terms and conditions or limits of charge already created/registered with the concerned Registrar are subsequently changed or modified due to further developments by creation of equitable mortgage on a subsequent date or enhancement or reduction of credit facilities, etc.

MCA has clarified that so long as the terms and conditions or the extent of operation of any charge is modified for whatever reason, the provision of section 79 would become applicable. Therefore, even in case of modification of charge without any mutual agreement between the parties thereto namely as a result of change in law, the provision of Section 79 of the Act are attracted.

The Department has also clarified that a transfer or an assignment of a charge by the charge holder is a case of modification of the conditions of the charge and it necessarily fall within the purview of Section 79 of the Companies Act, 2013. Consequently, requisite particulars will have to be filed in Form CHG-1 with the Registrar.

Useful modifications may include, inter alia, the following:

1) Increase/decrease in amount of borrowings
2) Change/swap of Security
3) Change/variation in rate of interest (other than change in relation to bank rate)
4) Extension of time for repayment
5) Assignment of charge in favour of another person

Section 79 of the Act makes it clear that the requirement of registering the charge shall also apply to a company acquiring any property subject to charge or any modification in terms and conditions of any charge already registered.

The provisions relating to application to Registrar under Rule 4 shall apply, mutatis mutandis, to the registration of charge on any property acquired subject to such charge and modification of charge under section 79 of the Act.

CASE STUDY

SICOM Limited vs. Mr. Sundaresh Bhat, NCLAT dated 6th January, 2022

The brief facts of the case and sequence of events necessary to be noted for deciding this Appeal are:

(i) The ABG Shipyard Limited – Corporate Debtor had obtained financial assistance from the Appellant vide sanction letter dated 28th March, 2013. A Medium Term Loan of Rs. 90,00,00,000 (Rupees Ninety Crores Only) was sanctioned by the Appellant to the Corporate Debtor.

The Loan Agreement was entered between the Corporate Debtor and the Appellant. Security was provided by the Corporate Debtor for the loan by mortgage and hypothecation. The Loan Agreement was executed on 30th March, 2013.

(ii) The Deed of Hypothecation was also executed on 11th April, 2013, creating first exclusive charge for the entire receivables under Shipbuilding Subsidy Scheme.

(iii) On 31st October, 2013, the account of Corporate Debtor was classified as Non-Performing Asset (NPA). The Appellant issued notices and reminders to pay outstanding money and ultimately filed an O.A. No.274 of 2016 before the Debt Recovery Tribunal, (DRT) Ahmedabad seeking recovery of Rs.144,46,95,879/- together with interest. The DRT Ahmedabad vide its judgment dated 26th April, 2017 allowed the O.A. and directed the defendants to jointly and severally deposit Rs.144,46,95,879/- within 30 days, failing which due was to recover from their mortgaged and hypothecated properties.

(iv) On 30th November, 2018, the Resolution Professional circulated the list of Financial Creditors wherein the claim of the Appellant was categorized as 'Secured Financial Creditor'. An order dated 25th April, 2019 was passed directing for liquidation by the Adjudicating Authority. Liquidator issued public announcement on 3rd May, 2019, in response to which, the Appellant filed its proof of claim of Rs.259,97,90,186/-

(v) The Liquidator on 24th May, 2019 wrote an email to the Appellant seeking relinquishment of security interest in the assets of Corporate Debtor. On 6th June, 2019, the Appellant gave its consent regarding relinquishment of security interest in accordance with Section 52(1)(a) of the IB code. List of stakeholders and Financial Creditors was prepared by the Liquidator, in which the claim of the Appellant was put under the head of "amount unsecured". The Appellant protested the categorization.

Arguments

Appellants submitted that Adjudicating Authority committed error in rejecting the Application of the Appellant filed under Section 60 sub-section (5) of the IB Code and not under Section 42, hence limitation provided for filing an Appeal was not applicable. The Appellant was aggrieved with regard to its categorization as 'unsecured creditor', which was fully covered by Section 60 sub-section (5), relating to question of priorities.

It is further submitted that Section 77 of the Companies Act, 2013 was not applicable in the present case in view of the fact that there was a Decree in favour of the Appellant by Debt Recovery Tribunal.

It is further argued that Section 77 sub-section (3) of the Companies Act, 2013 is applicable only to the charge created by a 'company' and not on the encumbrance created over an asset of a company pursuant to DRT judgment.

Respondents refuting the submissions of the Appellant contends that verification of security interest is mandatory during the liquidation process. In view of the fact that charge of the Appellant was not registered under Section 77 sub-section (3) of the Companies Act, 2013, the same was not binding on the Liquidator.

The recovery certificate issued by the Debt Recovery Tribunal is not a Decree. Section 77 sub-section (3) of the Companies Act was fully attracted in the present case and charge of Appellant having not been registered, no illegality has been committed by the Adjudicating Authority in rejecting the claim of the Appellant as 'secured creditor'

Observation

The judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Indian Bank (supra), thus, fully support the submissions of the learned Counsel for the Appellant. There being adjudicatory order of the Debt Recovery Tribunal in favour of the Appellant, the mortgage and hypothecation was created in favour of the Appellant by the Corporate Debtor, hence, non-registration of mortgage and hypothecation under Section 77 of the Companies Act cannot be a ground to held that Appellant was not a 'secured creditor'. Under the order of the Debt Recovery Tribunal, the Corporate Debtor having not deposited the amount within 30 days' time period, the Appellant was at liberty to realise the amount from mortagaged and hypothecated assets.

Judgment

It was held that the Adjudicating Authority committed error in rejecting the claim of the Appellant to be of 'secured creditor'. By virtue of judgment and order of the Debt Recovery Tribunal, the Appellants were entitled to recover their dues from the secured assets and they having relinquished the security interest according to Section 52 of the IB Code, as was requested by the Liquidator, in the liquidation proceedings, they have to be treated as 'secured creditor'. In result, we allow the appeal and set aside the order dated 28th April, 2021 of the Adjudicating Authority and allow the Application being I.A. No.33 of 2021 filed by the Appellant and direct the Respondent/ Liquidator to correct the classification of claim of the Appellant as 'secured'. No order as to costs.

Date of Notice of Charge (Section 80)

Where any charge on any property or assets of a company or any of its undertakings is registered under section 77, any person acquiring such property, assets, undertakings or part thereof or any share or interest therein shall be deemed to have notice of the charge from the date of such registration.

The section clarifies that if any person acquires a property, assets or undertaking for which a charge is already registered, it would be deemed that he has complete knowledge of charge from the date the charge is registered.

Deemed Notice of Charge

Once the particulars of charge have been registered by the Registrar, the details of creation of charge become a matter of public domain. If any person acquires property or assets of a company or any of its undertakings, which are subject to such charge under Section 77, such person shall be deemed to have notice of the charge from the date of such registration.

All documents filed under the provisions of the Companies Act, open for inspection pursuant to Section 399 of the Companies Act, 2013. This is the effect of doctrine of constructive notice as the registered charge documents become public. This doctrine is limited only to the documents which are registered.

Practical Implications

The person/institution before lending or acquiring property from a Company is deemed to have notice of previous charge on the said property, if any, where any charge is created and also registered. Banks and lending institutions prefer to do a thorough title search before lending money on the security of any asset.

Zenith Limited obtained a term loan of Rs.80 Lakhs from Punjab National Bank Limited by creating a charge on one of its office buildings and the charge was duly registered. Later on, if the building is sold to Sumit, he is deemed to have notice of such charge. In other words, it is presumed that Sumit knew beforehand that the building was mortgaged to the bank for obtaining a loan. He cannot plead against such presumption by contending that he did not know about the charge if he suffers any loss at a later date because of the mortgage.

SATISFACTION OF CHARGES (SECTION 82 R/W RULE 8 OF THE COMPANIES (REGISTRATION OF CHARGES) RULES, 2014

Satisfaction of Charge is another important aspect relating to debts secured by a charge. In case of a full and complete payment of the secured charge registered with the Registrar, the company or charge-holder shall within a period of 30 days from the date of payment or satisfaction in full of any charge registered under Chapter VI of the Companies Act, 2013, give intimation of the same to the Registrar in Form No-CHG-4 along with the prescribed fees.

The Registrar may, on an application by the company or the charge holder, allow such intimation of payment or satisfaction to be made within a period of 300 days of such payment or satisfaction on payment of such additional fees as may be prescribed.

The duty is cast on the borrower company to intimate to the concerned Registrar of Companies about payment in full of any charge relating to the Company.

In the case of Karnataka District Central Co-Operative Bank Ltd. vs. Murudeshwar Food & Exports Ltd. (in liquidation), where there was no material to show that the charge is satisfied and yet the records of the Registrar showed that the loans have been satisfied on the basis of the statement of affair filed by the directors of the Company in liquidation, the Registrar was directed to hold enquiry and delete the entry of satisfaction in the register of charges.

The Company was offered a term loan of 500 crores by a financial institution against the security of entire fixed assets of its two factories situated in Delhi and Gurgaon. After repayment of more than 75% of the loan amount the financial institution agreed to release fixed assets of one of its factory from charge. State whether Company can file part satisfaction of charge or it would amount to modification of charge.

The concept of partial satisfaction of charge is not there. Satisfaction shall be in full only. These amounts to modification of charge and the Company will have to file particulars of modification of charge, for registration.

Recording of satisfaction of charge by Registrar [Section 82(2)]

On receipt of such intimation, the Registrar shall issue a notice to the holder of the charge calling upon him to show cause within such time not exceeding 14 days, as may be specified in such notice, as to why payment or satisfaction in full should not be recorded as intimated to the Registrar.

CASE STUDY

M/S Shalini Plastic Private vs. Union Of India on 25 July, 2018 High Court of Madhya Pradesh

By this writ petition the petitioner has challenged the part of orders dated 25th September 2017, whereby while allowing the application under Section 87 of Companies Act, the condition of payment of Rs. 94,000/-, 94,000/- and 54,000/- respectively, has been imposed.

The case of petitioner is that it had taken three loans from State Bank of India amounting to Rs. 10,00,000/-, 6,00,000/- & 3,00,000/- respectively against movable/immovable properties not specifically pledged for which a charge was created and filed with ROC (Respondent No:2). The said loan was repaid on 18th May, 2006 but e-form for satisfaction of charges with ROC in terms of Section 82 of Companies Act, 2013 could not be filed within time for the bonafide reasons and on realizing the said mistake, the company immediately filed said satisfaction of charges in three e-forms CHG-4 on 24th May, 2016 mentioning the procedural delay and thereafter petitioner on 18th September, 2017 applied to Central Government (Respondent No:1) for condonation of delay in filing satisfaction of aforementioned charges and for extension of time in terms of Section 87 of Act and while granting the extension of time the condition of payment of Rs. 94,000/-, 94,000/- and 54,000/- respectively for 3 loans has been imposed by the impugned orders.

Learned counsel for petitioner submits that ROC (Respondent No:2) has committed an error in imposing such a high cost whereas the loan amount was not a big amount and that though the discretion is vested with respondent no. 1 under Section 87 of Act but the said discretion was required to be exercised in a just and reasonable manner and cost should not be disproportionate to the default.

As against this learned counsel for respondents has supported the impugned order.

The court held that undisputedly there was a delay in complying with the requirement of filing of e-forms for satisfaction of charge with the respondents. Therefore, petitioner had filed an application for condonation of delay under Section 87 of the Act which reads as under:

In terms of aforesaid provision, respondent no. 1 has the power to extend time for filing of the particulars or for registration of charge etc. on such terms and condition which are just and expedient.

In the present case the petitioner has disclosed that delay had taken place because there was change in entire management of the company, therefore, the default had taken place for the bonafide reason.

The impugned orders reveal that respondent no. 1 has also reached to the conclusion that delay was caused due to inadvertence and has found it to be just and equitable to grant relief of condonation of delay and has accordingly condoned the delay. But while condoning the delay the respondent no. 1 has imposed the condition of payment of Rs. 94,000/- in a case where the loan was of Rs 10,00,000/-, Rs. 94,000/- in another case where the loan was of Rs. 6,00,000/- and Rs. 54,000/- where the loan was of Rs. 3,00,000/-.

Undisputedly the loan amount was already repaid in the year 2006 itself and there was only a default in non complying with the requirement of filing of e-forms for satisfaction of the charge. In these circumstances the condition of payment of such a high amount imposed by respondent no. 1 is not reasonable in terms of Section 87 of the Act. Under Section 87, the condition which is required to be imposed should be just and expedient.

The impugned orders further reveal that for default in respect of loan of Rs. 10,00,000/- and for another default for loan of Rs. 6,00,000/- same condition of payment of Rs. 94,000/- has been imposed where the same should have been proportionate to the nature of default. Hence this court is of the opinion that the amount which is required to be paid in terms of the impugned orders is to be rationalized and to be made just and proper by reducing it.

Hence the impugned orders to that extent stand modified and the writ petition is disposed off.

And the only way to know whether such property is already pledged to some other bank or not, is the Search Report.

The following basic information about the existing loans taken by the Company is given by the Company Secretary through such reports:

(i) The date of loan taken by the company and the charge created in such respect.

(ii) The name and address of the charge holders.

(iii) The type of charge i.e. whether joint charge or consortium charge.

(iv) The amount of loan.

Search and Status Report requires a thorough study of the particulars relating to the amount secured by the charge and the terms and conditions governing the charge. In other words, it does not necessary mean verbatim reporting of the information as made available but also supplemented by observations/comments by the person who furnishes the Report. Understanding the provisions relating to charges through judicial precedents

1. Registration of Charges does not apply to a charge arising by operation of law

   Section 125 of Companies Act 1956 (Currently Section 77) is applicable only to a charge created by a company by a contract, and not to a charge arising by operation of law. (Praga Tools Ltd vs. Official Liquidator, Bengal Engineering Co. (1984) 56 CC. 214; T. V. Sundaram Iyengar & Sons P. Ltd. vs. Official Liquidator, High Court, Madras (1972) 42 CC 359; K. Saradambal vs. Jagannathan and Brothers (Automobile Engineers & Motor Works (P) Ltd. (1972) 42 CC. 359 (Mad). The Managing Director and Ors. vs. The Official Liquidator, High Court of A.P., Hyderabad and Ors. (20.06.2012 - APHC) : MANU/AP/0407/2012

2. It is obligatory to intimate Registrar in respect of a charge created by partnership which was later converted into a company.

   It was held in the case of Maharashtra State Financial Corpn. vs. Official Liquidator, Sidhu Tyres (P) Ltd. [(1988) 64 Comp Cas 641 (Bom)] that 'When a charge is created by a partnership which is later converted into a company, registration is not necessary but it is obligatory on directors to bring it to notice of Registrar.

3. Unsecured creditor could not challenge the validity of a charge or claim right over the property on the ground that he incurred the liability prior to its registration.

   In the case of C.K. Siva Sankara Panicker vs. Kerala Financial Corpn.(1980) 50 Comp Cas 817 (Ker)] it was held that an unsecured creditor could not challenge the validity of a charge or claim right over the property on the ground that he incurred the liability prior to its registration.

4. Guarantees do not require registration

   Corporate Guarantee does not create any Charge per-se, unless mortgage or hypothecation etc. is created on assets/undertaking. It may be noted that corporate guarantee provided by companies in the course of its business does not amount to a charge, since the guarantee given in case of a loan or a borrowing is contingent in nature and does not amount to a charge.

In S. T. Patil and Ors. vs. Registrar of Companies on 13 May, 1997 Equivalent citations: 1998 91 Comp Cas 578 CLB, the Hon'ble Company Law Board was of view that "Guarantees do not require registration under Section 125 of the Act. It is in this connection, reference may be made to the decision in Paul and Frank Ltd. vs. Discount Bank (Overseas) Ltd. and the Board of Trade [1967] 37 Comp Cas 76 (Ch D), wherein it has been held that contracts of insurance, guarantee, indemnity, etc., do not require registration".

5. An attachment itself does not create any charge in property

In Kerala State Financial Enterprises Ltd vs. Official Liquidator, High Court of Kerala(2006), it was observed that ordinarily a charge should be registered in terms of Section 125 of the Companies Act 1956 (Section 77 of Companies Act 2013). If the charges are not registered, the same would be void against the liquidator or creditors. The question which arises for consideration is as to whether if the properties are attached by a Revenue Recovery Court, Section 125 of the Act would be applicable? An attachment itself does not create any charge in the property. By reason of attachment, no decree is passed.

Generally speaking the profit of a business during a given period is the excess of income over expenditure for the period. The Companies Act, 2013 does not define the term “Profit”, which must, therefore, be understood in its natural and proper sense.

- In Re. Spanish Prospecting Co. Ltd (1911) 1 Ch 92, Moulton L.J. explained the term ‘Profit’ as under: “Profit implies a comparison between the state of business at two specific dates usually separated by an interval of a year. The fundamental meaning is the amount of gain made by the business during the year. This can only be ascertained by a comparison of the assets of the business at the two dates. If the total assets of the business at the two dates are compared, the increase which they show at the later date as compared with the earlier date (due allowance, of course, being made for capital introduced into or taken out of the business in the mean while) represents, in strict sense, the profits of the business during the period in question”.
- 'Divisible profits' means the profits which the law allows the company to distribute to the shareholders by way of dividend. According to Palmer's Company Law, the terms 'divisible profits' and 'profits in the legal sense' are synonymous. Thus, the profits of a business mean the net proceeds of the concern after deducting the necessary outgoings without which those proceeds could not be earned. [Bharat Insurance Co. Ltd. v. CIT (1931) 1 Com Cases 192, 196 (Lah)].
- Dividend in literal terms means a share of profit, whether at a fixed rate or otherwise, allocated to the holder of share in the company as held in Henry v. Great Northern Railway Company.

The shareholders contribute to the capital of the company and these shareholders are entitled to a share in the profits of the company. However, not all the profits made by company is to be distributed to the shareholders. Only divisible profits are available for distribution to the shareholders.

Divisible profits are that portion of the profit which can be distributed legally among the shareholders of the company. These profits are distributed by way of dividends, but only after provisions for past losses and reserves have been made.

DECLARATION AND PAYMENT OF DIVIDEND

Meaning and Definition of Dividend

The term ‘dividend’ takes its root from Latin noun ‘dividenda’ which means ‘something to be divided’.

As per Black’s Law dictionary [9th Edition, Page 547], dividend is ‘A portion of a company’s earnings or profits distributed pro rata to its shareholders, usually in the form of ‘cash or additional shares’. It is a share allotted to each of several persons entitled to a share in a division of profits or property. Hence, dividend may denote a fund set apart by a company out of its profits, to be apportioned among the shareholders, or the proportional amount falling to each shareholder.

Therefore, dividend is a return on the share capital subscribed for and paid to its shareholders by a company. In simple words, dividend means the payment made by a company to its shareholders out of its distributable profits.

In the UK Companies Act, 2006, the term 'distribution' is used for denoting payments to members. It is defined in sub-section (1) of section 829 of the UK Companies Act 2006 as follows: 'In this Part "distribution" means every description of distribution of a company's assets to its members, whether in cash or otherwise, subject to the following exceptions.'

Sub-section (2) of the same section provides the exceptions for the same in the form of bonus shares, reduction of share capital, redemption or purchase of shares and distribution of assets on winding up.

The term 'dividend' is defined in clause (35) of section 2 the Act to mean "dividend" includes any interim dividend.

Therefore, it can be said that the term 'Dividend' per se is not defined under the Act; however, only interim dividend is made part of it.

Secretarial Standard-3 defines dividend so as to mean a distribution of any sums to Members out of profits and wherever permitted out of free reserves available for the purpose.

Dividend implies two things –

(i) payment out of profits, and

(ii) actual release of some assets.

Issue of bonus shares or right shares to the existing members is not considered as dividend because the former does not involve release of any assets and the latter has no relation with the profits of the company. Every trading company has an implied inherent power to distribute its net earnings or profits to the shareholders in the shape of dividends. Power to declare dividends, therefore, need not expressly be given by the Memorandum or Articles of Association. Articles may, however, regulate the manner in which the dividends are to be paid.

The allotment of bonus shares does not entail release of any of the assets of the company. The existing shareholders, instead of receiving any moneys out of the undistributed profits, only receive pro rata fresh shares [Sivagnanamal v. Thirumagal Mills Ltd., (1948) 18 Comp. Cases 286 AIR 1949 Mad 521]. There is no distribution of profits among shareholders and hence capitalization of profits in the form of bonus shares would not be construed as Dividend in terms of the Act.

Dividend in light of Judicial precedents

- In the case of Griffith, Carr v. Griffith [(1879) 12 ChD 655], it was also held that dividend payment usually occurs periodically. Where profits are distributed outside these periodic dates, these are usually referred to as "bonuses or bonus dividend".
- In the case of Kantilal Manilal and Ors v. The Commissioner of Income-Tax, Bombay [1961 SCR (2) 584], "Dividend" in its ordinary meaning is a distributive share of the profits or income of a company given to its shareholders'.
- In the case of Navnitlal C. Javeri v. K. K. Sen, Appellate Assistant Commissioner of Income Tax [1965 SCR (1) 909], it was held that 'The essence of an amount paid as dividend is that it has to represent the proportionate amount a particular shareholder is to get on the basis of the shares held by him out of the profits of the company set apart for payment of dividend to shareholders. Any ad hoc payment of money to a shareholder as advance or loan unrelated to his share in the accumulated profits cannot rationally come within the expression "dividend".

- In Borland's Trustee v. Steel Brothers & Co. Ltd. L.R. [1901] 1 Ch. 279, Farwell J. held that "a share in a company cannot properly be likened to a sum of money settled upon and subject to executory limitations to arise in the future; it is rather to be regarded as the interest of the shareholder in the company, measured, for the purposes of liability and dividend, by a sum of money ...." It was suggested that the dividend arises out of the profits accruing from land and is impressed with the same character as the profits and that it does not change its character merely because of the incident that it reaches the hands of the shareholder.

INTEREST VS. DIVIDEND

Interest and dividend are completely different concepts. The key difference between Interest and Dividend is as follows:

Nature of Difference	Interest	Dividend
Meaning	Interest is the return on borrowed capital	Return on the investment made in the share capital of a company
Nature	It is a charge against profit	It is appropriation of profit
Calculations	It is a liability which has to be discharged even if the company has suffered loss	It is appropriation of profit which is arrived after providing of all expenses including interest
Commitment	Interest is always a commitment which is to be paid by the borrower as per the terms decided between lender and borrower	It is not a commitment
Paid to	The lenders, creditors and debenture holders	Equity Shareholders and Preference Shareholders
Expenditure	Interest on bonds or other debt is an expense of the company. The interest, being an expense, reduces the company's net income and consequently its taxable profits	It is not an expense of the company. The right of preference shareholders to receive dividend is even subject to the availability of distributable profits and this right is not to the receipt of dividend but to preferential treatment if and when dividend is declared
Mandatory	Interest is to be paid even if there is no chance of making profit	To distribute dividend, profits are necessary
Rate	Fixed	Remains constant in the case of preference shares, but fluctuates in case of equity shares.

Types of Companies and provisions related to payment of dividend

Dividend can be paid companies except section 8 companies (i.e. companies with charitable objects etc.) which prohibit the payment of any dividend to its members. The dividend in other types of entities is as follows:

(a) Section 8 Companies: According to Section 8(1) of the Companies Act, 2013 the company having license under Section 8 (Formation of Companies with Charitable Objects etc.) are prohibited from paying any dividend to its members. Their profits are intended to be applied only in promoting the objects of the Company.

(b) Nidhi Companies: In terms of Rule 18 of Nidhi Rules, 2014, a Nidhi shall not declare dividend exceeding 25% in a financial year.

(c) Producer Companies: In case of producer companies, dividend is termed as 'Limited Return' as defined in clause (d) of section 378A of the Companies Act, 2013. It is the maximum dividend as the Articles of the producer company may specify. According to Section 378 E of the Companies Act, 2013, in producer Companies, the surplus if any, remaining after making provision for payment of limited return and reserves referred to in section 378ZI, may be disbursed as patronage bonus, amongst the Members, in proportion to their participation in the business of the Producer Company, either in cash or by way of allotment of equity shares, or both, as may be decided by the Members at the general meeting.

'Patronage Bonus', according to clause (i) of section 378A of the Companies Act, 2013, which means payments made by a Producer Company out of its surplus income to the Members in proportion to their respective patronage.

(d) Companies Limited by Guarantee: A Company Limited by Guarantee is primarily used for non- profit purposes and the profits are reinvested and used for promoting its non-profit activities. Although the Companies Act, 2013 does not specifically prohibit distribution of dividend in such companies, however, the Articles of such companies usually provides that all the income of the company shall be applied solely towards the promotion of the objects of the Company and that no portion shall be paid or transferred directly or indirectly by way of dividends or bonus or by way of profit to its members.

Types of Dividend

There are two types of Dividend:

(i) Final Dividend

(ii) Interim Dividend

Basis	Final Dividend	Interim Dividend
Meaning	The Dividend recommended by the Board of Directors and declared by the Members at an Annual General Meeting	Dividend paid by the Company between two annual general meetings
Power to declare Dividend	Recommended by the Board at the board meeting and declared by the Members of the Company	Declared by the Company's Board of Directors
Meetings	Declared in Annual General Meeting of Members	Declared at the Meeting of the Board

Quantum of Dividend	Members cannot declare dividend over and above the amount recommended by the Board	It shall not be declared at a rate higher than the average dividends declared by the Company during the immediately preceding three financial years

Power to declare Dividend

Final Dividend

- While approving the financial statements and the appropriation of the profit for the previous financial year, the amount of dividend payable is also determined by board of directors of a company who decide how much to be paid to the shareholders and how much to retain in the business. These amounts vary from year to year depending upon the amount of profit earned by the company.
- The dividend recommended by the board of directors as mentioned in the Directors' Report is declared' at the annual general meeting of the company.
- This constitutes an item of ordinary business to be transacted at every annual general meeting.
- It may be noted that the shareholders may declare dividend which is lesser than the amount recommended by the Board. However, it cannot declare dividend over and above the amount recommended by the Board.

Article 80 of Table F of schedule I states that 'The company in general meeting may declare dividends, but no dividend shall exceed the amount recommended by the Board.

Interim Dividend

- As per Section 123(3), the Board of Directors of a company may declare interim dividend during any financial year or at any time during the period from closure of financial year till holding of the annual general meeting.
- Out of the surplus in the profit and loss account or out of profits of the financial year for which such interim dividend is sought to be declared or out of profits generated in the financial year till the quarter preceding the date of declaration of the interim dividend.
- It is also provided in article 81 of table F that Subject to the provisions of section 123, the Board may from time to time pay to the members such interim dividends as appear to it to be justified by the profits of the company.
- The declaration of interim dividend is dependent on the provisional financial statements or estimates.

Therefore, before approving payment of interim dividend, the directors should satisfy themselves that the profit is available for distribution by way of dividend.

While Final Dividend is recommended by the Board and declared by the Members, approval of Members is not required for declaration of Interim Dividend. Where a company has an Audit Committee, this Committee shall consider the financial results which shall thereafter be submitted to the Board for its consideration and declaration of Interim Dividend.

- In the case of Raghunandan Neotia v. Swadeshi Cloth dealers Ltd, it was held that Final Dividend can be declared at the annual general meeting only, the Board of Directors proposes and the members declare the same.
- In the case of Maharani Lalita Rajya Lakshmi v. Indian Motor Co (Hazaribag) Ltd., it was held that no enhancement of rate of dividend than that recommended by the Board is possible.
- In the case of Tarajan TeaCo. (P) Ltd. v. CIT, it was held that a dividend declared by the members at an annual general meeting is a debt against the company and is recoverable by the members only after declaration by members and not at the time of recommendation made by the board of directors.
- In the case of J. Dalmia v. Commissioner of Income Tax, New Delhi, it was held that power to pay interim dividend is usually vested, by the articles of association, in the directors. For paying interim dividend a resolution of the company is not required: if the directors are authorized by the articles of association they may pay such amount as they think proper having regard to their estimates of the profit made by the Company. Interim dividend is therefore paid pursuant to the resolution of the directors on some day between the ordinary general meetings of the company.
- The declaration of a Dividend need not be only once a year. It may be at any time the directors choose, and there may be several declarations in the course of one year. [Steel Co. of Canada Ltd. v. Ramsay (1932) 2 Comp. Cases 23 (PC)]

SS-3 while clarifying the interim dividend provides that while declaring the Interim Dividend, the Board shall consider the financial results for the period for which Interim Dividend is to be declared and should be satisfied that the financial position of the company justifies and supports the declaration of such Dividend. The financial results shall take into account –

(a) Depreciation for the full year,

(b) Tax on profits of the company including deferred tax for full year,

(c) Other anticipated losses for the financial year,

(d) Dividend that would be required to be paid at the fixed rate on preference shares,

(e) The losses incurred, if any, during the current financial year upto the end of the quarter, immediately preceding the date of declaration of Interim Dividend.

Further, in case of clause (e) above, Interim Dividend shall not be declared at a rate higher than average Dividend declared during the immediately preceding three financial years.

Further SS-3 provides that Interim Dividend shall be declared at a meeting of the Board. In the event of a loss or inadequacy of profits during a financial year, no Interim Dividend shall be declared/ paid out of Free Reserves.

SS-3 further provides that where a company has issued equity shares with differential rights as to Dividend, Interim Dividend may, at the option of the Board, be declared on all or any one or more of the classes of such shares in accordance with the terms of issue.

In case Interim Dividend is declared on only one class of equity shares, the Board shall ensure that the profit as shown in the financial results is adequate to meet the Dividend that would have to be paid on the other classes of equity shares in accordance with the terms of issue.

Where a company has issued equity shares with differential rights as to voting only, no differentiation shall be made in the declaration of Interim Dividend on such shares, unless the terms of issue provide otherwise.

Shain Ltd., incurred loss in business upto current quarter of financial year 2021-22. The company has declared dividend at the rate of 12%, 15% and 18% respectively in the immediate preceding three years. Inspite of the loss, the Board of Directors of the company have decided to declare interim dividend @ 15% for the current financial year. Examine the decision of PET Ltd. stating the provisions of declaration of interim dividend under the Companies Act, 2013 ?

In view of the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 relating to 'securities premium', state whether the amount lying in securities premium account of a company can be used for payment of dividend declared by the company at its general meeting ?

For payment of dividend declared by the company at its general meeting. Securities premium Account since not covered by section 123(1) cannot be utilized for the purpose of declaring dividend.

The conditions for the declaration of dividend in case of inadequacy or absence of profits are prescribed in Rule 3 of the Companies (Declaration and Payment of Dividend) Rules, 2014. Rule 3 specifies that in the event of inadequacy or absence of profits in any year, a company may declare dividend out of free reserves subject to the fulfillment of the prescribed conditions.

As per Rule 3, the conditions for declaration of dividend in the event of inadequacy or absence of profits in any year are as follows:

Hence, such companies need not comply with the above conditions.

XYZ Ltd., which has inadequacy of profits, proposes to declare Dividend out of general reserves.

Following are the facts of the case:

- 17,500 preference shares of Rs. 100 each fully paid; (Dividend @ 9%)
- 7,00,000 equity shares of Rs. 10 each
- General reserves: Rs. 21,00,000
- Capital reserves: Rs. 3,50,000
- Securities premium: Rs. 3,50,000
- Surplus (P&L): Rs. 63,000
- Net profit for the year: Rs. 3,57,000
- Average rate of Dividend during the last three years: 15%
- Board of directors of the company wishes to declare 10% Dividend.
- Maximum amount that can be withdrawn : Rs. 10,91,300 [1/10 of (Rs. 17,50,000 + Rs. 70,00,000 + Rs. 21,00,000+63000]
- Permissible withdrawal from the balance of Reserves : Rs. 8,50,500

Calculation:

- 15% of total capital Rs. 87,50,000 to be retained in the Reserves i.e. Rs. 13,12,500
- General Reserves: [Rs. 21,00,000 + 63000 (Surplus-P&L)]
- Maximum amount that can be taken from Reserves: Rs. 8,50,500 (Rs. 21,63,000 – Rs. 13,12,500)
- Available profits : Rs. 2,62,500 (Rs. 63,000 + Rs. 3,57,000 – Rs. 1,57,500); [Rs. 1,57,500 is 9% preference Dividend on 17,500 preference shares of Rs.100 each]
- Dividend desired to be declared by the Board of the company: Rs. 7,00,000
- Profit available for declaration of Dividend : Rs. 2,62,500

Hence, company can declare Dividend @ 10%

The profits of X Ltd. for F.Y. 2021-22 are inadequate and considering the different scenarios the declaration of dividend may be as under :

Financial Year	Dividend paid during the year
	Case 1	Case 2	Case 3
2018-19	10%	Nil	Nil
2019-20	Nil	Nil	12%
2020-21	5%	Nil	Nil
Maximum rate of dividend for the year 2021-22	Average rate of dividend 15/3= 5% [The Company can declare Dividend upto 5% subject to the compliance of other conditions prescribed under the Rules].	*The stipulation regarding average rate of Dividend is not applicable as no Dividend is declared in any of the three preceding financial years. Accordingly, the dividend for 2021-22 may be declared at any rate, subject to the compliance of other conditions prescribed under the Rules. (*Proviso to Rule 3(1) of Companies (Declaration and Payment of Dividend) Rules, 2014 shall not apply to a company, which has not declared any Dividend in each of the three preceding financial year.)	Average of Dividend 12/3= 4% [The Company can declare Dividend upto 4% subject to the compliance of other conditions prescribed under the rules.

The following summarized information is available in respect of a company for the year ended 31st March, 2022:

Equity Share Capital 10,000 shares of the face value of Rs.100 each= Rs. 10 Lakhs

Free Reserve= Rs. 2 Lakhs

Revaluation Reserve= Rs. 1 Lakh

Profit and Loss Account (Dr.)= Rs. 0.35 Lakhs

Net loss for the year 2021-2022= Rs. 0.25 Lakhs

The company has paid dividends to the equity shareholders @ 8%, 10% and 12% during the immediately preceding three financial years. Advise the Board of directors the maximum amount they can pay this year by way of dividends.

Calculation:

In the instant case, the net loss for the year 2021-22 is Rs.25000.

According to Rule 3 of the Companies (Declaration and Payment of Dividend) Rules, 2014 the following conditions must be fulfilled:

(i) The rate of dividend cannot exceed the average of the rates at which dividend was declared in the three years immediately preceding that year i.e. (8%+10%+12%)/3 = 10%, so in this case, the amount of dividend should not exceed Rs.1 Lakh.

(ii) The total amount to be drawn from such accumulated profits shall not exceed one-tenth of the sum of its paid-up share capital and free reserves as appearing in the latest audited financial statement. Thus the company can draw only upto Rs.1.2 lakh.

(iii) The balance of reserves after such withdrawal shall not fall below 15% of its paid up capital as appearing in the latest audited balance sheet. Accordingly the maximum that may be withdrawn cannot exceed Rs.50000.

(iv) However, the amount so withdrawn must be used to set-off losses of the current year i.e. Rs.25000.

Therefore, the maximum amount in this instant case that can be paid by way of dividend is Rs.25000.

ABC Ltd. issued equity shares of Rs. 10 fully paid up and declared Dividend thereon. Mr. X and Mr. Y, are the shareholders who paid Rs. 5 towards the call money and Rs. 5 remains unpaid on the date of Dividend declaration.

The Company ABC Ltd. may adjust the amount of Dividend declared on such shares towards the unpaid call money due from Mr. X and Mr. Y.

Illustration:

Following situations depict the adjustment of sum due from a Member in capacity other than a Member:

Case (i): Mr. John is a debtor as well as Member of X Ltd., a public listed company.

X Ltd. declares Dividend of Rs. 5000 on the shares owned by Mr. John and proposes to adjust the said amount against the debt of Rs. 10,000 due from Mr. John. In the given case, X Ltd. may adjust the amount of Dividend only against calls in arrears or any other sums due from Mr. John in the capacity of a Member and not otherwise. Therefore, the amount due from Mr. John in the capacity of trade debtor will not be adjusted and the company need to pay Dividend amount to Mr. John.

Case (ii): In the above example, if X Ltd. is an unlisted company and has adopted regulation 84 of Table F of schedule – I to the Act, then it can only adjust the amount due from Mr. John in relation to the shares of the company and not otherwise.

Regulation 84 of Table F to the Act read as under:

The Board may deduct from any Dividend payable to any member all sums of money, if any, presently payable by him to the company on account of calls or otherwise in relation to the shares of the company.

Therefore, in both the above situations (i) & (ii) the Dividend amount needs to be paid to Mr. John without any adjustment.

Case (iii): In the above example, if X Ltd. is an unlisted company and the Articles of Association provide for adjustment of Dividend amount with the amount due from a Member in a capacity other than that of a Member, then, the Dividend may be adjusted against the amount due from Mr. John.

Dividend Distribution Policy

While considering the financial statements for declaration of Dividend, the Board should take into account the Dividend Policy of the company, if any.

The various determinants of the Dividend Policy ordinarily include:

(a) Legal and contractual restrictions: This includes the restrictions/ conditions imposed under the applicable laws or by the financial institutions/banks in the loan agreement;

(b) Earnings of the company: Current earnings provide the best index of what a company can pay;

(c) Cash position and liquidity: The cash position of a company is an important consideration in paying Dividends, the greater the cash availability and overall liquidity the greater is the ability to pay Dividend;

(d) Financial needs: There are many financial needs of a company such as meeting the cost of capital borrowed, non-availability of external capital and making provisions for any expansion or growth plans of the company;

(e) Tax considerations: The tax burden is a determining factor in the formulation of a Dividend Policy.

The Board should recommend the Dividend to be declared by the Members in the Annual General Meeting on being satisfied that the company has sufficient profits to be distributed as Dividend, i.e. sufficient profits remain after all charges against the current income (e.g. taxation, depreciation, etc.) and after making provision for past losses, unabsorbed depreciation for past years, transfers to reserves, if any, or for any other purposes as may be warranted and as may be required by the Dividend Policy of the company.

As per Regulation 43A of SEBI (LODR) Regulations, 2015, the top 1000 listed entities based on market capitalization (calculated as on March 31 of every financial year) shall formulate a dividend distribution policy which shall be disclosed on the website of the listed entity and a web-link shall also be provided in their annual reports.

The dividend distribution policy shall include the following parameters:

(a) the circumstances under which the shareholders of the listed entities may or may not expect dividend;

(b) the financial parameters that shall be considered while declaring dividend;

(c) internal and external factors that shall be considered for declaration of dividend;

(d) policy as to how the retained earnings shall be utilized; and

(e) parameters that shall be adopted with regard to various classes of shares.

If the listed entity proposes to declare dividend on the basis of parameters in addition to clauses (a) to (e) or proposes to change such additional parameters or the dividend distribution policy contained in any of the parameters, it shall disclose such changes along with the rationale for the same in its annual report and on its website.

The listed entities other than those specified at sub-regulation (1) of this regulation may disclose their dividend distribution policies on a voluntary basis on their websites and provide a web-link in their annual reports.

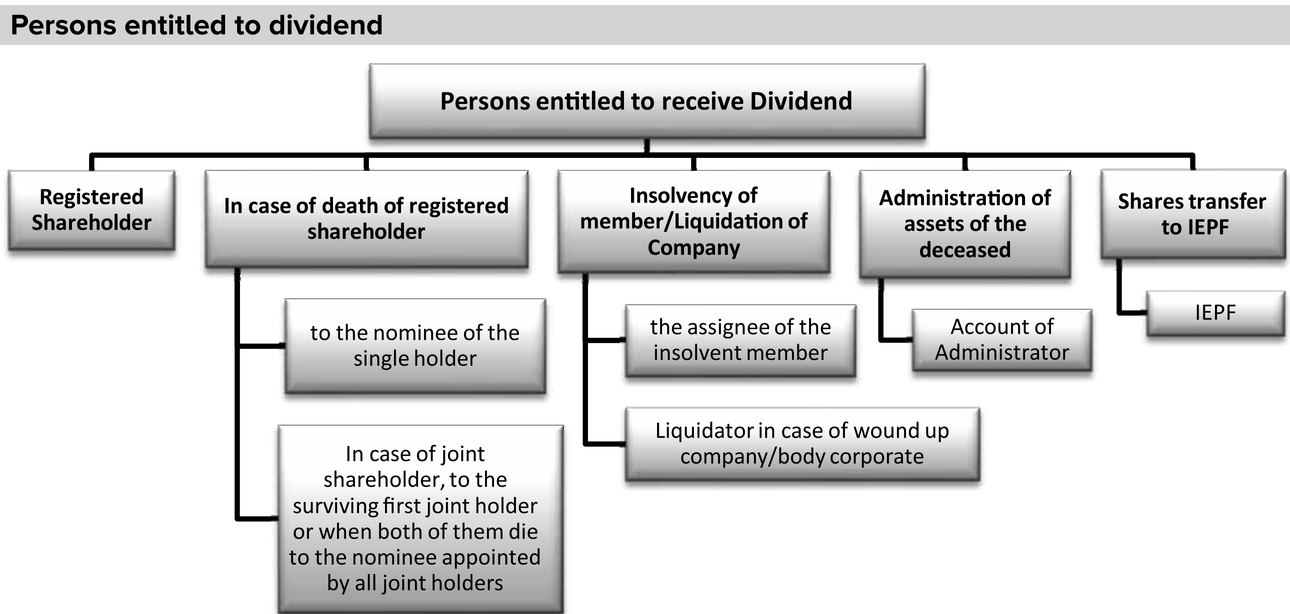
Date for determining entitlement to dividend

The company may close its registers or fix a record date for deciding the entitlement to receive dividend.

Regulation 60 of SEBI (LODR) Regulations, 2015 provides for fixing of record date for payment of dividend. All shareholders on the record date irrespective of the holding period of shares shall be eligible to receive dividend.

In case of unlisted companies, the company may close its register of members by complying with provision of section 91 of the Act.

Persons entitled to dividend



- Dividend should be paid by the company only to its registered shareholders or to his order or to his Banker and not to any other person. The shareholder has the option to direct the company to pay the dividend due to him to any other person. The company may fix any record date of the determination of entitlement of shareholders for dividend.
- Where the company has received intimation of death of a member, the dividend may be paid by the company to the nominee of the single holder, where shares are held by more than one person jointly and any joint holder dies, to the surviving first joint holder and where shares are held by more than one person jointly and all the joint holders die, to the nominee appointed by all the joint holders.
- In case of insolvency of a member, the dividend may be paid to the assignee of the insolvent member and in case of a company or body corporate which is being wound up, to the liquidator.
- In case of administration of assets of the deceased, dividend is to be paid to the account of administrator.
- In case of shares transfer to IEPF, dividend is to be paid to IEPF.
- When bonus shares are issued ranking pari passu with the existing equity shares, shareholders are entitled to Dividend in respect of such bonus shares also, if the record date for the purpose of payment of Dividend falls after the date of allotment of such bonus shares.

- In the case of Chunilal Kuhshaldash Patel v. H.K. Adhyaru, Dividend is payable to the Shareholder whose name appears in the register of members on the relevant date even if, prior to that date, he has sold the shares but the transfer deed in respect thereof has not been lodged with the company.
- In the case of Hariprasad v. A.C. Traders (P) Ltd., the transfer of shares on cum-Dividend basis does not entitle the transferee to receive from the company any Dividend declared before such transfer.

Dividend on preference shares

Preference shares carry a preferential right as to Dividend in accordance with the terms of issue. However, this right is subject to the availability of distributable profits. Since the Dividend on preference shares is governed by the terms of issue already approved by the Shareholders, the Board may declare Dividend on such shares in accordance with the terms of issue.

The right of Preference Shareholders to receive Dividend is subject to the availability of distributable profits and it may be noted that this right is not to receipt of Dividend but to preferential treatment if and when Dividend is declared.

Dividend on preference shares can be paid out of free reserve subject to its declaration.

Even where Dividend is declared out of free reserves, in case of absence or inadequacy of profits, Preference Shareholders have priority over equity Shareholders in respect of payment of Dividend. However, when the Board declares Interim Dividend on equity shares, it is not necessary to declare Interim Dividend on preference shares also.

If there are two or more classes of preference shares, the holders of the class which has priority are entitled to their preference Dividend before any Dividend is paid in respect of the other class, if the terms of issue so provide.

However, if the terms of issue are silent, Dividend shall be distributed on pro-rata basis. In the case of Interim Dividend, while Preference Shareholders need not necessarily be paid Dividend before Interim Dividend is paid to equity Shareholders, the Board should take into account such sum as would be necessary to pay Dividend to the Preference Shareholders before consideration of Interim Dividend.

Board of Directors of AVB Limited wants to declare dividend Rs. 15 lakh out of capital profits for the year ended 31st March, 2022, without making a provisions for depreciation. Referring to the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013, you being the Secretary of the Company advise the board whether it can go ahead with its proposal ?

In accordance with the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013, as contained in third proviso to section 123(1), no dividend shall be declared or paid by a company from its reserves other than free reserves.

As per section 2(43) of the Companies Act, 2013, “free reserves” means such reserves which, as per the latest audited balance sheet of a company, are available for distribution as dividend. Further according to section 123(2), for the purposes of declaration of dividend by a company as per section 123(1)(a), depreciation shall be provided in accordance with the provisions of Schedule II.

Therefore, in the given case, AVB Limited can neither declare dividend from capital profit and nor it can declare dividend without making provision for depreciation.

Dividend on Equity shares with differential rights

Where a company issues equity shares with differential rights as to Dividend, the terms of issue of such shares shall govern the rights of each such class of holders as to receipt of Dividend. Subject to the rights of persons, if any, entitled to shares with special rights as to Dividends, all Dividends shall be declared and paid according to the amounts paid or credited as paid on the shares in respect whereof the Dividend is paid, but if and so long as nothing is paid upon any of the shares in the company, Dividends may be declared and paid according to the amounts of the shares. [Regulation 83(i) of Table F of Schedule I to the Act].

Dividend in case of Beneficial Owner

As provided under Section 89(9) of the Companies Act, 2013, the obligation of the company of payment of dividend is towards the member and not towards the beneficial owner. However, the dividend may be paid to a beneficial owner where the shareholder instructs the company to do so. Since, sub-section (5) of Section 123 includes payment of dividend to registered shareholder or "to his order", the company shall pay the dividend according to the instruction given.

While furthering this contention for 'deemed dividend' under Income Tax Act, 1961, the Supreme Court has held in the case of Rameshwar Lal Sanwarmal vs. Commissioner of Income Tax, Assam that 'it is difficult to see how a beneficial owner of shares whose name does not appear in the register of shareholders of the company can be said to be "shareholder". It is only the person whose name is entered in the register of shareholders of the company as the holder of the shares who can be said to be a shareholder qua the company, and not the person beneficially entitled to the shares. It is the former who is a "shareholder" within the matrix and scheme of the company law and not the latter.

Therefore, it is only where a loan is advanced by the company to a registered shareholder and the other conditions set out in the Income Tax Act, 1961 are satisfied that the amount of the loan would be liable to be regarded as "deemed dividend". This establishes the position that payments advanced directly to beneficial owner will not assume the character of deemed dividend.

The concept of Deemed Dividend is embedded in Section 2(22)(e) of the Income-tax Act, 1961, where a closely held company extends a loan or an advance to:

a. any of its shareholders who has more than 10% voting power in the company; or

b. to any concern in which such shareholder is substantially interested; or

c. for the individual benefit of such shareholder; or

d. on behalf of such shareholder to the extent the company has accumulated profits, such payment would be deemed as a dividend under Section 2(22).

Illustration:

ABC Pvt Ltd. is a company, the public is not substantially interested in. Mr. X is one of the company shareholders, who hold 20% shares. The company has accumulated profits of Rs. 50 lakhs as on 31 March 2022. The company granted a loan of Rs. 100,000 to Mr. X, by way of an account payee cheque. He repaid the amount on 5 May 2020.

In this case, even if the loan has been repaid by Hari, the loan amount granted to the extent of accumulated profits are treated as deemed dividend.

Distribution of discount coupons to all the Shareholders shall not be treated as deemed Dividend.

Discount coupons given by the company with respect to its products or services, to all the shareholders, should not be treated as Dividend. It is a general practice adopted by the company for promotion of its products or services.

In the case of Gopal & Sons (HUF) v.CIT, Supreme Court

Is loan to HUF who is a shareholder in a closely held company chargeable to tax as deemed dividend?

Facts of the Case:

The assessee is a Hindu Undivided Family (HUF). During the previous year to the Assessment year, the assessee had received certain advances from one M/s G.S. Fertilizers (P) Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as the 'Company'). The Company is the manufacturer and distributor of various grades of NPK Fertilizers and other agricultural inputs. In the audit report and annual return for the relevant period, which was filed by it before the Registrar of Companies (ROC), it was found that the subscribed share capital of the said company was Rs.1,05,75,000/- (i.e. 10,57,500 shares of Rs.10/- each). Out of this, 3,92,500 number of shares were subscribed by the assessee which represented 37.12% of the total shareholding of the Company.

From this fact, the AO concluded that the assessee was both the registered shareholder of the Company and also the beneficial owner of shares, as it was holding more than 10% of voting power. On this basis, after noticing that the audited accounts of the Company was showing a balance of Rs.1,20,10,988/- as "Reserve & Surplus" as on 31st March, 2006, this amount was included in the income of the assessee as deemed dividend. In the appeal filed by the assessee, the aforesaid addition was affirmed by the CIT(A). The Tribunal reversed the CIT(A). The High Court reversed the Tribunal.

Before the Supreme Court, the assessee argued that being a HUF, it was neither the beneficial shareholder nor the registered shareholder. It was further argued that the Company had issued shares in the name of Shri. Gopal Kumar Sanei, Karta of the HUF, and not in the name of the assessee/HUF as shares could not be directly allotted to a HUF. On the basis, it was submitted that provisions of Section 2(22)(e) of the Act cannot be attracted.

Judgment

The Supreme Court held as the shares are issued in the name of the Karta, the HUF is not the 'registered shareholder' and so Section 2(22)(e) will not apply to loans paid to the HUF is not correct because in the annual returns filed with the ROC, the HUF is shown as the registered and beneficial shareholder. In any case, the HUF is the beneficial shareholder. Even if it is assumed that the Karta is the registered shareholder and not the HUF, as any payment to a concern (i.e. the HUF) in which shareholder (i.e., the Karta) has substantial interest is also covered.

Waiver of right to receive Dividend

Receipt of dividend is a right of shareholder and not an obligation. There is no provision under the act to deal with the waiver of dividend. Hence, such provisions may be contained in the articles of the company. Further, such waiver can either be full or partial.

Declaration of Dividend

Dividend being an important decision and having impact on the financial position of the company should be considered at a meeting of the Board and not at a meeting of a committee of the Board or by way of a Resolution passed by circulation.

Unless the Dividend has been recommended by the Board, Members in Annual General Meeting cannot on their own declare any Dividend.

Where a company has an Audit Committee, this Committee shall consider the annual financial statements before submission to the Board. Dividend shall be recommended by the Board after consideration and approval of said financial statements.

The listed entity shall recommend or declare all dividend and/or cash bonuses at least five working days (excluding the date of intimation and the record date)before the record date fixed for the purpose.

Declaration of Dividend to be unconditional

All requisite approvals shall be obtained before declaration of Dividend. Dividend shall not be declared subject to any condition such as the approval of financial institutions/ banks or foreign collaborators or compliance with any other contractual obligation.

The above paragraph pertaining to requisite approval of financial institutions/ banks or foreign collaborators etc. is equally applicable to both Interim and Final Dividend. Dividend should not be declared subject to any condition such as obtaining of approval from financial institutions/banks etc. [Erstwhile Department of Company Affairs (DCA) Circular No. 2/98 dated 13.04.1998)].

Due to inadequacy of profits, the Board of directors of Rise Ltd. decided not to recommend any dividend for the financial year ended 31st March, 2022. Certain shareholders of the company complained to the Tribunal regarding mismanagement of the affairs of the company, since the Board of the company did not recommend any dividend. Explaining the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013, examine whether the contention of the shareholders is tenable ?

Section 241 of the Companies Act, 2013 provides for relief in cases of mismanagement. For a petition under this section to succeed, it must be established that the affairs of the company are being conducted in a manner prejudicial to the interest of the company or public interest or that, by reason of any change in the management or control of the company, it is likely that the affairs of the company will be conducted in that manner. If the court (Tribunal) is convinced, it may with a view to bringing to an end of preventing the matter complained or apprehended, make such order as it thinks fit.

It was held in the case of Indowind Energy Ltd. v. ICICI Bank Ltd. [2010] 153 Com Cases 394 (CLB) that non-declaration of dividend would not amount to oppression and mismanagement.

Therefore, applying the above facts and precedent in the given case, it can concluded that the non-payment of dividend does not amount to mismanagement and hence the contention of the shareholders shall not be tenable.

Dividend to be deposited in separate bank account

In terms of sub-section (4) of Section 123 of the Act, the amount of Dividend, including Interim Dividend, shall be deposited in a scheduled bank in a separate account within 5 days from the date of declaration of such Dividend.

Any amount which remains unpaid or unclaimed after the period of 30 days shall be transferred to the Unpaid Dividend Account to be opened by the company.

SS-3 hereby clarifies that the Dividend shall be deposited in a separate bank account within five days from the date of declaration and shall be paid within thirty days of declaration. The intervening holidays, if any, falling during such period shall be included.

By virtue of MCA exemption notification G.S.R.463(E)dated 5th June 2015 the requirement of deposit of Dividend amount in a separate bank account within five days from the date of its declaration, as provided under Section 123(4) shall not apply to a Government Company in which the entire paid up share capital is held by the Central Government or State Government(s) or jointly by both or by one or more Government Company.

Illustration

If the Board of Directors of XYZ Ltd. declared an Interim Dividend on 13th August 2022, then the amount of Dividend should be deposited in a separate bank account within five days from the date of declaration i.e. latest by 18th August 2022 irrespective of the intervening holidays.

Considering the above requirements, there may be following two scenarios:

Scenario 1: Dividend claimed within 30 days

Once a separate bank account is opened by a company for the purpose of payment of Dividend and the entire Dividend is paid from such account and no balance stands in its credit. The same separate bank account may be used for the purpose of deposit of Dividend declared in future years, as long as the entire Dividend is paid / claimed from such account and nothing is left as unpaid Dividend.

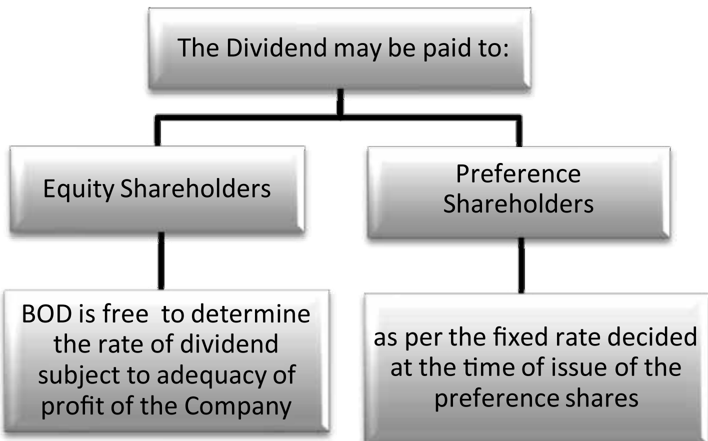
Scenario 2: Dividend remains unpaid or unclaimed after 30 days

In such situation, the nomenclature of the separate account opened by a company may be changed to "Unpaid Dividend Account" after the said period of 30 days instead of opening a different account for transferring the unpaid Dividend. However, in this case a separate bank account needs to be opened for future Dividend declared by the company.

Remittance of Dividend to Non-Resident members

Dividend can be remitted to Non-Resident members provided it is allowed under the terms of the permission given by the Reserve Bank of India (RBI). For remittance of Dividend to non-resident members, the company shall apply to authorised dealer along with the documents as may be required by the authorized dealer for this purpose. The authorized dealer may allow the remittance of Dividend in accordance with the procedure prescribed by the RBI.

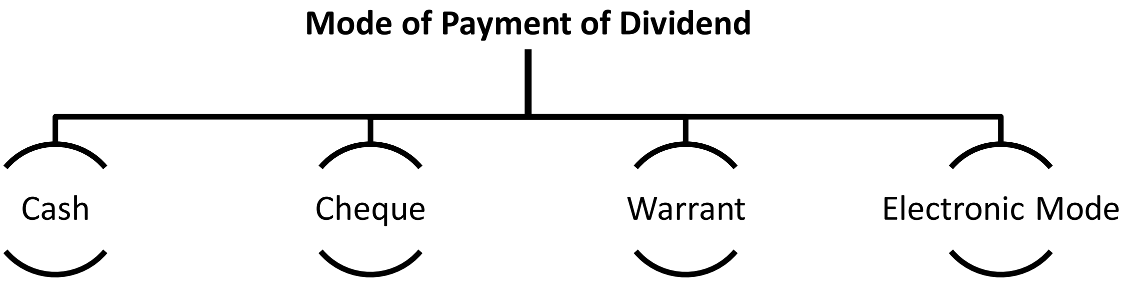
Rate of Dividend



Further, proviso to sub-section (3) of Section 123 of the Act provides that in case the company has incurred loss during the current financial year up to the end of the quarter immediately preceding the date of declaration of Interim Dividend, such Interim Dividend shall not be declared at a rate higher than the average Dividends declared by the company during the immediately preceding three financial years.

However, in case accompany has not declared dividend in the immediately preceding three financial years, the above provision regarding average rate does not apply.

Mode of Payment of Dividend (Section 123(5))



- Dividend can be paid in cash and not in kind.

> Where a company gifts to its shareholders, shares held by it in another company under a scheme, it is nothing but payment of dividend in kind which is expressly prohibited under section 123; hence, such scheme could not have been sanctioned.

- Dividend payable in cash may be paid through payable at par cheque or warrant or in any electronic mode of payment approved by the Reserve Bank of India.
- Closely held companies also use the method of purchasing demand drafts on the name of the shareholders. In such situation dividend would be treated as paid on the date of issue of demand draft by bank by debiting dividend account of the company.
- Where payment of Dividend is not possible through any electronic mode, such Dividend shall be paid by way of cheque payable at par or Dividend warrant.

- The cheque or warrant shall be sent to the registered address of the Member and, in the case of joint holders, to the registered address of the Member named first in the Register of Members or to such person or to such address as the Member or the joint holders have directed, in writing.
- In order to minimize pilferage and fraudulent encashment of Dividend warrants by unauthorised persons, companies should ascertain from the Member, his Bank Account Number and name and address of the Bank branch where he maintains the account and indicate these details on the face of the Dividend warrant. Moreover, companies may also introduce holograms on Dividend warrants as a security measure.
- When payment is made by Dividend warrant, the name of the bank and account number, if available, shall be mentioned in the warrant after the name. In case these are not available, address of the Member shall be printed after the name.
- In case of payment of Dividend through warrant or cheque payable at par, if the amount of Dividend exceeds one thousand and five hundred rupees, the company shall ensure to send such Dividend warrant or cheque either by speed post or registered post to the concerned Member at his registered address.
- Initial validity of the Dividend cheque or warrant shall be for three months.
- The Dividend cheque or warrant shall be accompanied by a statement in writing showing the amount of Dividend paid, Folio no./DP ID and Client ID nos., number of shares held by the concerned Member as on the record date, amount paid up on each share and the financial year to which the Dividend pertains.
- Dividend shall be paid proportionately on the paid-up value of shares.
- Nothing in this Section i.e. 123(5) of the Companies Act, 2013 shall be deemed to prohibit the capitalization of profits or reserves of a company for the purpose of issuing fully paid-up bonus shares or paying up any amount for the time being unpaid on any shares held by the members of the company.
- No Dividend shall bear interest against the company except in case of default in payment of Dividend Dividend warrant/cheque within the prescribed period.

Liability to pay Final Dividend

While analyzing the nature of provisions made for payment of dividend, Supreme Court explained the whole process in the case of Vazir Sultan Tobacco Co. Ltd.Etc. v. Commissioner of Income-Tax Andhra Pradesh, Hyderabad and held that 'It is, no doubt, true that the recommendations of the Directors for payment of any dividend does not create any kind of liability for the payment of the said amount. The liability for payment of any amount by way of dividend only arises when the share-holders accept the recommendations and a dividend is declared at the annual general meeting of the Company. It is open to the Directors to modify or withdraw the recommendation with regard to the payment of dividend before the said recommendation is accepted by the sh–re- holders. It is also open to the shareholders not to accept the recommendation of the Directors in its entirety and to modify the same. The legal liability for the payment of any dividend only arises after the share-holders at the annual general meeting have decided to declare a dividend on the basis of the recommendations of the Directors or on the basis of any modification thereof. The liability for the payment of dividend only arises after the dividend has been declared by the share-holders at the annual general meeting and this liability does not relate back to any earlier date on the basis of the recommendations of the directors as the directors do not enjoy any power of declaring the dividend. The amount that may be set apart for payment of any dividend on the basis of the recommendations made by the Directors, cannot be considered to be an amount set apart for meeting a known or existing liability'.

CASE STUDY

16.10.2017	Zylog Systems Limited	Whole Time Member, Securities and Exchange Board of India

Facts of the Case:

Zylog Systems Limited ('the company / ZSL') is a company incorporated under the Companies Act, 1956. Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) received several complaints from investors alleging that ZSL has not paid the dividend declared by it. The shares of ZSL were listed on the National Stock Exchange of India Limited (NSE) and the Bombay Stock Exchange Limited (BSE). It was observed that ZSL declared dividend to its shareholders at the rate of Rs.5 per equity share of the face value of Rs.5/- each and the same was approved in the Annual General Meeting held on September 25, 2012. The total amount of dividend declared was Rs.16,44,64,200 (Rupees Sixteen crores forty four lakhs sixty four thousand two hundred only).

On receiving such complaints, SEBI issued a letter dated February 13, 2013 asking the company to furnish information regarding declaration and payment of dividends under the Companies Act, 1956 and reasons for default. ZSL vide its letter to SEBI dated February 20, 2013 submitted that they have not been able to pay dividend to the shareholders due to strain on the liquidity position of the company. ZSL further submitted that Mr. Sudarshan Venkatraman, Mr. Ramanaujam Sesharathnam, Mr. Parthasarathy Srikanth, Mr. Madurai Gajanathan, Mr. S. Rajagopal, Mr. V. K Ramani and Mr. Vasanthakumar Ayyavu Palanichamy were the Directors of the ZSL as on the date of declaration of dividend i.e. September 25, 2012.

Therefore, SEBI issued a common Show Cause Notice (SCN) dated October 20, 2016 to all the directors, calling upon them to show cause as to why suitable directions under Section 11 and 11B of the SEBI Act, 1992 should not be issued against them for violation of Sections 205(1A) and 207 of the Companies Act, 1956. The SCN alleged that the directors of the company had knowledge about the declaration of the dividend and the non-payment of the declared dividend by the company. Thus the directors have failed to comply with the obligations and duties mandated under section 205(1A) of the Companies Act, 1956.

Mr. Madurai Gajanathan (Independent Director), who became the member of the new audit committee brought up the issue of non- payment of statutory dues and dividend before the management again along with chairman of the new audit committee and Mr. Parthasarathy Srikanth. Inspite of the requests and insistence from the side of the audit committee, the dividend was not paid.

SEBI Order:

SEBI disposed off the Show Cause Notices against the Independent Directors.

No dividend to be declared/paid in case of failure of repayment of deposits: Section 123(6) of the Companies Act, 2013 provides that a company which fails to comply with the provisions of sections 73 (prohibition of acceptance of deposits except in the manner provided) and 74 (Repayment of deposits etc. accepted before commencement of the Companies Act 2013) shall not, so long as such failure continues, declare any dividend on its equity shares.

The Board of Directors of Peculiar Ltd. proposes to recommend a final dividend of Rs.25 each to all the equity shareholders of the company. The company seeks your opinion on the following :

(1) The company wants to deposit the dividend amount to co-operative bank.

(2) The company is a defaulter in the repayment of deposits and proposes to repay its all deposit after the payment of dividend within 10 days.

(3) Dividend will be declared out of the capital reserves of the company.

The Peculiar Ltd has to follow below procedure for recommending final dividend:

(1) Referring to section 123(4) of Companies Act, 2013, the amount of the dividend has to be deposited in a scheduled bank. The company should first ensure that said co-operative bank is scheduled bank from the list of scheduled bank available at RBI website, and then it may deposit the dividend amount in the scheduled Co-operative Bank.

(2) Referring to section 123(6) of Companies Act, 2013 a company which fails to comply with the provisions relating to acceptance and repayment of deposits shall not, so long as such failure continues, declare any dividend on its equity shares. Hence Peculiar ltd. cannot declare dividend till the failure persists.

(3) Referring to third proviso to Section 123(1) no dividend shall be declared or paid by a company from its reserves other than free reserves.

Free reserves,as per Section 2(43), means such reserves which, as per the latest audited balance sheet of a company, are available for distribution as dividend :

Provided that –

(i) any amount representing unrealised gains, notional gains or revaluation of assets, whether shown as a reserve or otherwise, or

(ii) any change in carrying amount of an asset or of a liability recognised in equity, including surplus in profit and loss account on measurement of the asset or the liability at fair value, shall not be treated as free reserves;

Hence dividend cannot be declared out of the capital reserves of the company.

Procedure for Transfer of shares u/s 90(9) to The Investor Education and Protection Fund

MCA has amended the IEPF (Accounting, Audit, Transfer and Refund) Rules, 2016 w.e.f. 09th June, 2021 to insert new Rule 6A, which provides the manner of transfer of shares as per sub-section (9) of Section 90 to the IEPF authority.

As per the Rule 6A, the shares shall be credited to DEMAT Account of the IEPF Authority within a period of 30 days of such shares due to be transferred to the IEPF Authority with the following important conditions:

Transfer of shares by the companies to the IEPF Authority shall be deemed to be transmission of shares and the procedure to be followed for transmission of shares shall be followed by the companies while transferring the shares to the IEPF Authority.

Such shares shall be transferred to the IEPF Authority without any restrictions and no application shall be filed for claiming back such shares from the IEPF Authority.

The voting rights on shares transferred to the IEPF Fund shall remain frozen. However, for the purpose of the SEBI (SAST) Regulations, 2011, the shares which have been transferred to the IEPF Authority shall not be excluded while calculating the total voting rights.

While under Section 124, shares on which dividend remains unpaid or unclaimed for seven years, are also required to be transferred to IEPF Authority but the significant difference with respect to shares transferred to IEPF Authority under sub-section (9), is that such shares once transferred can't be claimed back, as opposed to shares transferred under Section 124, which can be claimed back from IEPF authority. It is because of the restriction on claiming back the shares transferred to IEPF Authority under sub-section (9) that both the disclosure of significant beneficial ownership and obligation cast on a company, are of great importance.

The company shall follow the following procedure while transferring the shares, namely:-

Where the shares are dealt with in a demat form	Where the shares are dealt with in physical form
The company shall inform the depository by way of corporate action, where the shareholders have their accounts for transfer in favour of the Authority.	The Company Secretary or the person authorised by the Board shall make an application, on behalf of the concerned shareholder, to the company, for issue of a new share certificate.
On receipt of such intimation, the depository shall effect the transfer of shares in favour of DEMAT account of the Authority. While effecting such transfer, the company shall send a statement to the Authority in Form No. IEPF-4 within thirty days of the corporate action taken containing details of such transfer and the company shall also attach following documents: • a copy of order of the Tribunal under sub-section (8) of section 90 of the Act; • a declaration that no application under sub-section (9) of section 90 of the Act has been made or is pending before the Tribunal.	On receipt of the application above, a new share certificate for each such shareholder shall be issued and it shall be stated on the face of the certificate that "Issued in lieu of share certificate No….. for the purpose of transfer to IEPF under sub section (9) of section 90 of the Act" and the same be recorded in the register maintained for the purpose.
	Particulars of every share certificate shall be in Form No. SH-1 as specified in the Companies (Share Capital and Debentures) Rules, 2014.
	After issue of a new share certificate, the company shall inform the depository by way of corporate action to convert the share certificates into DEMAT form and transfer in favour of the Authority.
	While effecting such transfer, the company shall send a statement to the Authority in Form No. IEPF-4 within thirty days of the corporate action taken containing details of such transfer and the company shall also attach following documents: • a copy of order of the Tribunal under sub-section (8) of section 90 of the Act; • a declaration that no application under sub-section (9) of section 90 of the Act has been made or is pending before the Tribunal.

Other Corporate Action or Conditions on such transferred Shares:

In case of bonus shares, split etc.: All benefits accruing on shares transferred to IEPF Authority like bonus shares, split, consolidation, fraction shares and the like except right issue shall also be credited to such DEMAT account by the company which shall send a statement to the IEPF Authority in Form IEPF-4 within thirty days of the corporate action containing details of such transfer.

In case of Delisting: If the company is getting delisted, the IEPF Authority shall surrender shares on behalf of the shareholders in accordance with the SEBI Delisting Regulations and the proceeds realised shall be credited to the IEPF Fund and a separate ledger account shall be maintained for such proceeds.

In case of Winding-up: In case the company whose shares or securities are held by the IEPF Authority is being wound up, the IEPF Authority may surrender the securities to receive the amount entitled on behalf of the security holder and credit the amount to the IEPF Fund and a separate ledger account shall be maintained for such proceeds.

In case of further dividend: Any further dividend received on such shares shall be credited to the IEPF Fund and a separate ledger account shall be maintained for such proceeds.

Any amount required to be credited by the companies to the Fund as mentioned above shall be remitted into the specified account of the IEPF Authority maintained in the Punjab National Bank and the details thereof shall be furnished to the Authority in Form No. IEPF-7 within thirty days from the date of remittance.

All such amounts shall be transferred to the Authority without any restrictions and no application shall be filed for claiming back such amounts from the Authority.

Authority shall furnish its report to the Central Government as and when noncompliance of the rules by companies came to its knowledge.

Effect of non-transfer

In terms of sub-section (3) of Section124 of the Act, if a company fails to transfer unpaid/ unclaimed Dividend amount to the Unpaid Dividend Account within 7 days from the expiry of 30 days of declaration, the company shall pay, from the date of such default, interest on so much of the amount as has not been transferred to the said account at the rate of 12% per annum and the interest accruing on such amount shall ensure to the benefit of the Members in proportion to the amount of Dividend remaining unpaid to them.

By virtue of MCA exemption notification G.S.R.465(E) dated 5th June 2015 in case of a Nidhi Company any Dividend payable in cash may be paid by crediting the same to the account of the member, if the Dividend is not claimed within 30 days from the date of declaration of the Dividend.

Entitlement of Dividend from Unpaid Dividend Account

Sub-section (4) of Section 124 of the Act provides that any person claiming to be entitled to any Dividend transferred to the Unpaid Dividend Account of the company may apply to the company for payment of the Dividend.

After declaration of Dividend, the company has no beneficial interest in the amount so declared, but is merely a custodian in the nature of a trustee until the amount is paid/transferred to a special account.

The company should enter the details of unpaid or unclaimed Dividend in a register and reconcile the amount of Unpaid or Unclaimed Dividend Account, with the concerned bankers, periodically. A listed company, should ensure such reconciliation through its Share Registrar and the Dividend banker on a fortnightly basis during the initial validity of the Dividend warrants and thereafter on a quarterly basis till transfer of funds to the Investor Education and Protection Fund.

The whole objective of Section 124 is to ensure that the amount of Dividend is fully secured by the company by depositing the same in a separate Dividend account and this objective is fully met if a separate Dividend account is opened and the Dividend amount is transferred to such account. A similar view has also been taken in the case of Krebs Biochemicals Ltd. v. Registrar of Companies.

Penalty for default in complying with Section 124

Company	penalty of one lakh rupees and in case of continuing failure, with a further penalty of five hundred rupees for each day after the first during which such failure continues, subject to a maximum of five lakh rupees.
Officer in default	penalty of twenty-five thousand rupees and in case of continuing failure, with a further penalty of two hundred rupees for each day after the first during which such failure continues, subject to a maximum of one lakh rupees.

Dividend declared → 30 days → Not Claimed by Shareholder → 7 days → Transfer to Unpaid Dividend Account → 7 years → Transfer of Unclaimed Dividend/Shares to IEPF

Illustration

1) On 18th September 2018 XYZ Ltd. transferred unpaid/unclaimed Dividend amounting to Rs. 1 Crore to the 'Unpaid Dividend Account'.

   After settlement of various Dividend claims till 17th September 2025, Rs. 20 lakh remains unpaid / unclaimed in the said account.

   The amount of Rs. 20 Lakh should be transferred to the Investor Education and Protection Fund (IEPF) within the next 30 days i.e. latest by 17th October 2025.

2) Whether the underlying shares of unpaid or unclaimed dividends are required to be transferred to IEPF when the amount of unpaid or unclaimed dividend is being transferred?

   Under the erstwhile Act, there was no requirement to transfer the shares for which the dividend is unpaid or unclaimed to the IEPF. However, with the enforcement of the corresponding section, i.e. 124 (6) under the Act, 2013, every Company is mandatorily required to transfer the underlying shares for which the dividend has remained unpaid or unclaimed for a consecutive period of seven years. Here it is pertinent to note that the foremost condition for transfer of shares is that the dividend on such shares shall be unpaid or unclaimed for a seven consecutive years. Accordingly, as per section 124 (6) of the Act, 2013 the underlying shares of unpaid or unclaimed dividend are also required to be transferred to IEPF apart from the amount of unpaid or unclaimed dividend.

3) Within what time should the shares be transferred to the IEPF?

   As per rule 6 of the IEPF Rules, the shares shall be credited to DEMAT Account opened by the IEPF Authority within thirty days of such shares becoming due to be transferred to the IEPF.

4) Whether one form IEPF-2 is to be filed providing details of unclaimed and unpaid amounts pertaining to all the previous seven years or whether separate forms for each year needs to be filed?

   One form IEPF-2 is to be filed containing details of unclaimed and unpaid amounts for all the previous seven years.

The IEPF is to be utilized for :

Kamala Srinivasan vs. Union of India dated 14th February, 2020, Madras High Court

Fact of the Case:

The instant writ petition challenges the vires of Section 124 (6) of the Companies Act, 2013 and Rule 6 and 7 of the Investor Education and Protection Fund Authority (Accounting, Audit, Transfer and Refund) Rules, 2016 as unconstitutional being violative of Article 14, 21 and 300 A of the Constitution of India.

The petitioner states that her son R. Murali Srinivasan passed away on 30/8/1993 intestate at Quriyat, Oman, leaving behind the petitioner and his wife. The 'petitioner's son was having shares in a Company called I-Flex Solutions Limited (IFLEX). The said Company was taken over by M/s. Oracle Financial Services Software Limited, fourth respondent herein. These shares were allotted to the petitioner in the year 1992.

Over the years, bonus shares were issued and the petitioner was holding 3200 shares. The market value of the share as on date would be about 1.14 crores. It is also stated that after the 'petitioner's son passed away, the dividends which were not received and as on date, unclaimed dividends is worth Rs.29,92,000/-. It is stated by the petitioner that Section 124 (6) of the Companies Act, 2013 which deals with unclaimed dividends provides that all the shares in respect of which dividends have not been claimed for seven consecutive years or more than shall be transferred by the Company in the name of Investor Education and Protection Fund along with a statement containing such details as may be prescribed. Proviso to sub-Section 6 of Section 124 states that claimant of the shares shall be entitled to claim the transfer of shares from the Investor Education and Protection Fund in accordance with such procedure and on submission of such documents as may be prescribed.

Learned counsel for the petitioner, submitted that there is no rationale behind Section 124(6) of the Act which provides for transfer of shares along with dividend remaining unpaid or unclaimed for a period of 7 years from the Unpaid Dividend account of the company to the Investors Education and Protection Fund (IEPF). He submitted that the erstwhile Companies Act, 1956 did not have any provision which provided for transfer of shares along with unpaid/unclaimed dividend. This was introduced only in the new Companies Act, 2013. He stated that the introduction of the Section does not effectively remedy any mischief which was present under the erstwhile Act. He also stated that no reasons have been given in order to bring out the intent behind its introduction.

Judgment

In light of the facts of the present case, it was observed that the impugned provisions are not "manifestly arbitrary". There is an awoved purpose for bringing this piece of legislation. It has been enacted to ensure that a company does not unjustifiably and unduly enrich themselves, as the depositors have failed to stake claim and have not been paid for a period of seven years from the date the amount became due. There is no reason to hold that the said provisions are unconstitutional or they violate Article 14 or any other provisions of the Constitution. To strike down Section 124(6) and Investor Education and Protection Authority Fund (Accounting, Audit, Transfer and Refund) Rules, 2016, will amount to negating and striking down a worthy and meritorious legislation which is on the whole beneficial and advantageous and in public interest.

It is also equally well settled that just because Rules are cumbersome and it is difficult to carry out the procedure prescribed under the Rules cannot make the Rules violative of Article 14. Section 124(6) has been brought out to ensure that the companies do not profit out of unclaimed dividends. The Rules have been brought out only to ensure that only claims of genuine persons can be entertained. The fact that the procedure to reclaim the shares and the dividend is more expensive and the conditions are more onerous does not make it fall foul of Article 14 of the Constitution of India. In view of the above, writ petition is dismissed. No costs. Consequently, the connected Miscellaneous Petitions are closed.

CASE LAW

In the case of India Awake for Transparency vs. UOI on 5 December, 2017, Delhi High Court clarified that Section 124(6) does not result in a statutory vesting of any property. The IEPF merely enforces a transfer of shares from a company that has yielded unclaimed dividends for a consecutive period of 7 years to the IEPF, and the said authority of the fund after the transfer of such shares holds the shares as a custodian, or in any manner prescribed thereof. Therefore, the court hereby holds that the writ petition filed by the plaintiff for strict enforcement of the Investor Education and Protection Fund Authority rules is to be dismissed.

Revocation of Dividend

Dividend once declared becomes a debt to the company and therefore cannot be revoked once declared.

In Re: Kishinchand Chellaram v. Commissioner of Income Tax [SC] 1980 AIR 211 1981 SCC (1) 720

Dividends – Declared dividend credited to the accounts of shareholders, whether company later on reversed the declaration of dividend - Whether dividend declared and credited to the accounts of the shareholders could be reversed

Brief facts: Though this case relate to income tax on dividends at the hands of the shareholders, the crucial and interesting question which arose, to decide the correctness or otherwise of the taxation, was "Whether dividend declared and credited to the account of the shareholders could be reversed by the company by passing a resolution to that effect later on?"

The Appellants Kishinchand Chellaram, Shewakram Kishinchand, Lokumal Kishinchand and Murli Tabilram were the shareholders of the company Chellsons Pvt Ltd at the material time. The company declared dividend for the year 1941-42, 1942-43 and 1943-44 and also credited the dividend amount to the shareholders account.

On December 4, 1947, at an Extraordinary General Meeting another resolution purporting to reverse the earlier resolutions that declared dividends was passed by the company. The ITO considered the dividends as the income of the shareholders and assessed as such. However, the appellants contended that the dividends were not their income as it was reversed by the company. Being unsuccessful they carried their dispute through First appellate authority, Tribunal,High court and ultimately it came before the Supreme Court.

Decision: Appeal dismissed.

Reason: If dividend is declared and the amount is credited or paid to the share-holders as dividend, so the character of the credit or payment cannot be altered by a subsequent resolution so as to alter the incidence of tax which attaches to that amount.

Dividend when proposed does not become a debt. The right of Members to claim Dividend arises only after the Dividend is declared either by the company in an Annual General Meeting or, in the case of Interim Dividend, by the Directors in a Board Meeting. Until and unless it is so declared, no Member has any claim against the company in respect thereof, even though the company may have sufficient profits [Bacha F. Guzdar v Commissioner of Income Tax 1955 AIR SC 740].

Members cannot compel the company by any process of law to declare Dividend [C.W. Spencer v. ITO, (1957) 27 Comp. Cases 15, 25 (Mad)].

A Dividend once declared becomes a debt due to the Members and hence cannot be revoked. It gives rise to an enforceable obligation or creates a debt enforceable immediately or in the future.

Preservation of Dividend Cheques, Warrants and Dividend Registers

Where the company has given an undertaking to the Bank for preservation or safe keeping of paid Dividend cheques or warrants for a specified period, the said instruments shall be preserved for such specified period or eight years from the date of the instrument, whichever is longer.

The Dividend warrants returned to the company by the banks should be preserved by the company for a period of eight years for the purpose of any cross reference on any request for duplicate warrants. Even defaced, torn or decrepit Dividend warrants surrendered to the company should be so preserved.

The Dividend warrants returned to the company undelivered, should also be preserved for a period of eight years.

The Dividend cheques or warrants so preserved shall be destroyed only with the approval of the Board or in accordance with the policy approved by the Board for this purpose.

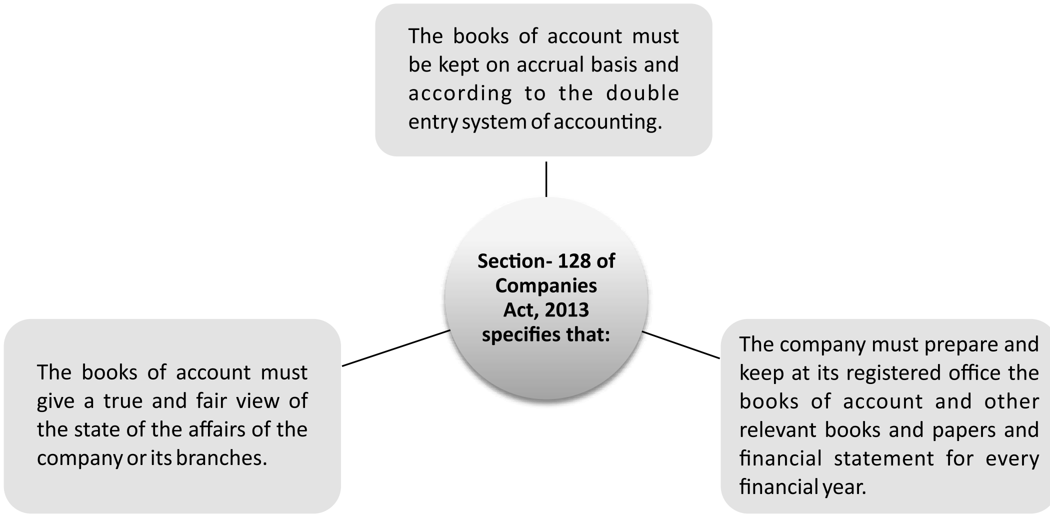
REQUIREMENT OF KEEPING BOOKS OF ACCOUNTS (SECTION 128)

Every company shall prepare and keep at its registered office books of account and other relevant books and papers and financial statement for every financial year.



CASE LAW

In J. K. Industries Ltd. & Anr vs Union Of India & Ors [(2008) 143 Com Cases 325], the Supreme Court explained the concept of 'accrual accounting' as follows:

"In the conventional sense, amounts which become receivable/recoverable are shown as income actually received and the liabilities incurred are shown as amounts actually disbursed in a given year. Therefore, under the aforestated system of accounting, entries are posted in the books of accounts on the date of the transaction, i.e., on the date on which rights accrue or liabilities are incurred, irrespective of the date of payment. In such cases, a company has to account for its income or loss as per the above system and not otherwise, if that company has adopted mercantile system of accounting which is also known as accrual system of accounting. However, accrual does not mean confinement of items of revenue/expenditure to a given year. As stated above, mergers and acquisitions are undertaken to defer revenue expenditure over future years by invoking matching principles. Therefore, the said principle form an important part of accrual accounting."

PLACE OF KEEPING BOOKS OF ACCOUNT

Section 128(1) of the Act requires every company to prepare and keep the books of account and other relevant books and papers and financial statements at its registered office. However, all or any of the books of accounts may be kept at such other place in India as the Board of directors may decide. When the Board so decides, the company is required within 7 days of such decision to file with the Registrar of Companies a notice in writing giving full address of that other place. Such intimation is to be made in e-form AOC-5 to the RoC.

CASE LAW

In Vakharia v. Supreme General Films Exchange Co. Ltd. (1948) the judge stated that "………. a person can exercise his right of inspection through his agent only if he is unable effectively to take inspection has any substance in it. Of course it may be that in a proper case it is open to the party opposing inspection to show that the person seeking inspection is guided by improper motives, and if he succeeded in doing so the Court may refuse inspection through an agent. The principles that apply to the right of inspection of a partner are to my mind equally applicable to the right of inspection conferred on a director under Section 130(2) of the Indian Companies Act.

CASE LAW

In the matter of Hari Sankaran (Appellant) vs. Union of India & Ors. (Respondents) (The Supreme Court of India) dated 04/06/2019

NCLAT order of allowing re-opening of books and re-casting of financial statements of IL&FS is valid

The Supreme Court of India inter-alia observed that the Tribunal may, under Section 130 of the Act, pass an order of re-opening of accounts if it is of opinion that (i) the relevant earlier accounts were prepared in a fraudulent manner; or (ii) the affairs of the company were mismanaged during the relevant period casting a doubt on the reliability of the financial statements. Thus, the Tribunal would be justified in passing the order under Section 130 of the Act upon fulfillment of either of the said two conditions.

In view of the above referred legal position in addition to the reports of SFIO & ICAI, the specific observations made by the learned Tribunal while passing the order under Section 241/242 of the Companies Act and considering the fact that the Central Government has entrusted the investigation of the affairs of the company to SFIO in exercise of powers under Section 242 of the Companies Act, the Apex Court observed that it cannot be said that the conditions precedent while invoking the powers under Section 130 of the Act are not satisfied.

The Supreme Court of India upheld the order passed by NCLAT under Section 130 of the Companies Act for re- opening of the books of accounts and re-casting the financial statements of the Infrastructure Leasing & Financial Services Limited; IL&FS Financial Services Limited and IL&FS Transportation Networks Limited for the last five years, viz. from Financial Year 2012-13 to the Financial Year 2017-18 in larger public interest.

VOLUNTARY REVISION OF FINANCIAL STATEMENTS OR BOARD'S REPORT [SECTION 131]

The Tribunal shall give notice to the Central Government and the Income-tax authorities and shall take into consideration the representations, if any, made by that Government or the authorities before passing any order under this section.

Such revised financial statement or report shall not be prepared or filed more than once in a financial year.

The detailed reasons for revision of such financial statement or report shall also be disclosed in the Board's report in the relevant financial year in which such revision is being made.

Where copies of the previous financial statement or report have been sent out to members or delivered to the Registrar or laid before the company in general meeting, the revisions must be confined to—

(a) the correction in respect of which the previous financial statement or report do not comply with the provisions of section 129 or section 134 of the Act; and

(b) the making of any necessary consequential alternation.

It was held that in case of American Road Technology & Solutions Pvt. Ltd. vs. Central Government CP No.43/BB/2020 NCLT Bengaluru Bench, where company filed application for revision of financial statement in financial year 2017-2018, three preceding years for purpose of revision of financial statements would be 2016-2017, 2015-2016 and 2014-2015 (which was one of year in which incorrect financial reporting has been detected and in respect of which approval for revision has been sought), since, true and fair picture of company's finances would not emerge for financial year 2014-2015 unless financial statements for 2012-2013 and 2013-2014 were also revised, application for revision of financial statements for years 2012 to 2015 was allowed.

SECRETARIAL AUDIT

Secretarial Audit is a compliance audit and it is a part of total compliance management in an organization. The Secretarial Audit is an effective tool for corporate compliance management. It helps to detect non-compliance and to take corrective measures.

Secretarial Audit is a process to check compliance with the provisions of various laws and rules/regulations/ procedures, maintenance of books, records etc., by an independent professional to ensure that the company has complied with the legal and procedural requirements and also followed the due process. It is essentially a mechanism to monitor compliance with the requirements of stated laws.

Considering the increasing importance of Corporate Governance, Section 204 of the Companies Act, 2013 mandates every listed company and such other class of prescribed companies to annex a Secretarial Audit Report, given by a company secretary in practice with its Board's report.

Secretarial Audit is an independent, objective assurance intended to add value and improve an organization's operations. It helps to accomplish the organization's objectives by bringing a systematic, disciplined approach to evaluate and improve effectiveness of risk management, control, and governance processes.

LEGAL FRAMEWORK GOVERNING SECRETARIAL AUDIT UNDER THE COMPANIES ACT, 2013

APPLICABILITY OF SECRETARIAL AUDIT TO A PRIVATE COMPANY WHICH IS A SUBSIDIARY OF A PUBLIC COMPANY

According to the provisions of section 2(71) of the Companies Act, 2013 "public company" means a company which is not a private company and has a minimum paid-up share capital as may be prescribed.

However, the proviso to the aforesaid definition provides that, "a company which is a subsidiary of a company, not being a private company, shall be deemed to be public company for the purposes of the Companies Act, 2013 even where such subsidiary company continues to be a private company in its articles".

Hence, it is clear from above proviso that Secretarial Audit is also applicable to a private company which is a subsidiary of a public company and which falls under the aforesaid prescribed class of companies.

Reserve Bank of India has come out with a discussion paper on Governance in Commercial Banks in India in the month of June, 2020 with the proposal to introduce Secretarial Audit in all commercial banks both listed and unlisted.

INTRODUCTION

Chapter XV (Section 230 to 240) of the Companies Act, 2013 (the Act) contains provisions on 'Compromise. Arrangements and Amalgamations', that covers compromise or arrangements, mergers and amalgamations, corporate debt restructuring, demergers, fast track merger for small companies, cross border mergers, takeovers, amalgamation of companies in public interest etc. The procedural aspects involved such as format of application to be made to the Tribunal, form of notice and the procedural aspects involved with respect to the substantive law are covered under the Rules made under Chapter XV of the Act.

Compromise and Arrangement are form of corporate restructuring which is an inorganic business strategy where one or more aspects of a business are redesigned to improve commercial efficiency, manage competition effectively, drive faster pace of growth, ensure effective utilization of resource, and fulfilment of stakeholders' expectations. It serves different purpose for different companies at different points of time and may take up various forms.

'Compromise' is an amicable agreement between the parties in which they make mutual concessions in order to solve the differences between them. Whereas, 'arrangement' is the process by which the share capital of the company is reorganized either by consolidating or division of the shares or doing both.

The word 'compromise' is nowhere defined in the Companies Act, 2013. It basically connotes the settlement of dispute by mutual consents/agreements or by way of scheme of compromise. Therefore, in case of compromise, there has to be some form of conflict. Following are the situations under which a company may call for a scheme of compromise:

- If a company faces challenge to pay all the creditors in full, in the normal course of business;
- Subsidiaries/units incurring losses etc.

On the other hand the word 'arrangement' has been defined under section 230(1) of the Companies Act, 2013. The arrangement has a wider connotation than compromise. The arrangement means reorganization of rights and liabilities of the shareholders without existence of dispute. A company may opt for scheme of compromise or arrangement to take itself out from the winding up proceedings. Following are the situations under which a company may call for a scheme of compromise:

- For any variation in property;
- Conversion of one class of share to another etc.

Provisions of section 66 shall not apply to the reduction of share capital effected in pursuance of the order of the Tribunal under this section.

Certain statutory enactments to be considered at the time of Compromise, Arrangement & Amalgamations :

1. INCOME TAX ACT 1961

The Income Tax Act, 1961 covers aspects such as tax reliefs to amalgamating/amalgamated companies, carry forward of losses, exemptions from capital gains tax, etc. For example, when a scheme of merger or demerger involves the merger of a loss-making company or a hiving off of a loss-making division, it is necessary to check the relevant provisions of the Income Tax Act and the Rules for the purpose of ensuring, inter alia, the availability of the benefit of carrying forward the accumulated losses and setting of such losses against the profits of the Transferee Company. Taxation aspects of the Merger and Amalgamation have more elaborately given under the relevant module.

2. SEBI (LISTING OBLIGATIONS & DISCLOSURE REQUIREMENTS) REGULATIONS, 2015

Regulation 37 of the SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015, provides that the listed entity shall not file any scheme of arrangement under sections 391-394 and 101 of the erstwhile Companies Act, 1956 or under Sections 230-234 and Section 66 of Companies Act, 2013, whichever applicable, with any Court or Tribunal unless it has obtained the No-objection letter from the stock exchange(s).

Generally, stock exchanges raise several queries and on being satisfied that the scheme does not violate any laws concerning securities such as the Takeover Code or the SEBI (ICDR) Regulations, Stock Exchanges accord their approval.

The listed entity shall place the No-objection letter of the stock exchange(s) before the Court or Tribunal at the time of seeking approval of the scheme of arrangement. The validity of the No-objection letter of stock exchanges shall be six months from the date of issuance, within which the draft scheme of arrangement shall be submitted to the Court or Tribunal.

In addition to the above, Securities and Exchange Board of India has also provided some compliances with regard to the merger and amalgamation.

Rule 19 of the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Rules, 1957 provides basic compliance requirement for listing of securities on stock exchanges and SEBI has the power to relax listed companies from such compliances.

SEBI has issued Circular No. CFD/DIL3/CIR/2017/21 dated March 10, 2017 which inter-alia regulate the scheme of arrangement/ amalgamation/ merger/ etc. as filed with Stock Exchange (STX) for their NOC/ observation letter and also the provides for certain requirements to be complied with for being eligible to get relaxation under Rule 19 of Securities Contracts (Regulation) Rules, 1957 and get the specified securities, issued by the transferee company, pursuant to a Scheme, listed on the stock exchange. Circular provides for the format of Detailed Compliance Report (DCR) to be filed with STX at the time obtaining their NOC/ Observation letter duly certified by the Company Secretary, Chief Financial Officer and the Managing Director, confirming compliance with various regulatory requirements specified for schemes of arrangement and all accounting standards.

Upon sanction of the Scheme by the Court or Tribunal, the listed entity shall submit the documents, to the stock exchange(s), as prescribed by the Board and/or stock exchange(s) from time to time.

However, draft schemes which solely provide for merger of a wholly owned subsidiary with its holding company the requirement of No Objection Certification will not be apply. Provided that such draft schemes shall be filed with the stock exchanges for the purpose of disclosures.

Further, the requirements as specified in regulation 37 and under regulation 94 shall not apply to a restructuring proposal approved as part of a resolution plan by the Tribunal under section 31 of the Insolvency Code, subject to the details being disclosed to the recognized stock exchanges within one day of the resolution plan being approved.

3. THE INDIAN STAMP ACT 1899

It is necessary to refer to the Stamp Act to check the stamp duty payable on transfer of undertaking through a merger or demerger.

The Constitution of India confers the power on the state legislature to make the laws in regard to the matters of stamp duty other than the documents specified in schedule I. The State in exercise of its legislative powers under Article 246 of the Constitution read with Entry 63 of List II (Seventh Schedule) of the Constitution levy the Stamp Duty.

Stamp duty is levied on the instrument evidencing a transfer inter-vivos, i.e., a conveyance. As per Section 2(10) of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899, "Conveyance" includes a conveyance on sale and every instrument by which property whether movable or immovable, is transferred inter vivos and which is not otherwise specifically provided for by Schedule I.

As per Section 2(14) of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899, "Instrument" includes every document by which any right or liability is, or purports to be, created, transferred, limited, extended, extinguished or record.

The term Section 3(18) of the General Clauses Act, 1897, "Document" shall include any matter written, expressed or described upon any substance by means of letters, figures or marks, or by more than one of those means which is intended to be used, or which may be used, for the purpose or recording that matter.

The definition(s) as reproduced above are inclusive in nature and are not self-explanatory. Hence, to avoid any ambiguity and confusion in this regard, with time, certain States has amended their Stamp Act and included Order of Court approving scheme of arrangement within the meaning of 'conveyance'. Maharashtra, Gujarat, Karnataka, Rajasthan, Chhattisgarh, Madhya Pradesh and Andhra Pradesh are the States which have specifically included an amalgamation order of a High Court as "Conveyance".

In Re. Sahayanidhi (Virudhunagar) Ltd. vs. AR.S Subramanya Nadar, (1950) 20 Com Cases 214 (Mad) Hon'ble Madras High Court held that, "the documents (scheme of amalgamation or reconstruction) purport to transfer movable property in the shape of book debts and promissory notes and the consideration for such transfer is partly in the shape of a cash payment and partly in the shape of covenants entered into by the transferee. We are therefore of the opinion that these two documents fall within Article 23 of Schedule I and are to be stamped as such."

Payment of Stamp Duty in Various States

Some of the States like Maharashtra, Gujarat, Karnataka, Rajasthan etc. which have enacted their own Stamp Acts have made specific provisions with respect to payment of Stamp Duty on Order of the High Court under the Companies Acts/Schedules, while some other states like Madhya Pradesh, Andhra Pradesh etc. which have adopted the Indian Stamp Act, 1899 have made state amendments to levy Stamp duty on the High Court Order. The remaining states which neither have their own Stamp Act nor have they made any State Amendment in the adopted Indian Stamp Act, 1899, levy Stamp duty as per the decision of High Court, if any, covering their states, or follow the decision of Supreme Court as laid down in the case of Hindustan Lever.

The law relating to payment of Stamp Duty on the Order of High Court in case of Merger lacks uniformity in India and levy of Stamp Duty will depend upon the Stamp Duty Law of the Concerned State. Also, in cases where the Transferor Company has its assets in different states things may get more complicated. The method of arriving at the figure of Stamp Duty also varies from State to State. Non -payment of Stamp Duty can cause legal hurdles at the time of registration of properties in the name of Transferee Company. Payment of Stamp Duty is an important aspect to be considered before going in for a merger especially in those cases where the asset of the Transferor Company poses a significant value.

4. SEBI (SUBSTANTIAL ACQUISITION OF SHARES AND TAKEOVER) REGULATIONS, 2011

If an acquisition is contemplated by way of issue of new shares, or the acquisition of existing shares or voting rights, of a listed company, to or by an acquirer, the provisions of the Takeover Code are applicable. The Takeover Code regulates both direct and indirect acquisitions of shares or voting rights in, and control over a target company. The key objectives of the Takeover Code are to provide the shareholders of a listed company with adequate information about an impending change in control of the company or substantial acquisition by an acquirer, and provide them with an exit option in case they do not wish to retain their shareholding in the company.

5. THE COMPETITION ACT, 2002

The provisions of Competition Act and the Competition Commission of India (Procedure in regard to the Transaction of Business relating to Combinations) Regulations, 2011 are to be complied with.

6. THE FOREIGN EXCHANGE MANAGEMENT (CROSS BORDER MERGER) REGULATIONS, 2018

The Foreign Exchange Management (Cross Border Merger) Regulations, 2018 have been notified vide notification no. FEMA 389/ 2018-RB dated 20th March, 2018 and are effective from the date of notification. As per the Regulations, merger transactions in compliance with these regulations shall be deemed to have been approved by RBI, and hence, no separate approval should be required. In other cases, merger transactions require prior RBI approval.

Corporate Restructuring process in India is governed by the Companies Act, 2013, the Companie s (Compromises, Arrangements and Amalgamations) Rules, 2016 and various other regulatory laws such as the Income Tax Act, 1961, the Competition Act, 2002, the Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999, the Indian and State Stamp Acts and Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016. Chapter XV of the Companies Act, 2013 (comprising sections 230 to 240) regulates compromises, arrangement and amalgamations.

POWER OF THE TRIBUNAL TO ENFORCE COMPROMISE OR ARRANGEMENT

As per section 231(1), when the Tribunal makes an order under section 230 sanctioning a compromise or an arrangement in respect of a company, it—

(a) shall have power to supervise the implementation of the compromise or arrangement; and

(b) may, at the time of making such order or at any time thereafter, give such directions in regard to any matter or make such modifications in the compromise or arrangement as it may consider necessary for the proper implementation of the compromise or arrangement.

Sub-section (2) states that if the Tribunal is satisfied that the compromise or arrangement sanctioned under section 230 cannot be implemented satisfactorily with or without modifications, and the company is unable to pay its debts as per the scheme, it may make an order for winding-up the company and such an order shall be deemed to be an order made under section 273.

In case of Government Company - In Section 231 for the word “Tribunal” the words “Central Government” shall be substituted.

In the matter of Joint Commissioner of Income Tax (OSD), Circle (3)(3)-1 & Ors. (Appellants) vs. Reliance Jio Infocomm Ltd. & Ors. (Respondents)

Mere fact that a Scheme of Arrangement may result in reduction of tax liability does not furnish a basis for challenging the validity of the same.

The National Company Law Appellate Tribunal (NCLAT), held that without going to the record and without placing any evidence or substantiating the allegation of avoidance of tax by appearing before the Tribunal, it was not open to the income tax department to hold that the composite scheme of arrangement amongst the petitioner companies and their respective shareholders and creditors is giving undue favour to the shareholders of the company and also the overall scheme of arrangement results into tax avoidance.

The NCLAT observed that mere fact that a scheme may result in reduction of tax liability does not furnish a basis for challenging the validity of the same. The Income Tax Department, which sought for liberty, while accepted by the Petitioner Companies (Respondents herein) and the NCLT, Ahmedabad bench while approving the Composite Scheme of Arrangement has granted liberty. Such liberty to the Income Tax Department to enquire into the matter, if any part of the Composite Scheme of Arrangement amounts to tax avoidance or is against the provisions of the Income Tax and is to let it take appropriate steps if so required. Thus, NCLAT upheld the decision of NCLT, Ahmedabad bench and in view of the liberty given to the Income Tax Department decided not to interfere with the Scheme of Arrangement as approved by the Tribunal and dismissed the appeals filed.

MERGER AND AMALGAMATION OF COMPANIES

Merger

The term merger and amalgamation has not been defined under the Companies Act, 2013. Merger & Amalgamation is often known to be a single terminology. However, there is a thin difference between the two. ‘Merger’ is the fusion of two or more companies, whereby the identity of one or more is lost resulting in a single company whereas ‘Amalgamation’ signifies the blending of two or more undertaking into one undertaking, blending enterprises loses their identity forming themselves into a separate legal identity.

There may be amalgamation by the transfer of two or more undertakings to a new or existing company. ‘Transferor company’ means the company which is merging also known as amalgamating company in case of amalgamation and ‘transferee company’ is the company which is formed after merger or amalgamation also known as amalgamated company in case of amalgamation.

A merger is a legal consolidation of two entities into one entity which can be merged together either by way of amalgamation or absorption or by formation of a new company. The Board of Directors of two companies approve the combination and seek shareholders’ approval. After the merger, the acquired company ceases to exist and becomes part of the acquiring company.

Amalgamation

Amalgamation is a legal process by which two or more companies are joined together to form a new entity or one or more companies are to be absorbed or blended with another as a consequence the amalgamating company loses its existence and its shareholders become the shareholders of new company or amalgamated company. In other words, property, assets, liabilities of one or more companies, is taken over by another or are absorbed by and transferred to an existing company or a new company. Therefore, the essence of amalgamation is to make an arrangement thereby uniting the undertakings of two or more companies so that they become vested in, or under the control of one company which may or may not be the original of the two or more of such uniting companies. The word “amalgamation” is not defined under the Companies Act 2013 whereas section 2(1B) of Income Tax Act, 1961 defines Amalgamation as:

“Amalgamation”, in relation to companies, means the merger of one or more companies with another company or the merger of two or more companies to form one company (the company or companies which so merge being referred to as the amalgamating company or companies and the company with which they merge or which is formed as a result of the merger, as the amalgamated company) in such a manner that –

(i) all the property of the amalgamating company or companies immediately before the amalgamation becomes the property of the amalgamated company by virtue of the amalgamation;

(ii) all the liabilities of the amalgamating company or companies immediately before the amalgamation become the liabilities of the amalgamated company by virtue of the amalgamation;

(iii) shareholders holding not less than three-fourths in value of the shares in the amalgamating company or companies (other than shares already held therein immediately before the amalgamation by, or by a nominee for, the amalgamated company or its subsidiary) become shareholders of the amalgamated company by virtue of the amalgamation, otherwise than as a result of the acquisition of the property of one company by another company pursuant to the purchase of such property by the other company or as a result of the distribution of such property to the other company after the winding up of the first-mentioned company.

Tribunal's power to call meeting of creditors or members, with respect to merger or amalgamation of companies

Section 232(1) states that when an application is made to the Tribunal under section 230 for the sanctioning of a compromise or an arrangement proposed between a company and any such persons as are mentioned in that section, and it is shown to the Tribunal –

(b) that under the scheme, the whole or any part of the undertaking, property or liabilities of any company (hereinafter referred to as the transferor company) is required to be transferred to another company (hereinafter referred to as the transferee company), or is proposed to be divided among and transferred to two or more companies, the Tribunal may on such application, order a meeting of the creditors or class of creditors or the members or class of members, as the case may be, to be called, held and conducted in such manner as the Tribunal may direct and the provisions of sub-sections (3) to (6) of section 230 shall apply mutatis mutandis.

Where the compromise or arrangement has been proposed for the purposes of or in connection with a scheme for the reconstruction of any company or companies or the amalgamation of any two or more companies, and the matters involved cannot be dealt with or dealt with adequately on the petition for sanction of the compromise or arrangement, an application shall be made to the tribunal under section 232 of the Act, by a notice of admission supported by an affidavit for directions of the Tribunal as to the proceedings to be taken.

When the ‘Transferor and Transferee Company’ involve a Parent Company and a Wholly Owned Subsidiary the meeting of Equity Shareholders, Secured and Unsecured Creditors can be dispensed with as the rights of the Equity Shareholders of the ‘Transferee Company’ are not being affected

The Appellant Company (‘Transferor Company’ and ‘Transferee Company’) filed Applications under Sections 230 to 232 and other relevant provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 seeking dispensation of the meeting of the Equity Shareholders, Secured Creditors and Unsecured Creditors in respect of the scheme of Amalgamation of the ‘Transferor Company’ with the ‘Transferee Company’ with effect from the appointed date on the aggrieved terms and conditions has set out in the scheme in accordance with Sections 230 to 232 of the Companies Act, 2013 and other applicable provisions of the Act. It is contented that there is no change in the capital structure of the ‘Transferor Company’ till the date of approval of the schemes by the Board of Directors.

It is further stated that the ‘Transferor Company’ is a Wholly Owned Subsidiary of the ‘Transferee Company’ and that both the Companies are incorporated in similar type of nature of activities and that the ‘Transferee Company’ had acquired the ‘Transferor Company’ as a business supportive mechanism for ease of operations.

Judgment

The NCLAT has observed that Section 232(1) of the Companies Act, 2013 uses the word 'may' which introduces an element of discretion to the Tribunal to be exercised in the interest of justice in appropriate situations. Section 232 is a specific provision carved out by the Legislature when both conditions maintained in clauses (a) and (b) of sub-Section (1) of Section 232 are met.

In the instant case the amalgamation sought for is between a Wholly Owned Subsidiary and the Holding Company. The point which needs to be noted is:

- whether such an arrangement alters the rights of the Stakeholders of the Company?
- whether such an amalgamation has any bearing internally on Creditors/Members of both the Companies?
- whether not holding the subject meeting would amount to violation of any of the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013?
- whether the Tribunal can exercise their discretion when the 'Transferor Company' is a Wholly Owned Subsidiary of the 'Transferee Company' and financial position of the 'Transferee Company' is positive and the merger is not affecting the rights of the Shareholders or the Creditors?

Therefore, it is held that the rights and liabilities of Secured and Unsecured Creditors were not getting affected in any manner by way of the proposed scheme as no new shares are being issued by the 'Transferor Company' and no compromise is offered to any Secured and Unsecured Creditors of the 'Transferee Company'. Hence, when the 'Transferor and Transferee Company' involve a Parent Company and a Wholly Owned Subsidiary the meeting of Equity Shareholders, Secured Creditors and Unsecured Creditors can be dispensed with as the rights of the Equity Shareholders of the 'Transferee Company' are not being affected.

An appeal shall lie to the Tribunal against an order of the Registrar refusing to register any circular under sub-section (1).

Any aggrieved party may file an appeal against the order of the Registrar of Companies refusing to register any circular under sub-section (2) of section 238 of the Act and the said appeal shall be in the Form No. NCLT.9 (appended in the National Company Law Tribunal Rules, 2016) supported with an affidavit in the Form No. NCLT.6 (appended in the National Company Law Tribunal Rules, 2016).

The director who issues a circular which has not been presented for registration and registered under clause (c) of sub-section (1), shall be liable to a penalty of one lakh rupees.

Preservation of books and papers of Amalgamated Companies [Section 239]

The books and papers of a company which has been amalgamated with, or whose shares have been acquired by, another company under this Chapter shall not be disposed of without the prior permission of the Central Government and before granting such permission, that Government may appoint a person to examine the books and papers or any of them for the purpose of ascertaining whether they contain any evidence of the commission of an offence in connection with the promotion or formation, or the management of the affairs, of the transferor company or its amalgamation or the acquisition of its shares.

Liability of Officers in Respect of Offences Committed Prior to Merger, Amalgamation, etc. [Section 240]

Notwithstanding anything in any other law for the time being in force, the liability in respect of offences committed under this Act by the officers in default, of the transferor company prior to its merger, amalgamation or acquisition shall continue after such merger, amalgamation or acquisition.

"MAJORITY RULE AND MINORITY RIGHTS"

The Principle of Non-interference (Rule in Foss v. Harbottle)

The general principle of company law is that every member holds equal rights with other members of the company in the same class. The scale of rights of members of the same class must be held evenly for smooth functioning of the company. In case of difference(s) amongst the members the issue is decided by a vote of the majority. Since the majority of the members are in an advantageous position to run the company according to their command, the minorities of shareholders are often oppressed. The company law provides for adequate protection for the minority shareholders when their rights are trampled by the majority. But the protection of the minority is not generally available when the majority does anything in the exercise of the powers for internal administration of a company. The court will not usually intervene at the instance of shareholders in matters of internal administration, and will not interfere with the management of a company by its directors so long they are acting within the powers conferred on them under the articles of the company. In other words, the articles are the protective shield for the majority of shareholders who compose the Board of directors for carrying out their object at the cost of minority of shareholders. The basic principle of non-interference with the internal management of company by the court is laid down in a celebrated case of Foss v. Harbottle 67 E.R. 189; (1843) 2 Hare 461 that no action can be brought by a member against the directors in respect of a wrong alleged to be committed to a company. The company itself is the proper party of such an action.

CASE LAWS

In Foss v. Harbottle, two shareholders, Foss and Turton brought an action on behalf of themselves and all other shareholders against the directors and solicitor of the company alleging that by their concerted and illegal transactions they had caused the company's property to be lost to the company. It was also alleged that there was no qualified Board. Foss and Turton claimed damages to be paid by the defendants to the company. It was held by the court that the action could not be brought by the minority shareholders although there was nothing to prevent the company itself, acting through the majority of its shareholders, bringing action. The wrong done to the company was not which could be ratified by the majority of members. The company (i.e., the majority) is the proper plaintiff for wrong done to the company, so the majority of members are competent to decide whether to commence proceedings against the directors. The reasons for rule were nicely stated by Melish L.J. in MacDougall v. Gardiner, (1875) 1 Ch. D. 13 (C.A.) at p. 25 in the following words:

"If the thing complained of is a thing which in substance the majority of company are entitled to do, or if something has been done irregularly which the majority of the company are entitled to do regularly, or if something has been done illegally which the majority of the company are entitled to do legally, there can be no use in having litigation about it, the ultimate end of which is only that a meeting has to be called, and then ultimately the majority gets its wishes."

In Rajahmundry Electric Supply Co. v. Nageshwara Rao AIR 1956 SC 213, the Supreme Court observed that:

"The courts will not, in general, intervene at the instance of shareholders in matters of internal administration, and will not interfere with the management of the company by its directors so long as they are acting within the powers conferred on them under articles of the company. Moreover, if the directors are supported by the majority shareholders in what they do, the minority shareholders can, in general do nothing about it."

From the above it follows then that a company being a separate legal person from the members who compose it, the company is the proper person to bring an action.

CASE LAWS

In *Pavlides v. Jensen (*1956) Ch. 565, a minority shareholder brought an action for damages against three directors and against the company itself on the ground that they have been negligent in selling a mine owned by the company for £ 82,000, whereas its real value was about £ 10,00,000. It was held that the action was not maintainable. The judge observed, "It was open to the company, on the resolution of a majority of the shareholders to sell the mine at a price decided by the company in that manner, and it was open to the company by a vote of majority to decide that if the directors by their negligence or error of judgement has sold the company's mine at an undervalue, proceedings should not be taken against the directors".

In Edwards v. Halliwell (1950) 2 All. E.R. 1064, Jenkins, L.J. restated the rule in the following terms: "The rule in Foss v. Harbottle comes to no more than this. First, the proper plaintiff in respect of wrong alleged to be done to company is prima facie the company itself. Secondly, where the alleged wrong is a transaction which might be made binding on the company by a simple majority of members, no individual member is allowed to maintain an action in respect of that matter for the simple reason that, if a mere majority of the members of the company is in favour of what has been done, then cadit quaestio... (cannot be questioned). If on the other hand, a simple majority of members of the company or association is against what has been done, then there is no valid reason why the company itself should not sue".

Justification and Advantages of the Rule in Foss v. Harbottle

The justification for the rule laid down in Foss v. Harbottle is that the will of the majority prevails. On becoming a member of a company, a shareholder agrees to submit to the will of the majority. The rule really preserves the right of the majority to decide how the company's affairs shall be conducted. If any wrong is done to the company, it is only the company itself, acting, as it must always act, through its majority, that can seek to redress and not an individual shareholder.

Moreover, a company is a person at law, the action is vested in it and cannot be brought by a single shareholder. Where there is a corporate body capable of filing a suit for itself to recover property either from its directors or officers or from any other person then that corporate body is the proper plaintiff and the only proper plaintiff [Gray v. Lewis, (1873) 8 Ch. Appl. 1035].

The main advantages that flow from the Rule in Foss v. Harbottle are of a purely practical nature and are as follows:

1. Recognition of the separate legal personality of company: If a company has suffered some injury, and not the individual members, it is the company itself that should seek to redress.
2. Need to preserve right of majority to decide: The principle in Foss v. Harbottle preserves the right of majority to decide how the affairs of the company shall be conducted. It is fair that the wishes of the majority should prevail.
3. Multiplicity of futile suits avoided: Clearly, if every individual member were permitted to sue anyone who had injured the company through a breach of duty, there could be as many suits as there are shareholders. Legal proceedings would never cease, and there would be enormous wastage of time and money.
4. Litigation at suit of a minority futile if majority does not wish it: If the irregularity complained of is one which can be subsequently ratified by the majority it is futile to have litigation about it except with the consent of the majority in a general meeting. In Mac Dougall v. Gardiner, (1875) 1 Ch. 13 (C.A.), the articles empowered the chairman, with the consent of the meeting, to adjourn a meeting and also provided for taking a poll if demanded by the shareholders. The adjournment was moved, and declared by the chairman to be carried; a poll was then demanded and refused by the chairman. A shareholder brought an action for a declaration that the chairman's conduct was illegal. Held, the action could not be brought by the shareholder; if the chairman was wrong, the company alone could sue.

Application of Foss v. Harbottle Rule in Indian context — The Delhi High Court in ICICI v. Parasrampuria Synthetic Ltd. SSL, July 5, 1998 has held that an automatic application of Foss v. Harbottle Rule to the Indian corporate realities would be improper. Here the Indian corporate sector does not involve a large number of small individual investors but predominantly financial institutions funding atleast 80% of the finance. It is these financial institutions which provide entire funds for the continuous existence and corporate activities. Though they hold only a small percentage of shares, it is these financial institutions which have really provided the finance for the company's existence and, therefore, to exclude them or to render them voiceless on an application of the principles of Foss v. Harbottle Rule would be unjust and unfair.

Exception to the Rule in Foss v. Harbottle

The rule in Foss v. Harbottle is not absolute but is subject to certain exceptions. In other words, the rule of supremacy of the majority is subject to certain exceptions and thus, minority shareholders are not left helpless, but they are protected by:

(a) the common law; and

(b) the provisions of the Companies Act.

The cases in which the majority rule does not prevail are commonly known as exceptions to the rule in Foss v. Harbottle and are available to the minority. In all these cases an individual member may sue for declaration that the resolution complained of is void, or for an injunction to restrain the company from passing it. The said rule will not apply in the following case:

The minority shareholders are empowered to bring action with a view to preventing the majority from oppression and mismanagement. These are the statutory rights of the minority shareholders and find detailed discussion later in the study.

In Bennet Coleman & Co. and Ors. v. Union of India & Ors., (1977) 47 Com Cases 92 (Bom), the Division Bench of the Bombay High Court held that Sections 397 and 398 of the Companies Act, 1956 are intended to avoid winding up of the company if possible and keep it going while at the same time relieving the minority shareholders from acts of oppression and mismanagement or preventing its affairs from being conducted in a manner prejudicial to public interest. Thus, the Court has wide powers to supplant the entire corporate management by resorting to non- corporate management which may take the form of appointing an administrator or a special officer or a committee of advisers etc., who will be in charge of the affairs of the company.

The exceptions to the rule in Foss v. Harbottle are not limited to those covered above. Further exceptions may be admitted where the rules of justice require that an exception to the rule should be made.

It should be noted that the ordinary civil courts are not deprived of the jurisdiction to decide the matters except where the Companies Act expressly excludes it such as matters relating to winding up [Panipat Woollen & General Mills Co.Ltd. v. R.L. Kaushik, (1969) 39 Com Cases 249 (Punj & Har)].

"MAJORITY RULE AND MINORITY RIGHTS" UNDER THE COMPANIES ACT, 2013

In India, the Companies Act attempts to maintain a balance between the rights of majority and minority shareholders by admitting in the rule of the majority but limiting it at the same time by a number of well-defined minority rights, and thus protecting the minority shareholders.

Chapter XVI of the Companies Act, 2013 deals with the provisions relating to prevention of oppression and mismanagement of a company. Oppression and mismanagement of a company mean that the affairs of the company are being conducted in a manner that is oppressive and biased against the minority shareholders or any member or members of the company. To prevent the same, there are provisions for the prevention and mismanagement of a company.

The Ministry of Corporate Affairs vide its Notification S.O.1934 (E) dated 1st June 2016 notified section 241 to 245 of the Companies Act, 2013. Section 246 was notified vide Notification S.O.2912 (E) dated 9th September, 2016. These provisions are discussed in detail hereunder.

PREVENTION OF OPPRESSION AND MISMANAGEMENT

Meaning of Oppression

The words "oppression" and "mismanagement" are not defined in the Act. The meaning of these words for the purpose of Company Law should be used in a broad generic sense and not in any strict literal sense.

The meaning of the term "oppression" as explained by Lord Cooper in the Scottish case of Elder v. Elder & Western Ltd., (1952) Scottish Cases 49, which has been cited with approval by Wanchoo, J (afterwards C.J.) of the Supreme Court in Shanti Prasad v. Kalinga Tubes, (1965) 1 Comp. L.J. 193 at 204 is as under :

"The essence of the matter seems to be that the conduct complained of should at the lowest, involve a visible departure from the standards of fair dealing, on which every shareholder who entrusts his money to the company is entitled to rely."

CASE LAWS

An attempt to force new and more risky objects upon an unwilling minority may in circumstances amount to oppression. This was held in Re. Hindustan Co-operative Insurance Society Ltd., AIR. 1961 Cal. 443 wherein the life insurance business of a company was acquired in 1956 by the Life Insurance Corporation of India on payment of compensation. The directors, who had the majority voting power, refused to distribute this amount among shareholders, rather they passed a special resolution changing the objects of the company to utilise the compensation money for the new objects. This was held to be an "Oppression". The court observed: "The majority exercised their authority wrongfully, in a manner burdensome, harsh and wrongful. They attempted to force the minority shareholders to invest their money in different kind of business against their will. The minority had invested their money in a life insurance business with all its safeguards and statutory protections. But they were being forced to invest where there would be no such protections or safeguards".

A similar relief was allowed by the House of Lord in Scottish Co-operative Wholesale Society v. Mayer (1959) AC 324. In this case, the society created a subsidiary company to enable it to enter in the rayon industry. Subsequently when the need for the subsidiary ceased to exist, the society adopted a policy of running down its business which depressed the value of its shares. The two petitioners who were managing directors and minority shareholders in the company successfully pleaded "oppression". The court ordered the society to purchase the minority shares at the value at which they stood before the oppressive policy started [This decision has also been followed in Re. H.R. Harmer Ltd., (1959) 1 WLR 62].

Minor acts of mismanagement, however, are not to be regarded as oppression. As far as possible, shareholders should try to resolve their differences by mutual readjustment. Moreover, the courts will not allow these special remedies to become a vexatious source of litigation. For example, in Lalita Rajya Lakshmi v. Indian Motor Co. A.I.R. 1962 Cal 127, the petitioner alleged that the Board of directors were guilty of certain acts detrimental to the minority of the shareholders. The allegations were that the income of the company was deliberately shown less by excessive expenditure; that passengers travelling without ticket on the company's buses were not checked; that petrol consumption was not properly checked; that second hand buses of the company had been disposed of at low price, that dividends were being declared at too low a figure. It was held that even if each of these allegations were proved to the satisfaction of the court, there would have been no oppression.

A member can complain of oppression only in his capacity as a member and not in his capacity as director or creditor [In Re. Bellador Silk Ltd., (1965) 1 All ER 667].

The legal representatives of a deceased member whose name is still on the register of members are entitled to file a petition under Sections 397 and 398 of the Companies Act, 1956, for relief against oppression or mismanagement, Worldwide Agencies Pvt. Ltd. and Another v. Mrs. Margaret T. Desor and Others, Com Cases Vol. 67 (1990), 807 (S.C.).

A shareholder dies and his heirs apply for transmission of shares while their application for succession certificate was pending before the Civil Court. The legal heirs alleged illegal allotment of shares by respondent to themselves, reducing the legal heirs to minority. It has held that the legal heirs are entitled to file a petition alleging oppression and mismanagement. [Rajkumar Devraj & Aur. v. Jai Mahal Hotels Pvt. Ltd. & Others (CLB) CA. No. 133 of 2006 in C.P. No. 30 of 2006.

It should not, however, be supposed that these special remedies against oppression or mismanagement are available only to minorities. "In an appropriate case, if the court is satisfied about the act of oppression or mismanagement, relief can be granted even if the application is made by a majority, who have been rendered completely ineffective by the wrongful acts of a minority group. "Accordingly, a relief under the section was allowed to a majority group by Mitra, J., of the Calcutta High Court in In Re. Sindhri Iron Foundry (P) Ltd. (1963) 68 CWN 118. His Lordship observed that "if the court finds that the company's interest is being seriously prejudiced by the activities of one or the other group of shareholders, that two different registered offices at two different addresses have been set up, that two rival Boards are holding meetings, that the company's business, property and assets have passed to the hands of unauthorised persons who have taken wrongful possession and who claim to be the shareholders and directors there is no reason why the court should not make appropriate order to put an end to such matters.

Referring to the argument that the majority could always call a meeting and put things in order by passing resolutions, his Lordship said:

"The facts in this case show very clearly, that there is no chance of redress in the domestic forum of the company. If a Board meeting was to be called, one group would contend that there were five directors, whereas the other group would urge that there were seven. If a meeting of the shareholders was to be convened, according to one group there would be only sixteen shareholders, while according to the other the number would exceed twenty- five ... There would be complete chaos and confusion ... "(Ibid., p. 335).

"This ingenious remedy has not only permitted redressal of many abuses, but its mere availability has had a deterrent effect upon management." [George H. Hornstein: The Future of Corporate Control, (1950) 63 HLR 476].

It was held in the case of Ajit Singh Ahuja v. Saphire (India) (P) Ltd. [(2009) 1 Comp LJ 313 (CLB)] that in a case of oppression, a member has to specifically plead on five facts – (a) what is the alleged act of oppression; (b) who committed the act of oppression; (c) how it is oppressive; (d) whether it is in the affairs of the company; and whether the company is party to the commission of the act of oppression.

Oppression must be a continuous process. This is suggested by the words, 'are being conducted in a manner...' used in Section 397. Hence isolated acts of oppression or mismanagement will not give rise to an action under Section 397 of the Act. In Shanti Pd. Jain's case, the court said:... "events have to be considered not in isolation but as a part of a consecutive story. There must be continuous acts on the part of the majority shareholders, continuing up-to- date of petition".

However in Tea Brokers P. Ltd. v. Hemendra Prosad Barooah (1998) 5 Comp LJ 963 (Cal.) the Division Bench of Calcutta High Court observed that:

'This is undoubtedly, a right and privilege which a member enjoys in his capacity as a member of the company... such an act may be even a single act done on one particular occasion if the effect of such an act will be of a continuing nature and the member concerned is deprived of his rights and privilege for all time to come in future'.

In Ramshankar Prasad v. Sindu Iron Foundry (P) Ltd., AIR 1966 Cal 512, it was held that a petition under Section 397, would be maintainable even if the oppression was of a short duration and of a singular conduct if its effects persisted indefinitely [followed in Maharashtra Power Development Corporation. Ltd. v. Dabhol Power Co. Ltd. (2003) 56 CLA 263 (Bom.)].

In Bhagirath Agarwala v. Tara Properties P. Ltd. (2003) 51 CLA 57 (Cal.), also the removal of a director and allotment of shares were set aside as they were done at a meeting which was covered without complying with the requirements of Section 286 and also reflected an oppressive policy. The allotment was made only to one member without simultaneous offer to others on pro rata basis. A single act of issue of additional shares can have a continuous effect. It can constitute oppression. A relief can be had against it. There is no bar of limitation in such a case. [Ashok Kumar Oswal v. Panchsher Textile Mfg. & Trading Co. Ltd. (2002) 110 Com Cases 800 (CLB-PB)].

Past acts of oppression will not entitle a plaintiff to seek the remedy under Section 397. The purpose of this section is not so much to take up the past as to redeem the future. A catalogue of charges of the past alleged misdeeds will not attract the section [Thakur Prem Singh v. Thakur Hotel (Simla) Co. (P) Ltd., AIR 1963 Punj. 63; Raghunath Swarup Mathur v. Har Swarup Mathur, (1970) 40 Com Cases 282 (All)].

PROVISIONS UNDER THE COMPANIES ACT, 2013

APPLICATION TO TRIBUNAL FOR RELIEF IN CASE OF OPPRESSION & MISMANAGEMENT (SECTION 241)

A. BY ANY MEMBER OF A COMPANY

Section 241 of the Companies Act, 2013 states that any member of a company, who has right to apply under section 244, may apply to the Tribunal in Form NCLT-1 for complains that—

(a) The affairs of the company have been or are being conducted -

- in a manner prejudicial to public interest, or
- in a manner prejudicial or oppressive to him or any other member or members, or
- in a manner prejudicial to the interests of the company, or

(b) The material change, has taken place in the management or control of the company, whether by -

- an alteration in the Board of Directors, or manager, or
- in the ownership of the company's shares, or

However, such material change shall not be a change brought about by, or in the interests of, any creditors, including debenture holders or any class of shareholders of the company.

B. BY CENTRAL GOVERNMENT

The Central Government, if it is of the opinion that the affairs of the company are being conducted in a manner prejudicial to public interest, it may itself apply to the Tribunal for an order [Sec 241(2)].

As per Section 241(3), where in the opinion of the Central Government there exist circumstances suggesting that –

(a) any person concerned in the conduct and management of the affairs of a company is or has been in connection therewith guilty of fraud, misfeasance, persistent negligence or default in carrying out his obligations and functions under the law or of breach of trust;

(b) the business of a company is not or has not been conducted and managed by such person in accordance with sound business principles or prudent commercial practices;

(c) a company is or has been conducted and managed by such person in a manner which is likely to cause, or has caused, serious injury or damage to the interest of the trade, industry or business to which such company pertains; or

(d) the business of a company is or has been conducted and managed by such person with intent to defraud its creditors, members or any other person or otherwise for a fraudulent or unlawful purpose or in a manner prejudicial to public interest.

The Central Government may initiate a case against such person and refer the same to the Tribunal with a request that the Tribunal may inquire into the case and record a decision as to whether or not such person is a fit and proper person to hold the office of director or any other office connected with the conduct and management of any company.

The person against whom a case is referred to the Tribunal under Section 241(3), shall be joined as a respondent to the application. [Section 241(4)]

Illustration:

Mr. A is a director of ABC Ltd. The Central Government is of opinion that Mr. A is guilty of fraud, misfeasance, persistent negligence, or default in carrying out his obligations and functions under the law or of breach of trust and hence cannot continue as director. The Government applied to Tribunal to decide whether or not Mr. A can continue as director. Here Mr. A will be the respondent.

As per Section 241(5), every application under Section 241(3) –

(a) shall contain a concise statement of such circumstances and materials as the Central Government may consider necessary for the purposes of the inquiry; and

(b) shall be signed and verified in the manner laid down in the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for the signature and verification of a plaint in a suit by the Central Government.

RIGHT TO APPLY UNDER SECTION 241 (SECTION 244)

Sub-section (1) of Section 244 states that following members of a company shall have the right to apply under section 241, namely:—

(a) In the case of a company having a share capital -

(i) not less than one hundred members of the company; or

(ii) not less than one-tenth of the total number of its members, whichever is less; or

(iii) any member or members holding not less than one tenth of the issued share capital of the company, subject to the condition that the applicant or applicants has or have paid all calls and other sums due on his or their shares.

(b) In the case of a company not having a share capital -

(i) not less than one-fifth of the total number of its members shall have the right to apply under section 241.

For the purposes of this sub-section, where any share or shares are held by two or more persons jointly, they shall be counted only as one member.

Where any members of a company are entitled to make an application under sub-section (1), any one or more of them having obtained the consent in writing of the rest, may make the application on behalf and for the benefit of all of them.

In Re Tata Consultancy Services Limited vs. Cyrus Investments Pvt Ltd civil appeal No.440441 of 2020 Supreme Court, in this case Mr. Cyrus Mistry was removed from his position as Executive Chairman of Tata Sons Limited on October 24, 2016, because the company's Majority Shareholders and Board of Directors lost faith in him as Chairman. Cyrus Mistry was terminated from the board of directors of Tata Sons and by vote of the shareholders at a general meeting. Following that, Cyrus Mistry approached the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) Mumbai, alleging persecution of minority shareholder rights and operational mismanagement by Tata Sons under Sections 241, 242 and 244 of the Companies Act, 2013.

The Supreme Court observed that unless the removal of a person as a chairman of a company is oppressive or mismanaged or done in a prejudicial manner damaging the interests of the company, its members or the public at large, the Company Law Tribunal cannot interfere with the removal of a person as a Chairman of a Company in a petition under Section 241 of the Companies Act, 2013.

Power of Tribunal

Power of Tribunal to waive requirements to apply specified under Section 244

Proviso to section 244(1) states that the Tribunal may, on an application made to it in this behalf in Form No: NCLT- 9, may waive all or any of the requirements specified in clause (a) or clause (b) of sub – section (1) of Section 244 so as to enable the members to apply under Section 241.

POWER OF TRIBUNAL TO ISSUE ORDERS [SECTION 242(1)]

(a) that the company's affairs have been or are being conducted in a manner prejudicial or oppressive to any member or members or prejudicial to public interest or in a manner prejudicial to the interests of the company; and

(b) that to wind up the company would unfairly prejudice such member or members, but that otherwise the facts would justify the making of a winding-up order on the ground that it was just and equitable that the company should be wound up, the Tribunal may, with a view to bringing to an end the matters complained of, make such order as it thinks fit.

In Re Union of India Vs. Infrastructure Leasing and Financial Services Ltd C.P. No. 3638 of 2018, NCLT-Mumbai, Union of India filed petition under section 242 alleging that managerial persons of IL & FS were responsible for negligence and incompetence and affairs of company were conducted in manner prejudicial to public interest, Board of Directors of IL & FS were suspended and Government Directors were directed to take over IL& FS with immediate effect.

(g) the setting aside of any transfer, delivery of goods, payment, execution or other act relating to property made or done by or against the company within three months before the date of the application under this section, which would, if made or done by or against an individual, be deemed in his insolvency to be a fraudulent preference;

(h) removal of the managing director, manager or any of the directors of the company;

(i) recovery of undue gains made by any managing director, manager or director during the period of his appointment as such and the manner of utilisation of the recovery including transfer to Investor Education and Protection Fund or repayment to identifiable victims;

(j) the manner in which the managing director or manager of the company may be appointed subsequent to an order removing the existing managing director or manager of the company made under clause (h);

Interim Order [Section 242(4)]

The Tribunal may, on the application of any party to the proceeding, make any interim order which it thinks fit for regulating the conduct of the company's affairs upon such terms and conditions as appear to it to be just and equitable.

At the conclusion of the hearing of the case in respect of sub-section (3) of section 241, the Tribunal shall record its decision stating therein specifically as to whether or not the respondent is a fit and proper person to hold the office of director or any other office connected with the conduct and management of any company.

In Smruti Shreyans Shah vs. Lok Prakashan Ltd & Ors, C.P. No. 16/241/NCLT/AHM/2017

The court held that the Tribunal can issue interim orders under section 242 if a prima facie case is made out. It observed that the making of an interim order by the Tribunal across the ambit of section 242 (4) postulates a situation where the affairs of the company have not been or are not being conducted in accordance with the provision of law and the Article of Association. For carving out a prima facie case, the member alleging oppression and mismanagement has to demonstrate that he has raised fair questions in the company petition and which require a probe.

Alteration in Memorandum or Articles

Where an order of the Tribunal makes any alteration in the memorandum or articles of a company, then, the company shall not have power, except to the extent, if any, permitted in the order, to make, without the leave of the Tribunal, any alteration whatsoever which is inconsistent with the order, either in the memorandum or in the articles [Section 242(5)].

The alterations made by the order in the memorandum or articles of a company shall, in all respects, have the same effect as if they had been duly made by the company in accordance with the provisions of this Act and the said provisions shall apply accordingly to the memorandum or articles so altered [Section 242(6)].

A certified copy of every order altering, or giving leave to alter, a company's memorandum or articles, shall within thirty days after the making thereof, be filed by the company with the Registrar who shall register the same [Section 242(7)].

However, if a company contravenes the provisions of sub-section (5) of Section 242, the company shall be punishable with fine which shall not be less than one lakh rupees but which may extend to twenty-five lakh rupees and every officer of the company who is in default shall be punishable with fine which shall not be less than twenty-five thousand rupees but which may extend to one lakh rupees.

CONSEQUENCE OF TERMINATION OR MODIFICATION OF AGREEMENTS (SECTION 243)

1. Where an order made under Section 242 terminates, sets aside or modifies an agreement –

   (a) such order shall not give rise to any claims whatever against the company by any person for damages or for compensation for loss of office or in any other respect either in pursuance of the agreement or otherwise;

   (b) no managing director or other director or manager whose agreement is so terminated or set aside shall, for a period of five years from the date of the order terminating or setting aside the agreement, without the leave of the Tribunal, be appointed, or act, as the managing director or other director or manager of the company.

(1A) The person who is not a fit and proper person pursuant to sub-section (4A) of section 242 shall not hold the office of a director or any other office connected with the conduct and management of the affairs of any company for a period of five years from the date of the said decision:

Provided that the Central Government may, with the leave of the Tribunal, permit such person to hold any such office before the expiry of the said period of five years.

(1B) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other provision of this Act, or any other law for the time being in force, or any contract, memorandum or articles, on the removal of a person from the office of a director or any other office connected with the conduct and management of the affairs of the company, that person shall not be entitled to, or be paid, any compensation for the loss or termination of office.

Provided that the Tribunal shall not grant leave under this clause unless notice of the intention to apply for leave has been served on the Central Government and that Government has been given a reasonable opportunity of being heard in the matter.

Any person who knowingly acts as a managing director or other director or manager of a company in contravention of clause (b) of sub-section (1) or sub-section (1A) of Section 243, and every other director of the company who is knowingly a party to such contravention, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five lakh rupees.

In the matter of Aruna Oswal (Appellant) vs. Pankaj Oswal & Ors. (Respondents) (Supreme Court) (July 06, 2020)

Dispute of Inheritance of Shares is a civil dispute, it cannot be decided under section 241/242 of the Companies Act, 2013

Fact of the case:

The brief facts of the case are that Late Mr. Abhey Kumar Oswal, during his lifetime, held as many as 5,35,3,960 shares in M/s. Oswal Agro Mills Ltd., a listed company. He died on 29.3.2016. Mr. Abhey Kumar Oswal filed a nomination according to section 72 of the Companies Act, 2013 in favour of Mrs. Aruna Oswal, his wife. Two witnesses duly attested the nomination in the prescribed manner. The name of Mrs. Aruna Oswal, the appellant, was registered as a holder on 16.4.2016 as against the shares held by her deceased husband.

Pankaj Oswal (respondent no. 1), son of late Abhay Oswal filed a partition suit in High Court claiming entitlement to 1/4th of the estate of his father including the deceased's shareholdings. The High Court passed an interim order to maintain status quo concerning shares and other immoveable property.

While the suit was pending, respondent no. 1 also moved the NCLT, Chandigarh, alleging 'oppression and mis- management' under Section 241/242 of the Companies Act, 2013 in the affairs of respondent no. 2 company. The appellant challenged the maintainability of the petition. The NCLT directed filing of reply to the petition, without deciding the question of maintainability.

This was challenged before NCLAT, which in turn directed the NCLT to decide the question of maintainability of the petition. The NCLT thereafter dismissed the challenge to maintainability and held that the respondent no. 1, being a legal heir, was entitled to one-fourth of the property/shares. Therefore, the matter eventually reached the Supreme Court of India.

Judgment

Supreme Court observed that the basis of the petition is the claim by way of inheritance of 1/4th shareholding so as to constitute 10% of the holding. This is the right, which cannot be decided in proceedings under Section 241/242 of the Companies Act, 2013. Thus, filing of the petition under sections 241 and 242 seeking waiver is a misconceived exercise as the, respondent no. 1 has to firmly establish his right of inheritance before a civil court to the extent of the shares he is claiming; more so, in view of the nomination made as per the provisions contained in Section 71 of the Companies Act, 2013. In order to maintain the proceedings, the respondent should have waited for the decision of the right title and interest, in the civil suit concerning shares in question. The orders passed by the NCLT as well as NCLAT are set aside, and the appeals are allowed.

In the matter of Mrs. Arti Meenakshi Muthiah (Appellant) vs. MCTM Global Investments Pvt. Ltd. & Ors. (Respondents) (NCLAT) (June 11, 2020)

Merely adding an additional signatory to a bank account cannot be claimed to be an act of Oppression

Fact of the case

The brief facts of the case are that the 1st respondent company is a closely held family company. The company was incorporated by Mr. M.Ct. Muthiah in 1988 and the shareholding was equally held by the Mr. M. Ct Muthiah and his wife, 2nd respondent. Mr. M. Ct Muthiah died in September, 2006 and his shareholding in 1st respondent was equally divided into his legal heirs.

The appellant (original petitioner) had filed a Company Petition before the Company Law Board, Chennai against the respondents under Section 397 and 398 read with Section 402 of the Companies Act 1956/2013 alleging oppression and mismanagement by the respondents and after establishment of NCLT the petition was transferred to NCLT, Chennai Bench.

After hearing the parties, the NCLT Chennai dismissed the petition. Being aggrieved by the impugned order the appellant has filed the present appeal.

Judgment:

NCLAT held that every shareholder have a right to transfer his right after completing all the formalities, if otherwise the same are in order. NCLAT further observed that shares relating to the appellant are untouched and she continues to be 17% shareholder of 1st respondent. Further the shares have not been transferred to an outsider. Appellant failed to show any illegality in such transfer. Further, purchase of the property is a commercial decision which cannot be question as the same may either result in profit or loss and the commercial decision does not require any judicial interference.

Furthermore, NCLAT opined that merely adding an additional signatory to a bank account cannot be claimed to be an act of oppression especially when the Appellant continues to be one of the signatories. Thus, no prima facie case is made out to interfere in the impugned order of NCLT, Chennai Bench and the appeal is dismissed.

INTRODUCTION

A dormant company means a company which is inactive or inoperative i.e., not carrying out any business activity and has applied to the Registrar of Companies ("ROC") to change its status in the Register of Companies maintained by the said Registrar of Companies from "Active Company "to "Dormant Company". A company may become dormant immediately after its registration or after a few years of its incorporation. There are many reasons as to why a company may change its status from "active "to "dormant". The major reason for such a change is that it gives the company the liberty to start its business activities after a few years rather than incorporating a new company at that time, thus providing cost and time advantage to the company. A company may also choose to temporarily shut down its operations due to adverse market conditions and decide to commence its operations at a future date. In all such cases, a company may make an application to the ROC to change its status from "active" to "dormant".

Dormant companies are also known as inactive companies.

CASE LAW

In Re: AVS Enterprises Pvt. Ltd. v. Registrar of Companies, Delhi and Ors. Company Appeal (AT) No. 47 of 2021

It was pertinently pointed out that Section 455 of the Companies Act, 2013 mentions 'Dormant Company'. The word 'Dormant' in 'Business Per longs' means an entity's identity being unknown to others, inactive and a passive one. No wonder, in law, a 'Company' can apply for securing the nomenclature of a 'Dormant Company' by passing a 'Special Resolution' at the General Meeting of the Company or by getting shareholders' consent holding at least '3/4th of the Shares in Value'.

Section 455 of the Companies Act, 2013 read with Companies (Miscellaneous) Rules, 2014 stipulates the provisions pertaining to "Dormant Company". Where a company is formed and registered under this Act for a future project or to hold an asset or intellectual property without having any significant accounting transaction, such a company or an inactive company may make an application to the ROC in such a manner as may be prescribed for obtaining the status of a dormant company. A dormant company may either be a public company or a private company or a one person company (OPC).

For the above purposes, 'inactive company' means a company which:

(a) has not been carrying on any business or operation; or

(b) has not made any significant accounting transaction during last two financial years; or

(c) has not filed financial statements and annual returns during the last two financial years.

'Significant Accounting Transaction' means any transaction made by the company except transactions mentioned below:

(a) payment of fees by a company to the Registrar;

> (b) payments made by the company to fulfil the requirements of this Act or any other law;
> (c) allotment of shares to fulfil the requirements of this Act; and
> (d) Payments for maintenance of its office and records.
> All the transactions, apart from the above mentioned transactions, will be considered as significant accounting transactions. If a company has made only the above mentioned transactions in the last two financial years, then that company will fall under the definition of 'Inactive Company'.

The Registrar on consideration of the application shall allow the status of a dormant company to the applicant and issue a certificate allowing the status of a Dormant Company to the applicant and the Registrar shall also maintain a register of dormant companies.

A dormant company shall have a minimum number of three directors in case of a public company, two directors in case of a private company and one director in case of a One Person Company. Further, it shall file required documents and pay such annual fee as may be prescribed to the Registrar to retain its dormant status in the register. The dormant company may become an active company on an application made in this behalf accompanied by required documents and fees.

A company may retain its status of Dormant Company for five (5) years once it has obtained the dormant company status, after it Registrar may strike off the name of the company from the register of companies, if such company failed to comply with the requirements of section 455.

ADVANTAGES OF DORMANT COMPANIES UNDER COMPANIES ACT, 2013

Dormant Companies offers number of advantages to its promoters. Some of the main advantages are listed below:

(a) It helps in preserving the domain name and hence a company may be founded to prepare for a future undertaking.

(b) A Dormant Company offers excellent advantage to the promoters who want to hold an asset or intellectual property under the corporate shield for its usage at a later stage. A Trademark of a Company Name is among the intellectual property owned by a dormant company. Others are not authorized to trade using the name of the dormant company since it is protected.

For instance: if a promoter wants to buy land now for its future project at a comparatively lesser price, he may do the same through dormant company so that he can use the land for its future project.

(c) It assists the company in projecting a more positive image to potential consumers and/or lenders.

(d) Once a company is registered as a dormant company, the annual return for the company can be filed using a simplified Form MSC-3. Also, the number of Board Meetings to be conducted by the Company is reduced. The compliance burden of the company is also reduced.

(e) Dormant Company is not liable to pay any taxes until it is reactive.

(f) Dormant Company is not required to include the statement of cash flow in its financial statement.

(g) The provision of rotation of auditors is not applicable in case of a dormant company.

(h) Dormant companies enjoy the advantages of lower statutory compliance cost as there are few statutory compliances applicable to dormant company as compared to active company, for example, a dormant company need not hold Annual General Meeting every year and no need to hold and convene four (4) Board Meetings in a year, etc.

(i) It is easier for dormant companies to reacquire its active status and it also reduces the cost of incorporation of a new company.

COMPLIANCES FOR DORMANT COMPANY

There are certain compliances which needs to be fulfilled by the dormant company. These are mentioned below:

1) Company needs to have minimum number director as required by Companies Act, 2013 i.e. at least 3 Directors in case of a Public Company, 2 for Private Company and 1 for OPC.
2) The company shall continue to file the returns of allotment and change in directors, whenever the company allots any security to any person or there is any change in the directors of the company.
3) The Dormant Company is required to hold at least one meeting of the Board of Directors in every half year. The gap between two meetings shall not be more than 90 days.
4) The maximum tenure for which a company can remain dormant is 5 consecutive financial years. If a company remains dormant for more than 5 years, the Registrar commences the process of striking off the name of the company from the Records, i.e. the company will be removed.
5) A dormant company is required to file a "Return of Dormant Company" in Form MSC-3 annually, inter-alia, indicating financial position duly audited by a Chartered Accountant in Practice along with such annual fee as provided in the Companies (Registration Offices and Fees) Rules, 2014 within a period of thirty days from the end of each financial year.
6) No need not enclose cash flow statements in its annual accounts.
7) The provisions of the Act in relation to the rotation of auditors are not applicable to dormant companies.

Test Yourself:

State the privileges and exemptions available to the dormant companies under the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013.

Illustration:

A Limited Company wants to start its operations after three years. For the business purpose, the company needs to acquire land. The land prices will be very high after the period of three years.

Hence, in this case, the company will acquire the land at current price which is much cheaper as compared to land prices after three years by incorporating the company and applying the dormant status afterwards.

Dormant by ROC : In case of a company which has not filed financial statements or annual returns for two financial years consecutively, the ROC shall issue a notice to the company and enter the name of such company in the register maintained for dormant companies.

Hence, it is not always the company which applies for the status of the dormant company; even the ROC is empowered suo moto to change the status of a company into a dormant company.

The Registrar shall initiate the process of striking off the name of the company, if the company remains as a dormant company for a period of five consecutive years.

REGULATORY FRAMEWORK

- The Companies Act, 2013 (Section 206-229)
- The Companies (Inspection, Investigation and Inquiry) Rules, 2014

INTRODUCTION

To prevent from any fraudulent activity, the regulations are needed. The person committing the fraud is punished by the authority. For frauds committed by individuals in their own capacity are punished by the law, depends on the nature of fraud or offence.

This takes a lot of efforts in drafting and making a law. In addition to that, the task of enforcing a law is the real challenge for any law-making authority. Without enforcement of a law, there will be lesser compliance of the law. A law without regulatory or penal powers is a toothless tiger. Regulatory actions ensure proper compliance of the law.

A check on the performance and compliance of various applicable laws are generally exercised by the scrutiny of any document filed by a company with the Registrar of Companies or any other regulatory authority, which is empowered to call for information and explanation with respect to any matter to which such documents or any information purports to relate. The object of inspection is not only to keep a watch on the performance of companies but also to evaluate the level of efficiency in the conduct of the companies.

Likewise, Chapter XIV of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act") contains Sections 206 to 229, stipulates the provisions relating to inspection, inquiry and investigation into the affairs of the Company.

The Act empowers the Registrar of Companies (RoC) to carry out the inquiry to call for information, to order an enquiry, to enter and search the place or places where the books are kept. The Act empowers the Central Government to appoint an inspector to carry out the inquiry and to order an investigation into the affairs of the company. The Act also mandates constitution of Serious Fraud Investigation Office (SFIO) and assigns certain offences to be investigated by SFIO, which has power to arrest in respect of certain offences.

> For example, Form AOC-4 for filing of Financials and Form MGT-7 for filing the annual return are basic annual compliance which must be followed by every Company. Failure to file such forms whether intentional or not, encourages the regulatory actions. In such situation, the regulatory actions become the tool to enforce regulatory compliances.

These regulatory actions may be any of the following:

- Call for information;
- Inspection;
- Investigation;
- Inquiry;
- Search and seizure;
- Litigation;
- Arrest;
- Penalty and Punishment.

The agencies responsible for enforcement of Laws and Regulations applicable to businesses are : RoC, RD, SFIO, SEBI, Stock Exchange, RBI, CCI, Labour Law Authorities, Income Tax Authorities, Enforcement Directorate, CBI, Economic Offence Wing, etc.

Meaning of Inquiry, Inspection and Investigation

Inquiry and Inspection is a process, through which one can collect the required information. Investigation is a process of unearthing the concealed and hidden facts and the truth about a matter.

Inquiry:

The word 'inquiry' is not defined under the Act. The word 'inquiry' is derived from the French word "enquerre" which means "to ask".

As per Black Law dictionary, the word 'inquiry' is defined as "1. Int'llaw. Fact-finding 2. Parliamentary law. A request for information, wither procedural or substantive."

As per Collins Dictionary "Inquiry" is defined as "the act of inquiring; a seeking for information by asking questions; interrogation; a question or questioning."

It is a process questioning and interrogation by way of researching and probing in order to find a solution to the problem. This is the process to bring clarity or clear any doubt on any subject matter. This is basically searching for and acquiring knowledge and information about something.

The Bombay High Court in Narayanilal Bansilal vs. Maneck Phiroze Mistry & Anr. Observed that "it is fallacious to suggest that the only object of inquiry and the only purpose of the report was to launch a prosecution under section 242 of the Companies Act, 1956. It was left to the discretion of the Central Government under Section 242 to launch or not to launch a prosecution, and we shall point out in another context, the report of the inspector and the inquiry held by him serve under the Companies Act many more important purposes than mere prosecution of a defaulting managing agent or a defaulting director.

........Therefore, the main primary function of this investigation is to look the affairs of this company from its working, to see whether it is worked in the interest of the shareholders and to find out whether the privilege o incorporation has or has not been abused."

Inspection:

The word 'inspection' is not defined under the Act. The word 'inspection' is derived from the Latin word "inspectus" means to look into, inspect.

As per Black Law dictionary, the word 'inspection' is defined as "A careful examination of something such as goods (to determine their fitness for purchase) or items produced in response to a discovery request 9to determine their relevance to a lawsuit."

Investigation:

The word 'investigation' is not defined under the Act. The word 'investigation' is derived from the lating word "Investigatus" which is the past participate of 'investigare" meaning "to track or investigation.'

As per Black Law dictionary, the word 'investigation' is defined as to inquire into (a matter) systematically; to make (a suspect) the subject of a criminal inquiry.

Investigation within the meaning of Companies Act is a form of probe; a deeper probe; into the affairs of the company. It is a fact finding exercise. The main object of investigation is to collect evidence and to see if any illegal acts or offences are disclosed and then decide the action to be taken up. The said expression also includes investigation of all business affairs-profits and losses, assets including goodwill, contracts and transactions, investments and other property interests and control of subsidiary companies too.

Inspection* vs. Inquiry vs. *Investigation

Inspection, inquiry and investigation are three connected but different regulatory actions. These regulatory actions start with some information. We can understand this in a general example form a day to day public knowledge about criminal law.

> For example, the Police get some information about happening of something. The police officer, having jurisdiction, visits and inspect the place where the incident had happened. He receives all kind of information which might directly or indirectly, be related to the incident reported. After this, police file a formal first information report(FIR). Thereafter, police do its own inquiry before filing its charge sheet in the court. The court order investigation in the matter, wherever required.

To understand this with the purview of Companies Act, 2013, the registrar got some information about a Company in which fraud is going on. The registrar issues an order to inspect the books & accounts and other statutory records of the Company. The registrar may carry out the inquiry if circumstance so warrant. Further, if registrar is not satisfied with the inspection and inquiry, the registrar will file its report to Central Government and the Central Government may issue the order to conduct investigation. inspects and issued an inquiry into the affairs of the Company. Here, it is important to that it doesn't matter from where the registrar gets information. Anyone can provide information be it stakeholder, director, shareholder, employee and they may play the role of whistle blower.

Therefore, Inspection is intended to be a routine and not ad hoc or special affair. However, if sufficient evidence suggests that of the company's affairs are being mismanaged and/or managed in fraudulent way, then inspection can lead to orders for investigation into the affairs of the company.

INVESTIGATION (SECTION 210 - 229)

Shareholders have been vested with various rights including the right to elect directors under the Companies Act, 2013. However, shareholders are often ill-equipped to exercise effective control over the affairs of companies, and, particularly in companies whose shareholders are widely scattered and the affairs of such companies are managed to all intents and purposes, by its Board of directors to the exclusion of a predominant majority of shareholders. Such a situation leads to abuse of power by persons in control of the affairs of company. It became, therefore, imperative for the Central Government to assume certain powers to investigate the affairs of the company in appropriate cases particularly where there was reason to believe that the business of the company was being conducted with the intent to defraud its creditors or members or for a fraudulent or unlawful purpose, or in any manner oppressive of any of its members. Sections 210 to 229 of the Companies Act, 2013, contain provisions relating to investigation of the affairs of company.

KINDS OF INVESTIGATION

The Companies Act, 2013 provides for carrying out the following kinds of investigation:

1. Investigation of the affairs of the company if it is necessary to investigate into the affairs of the company in public interest (Section 210);
2. Investigation of the affairs of related companies (Section 219);
3. Investigation about the ownership of a Company (Section 216);
4. Investigation of foreign companies (Section 228);
5. Investigation by Serious Fraud Investigation Office directed by Central government under (Section 212);
6. Investigation on the order of Tribunal (Section 213).

Report or Special Resolution or Public Interest- Section 210(1)

Where the Central Government is of the opinion, that it is necessary to investigate into the affairs of a company,—

(a) on the receipt of a report of the Registrar or inspector under section 208;

(b) on intimation of a special resolution passed by a company that the affairs of the company ought to be investigated; or

(c) in public interest, it may order an investigation into the affairs of the company.

On Court's order- Section 210(2)

Where an order is passed by a court or the Tribunal in any proceedings before it that the affairs of a company ought to be investigated, the Central Government shall order an investigation into the affairs of that company.

Appointment of Inspectors- Section 210(3)

For the purpose of investigation, the Central Government may appoint one or more inspectors to investigate the affairs of the company. These inspectors shall report on the affairs of the company in such manner as the central government may direct.

According to Rule 5 of the Companies (Inspection, Investigation and Inquiry) Rules, 2014, the Central Government may before appointing an inspector under sub-section (3) of section 210, require the applicant to give a security not exceeding twenty-five thousand rupees for payment of the costs and expenses of investigation as per the criteria given below –

S. No.	Turnover as per previous year balance sheet (Rs.)	Amount of security (Rs.)
1	Turnover upto Rs. 50 crore	Rs. 10000
2	Turnover more than Rs. 50 crore and upto 200 crore	Rs. 15000
3	Turnover more than Rs. 200 crore	Rs. 25000

The security shall be refunded to the applicant if the investigation results in prosecution.

Judicial Pronouncements

In Modi Industries Ltd. v. Union of India [(1982) 52 Comp. Cas. 589], the Delhi High Court has observed that in order to order an investigation there may be some circumstances which would lead to the inference that there has been some fraud, misfeasance, breach of trust or misconduct which requires investigation. It is not necessary that the persons concerned should be actually guilty but at least there should seem to be some circumstances which could lead to the inference.

In the matter of Rohtas Industries v. S.D. Agarwal and Ors., [(1969) 139 Comp Cas 781 (SC), CO.A.(SB) 39/2013 Page 13 of 20] wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court set aside a impugned order of the High Court and held that in cases of allegations of fraud on the part of the directors of a company, an investigation must becarried out if there is prima facie evidence of any intent to defraud, fraudulent or unlawful activities, or instances of misconduct.

However, in the case of Andhra Pradesh State Civil Supply Corpn. Ltd. v. Delta Oils & Fats Ltd. [(1999) 96 Comp. Cas. 303 1 (CLB)] to show "a mere statement of facts based on the auditor's report without any corroborative evidence will not assist the Company Law Board in framing the requisite opinion for directing investigation intothe affairs of the company under Section 235 of the Companies Act, 1956.

In the case of Binod Kumar Kasera v. Nandlall & Sons Tea Industries (P.) Ltd.[(2010) 175 (CLB - New Delhi)], which held that object of investigation under Section 235(2) is to discover something which is not apparently visible to the naked eye and where a petition discloses merely facts which are apparent from the balance sheet of the company, an investigation will not be ordered.

Calcutta High Court in Mayank Kocher v. Transport & Handling Equipments MFG. Co. P. Ltd, [(2008) 143 Comp Cas 601 (CLB)]. While discussing Section 235 of the Companies Act, 1956 (Corresponding Section to Section 210 of the Companies Act, 2013 order records that: "Under this Section directing an investigation is only analogous to the issue of a fact-finding commission by a civil court for looking into accounts or making aninvestigation and does not amount to a judgment, so as to enable an aggrieved party to appeal."

INVESTIGATION INTO THE COMPANY'S AFFAIRS ON APPLICATION MADE BY MEMBERS OR OTHER PERSONS (SECTION 213)

The Tribunal may order after giving a reasonable opportunity of being heard to the parties concerned that affairs of a company ought to be investigated. Where such an order is passed, the Central Government shall appoint one or more competent persons as inspectors to investigate into the affairs of the company and to report thereupon.

The Tribunal may make this order on an application made by –

(a) not less one hundred members or members holding not less than one – tenth of the total voting power, in case of a company having a share capital; or

(b) not less than one – fifth of the persons on the company's register of members, in case company having no share capital and supported by evidence showing good reason for seeking and order for conducting an investigation into affairs of the company.

The Tribunal may also make such order on an application made to it by any other person or otherwise, if it is satisfied that the circumstance suggest that –

(a) the business of the company is being conducted with intent to defraud its creditors, members or any other person or otherwise for a fraudulent or unlawful purpose or in a manner oppressive to any of its members or that the company was formed for any fraudulent or unlawful purpose;

(b) person concerned in the formation of the company or the management of its affairs have been guilty of fraud, misfeasance or other misconduct towards the company or towards its members; or

(c) the members of the company have not been given all reasonable information including information relating to the calculation of commission payable to a managing or other director or the manager of the company.

If after investigation it is proved that –

(a) the business of the company is being conducted with intent to defraud its creditors, members or any other persons or otherwise for a fraudulent or unlawful purpose, or that the company was formed for any fraudulent or unlawful purpose; or

(b) any person concerned in the formation of the company or the management of its affairs have in connection therewith been guilty of fraud, then, every officer of the company who is in default and the person or persons concerned in the formation of the company or the management of its affairs shall be punishable for fraud under Section 447.

CASE LAWS

In Re Bhadreshwar Vidyut (P.) Ltd vs. Turbo Aviation (P.) Ltd. (2020) 116 NCLT-Hyd.

It was held that, without circumstances suggesting that business of company was being conducted in a fraudulent manner with intent to defraud creditors, instigation into affairs of the said company only on basis of irregularities in financial statements, could not have been ordered.

In Re Comfort Intech Ltd vs. Ravi Kumar Distilleries Ltd (2019) 108 NCLT-Chennai

In this case it was held that where petitioner being Lead Manager for IPO issue of company and respondent directors of company had allegedly diverted IPO proceeds of company to their associates, there existed circumstances which prima facie suggest that business of company was being conducted with an intent to defraud its members, thus, it was necessary to investigate into affairs of company under provisions of section 213 of the Act.

CASE LAWS

In the case of Serious Fraud Investigation Office and Ors.(Appellants)* v. *Rahul Modi and Ors. (Respondents) (Criminal Appeal Nos. 538-539 of 2019 (Arising out of Special Leave Petition (Criminal) Nos. 94-95 of 2019) and Transfer Petition (Crl.) No. 35 of 2019) (Supreme Court of India)

Facts of the case: In exercise of powers, the Central Government directed investigation into the affairs of one Group of Companies and LLPs by Officers of Serious Fraud Investigation (SFIO) as nominated by Director, SFIO.

The SFIO shall investigate into following areas in addition to any other issues that it may come across during the investigation.

(i) To ascertain and unearth rotation of funds or identification of quantum of diversion of funds of siphoning including beneficiaries thereof;

(ii) To identify instances of mismanagement, negligence or fraud;

(iii) To ascertain the role of auditors, KMPs or independent directors or any other person in the alleged fraud;

(iv) To examine role of any other entity used as conduit in the alleged fraud;

(v) To identify non-compliance of the statutory provisions of the Act and its impact on Corporate Governance.

That the Inspector(s) so appointed shall exercise all powers available to them Under Section 217 of the Companies Act, 2013 and Chapter IX of LLP Act, 2008. The inspector(s) shall complete their investigation and submit their report to the Central Government within a period of 03 (Three) months from the date of issue of this order.

Accused were accordingly arrested and Judicial Magistrate granted remand and directed they be produced before Special Court. Thereafter, the Accused were produced before the Special Court with a fresh application for remand. The prayer for extension of custody was opposed by the Accused inter alia on the grounds that the period of completion of investigation as stipulated in the order had expired and as such all further proceedings were illegal. The Special Court found that the application seeking further remand was justified and extended the police custody of the Accused. Writ Petition were filed by accused persons in the High Court. It was submitted that with the expiry of period within which the investigation had to be completed in terms of order, all further proceedings including the arrest of the Respondents were illegal and without any authority of law. The High Court directed release of accused persons on interim bail, during the pendency of the writ petitions, on their furnishing personal bond. Appellants challenged the correctness of the common interim order passed by Delhi High Court in the Supreme Court.

Held: The Supreme Court held that, It could not be said that the prescription of period within which a report was to be submitted by SFIO under Sub-section (3) of Section 212 was for completion of period of investigation and on the expiry of that period the mandate in favour of SFIO must come to an end. If it was to come to an end, the legislation would have contemplated certain results including re-transfer of investigation back to the original Investigating Agencies which were directed to transfer the entire record under Sub-section (2) of Section 212. In the absence of any clear stipulation, an interpretation that with the expiry of the period, the mandate in favour of SFIO must come to an end, would cause great violence to the scheme of legislation.

If such interpretation was accepted, with the transfer of investigation in terms of Sub-section (2) of Section 212 the original Investigating Agencies would be denuded of power to investigate and with the expiry of mandate SFIO would also be powerless which would lead to an incongruous situation that serious frauds would remain beyond investigation. That could never have been the idea. The only construction which was, possible therefore, was that the prescription of period within which a report had to be submitted to the Central Government under Sub-section (3) of Section 212 was purely directory. Even after the expiry of such stipulated period, the mandate in favour of the SFIO and the assignment of investigation under Sub-section (1) would not come to an end. The only logical end as contemplated was after completion of investigation when a final report or investigation report was submitted in terms of Sub-section (12) of Section 212. It could not therefore be said that in the instant case the mandate came to an end and the arrest effected under the orders passed by Director, SFIO was in any way illegal or unauthorised by law. In any case, extension was granted in the present case by the Central Government. But that was completely besides the point since the original arrest itself was not in any way illegal. The High Court completely erred in proceeding on that premise and in passing the order under appeal.

If the submission of the Respondents (writ Petitioners) that the compliance of Sub-section (3) of Section 212 of the Act in relation to the submission of the report be held mandatory was accepted, the very purpose of enacting Section 212 of the Act would get defeated and would become nugatory. It was held that Sub-section (3) of Section 212 of the Act was directory in nature, it serves the legislative intent for which Chapter XXIX was enacted.

In the case of Serious Fraud Investigation Office and Others vs. Sahara Housing Investment Corporation Limited and Others with Civil Appeal No 4300 of 2022

Supreme Court Agrees to Consider SFIO's Plea challenging stay of look out circulars issued by Central Government against Sahara group companies

Facts of the case: On 31 October 2018, the Central Government, in exercise of its jurisdiction under Section 212(1)(a) & (c) of the Companies Act 2013 formed an opinion, on the basis of a report dated 14 August 2018 submitted to it by the Registrar of Companies, Mumbai under Section 208, that an investigation was required to be conducted into the affairs of: Sahara Q Shop Unique Products Range Limited; Sahara Q Gold Mart Limited; and Sahara Housing Investment Corporation Limited.

On January 2019, the Ministry of Corporate Affairs addressed a communication to the Director of the Serious Fraud Investigation Office, seeking an approval for extending the time for the conclusion of the investigation. On 27 October 2020, a communication was addressed by the SFIO to the Ministry of Corporate Affairs seeking permission under Section 219 to investigate the affairs of six other companies also.

Consequently, a challenge has been set up before the Delhi High Court to impugn the legality of the above orders dated 31 October 2018 and 27 October 2020.

Held by High Court: The Division Bench of the High Court, while staying the operation of the above orders and all consequential steps pursuant to them, has recorded three reasons for coming to the conclusion that the investigation was prima facie required to be stayed:

(i) Section 212(3) of the Companies Act, 2013 empowers the Central Government to direct that an investigation be conducted into the affairs of a company within a stipulated period and, in the present case, the period of three months which was stipulated in the order dated 31 October 2018 had expired;

(ii) The order dated 27 October, 2020 which authorizes an investigation into the affairs of six other companies prima facie appears to be contrary to the provisions of Section 219 since the six companies are neither subsidiaries nor holding companies of the three companies which were ordered to be investigated earlier nor have they been managed by the Managing Director of the earlier three companies under investigation; and

(iii) The orders dated 31 October 2018 and 27 October 2020 do not furnish the reasons or circumstances which compelled the Central Government to form an opinion while ordering the investigation.

Appeal to Supreme Court: The SFIO had filed an appeal against the High Court stay order. The counselor submitted that each of the three reasons which have weighed with the High Court in staying the investigation at the interlocutory stage is contrary to the express provisions of the statute. In this context, it was submitted that:

(i) Section 212(3) of the Companies Act 2013 has expressly been held to be directory in nature by a judgment of this Court in Serious Fraud Investigation Office vs. Rahul Modi and Ors. Criminal Appeal Nos. 538-539 of 2019 (The Supreme Court of India).

(ii) While staying the investigation directed to be carried out in the order dated 27 October 2020, the Division Bench of the High Court has noted that the six companies are neither subsidiaries nor holding companies of the earlier three companies nor were they managed by the same Managing Director. In coming to this conclusion, the High Court has relied on the provisions of clauses (a) and (b) of Section 219 ignoring the provisions of clause (c) which have specifically been invoked in the order dated 27 October 2020; and

(iii) The Union Government while issuing both the orders was acting within its jurisdiction and it would be an improper construction of the statute to postulate that while ordering an investigation, detailed reasons have to be spelt out. On the contrary, it was submitted that the very purpose of an investigation is to enquire into the affairs of the company and the entirety of the material will emerge only in the course of the investigation.

Held by Supreme Court: The Apex Court set aside High Court order staying SFIO probe against Sahara Group Companies. The High Court was not justified in staying the investigation and in passing the consequential directions which have been passed in the orders at the interlocutory stage. Accordingly, the Supreme Court allowed the appeals and set aside the orders of the High Court.

In Modi Industries Ltd. v. Union of India [(1982) 52 Comp. Cas. 589], the Delhi High Court has observed that in order to order an investigation there may be some circumstances which would lead to the inference that there has been some fraud, misfeasance, breach of trust or misconduct which requires investigation. It is not necessary that the persons concerned should be actually guilty but at least there should seem to be some circumstances which could lead to the inference.

In the matter of Rohtas Industries v. S.D. Agarwal and Ors., [(1969) 139 Comp Cas 781 (SC), CO.A.(SB) 39/2013 Page 13 of 20] wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court set aside a impugned order of the High Court and held that in cases of allegations of fraud on the part of the directors of a company, an investigation must be carried out if there is prima facie evidence of any intent to defraud, fraudulent or unlawful activities, or instances of misconduct.

However, in the case of *Andhra Pradesh State Civil Supply Corpn. Ltd. v. Delta Oils & Fats Ltd. {[1999] 96 Comp. Cas. 303 1 (CLB)} to show "a mere statement of facts based on the auditor's report without any corroborative evidence will not assist the Company Law Board in framing the requisite opinion for directing investigation into the affairs of the company under Section 235 of the Companies Act, 1956.

In the case of Binod Kumar Kasera v. Nandlall & Sons Tea Industries (P.) Ltd. {[2010] 175 (CLB - New Delhi)}, which held that object of investigation under Section 235(2) is to discover something which is not apparently visible to the naked eye and where a petition discloses merely facts which are apparent from the balance sheet of the company, an investigation will not be ordered Calcutta High Court in Mayank Kocher v. Transport & Handling Equipments MFG. Co. P. Ltd, [(2008) 143 Comp Cas 601 (CLB)]. While discussing Section 235 of the Companies Act, 1956 (Corresponding Section to Section 210 of the Companies Act, 2013 order records that: "Under this Section directing an investigation is only analogous to the issue of a fact-finding commission by a civil court for looking into accounts or making an investigation and does not amount to a judgment, so as to enable an aggrieved party to appeal."

INTRODUCTION

A meeting may be generally defined as a gathering or assembly or getting together of a number of persons for transacting any lawful business. There must be at least two persons to constitute a meeting. Therefore, one shareholder usually cannot constitute a company meeting even if he holds proxies for other shareholders. However, in certain exceptional circumstances, even one person may constitute a meeting.

A company is composed of members, though it has its own entity distinct from members. The members of a company are the persons who, for the time being, constitute the company, as a corporate entity. However, a company, being an artificial person, cannot act on its own. It, therefore, expresses its will or takes its decisions through resolutions passed at validly held meetings. The primary purpose of a meeting is to ensure that a company gives reasonable and fair opportunity to those entitled to participate in the meeting to take decisions as per the prescribed procedures.

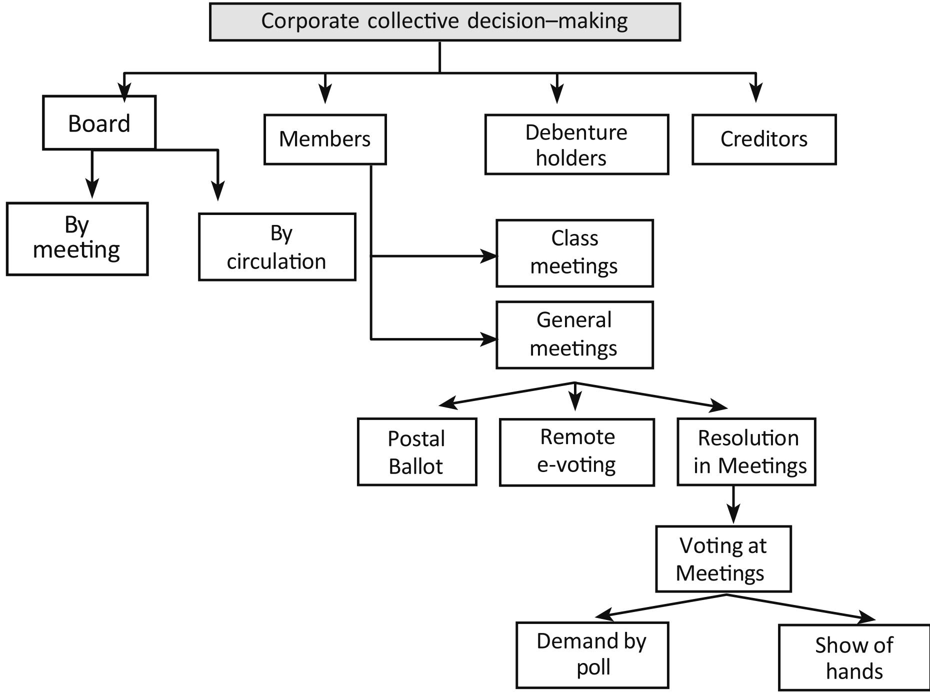
The decision making powers of a company are vested in the members and the directors. They exercise their respective powers through resolutions passed by them. General meetings of the members provide a platform to express their will in regard to the management of the affairs of the company.

The Act mandates holding of Meetings at specified intervals and also prescribes related rules for the same. Such mandate is in recognition of the fact that Meetings play a vital role in the functioning and governance of a company. The primary purpose of a Meeting is to ensure that a company gives reasonable and fair opportunity to those entitled to participate in the Meeting to take decisions as per the prescribed procedures. A company, being an artificial person, can, in respect of matters to be decided at General Meeting, take such decisions through its Members by way of Resolutions passed at validly held Meetings. Meetings of Members are known as General Meetings and determining what constitutes such validly held Meeting is of utmost importance.

Secretarial Standard on General Meetings of companies:

Secretarial Standard on General Meeting (SS-2) issued by the Institute of Company Secretaries of India (ICSI) and approved by central government is to be mandatorily adhered by all companies as per the provision of Section 118(10) of Companies Act, 2013. The objective of secretarial standard is to promote good corporate governance. This Standard is applicable to all types of General Meetings of all companies incorporated under the Act except One Person Company (OPC) and class or classes of companies which are exempted by the Central Government through notification. The revised version of Secretarial Standard is effective from 1st October 2017.

Corporate Meetings and Collective Decision making

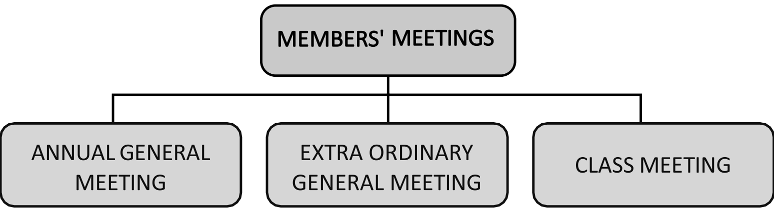


Members' Meetings

A company is required to hold meetings of the members to take approval of certain business items, as prescribed in the Act.

Convening of one such meeting every year is compulsory. Holding of more general meetings is left to the choice of the management or to a given percentage of shareholders to exercise their power to compel the company to convene a meeting. Shareholder democracy, class action suits and protection of interest of investors are the essence and attributes of the Companies Act, 2013.

The meeting to be held annually for seeking approval to certain 'ordinary business' is called Annual General Meeting. A meeting to be held to transact any business other than ordinary business is called extraordinary general meeting. In certain cases, a company may have to hold a meeting of the members of a particular class of members.



1. ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING (SECTION 96)

Annual general meeting (AGM) is an important annual event where members get an opportunity to discuss the activities of the company. Section 96 provides that every company, other than a one person company is required to hold an annual general meeting every year. The importance of the Annual General Meeting arises out of the nature of business transacted at this Meeting. Broadly there are two types of business that are transacted at an Annual General Meeting – Ordinary Business and Special Business. At an Annual General Meeting, consideration of financial statements & consolidated financial statements, reports of the Board of Directors and the auditors, declaration of dividend, appointment of Directors in place of those retiring and approval of appointment of the Auditors and fixing their remuneration are Ordinary Business. Any other item of business is referred to as Special Business and may also be transacted at an Annual General Meeting.

SS-2 provides that the Board shall, every year, convene or authorize convening of a meeting of its members called the Annual General Meeting to transact items of ordinary business specifically required to be transacted at an annual general meeting as well as special business, if any. If the Board fails to convene its Annual General Meeting in any year, any Member of the company may approach the prescribed authority, which may then direct the calling of the Annual General Meeting of the company. Following are the key provisions regarding the holding of an Annual General Meeting:

Holding of Annual General Meeting

1. Annual general meeting should be held once in each calendar year.
2. First annual general meeting of the company should be held within 9 months from the closing of the first financial year. Hence it shall not be necessary for the company to hold any annual general meeting in the year of its incorporation.
3. Subsequent annual general meeting of the company should be held within 6 months from the date of closing of the relevant financial year.
4. The gap between two annual general meetings shall not exceed 15 months.

Additional Compliance for listed Companies :-

Additionally, for listed entities, Regulation 44(5) of SEBI (LODR) Regulations, 2015 provides that for the top 100 listed entities by market capitalization, determined as on March 31st of every financial year, shall hold their annual general meetings within a period of five months from the date of closing of the financial year. The top 100 listed entities shall provide one-way live webcast of the proceedings of the annual general meetings.

Explanation: The top 100 entities shall be determined on the basis of market capitalization, as at the end of the immediate previous financial year.

Exemption to OPC: As provided in sub-section (1) of section 96, one person company is not required to hold Annual General meeting.

Illustrations:

1. M/s XYZ Limited company was incorporated on 10th December 2018, "financial year" of that company would end on 31st March 2019, in view of sub-section (41) of Section 2 of the Act and therefore the last date for holding the first Annual General Meeting would be 31st December 2019 (9 months from 31st March 2019).
2. If a company was incorporated on 10th April 2018, its first financial year would end on 31st March 2019, only and therefore, the last date for holding the first Annual General Meeting will be 31st December 2019. In this manner, almost 21 months elapse between the date of incorporation and date of first Annual General Meeting. In this case, the company need not hold any Annual General Meeting in the year of its incorporation i.e. 2018.
3. ABC & Co. is incorporated in August 2021. Its first AGM must be held till 30th September, 2022 and it is not compulsory to hold AGM in 2021. The second will be held till 30th June, 2023.
4. M/s STK & Ltd. was incorporated in August 2020. Its AGM for the year 2021-22 will be held till 30th June, 2022.

Extension of validity period of AGM

In case, it is not possible for a company to hold an annual general meeting within the prescribed time, the Registrar may, for any special reason, extend the time within which any annual general meeting shall be held. Such extension can be for a period not exceeding 3 months. No such extension of time can be granted by the Registrar for the holding of the first annual general meeting.

Test your knowledge:

Question: The gap between two annual general meetings shall not exceed 15 months. Comment.

Answer: According to section 96(1) of the Companies Act, 2013, gap of not more than 15 months shall elapse between the date of one annual general meeting of the company and that of the next year. According to third proviso to section 96(1), the Registrar may, for any special reason, extend the time within which any annual general meeting, other than the first annual general meeting, shall be held, by a period of not exceeding three months.

The company may apply to the Registrar for extension for holding AGM, justifying it as a special reason. The registrar may, after considering it as a special reason, extend the time within which an AGM shall be held which shall be a period not exceeding three months.

[Held in VIL Ltd. v. Raibareilly Allahabad Highway (P.) Ltd. (2016) by Company Law Board, New Delhi Bench]

3. CLASS MEETINGS

Meetings of members of a company fall into two broad divisions, namely, general meetings and class meetings. Class meetings are meeting of shareholders holding a particular class of shares, which are held to pass a resolution which will bind only the members of the class concerned. Only members of the class concerned may attend and vote at meeting. Usually, the rules to voting apply to class meetings as they govern voting at general meetings. These class meetings must be convened whenever it is necessary to alter or change the rights or privileges of that class as provided by the articles. For effecting such changes, it is necessary that these are approved at a separate meeting of the holders of those shares and supported by a special resolution. Under section 48 of the Companies Act, 2013 (variation of shareholders' rights) class meeting of the holders of different classes of shares shall be held if the rights attaching to these shares are to be varied. Similarly, under Section 232 (Merger and Amalgamation of Companies), where a scheme of arrangement is proposed, meeting of several classes of shareholders and creditors are required to be held. Details of meetings of members or class meetings are required to be mentioned in the Annual Return as per Section 92(1)(f). Such Meetings are required to be convened when it is proposed to vary the rights of the holders of a particular class of shares. Provisions which govern General Meetings are mutatis mutandis applicable to such Meetings.

4. MEETINGS OF DEBENTURE HOLDERS, CREDITORS, ETC.

Such Meetings are held to transact business by way of passing Resolutions which bind the debenture holders or creditors, as the case may be, of the company. The debenture holders or creditors, as the case may be, can attend such Meetings and speak as well as vote thereat. Provisions which govern General Meetings are mutatis mutandis applicable to such Meetings.

Members of a company can exercise their powers and can bind the company when they act as a body at a validly convened and held Meeting. They should act collectively and not individually. A Member or shareholder, irrespective of his shareholding, cannot bind a company by his individual act.

ADJOURNED MEETING

If the quorum is not present within half-an-hour from the time appointed for holding a meeting of the company, the meeting shall stand adjourned to the same day in the next week at the same time and place, or to such other date and such other time and place as the Board may determine.

Notice of an adjourned meeting- Where the meeting stands adjourned to the same day in the next week at the same time and place, or to such other day, not being a National Holiday, or at such other time and place as the Board may determine, the company shall give at least 3 days' notice to the members either individually or by publishing an advertisement in 2 newspapers (one in English and one in vernacular language) which is in circulation at the place where the registered office of the company is situated.

No quorum in an adjourned meeting- If at the adjourned meeting also, a quorum is not present within half- an-hour from the time appointed for holding meeting, the members present, being not less than two in numbers, will constitute the quorum.

PROCEDURE FOR HOLDING ADJOURNED MEETING

Para 15.1 of SS-2 provides that a duly convened Meeting shall not be adjourned unless circumstances so warrant. The Chairman may adjourn a Meeting with the consent of the Members, at which a Quorum is present, and shall adjourn a Meeting if so directed by the Members.

Meetings shall stand adjourned for want of requisite Quorum. The Chairman may also adjourn a Meeting in the event of disorder or other like causes, when it becomes impossible to conduct the Meeting and complete its business.

Para 15.2 provides that if a Meeting is adjourned sine-die or for a period of thirty days or more, a Notice of the adjourned Meeting shall be given in accordance with the provisions contained hereinabove relating to Notice.

Para 15.3 provides that if a Meeting is adjourned for a period of less than thirty days, the company shall give not less than three days' Notice specifying the day, date, time and venue of the Meeting, to the Members either individually or by publishing an advertisement in a vernacular newspaper in the principal vernacular language of the district in which the registered office of the company is situated, and in an English newspaper in English language, both having a wide circulation in that district.

Para 15.4 provides that if a Meeting, other than an Annual General Meeting and a requisitioned Meeting, stands adjourned for want of Quorum, the adjourned Meeting shall be held on the same day, in the next week at the same time and place or on such other day, or at such other time and place as may be determined by the Board.

Illustration:

Question: The articles of association of XYZ Ltd. having 700 members as on cutoff date, prescribe for physical presence of 7 members to constitute quorum of general meetings. Following are the status of persons present in a general meeting of XYZ Ltd to consider the appointment of MD. Check the quorum of the meeting.

(a) Mr. A, the representative of Governor of Maharashtra.

(b) Mr. B & Mr. C are preference shareholders.

(c) Mr. D representing ABC Ltd. and SKY Ltd.

(d) Mr. E, Mr. F, Mr. G and Mr. H are proxies of shareholders.

Hint:

(a) Since Mr. A is the representative of the Governor of Maharashtra, shall be treated as a member personally present (Section 112).

(b) Preference shareholders can vote only in relation to such matters which directly affect their rights. In this case, meeting was called to take decision on appointment of MD, which does not affect their rights. Therefore, Mr. B & Mr. C are not members personally present.

(c) Since Mr. D represents two body corporates, he would be treated as two members personally present. (Section 113)

(d) Since Mr. E, Mr. F, Mr. G and Mr. H are proxies of shareholders and members are not personally present. They are not considered while counting quorum.

From the above analysis, it can be concluded that only 3 members are personally present and they do not Constitute proper quorum as fixed by the company.

Note: The quorum required in respect of general meeting of a public company is 5 members personally present (in case total number of members is less than 1000) and the quorum can be increased by the articles of the company.

Resolution passed at adjourned meetings

As per Section 116 where a resolution is passed at an adjourned meeting of a company; or the holders of any class of shares in a company; or the Board of Directors, the resolution shall be treated as passed on the day it was actually passed and not on any earlier date.

Para 15.6 of SS-2 provides that at an adjourned Meeting, only the unfinished business of the original Meeting shall be considered. Any Resolution passed at an adjourned Meeting would be deemed to have been passed on the date of the adjourned Meeting and not on any earlier date.

The number of votes of only the members who are 'entitled and voting' are to be counted. Hence, the persons who abstain from voting or are not allowed to vote (whether under the provisions of this Act or otherwise) are not to be counted. Section 115 provides that where, by any provision contained in this Act or in the articles of a company, special notice is required of any resolution, notice of the intention to move such resolution shall be given to the company by such number of members holding not less than 1% of total voting power or holding shares on which such aggregate sum not exceeding Rs.5,00,000/-, has been paid-up and the company shall give its members notice of the resolution in the following manner as prescribed in Rules.

The matters in respect of which special notice is required are:

(a) A resolution for appointment of a person as auditor at the annual general meeting other than the retiring auditor or providing expressly that the retiring auditor shall not be re-appointed [Section 140(4)];

(b) A resolution for removing a director before the expiry of the period of his office and appointing someone in the place of the director so removed [Section 169(2)].

Procedure for special notice: [Rule 23 of the Companies (Management and Administration) Rules, 2014]

(a) Signing of special notice: A special notice required to be given to the company shall be signed, either individually or collectively by such number of members holding not less than one percent of total voting power or holding shares on which an aggregate sum of not less than five lakh rupees has been paid up on the date of the notice.

(b) Sending of notice to the company: Such notice shall be sent by members to the company not earlier than three months but at least 14 days before the date of the meeting at which the resolution is to be moved, exclusive of the day on which the notice is given and the day of the meeting.

(c) On receipt of notice by the company: The company shall immediately after receipt of the notice, give its members notice of the resolution at least seven days before the meeting, exclusive of the day of dispatch of notice and day of the meeting, in the same manner as it gives notice of any general meetings.

Such notice shall be published at least seven days before the meeting, exclusive of the day of publication of the notice and day of the meeting.

CASE LAW

7/11/2017	Jai Kumar Arya v. Chhaya Devi	Delhi High Court

Facts of the case:

The Company received a requisition, from its shareholders, for convening of an Extra Ordinary General Meeting (hereinafter referred to as "EGM") on 26th May 2017, with the following proposals: "(i) removal of the plaintiff (Chhaya Devi) as Director/Managing Director of the Company, (ii) setting aside a notice, earlier issued, for approval of an agenda item, dated 31st of May 2014, to terminate the directorship of the defendants, and (iii) appointment of Defendant No. 1 (Rukmini Devi) as Managing Director of the Company."

On receiving the said requisition, the plaintiff (Chhaya Devi) responded, on 25th April 2017, alleging that the requisition was not in accordance with Section 169, read with Section 115 of the Companies Act, 2013 (hereinafter referred to as "the Act"), in as much as no Special Notice had been served, by the shareholders, on the Company and, instead, the Company had simply been requested to serve notice under Section 169.

This Appeal is against order of restraining other directors from acting upon notice and for convening Board meeting for removal of managing director.

Notice only called for a meeting of Board to decide whether an EGM should be convened or not-Where managing director filed an interlocutory application for restraining other directors of the company from acting upon notice dated 8-8-2017 for convening board meeting on 26-8-2017 for her removal, and the same was allowed by Single Judge on the ground that there was no proper requisition of shareholders for holding EGM for removal of the MD, but the said notice did not itself convene an EGM, it only called for a meeting of the Board to decide whether an EGM should be convened or not, therefore, the impugned order was to be set aside and the notice dated 8-8-2017 would stand revived.

The court observed that no specific form or format of a "requisition" is prescribed in the Act, or in any cognate legislation, so that any document issued by the requisite number of members of the Company as specified in Section 100(2) of the Act (which calls for convening of an EGM) would be eligible to be styled as a "requisition".

Judgement: The court held that there was no obligation to disclose the reasons for removing a person from the directorship of the company prior to the EGM where such proposal was to be considered.

Further that, the notice dated 8-8-2017 was itself only a notice for fixing a meeting of the Board of the company. It did not itself convene an EGM, but only calls for a meeting of the Board to decide whether an EGM should be convened or not. Therefore, question of requisition of the shareholders for holding the EGM would not arise. Further that, in the proposed Board meeting, no decision of removal of the MD from the company was to be taken. Hence, the impugned order was to be set aside and the notice dated 8-8-2017 would stand revive.

CASE LAW

In re. Godrej Industries Limited (2014), honorable judge G.S. Patel of Bombay High Court observed the importance of discussions and deliberations at general meeting of members:

The court observed that the heart of corporate governance lies transparency and a well-established principle of indoor democracy that gives shareholders qualified, yet definite and vital rights in matters relating to the functioning of the company in which they hold equity. Principal among these, to my mind, is not merely a right to vote on any particular item of business, so much as the right to use the vote as an expression of an informed decision. That necessarily means that the shareholder has an inalienable right to ask questions, seek clarifications and receive responses before he decides which way he will vote. It may often happen that a shareholder is undecided on any particular item of business. At a meeting of shareholders, he may, on hearing a fellow shareholder who raises a question, or on hearing an explanation from a director, finally make up his mind. In other cases, he may hold strong views and may desire to convince others of his convictions. This may be in relation to matters that are not immediately obvious to the shareholder merely on receipt of written information or a notice. The right to persuade and the right to be persuaded are, of vital importance. In an effort for greater inclusiveness, these rights cannot be altogether defenestrated. To say, therefore, that no meeting is required and that the shareholder must cast his vote only on the basis of the information that has been sent to him by post or email seems to be completely contrary to the legislative intent and spirit to the express.

CASE LAW

Where special notice issued by respondent for removal of chairman of petitioner company was nothing but to secure needless publicity and defaming company and amounting to abuse the process of law, petitioner company was exempted from publication, circulation, or reading out such notice at forthcoming AGM. [Held in BSE Ltd. V. Sureshchandra V. Parekh (2014) by Company Law Board, Mumbai Bench]

PROCESS OF PASSING THE RESOLUTIONS

The resolution is proposed as a 'motion'. A motion becomes a resolution only after the requisite majority of members have adopted it. A motion should be in writing and signed by the mover and put to the vote at the meeting by the chairman. In case of company meetings, only such motions are proposed as are covered by the agenda. However, certain motions may arise out of the discussion and may be allowed where no special resolution is mandated in the Act. Para 7.1 of Secretarial Standard-2 provides that every resolution shall be proposed by a member and seconded by another member.

The motion being discussed may undergo an amendment in the course of discussion. An amendment is any alteration to the main motion proposed by a member before it is voted upon and adopted. Amendment may be proposed by any member who has not already spoken on the main motion or has not previously moved an amendment, but a formal motion cannot be amended. Like the main motion, an amendment should ordinarily be in writing, signed by the mover. The terms of the amendment should be definite and in the affirmative and it should not raise any question already decided upon at the same meeting. It should be relevant to and in keeping with the main motion which it seeks to amend and must not merely negate the main motion or introduce entirely a new subject.

The Chairman has the absolute discretion to accept or reject an amendment on various grounds such as inconsistency, redundancy, irrelevance etc. When an amendment has been moved, admitted and seconded discussion on the main motion ceases and discussion on the amendment starts. Any one may speak on the amendment even if he has already spoken on the main motion, but no one is allowed to speak twice on the same amendment. After the amendment has been thoroughly discussed, it is put to vote. If the amendment is carried, it is incorporated in the body of the main motion. The altered motion which is known as "substantive motion" is then put before the meeting. If the amendment is lost, discussion on the main motion is resumed, but if the substantive motion is put to vote and lost, the original motion cannot be revived.

Any number of amendments to the main motion can be moved. An amendment to alter another amendment can also be moved, but an amendment can be amended only once. When a large number of amendments to the main motion have been moved, the original motion may be withdrawn by common consent and a new motion incorporating all the amendments may be taken up. The Chairman has the discretion to decide in what order the various amendments should be taken up for consideration.

Question: At a General meeting of a company, a matter was to be passed by a special resolution. Out of 40 members present, 20 voted in favor of the resolution, 5 voted against it and 5 votes were found in valid. The remaining 10 member sustained from voting. The Chairman of the meeting declared the resolution as passed.

With reference to the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013, examine the validity of the Chairman's declaration?

NOTICE OF MEETING (SECTION 101)

The Notice should be in writing, though no form has been prescribed for this purpose. Oral intimation that it is proposed to have a General Meeting is not a Notice at all and consequently if any Meeting is held, it will be invalid.

Length of notice of meeting

A general meeting of a company may be called by giving not less than 21 clear days' notice either in writing or through electronic mode. Notice through electronic mode shall be given in such manner as may be prescribed.

In case of section 8 company, 14 days' clear notice is required instead of 21 days.

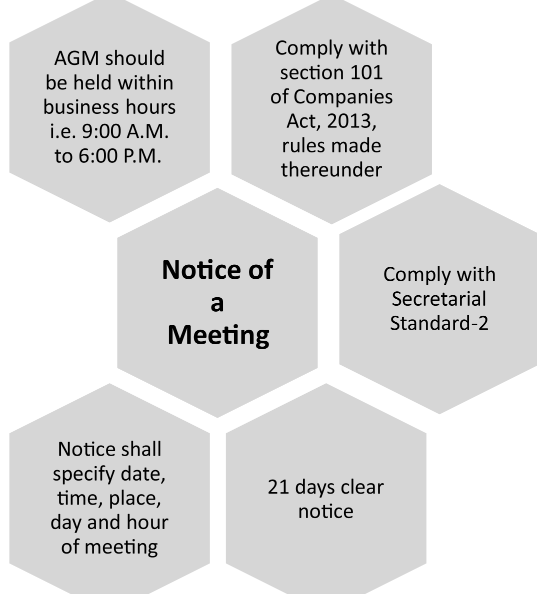
The expression "twenty-one clear days", means that the date of service of Notice and the date of the Meeting are to be excluded when calculating the period of twenty-one days [N.V.R. Naggappa Chettair v. Madras Race Club (1949) 19 Comp. Cas. 175 (Mad)].

Further, fractions of days are not to be taken into account i.e. part of the day after the hour at which the Notice is posted cannot be combined with the part of the day before the Meeting commences, to form one day. Each of these days should be a full or a calendar day [Bharat Kumar Dilwali v. Bharat Carbon & Ribbon Mfg. Co. Ltd. (1973) 43 Comp. Cas. 197 (Del)]. Intervening holidays are counted within the period of Notice.

Where a notice of general meeting is sent by post, it shall be deemed to be served at the expiration of 48 hours after the letter containing the same is posted (Rule 35(6) of the Companies (Incorporation) Rules, 2014). Each of the 21 days must be full or complete days. The day on which the notice is deemed to be served on the member, and the day of the general meeting have to be in addition to the 21 days.

In case a valid special notice under the Act has been received from Member(s), the company shall give Notice of the Resolution to all its Members at least seven days before the Meeting, exclusive of the day of dispatch of Notice and day of the Meeting, in the same manner as a Notice of any General Meeting is to be given.

Where this is not practicable, the Notice shall be published in a vernacular newspaper in the principal vernacular language of the district in which the registered office of the company is situated, and in an English newspaper in English language, both having a wide circulation in that district, at least seven days before the Meeting, exclusive of the day of publication of the Notice and day of the Meeting. In case of companies having a website, such Notice shall also be hosted on the website. (Para 1.2.6 of SS-2)



Illustration

Question: ABC Ltd. issued a notice on 1st August, 2020 to hold its AGM on 24th August, 2020. Check the validity of the notice referring to the provisions of the relevant act, in case it is sent by post.

Answer: Date of holding AGM: 24th August, 2020; Date of dispatch of notice: 1st August, 2020; Days to be excluded:

(a) Day of holding AGM i.e 24th August, 2020.

(b) Day of dispatch of notice i.e. 1st August, 2020.

(c) 2 additional days for service of notice i.e 2nd & 3rd August, 2020 (SS-2 Para 1.2.6) Number of days' notice given: 20 days.

Number of days' notice required under section 101 of the Act is 21 days. Therefore it is not a case of valid notice. However, shortfall of 1 day can be condoned if consent is given for such shorter notice by at least 95% of the members entitled to vote at such AGM.

Service of notice of AGM by hand, under certificate of posting and by publication in newspaper is considered as deemed service of notice. [Held in the case of Ganesh Commercial Co. Ltd. v. Arun Kumar Mohata (2013) by High Court of Calcutta]

Shorter notice

A general meeting may be called after giving a shorter notice also if consent is given in writing or by electronic mode by not less than 95% of the members entitled to vote at such meeting.

A general meeting may be called after giving shorter notice if consent, in writing or by electronic mode, is accorded thereto–

(i) in the case of an annual general meeting, by not less than ninety-five per cent of the members entitled to vote thereat; and

(ii) in the case of any other general meeting, by members of the company–

(a) holding, if the company has a share capital, majority in number of members entitled to vote and who represent not less than ninety-five per cent of such part of the paid-up share capital of the company as gives a right to vote at the meeting; or

(b) having, if the company has no share capital, not less than ninety-five per cent. of the total voting power exercisable at that meeting:

Where any member of a company is entitled to vote only on some resolution or resolutions to be moved at a meeting and not on the others, those members shall be taken into account in respect of the former resolution or resolutions and not in respect of the latter.

Secretarial Standard on calling of General Meeting on shorter notice:

Para 1.2.7 of SS-2 provides that notice and accompanying documents may be given at a shorter period of time if consent in writing is given thereto, by physical or electronic means, by not less than ninety-five per cent of the Members entitled to vote at such Meeting.

The request for consenting to shorter notice and accompanying documents shall be sent together with the Notice and the Meeting shall be held only if the consent is received prior to the time fixed for the Meeting from not less than ninety five per cent of the Members entitled to vote at such Meeting.

Illustration 1:

Say, a company XYZ Ltd. wish to hold its General Meeting at a shorter notice, immediately after the Board Meeting on same day and the required consent from 95% of the Members entitled to vote at the Meeting is received before the time fixed for commencement of Meeting. Although in such a case the consent of 95% Members entitled to vote at the meeting is received, still the proxy requirements need to be complied with by the Company.

In other words, in the above case the Board Meeting and General Meeting can't be held on the same day.

Illustration 2:

Considering the above illustration, if the consent of all the Members (i.e. 100%) entitled to vote at such Meeting is received before the time fixed for commencement of the Meeting, the proxy requirements need not be complied with. In other words, in such a case the Board Meeting and General Meeting can be held on the same day.

CONTENTS OF NOTICE

Section 101(2) provides that every notice of a meeting shall specify the place, date, day and the hour of the meeting and shall contain a statement of the business to be transacted at such meeting.

Place of meeting (Section 96)

The notice should state the place where the general meeting is scheduled to be held. In case of an annual general meeting, the place of the meeting has to be either the registered office of the company or some other place within the city, town or village in which the registered office of the company is situated. Explanation to Rule 17(2) of Companies (Management and Administration) Rules, 2014 states that requisitionists should convene meeting at Registered Office or in the same city or town where the Registered Office is situated and such meeting should be convened on any day except national holiday.

Annual general meeting of an unlisted company may be held at any place in India if consent is given in writing or by electronic mode by all the members in advance.

The Central Government may exempt any company from the provisions of this sub-section subject to such conditions as it may impose.

In case of Government Company, AGM may be held at registered office of the company or such other place within the city, town or village in which the registered office of the company is situated or such other place as the central government may approve in this behalf.

The day and date of the meeting should be clearly stated in the notice. An annual general meeting and a meeting called by the requisitionists shall be called on a day that is not a National Holiday. .

Explanation – For the purposes of this sub-section, “National Holiday” means and includes a day declared as National Holiday by the Central Government.

As explained earlier National Holiday means Republic Day i.e. 26th January, Independence Day i.e. 15th August, Gandhi Jayanti i.e. 2nd October and such other day as may be declared as National Holiday by the Central Government.

In case of Section 8 Company, the time, date and place of each AGM are decided upon before-hand by the directors having regard to directions, if any, given in this regard by the company in its general meeting.

CASE LAW

Where company convened its Annual General Meeting for financial year ending 31.03.2015 belatedly and, thus, contravened provisions of section 96, since it made reasonable ground for compounding of alleged offence, Tribunal has in exercise of its power conferred under section 441 could grant permission for compounding of such offence [Held in Uttrakhand Parvatiya Aajeevika Sanvardhan Co., In re by National Company Law Tribunal, Allahabad Bench (2018)].

Agenda (Section 102)

A statement of the business to be transacted at the general meeting should be given in the notice. In case, the meeting is to transact a special business, an explanatory statement should be attached about such item.

Proxy clause with reasonable prominence [Section 105(2)]

Every notice calling a meeting of a company which has a share capital, or the articles of which provide for voting by proxy at the meeting, should carry with reasonable prominence, a statement that a member entitled to attend and vote is entitled to appoint a proxy, or, where that is allowed, one or more proxies, to attend and vote instead of himself, and that a proxy need not be a member.

Regulation 44(4) of SEBI (LODR) Regulations, 2015: The listed entity shall send proxy forms to holders of securities in all cases mentioning that a holder may vote either for or against each resolution.

According to Rule 18 of the Companies (Management and Administration) Rules, 2014, the company may serve the notice in electronic mode in following manner:-

(1) A company may give notice through electronic mode. The expression "electronic mode" shall mean any communication sent by a company through its authorized and secured computer programme which is capable of producing confirmation and keeping record of such communication addressed to the person entitled to receive such communication at the last electronic mail address provided by the member.

(2) A notice may be sent through e-mail as a text or as an attachment to e-mail or as a notification providing electronic link or Uniform Resource Locator for accessing such notice.

(3) (i) The e-mail shall be addressed to the person entitled to receive such e-mail as per the records of the company or as provided by the depository:

The company shall provide an advance opportunity at least once in a financial year, to the member to register his e-mail address and changes therein and such request may be made by only those members who have not got their email ID recorded or to update a fresh email ID and not from the members whose e- mail IDs are already registered.

(ii) The subject line in e-mail shall state the name of the company, notice of the type of meeting, place and the date on which the meeting is scheduled.

(iii) If notice is sent in the form of a non-editable attachment to e-mail, such attachment shall be in the Portable Document Format or in a non-editable format together with a 'link or instructions' for recipient for downloading relevant version of the software.

(iv) When notice or notifications of availability of notice are sent by e-mail, the company should ensure that it uses a system which produces confirmation of the total number of recipients e-mailed and a record of each recipient to whom the notice has been sent and copy of such record and any notices of any failed transmissions and subsequent re-sending shall be retained by or on behalf of the company as "proof of sending".

(v) The company's obligation shall be satisfied when it transmits the e-mail and the company shall not be held responsible for a failure in transmission beyond its control.

(vi) If a member entitled to receive notice fails to provide or update relevant e-mail address to the company, or to the depository participant as the case may be, the company shall not be in default for not delivering notice via e-mail.

(vii) The company may send e-mail through in-house facility or its registrar and transfer agent or authorise any third party agency providing bulk e-mail facility.

(viii) The notice made available on the electronic link or uniform resource locator has to be readable, and the recipient should be able to obtain and retain copies and the company shall give the complete Uniform Resource Locator or address of the website and full details of how to access the document or information.

(ix) The notice of the general meeting of the company shall be simultaneously placed on the website of the company if any and on the website as may be notified by the Central Government.

Secretarial Standard on issuance of notice:

Para 1.2.2 of SS-2 provides that Notice shall be sent by hand or by ordinary post or by speed post or by registered post or by courier or by facsimile or by e-mail or by any other electronic means. 'Electronic means' means any communication sent by a company through its authorized and secured computer programme which is capable of producing confirmation and keeping record of such communication addressed to the person entitled to receive such communication at the last electronic mail address provided by the Member.

Notice shall be sent to Members by registered post or speed post or courier or e-mail and not by ordinary post in the following cases:

(a) if the company provides the facility of e-voting;

(b) if the item of business is being transacted through postal ballot.

If a Member requests for delivery of notice through a particular mode, other than one of those listed above, he shall pay such fees as may be determined by the company in its Annual General Meeting and the Notice shall be sent to him in such mode.

Notice shall be sent to Members by registered post or speed post or email if the Meeting is called by the requisitionists themselves and where the Board had not proceeded to call the Meeting.

PERSONS ENTITLED TO RECEIVE NOTICE

In terms of Section 101(3), notice of every meeting of the company must be given to:

(a) every member of the company, legal representative of any deceased member or the assignee of an insolvent member;

(b) the auditor or auditors of the company; and

(c) every director of the company.

A private company, which is not, a subsidiary of a public company may prescribe, by its Articles, persons to whom the notice should be given.

It does not always follow that all the members of a company are entitled to receive notice of meetings of the company; the Articles frequently provide that preference shareholders shall not be entitled to receive notice of and vote at general meeting of the company, except in certain circumstances. There is a statutory obligation to send notice to preference shareholders when their dividend is in arrears for more than a certain period [Section 47(2)]. This obligation arises from the fact that preference shareholders whose dividends are in arrears are entitled to attend and vote at the meeting.

The non-receipt of notice or accidental omission to given notice to any member shall not invalidate the proceedings in the meeting [Section 101(4)]. However, omission to serve notice of meeting on a member on the mistaken ground that he is not a shareholder cannot be said to be an accidental omission [Musselwhite vs. C.H. Musselwhite & Sons Ltd. (1962) 32 Comp. Cas 804]. 'Accidental omission' means that the omission must be not only not designed but also not deliberate [Maharaja Export vs. Apparels Exports Promotion Council (1986) 60 Comp. Cas 353.].

Notice to Directors, Auditors & other specified persons under Secretarial Standard-2

Para 1.2.1 of SS-2 provides that notice in writing of every meeting shall be given to every member of the company. Such Notice shall also be given to the Directors and Auditors of the company, to the Secretarial Auditor, to Debenture Trustees, if any, and, wherever applicable or so required, to other specified persons. Court may direct issuance of Notice to some other persons such as Court-appointed Chairman or observers or persons whose entitlement is under challenge. Considering that Preference Shareholders are Members of the company, Notice of general meetings should also be given to them.

In case of a Nidhi company, Notice may be served individually only on Members who hold shares of more than one thousand rupees in face value or more than one percent of the total paid-up share capital of the company, whichever is less. For other Members, Notice may be served by a public notice in newspaper circulated in the district where the Registered Office of the company is situated and by displaying the same on the Notice Board of the company.

In the case of Members, Notice shall be given at the address registered with the Company or depository. In the case of shares or other securities held jointly by two or more persons, the Notice shall be given to the person whose name appears first as per records of the Company or the depository, as the case may be. In the case of any other person who is entitled to receive Notice, the same shall be given to such person at the address provided by him.

Para 1.2.1 of SS-2 provides that where the company has received intimation of death of a Member, the Notice of Meeting shall be sent as under:

(a) where securities are held singly, to the Nominee of the single holder;

(b) where securities are held by more than one person jointly and any joint holder dies, to the surviving first joint holder;

(c) where securities are held by more than one person jointly and all the joint holders die, to the Nominee appointed by all the joint holders;

  (i) In the absence of a Nominee of member or joint members, the notice shall be sent to the legal representative of the deceased Member or joint members.

  (ii) In case of insolvency of a Member, the Notice shall be sent to the assignee of the insolvent Member.

  (iii) In case the Member is a company or body corporate which is being wound up, Notice shall be sent to the liquidator.

Thus, notice shall be given to:

(a) Every member of the Company.

(b) Nominee/Legal representative of any deceased member.

(c) Assignee of an insolvent member.

(d) The auditor or auditors of the company.

(e) Every director of the company.

(f) Debenture trustee.

(g) Liquidator in case the company is being bound up.

(h) To other specified persons.

The other recipients of the Notice may include-

(i) in the case of a Listed Company, the stock exchanges on which the shares or other securities of the company are listed;

(ii) financial institutions, pursuant to a covenant in the agreement entered into with them for availing financial assistance;

(iii) foreign collaborator(s), if the agreement with them provides for sending of such Notices;

(iv) In case shares of the company are held in dematerialised form, NSDL and CDSL, and in case the company has issued GDRs / ADRs / FCCBs, then to such Depository (ies);

(v) Holders of Stock Options of the company; and

(vi) Any other recipient to whom the company has agreed to give Notice (say, as per the terms of an agreement with any party).

In addition, a Court may direct issuance of Notice to some other person's such as Court-appointed Chairman or observers. In such case the Notice should be given accordingly.

Irregular Notice:

Some instances of irregular Notice are as under:

(1) When the Notice of General Meeting is issued without authorization by the Board.

(2) When the Notice is issued by an invalidly constituted Board.

(3) When the appointment of a Director who has signed the Notice is void and the Notice gets issued even after discovery of invalidity.

(4) When the Notice is not in accordance with the Act.

STATEMENT TO BE ANNEXED TO NOTICE – EXPLANATORY STATEMENT (SECTION 102)

Section 102 requires that a statement detailing the material facts of the businesses to be transacted as special business be annexed to the notice of the general meeting.

Secretarial Standard on annexure to notice of General Meeting:

Para 1.2.5 of SS-2 requires that notice shall clearly specify the nature of the Meeting and the business to be transacted thereat. In respect of items of Special Business, each such item shall be in the form of a resolution and shall be accompanied by an explanatory statement which shall set out all such facts as would enable a Member to understand the meaning, scope and implications of the item of business and to take a decision thereon. In respect of items of ordinary business, resolutions are not required to be stated in the Notice except where the auditors or directors to be appointed are other than the retiring auditors or directors, as the case may be.

CASE LAW

Where applicant had received notice of EGM, he was at liberty to attend meeting and raise his voice, if any and no order to restrain holding of meeting on ground of violation of section 102 was to be passed. [Held in Yatin Chandulal Davda v. Iberchem India Ltd. (2018) by National Company Law Tribunal, Ahmedabad Bench.]

Contents of Explanatory Statement:

In case of special business items to be transacted at a general meeting, a statement setting out the following material facts, shall be annexed to the notice calling the meeting:

(i) (a) the nature of concern or interest, financial or otherwise, if any, in respect of each item of:

(i) every director and the manager, if any;

(ii) every other key managerial personnel and relatives of every director, manager and key managerial person.

(b) any other information and facts that may enable members to understand the meaning, scope and implications of the items of business and to take decision thereon.

Where any item of special business to be transacted at a meeting of the company relates to or affects any other company, the extent of shareholding interest in that other company of every promoter, director, manager, if any, and of every other key managerial personnel of the first mentioned company shall, if the extent of such shareholding is not less than 2% of the paid- up share capital of that company, also be set out in the statement.

(ii) Where any item of business refers to any document, which is to be considered at the meeting, the time and place where such document can be inspected shall be specified in the explanatory Statement.

Effect of non-disclosure: Where as a result of the non-disclosure or insufficient disclosure in any statement referred as above, being made by a promoter, director, manager, if any, or other key managerial personnel, any benefit which accrues to such promoter, director, manager or other key managerial personnel or their relatives, either directly or indirectly, the promoter, director, manager or other key managerial personnel, as the case may be, shall hold such benefit in trust for the company, and shall, without prejudice to any other action being taken against him under this Act or under any other law for the time being in force, be liable to compensate the company to the extent of the benefit received by him.

Penalty: If any default is made in complying with the provisions of section 102 of the Companies Act, 2013, every promoter, director, manager or other key managerial personnel of the company who is in default shall be liable to a penalty of fifty thousand rupees or five times the amount of benefit accruing to the promoter, director, manager or other key managerial personnel or any of his relatives, whichever is higher.

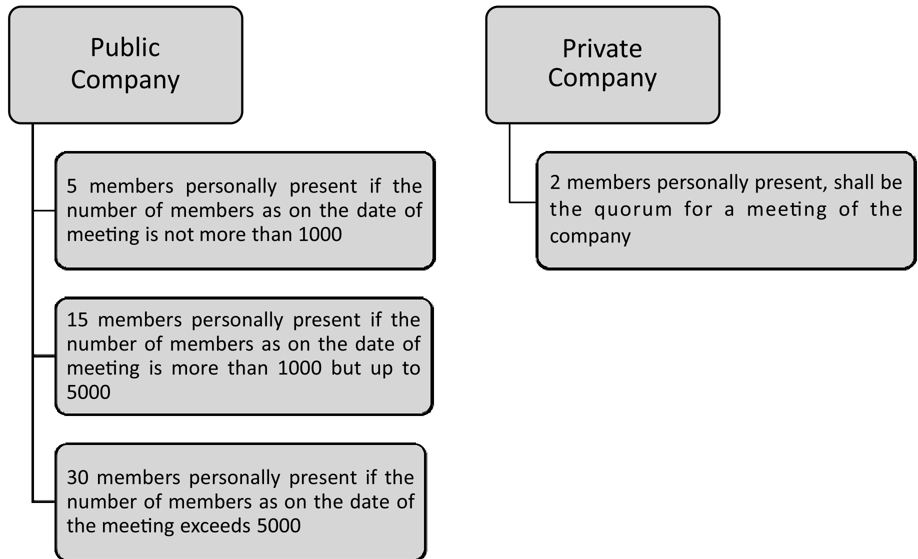
As per regulation 17(11) of SEBI (LODR) Regulations, the statement to be annexed to the notice as referred to in sub-section (1) of section 102 of the Companies Act, 2013 for each item of special business to be transacted at a general meeting shall also set forth clearly the recommendation of the board to the shareholders on each of the specific items.

If the explanatory statement is vague and tricky, or insufficient and misleading, the resolution passed, is bad in law. [Central Industrial Alliance Ltd. vs. Pravin Kantilal Vakil (1985) 57 Com. Cases 12 (Bom)].

Explanatory statement need not be annexed to the Notice of an Extra-Ordinary General Meeting convened by the requisitionists and the requisitionists may disclose the reasons for the Resolution(s) which they propose to move at the Meeting.

QUORUM FOR MEETINGS (SECTION-103)

Quorum refers to the minimum number of members required to constitute a valid meeting. Following are the minimum numbers provided in section 103, for various categories of companies. However, the Articles of Association of the company may provide for a higher number.



Secretarial Standard on Quorum:

Para 3.1 of SS-2 provides Quorum shall be present not only at the time of commencement of the Meeting but also while transacting business.

Where the Quorum provided in the Articles is higher than that provided under the Act, the Quorum shall conform to such higher requirement. Members need to be personally present at a Meeting to constitute the Quorum. Proxies shall be excluded for determining the Quorum.

Illustration:

Consider a company where the number of Members was originally large, say 500, and the Quorum fixed by the Articles was 100 Members present. Subsequently, 450 Members sold their shares which were acquired by some of the remaining 50 Members. Here, proceedings will be valid if all Members are present in person. In the given case, if less than 50 Members are present, there shall be no Quorum.

Para 3.2 of SS-2 provides that a duly authorized representative of a body corporate or the representative of the President of India or the Governor of a State is deemed to be a Member personally present and enjoys all the rights of a Member present in person.

One person can be an authorized representative of more than one body corporate. In such a case, he is treated as more than one member present in person for the purpose of quorum. However, to constitute a meeting, at least two individuals shall be present in person. Thus, in case of a public company having not more than 1000 members with a quorum requirement of five members, an authorized representative of five bodies corporate cannot form a quorum by himself but can do so if at least one more member is personally present.

This is so because a single Member present cannot by himself constitute a Meeting. There are a number of decisions by which it is now firmly settled that as a general rule a single person cannot constitute a Meeting. Few such cases include Sharp v. Dawes (1876) 2 QBD 26 (CA), Awadhoot v. State of Maharashtra AIR 1978 Bom 28, etc.

The words, personally present exclude proxies. Thus Proxies shall be excluded for determining the quorum. However, the representative of a body corporate appointed under Section 113 or the representative of the President or a Governor of a State under Section 112 is a member 'personally present' for purpose of counting a quorum [Re. Kelantan Coconut Estate Ltd., 1920 W.N. 274].

A person who represents two different bodies is supposed to act in accordance with the instructions of his principals. Therefore, such representative theoretically carries with him two sets of opinions on the Resolutions.

If two or more bodies corporate, who are Members of a company, are represented by a single individual, each of the bodies corporate should be treated as personally present through that individual representing such bodies corporate. For instance, if a representative represents three bodies corporate, his presence should be counted as three Members being present in person for purpose of Quorum [Maclead (Neil) & Sons Ltd., Petitioners, 1967 Scottish Law Times 46].

Members who have voted by remote e-voting have the right to attend the General Meeting and accordingly their presence shall be, counted for the purpose of quorum.

A member who is not entitled to vote on any particular item of business being a related party, if present, shall be counted for the purpose of quorum.

The stipulation regarding the presence of a quorum does not apply with respect to items of business transacted through postal ballot.

One-Man Meeting

It has been clarified by the Department of Company Affairs [now Ministry of Corporate Affairs] that a single Member present cannot, by himself, constitute a Quorum [Circulars and Clarifications Co. Law & SEBI, P1 198 vide File No.8/16/ (1)/61-PR]. Such general rule against a one–man Meeting has also been settled through judicial decisions.

There are, however, some exceptions to this general rule which permit a Meeting to be constituted of only one Member. These are:

- Where a person holds all the shares of a class, that person may constitute a class Meeting.
- Where default is made in holding an Annual General Meeting in accordance with Section 96 of the Act, the Tribunal while ordering the convening of the Meeting, may direct that one Member present in person or by proxy will constitute the Quorum [Proviso to sub-section (1) of Section 97 of the Act].
- Where it is impracticable to call a Meeting in the manner prescribed by the Act or the Articles, the Tribunal may order a Meeting to be held and direct that one Member present in person or by Proxy shall be deemed to constitute a Meeting [Proviso to sub–section (1) of Section 98 of the Act].

Consequences of no quorum- If the quorum is not present within half-an-hour from the time appointed for holding a meeting of the company–

(a) the meeting shall stand adjourned to the same day in the next week at the same time and place, or to such other date and such other time and place as the Board may determine; or

(b) the meeting, if called by requisitionists (under section 100), shall stand cancelled.

Donee of a general power of attorney not deemed as Proxy:

If any Member of a company has given a general power-of-attorney in favour of some other person to make investments on his behalf and to attend to all matters incidental and consequential thereto including attending General Meetings of companies in which investments are so made and if at General Meetings of such companies, the donee is present, then it would be deemed, by virtue of the provisions of Section 3 of the Powers-of-Attorney Act, 1882, that the donor is personally present and the donee will not be deemed to be a Proxy of the donor [Cf. Tata Iron & Steel Co. Ltd., In Re., AIR 1928 Bom. 80].

Chairman of Meetings (Section 104)

Unless the articles of the company otherwise provide, the members personally present at the meeting shall elect one of themselves to be the Chairman thereof on a show of hands.

If a poll is demanded on the election of the Chairman, it shall be taken forthwith in accordance with the provisions of this Act and the Chairman elected on a show of hands shall continue to be the Chairman of the meeting until some other person is elected as Chairman as a result of the poll, and such other person shall be the Chairman for the rest of the meeting.

Secretarial Standard on appointment and role of Chairman:

Para 5 of SS-2 provides that the Chairman of the Board shall take the chair and conduct the Meeting.

If the Chairman is not present within fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding the Meeting, or if he is unwilling to act as Chairman of the Meeting, or if no Director has been so designated, the Directors present at the Meeting shall elect one of themselves to be the Chairman of the Meeting. If no Director is present within fifteen Minutes after the time appointed for holding the Meeting, or if no Director is willing to take the chair, the Members present shall elect, on a show of hands, one of themselves to be the Chairman of the Meeting, unless otherwise provided in the Articles.

If a poll is demanded on the election of the Chairman, it shall be taken forthwith in accordance with the provisions of the Act and the Chairman elected on a show of hands shall continue to be the Chairman of the Meeting until some other person is elected as Chairman as a result of the poll, and such other person shall be the Chairman for the rest of the Meeting.

The Chairman shall ensure that the Meeting is duly constituted in accordance with the Act and the Articles or any other applicable laws, before it proceeds to transact business. The Chairman shall then conduct the Meeting in a fair and impartial manner and ensure that only such business as has been set out in the Notice is transacted. The Chairman shall regulate the manner in which voting is conducted at the Meeting keeping in view the provisions of the Act.

Para 5.2 of SS-2 requires that the Chairman shall explain the objective and implications of the Resolutions before they are put to vote at the Meeting.

The Chairman shall provide a fair opportunity to Members who are entitled to vote to seek clarifications and/or offer comments related to any item of business and address the same, as warranted.

Para 5.3 of SS-2 provides that in case of public companies, the Chairman shall not propose any Resolution in which he is deemed to be concerned or interested nor shall he conduct the proceedings for that item of business.

If the Chairman is interested in any item of business, without prejudice to his Voting Rights on Resolutions, he shall entrust the conduct of the proceedings in respect of such item to any dis-interested Director or to a Member, with the consent of the Members present, and resume the Chair after that item of business has been transacted.

Para 4.1.1 of SS-2 provides that if any Director is unable to attend the Meeting, the Chairman shall explain such absence at the Meeting.

Para 4.1.2 of SS-2 requires that Directors who attend General Meetings of the company and the Company Secretary shall be seated with the Chairman. The Company Secretary shall assist the Chairman in conducting the Meeting.

PRESENCE OF STATUTORY AUDITOR AND SECRETARIAL AUDITOR

Section 146 of the Act requires the presence to Auditors in general meetings unless otherwise exempted, either himself or through his authorized representative, who shall also be qualified to be an auditor and shall have right to be heard at such meeting on any part of the business which concerns him as the auditor. Para 4.2 of SS-2 also requires the same.

Similarly, para 4.3 of SS-2 requires the secretarial auditor, unless exempted by the company shall, either by himself or through his authorized representative, attend the Annual General Meeting and shall have the right to be heard at such Meeting on that part of the business which concerns him as Secretarial Auditor.

The Chairman may invite the Secretarial Auditor or his authorised representative to attend any other General Meeting, if he considers it necessary.

The authorized representative who attends the General Meeting of the company shall also be qualified to be a Secretarial auditor.

The authorised representative of the Secretarial Auditor attending the General Meeting on behalf of the Secretarial Auditor should be a person who is a member of the Institute of Company Secretaries of India (ICSI) and eligible for appointment as Secretarial Auditor of the company.

PROXIES (SECTION 105)

A person who is appointed by a member to attend and vote at a meeting in the absence of the member at the meeting is termed as proxy. Thus, proxy is an agent of the member appointing him. The term ‘proxy’ is also used to refer to the instrument by which a person is appointed as proxy. Section 105 of the Companies Act, 2013 provides that a member, who is entitled to attend and to vote, can appoint another person as a proxy to attend and vote at the meeting on his behalf. This section also provides the manner of appointing proxy. The provisions are as follows.

1. Who can appoint a proxy: Any member of a company who is entitled to attend and vote at a meeting of the company shall be entitled to appoint another person as a proxy to attend and vote at the meeting on his behalf.

   The SS-2 added that where allowed, a member can appoint one or more proxies, to attend and vote instead of himself and a Proxy need not be a Member.

   > A Proxy shall be a Member in case of companies with charitable objects etc. and not for profit registered under the specified provisions of the Act (a company registered under section 8).

   A Proxy can act on behalf of Members not exceeding fifty and holding in the aggregate not more than ten percent of the total share capital of the company carrying Voting Rights.

However, a Member holding more than ten percent of the total share capital of the company carrying Voting Rights may appoint a single person as Proxy for his entire shareholding and such person shall not act as a Proxy for another person or shareholder.

If a Proxy is appointed for more than fifty Members, he shall choose any fifty Members and confirm the same to the company before the commencement of specified period for inspection. In case, the Proxy fails to do so, the company shall consider only the first fifty proxies received as valid.

In every notice calling a meeting of a company which has a share capital, or the articles of which provide for voting by proxy at the meeting, there shall appear with reasonable prominence a statement that a member entitled to attend and vote is entitled to appoint a proxy, or, where that is allowed, one or more proxies, to attend and vote instead of himself, and that a proxy need not be a member.

If default is made in complying with above provision, every officer of the company who is in default shall be liable to penalty of five thousand rupees.

(2) Disabilities of proxy: A proxy shall not have the right to speak at the meeting. A proxy cannot vote on a show of hands. A proxy is not counted for the purpose of quorum.

(3) Rights of proxy: A proxy has the right to attend the meeting. A proxy has the right to vote only on a poll. A proxy, if eligible under section 109, has the right to demand a poll.

(4) Restriction on proxy: A member of a company registered under section 8 (Not for Profit Company) shall not be entitled to appoint any other person as his proxy unless such other person is also a member of such company.

A person appointed as proxy shall not act as proxy on behalf of more than fifty members and members holding in the aggregate more than ten percent of the total share capital of the company carrying voting rights.

A member holding more than 10% of the total share capital of the company carrying voting rights may appoint a single person as proxy, provided that such person shall not act as proxy for any other person or shareholder.

(5) Time limit for deposit of proxy forms: The instrument appointing the proxy must be deposited with the company, 48 hours before the meeting. Any provision contained in the articles, requiring a longer period than 48 hours shall have effect as if a period of 48 hours had been specified.

In case of a private company, the proxy shall be deposited with the company in accordance with Section 105, unless otherwise provided in the Articles.

In case of listed companies providing e-voting facilities, there is no need to appoint proxy to vote at the meeting. Further, till the permission is in place and the Companies conduct their shareholders meeting through video conferencing or other audio visual means, a person who will log-in the meeting through provided credentials, he will be deem to be personally present. Therefore, the system of Proxy is not relevant in the event of virtual meetings of shareholders.

(6) The prescribed form for appointing a proxy is Form No. MGT-11: It needs to be in writing and signed by the appointer or his attorney duly authorised in writing. If the appointer is a body corporate, the instrument should be under its seal or be signed by an officer or an attorney duly authorised by the body corporate. An instrument appointing a proxy, if in Form MGT-11, shall not be questioned on the ground that it fails to comply with any special requirement specified for such instrument by the article of a company.

Other provisions in Secretarial Standard w.r.t. proxies (Para 6):

1. Deposit of proxies: Para 6.6.1 of SS-2 provides that proxies shall be deposited with the company either in person or through post not later than forty-eight hours before the commencement of the Meeting in relation to which they are deposited and a Proxy shall be accepted even on a holiday if the last date by which it could be accepted is a holiday.

2. Records of proxies: All Proxies received by the company shall be recorded chronologically in a register kept for that purpose. In case any Proxy entered in the register is rejected, the reasons therefor shall be entered in the 'remarks' column.

   The instrument of Proxy shall be signed by the appointer or his attorney duly authorized in writing, or if the appointer is a body corporate, be under its seal or be signed by an officer or an attorney duly authorized by it.

   An instrument of Proxy duly filled, stamped and signed, is valid only for the Meeting to which it relates including any adjournment thereof.

   It is valid only if it is properly stamped as per the applicable law. Unstamped or inadequately stamped Proxies or Proxies upon which the stamps have not been cancelled are invalid.

   The Proxy-holder shall prove his identity at the time of attending the Meeting.

   An authorized representative of a body corporate or of the President of India or of the Governor of a State, holding shares in a company, may appoint a Proxy under his signature.

   The Proxy form which does not state the name of the Proxy shall not be considered valid. Also undated proxy shall not be considered valid.

   If a company receives multiple proxies for the same holdings of a Member, the Proxy which is dated last shall be considered valid; if they are not dated or bear the same date without specific mention of time, all such multiple Proxies shall be treated as invalid.

   Let us remember: The prescribed proxy form is Form No. MGT 11*

   Illustration:

   Assume that the General Meeting of a company is scheduled on 22nd September 2020 and company has received 4 proxies for the same holdings of a Member dated with 5th, 12th, 10th and 20th September 2020. The proxy dated last should be considered valid i.e. 20th. However, if the proxies received are not dated or bear the same date without mention of time, all proxies should be treated as invalid.

3. Inspection of proxy: Every member entitled to vote at a meeting of the company, or on any resolution to be moved thereat, is entitled to inspect the proxies lodged with the company, if at least 3 days' notice in writing is given to the company. Such notice shall be received at least three days before the commencement of the Meeting. Such inspection can be taken during the period beginning 24 hours before the time fixed for the commencement of the meeting, during the business hours of the company, and ending with the conclusion of the meeting. Such inspection should be allowed between 9:00 am and 6:00 pm during such period.

   A fresh requisition confirming to the above requirements, shall be given for inspection of Proxies in case the Original Meeting is adjourned.

4. Revocation of proxy: If after appointment of proxy, the member himself attends the meeting, it amounts to automatic revocation of proxy. But once the proxy has voted, it cannot be revoked.

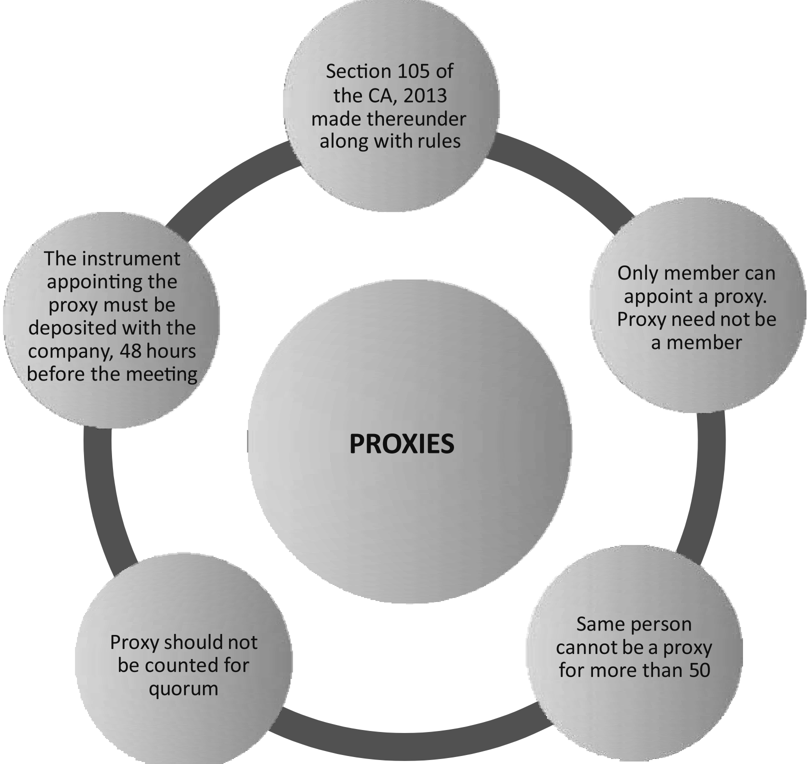
Para 6.7.1 provides that if a Proxy had been appointed for the original meeting and such meeting is adjourned, any Proxy given for the adjourned Meeting revokes the Proxy given for the original Meeting.

Para 6.7.2 provides that a proxy later in date revokes any Proxy/Proxies dated prior to such Proxy.

Para 6.7.3 provides that a Proxy is valid until written notice of revocation has been received by the company before the commencement of the Meeting or adjourned Meeting, as the case may be.

An undated notice of revocation of Proxy shall not be accepted. A notice of revocation shall be signed by the same Member (s) who had signed the Proxy, in the case of joint Membership.

A Proxy need not be informed of the revocation of the Proxy issued by the Member.



Illustrations:

Question: Annual General Meeting of a Public Company was scheduled to be held on 15.12.2020. Mr. A, a shareholder, issued two Proxies in respect of the shares held by him in favor of Mr. 'X' and Mr. 'Y'. The proxy in favor of 'Y' was lodged on 12.12.2020 and the one in favor of Mr. X was lodged on15.12.2020. The company rejected the proxy in favor of Mr. Y as the proxy in favor of Mr. Y was of dated 12.12.2020 and in favor of Mr. X was of dated15.12.2020. Is the rejection by the company in order?

Hint: As per Section 105 of the Companies Act, 2013 a proxy should be deposited 48 hours before the time of the meeting. In the given case, the proxies should have, therefore, been deposited on or before 13.12.2020 (the date of the meeting being 15.12.2020). Mr. X deposited the proxy on 15.12.2020.

Therefore, proxy in favour of Mr. X has become invalid. Thus, rejecting the proxy in favour of Mr. Y is unsustainable. Proxy in favor of Mr. Y is valid since it is deposited in time.

Question: The Chairman of the meeting of a public company received a Proxy 54 hours before the time fixed for the start of the meeting. He refused to accept the Proxy on the ground that the Articles of the company provided that a Proxy must be filed 60 hours before the start of the meeting. Decide, under the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 whether the Proxy holder can compel the Chairman to admit the Proxy?

Hint: As per Section 105 of the Companies Act, 2013 proxy shall be deposited with the company within 48 hours before the meeting.

Any provisions contained in the Articles of a company that requires a longer period than 48 hours before a meeting of the company for depositing a proxy shall be void. Thus, contention of Mr X is valid.

Question: Mr. A, a member of XYZ Limited, appoints Mr. B as his proxy to attend the general meeting of the company. Later he (Mr. A) also attends the meeting. Both Mr. A (the member) and Mr. B (the proxy) voted on a particular resolution in the meeting. Mr. A's vote was declared invalid by the chairman stating that since he has appointed the proxy and Mr. B's vote has been considered as valid. Mr. A objects to the decision of the Chairman. Decide, under the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 whether Mr. A's objection shall be taxable.

Hint: Decision by Chairman is invalid. Since Mr. A i.e. a member himself attended a meeting and voted on resolution, it will amount to revocation of proxy. Thus, any vote put by Mr. B i.e. proxy shall be invalid.

Question: (1) Mr. A holds 10% of the total share capital of the Company and appoints Mr. B as the proxy holder. Can Mr. B accept appointment as proxy by any other shareholder?

Hint : Mr. B cannot accept appointment as proxy by any other shareholder.

(2) Mr. C has been appointed as the proxy holder by 48 members. Mr. D, Mr. E and Mr. F are also interested in appointing Mr. C as their proxy. Can they do so?

Hint : Mr. C cannot be appointed as proxy by more than 50 members and hence he can accept appointment only by 2 members out of the three (i.e. Mr. D, Mr. E and Mr. F). However, the aggregate shareholding of the 50 members should not exceed 10% of the total share capital of the Company.

VIRTUAL MEETINGS: TECHNOLOGICAL ADVANCEMENT IN CONDUCT OF GENERAL MEETINGS

General meetings, particularly when large numbers of shareholders are involved, can be very expensive and are not considered to be a cost-effective. Virtual meetings of members have advantages for companies and their shareholders. Present-day shareholders are spread across the country and also in different countries, and as the AGMs can only conducted in the city or place in which the registered office of the company is located, it makes it more difficult for the shareholders located in faraway locations and cites to attend the meetings as it involves lot of travel time and cost. With less participation, the agenda items are often passed without any discussion with fewer members. Virtual meetings will help in increasing shareholder participation as compared to physical meetings because of improved access, shareholders who cannot attend in person due to location or other reasons can attend virtually and do not have to incur the time and costs of travel to a physical meeting.

Similarly, companies may find virtual meetings help to achieve wider shareholders participation. Virtual annual meetings offer benefits to both companies and shareholders. With companies and investors becoming increasingly global, virtual meetings can save travel time and costs for shareholders, avoid traffic and other logistical delays and be easier to schedule. It will also eliminate the costs of an in-person meeting, including travel for shareholders and a company's directors and management, thereby allowing shareholders more time to attend more meetings in which they hold shares, as well as minimizing the amount of time that directors and management must spend at meetings. This in turn will increase the participation of shareholders who would otherwise not attend the meetings.

Advantages of Virtual AGM/EGMs

- Increase shareholder participation in meetings.
- Save time on travel and cost because of remote voting.
- Encourages more participation by investors across the world.
- Provides greater accessibility to shareholders who cannot be physically present due to distance.
- Enables institutional investors to attend more than one meeting in a day and protect shareholders interest.
- Reduce the cost of holding and conducting shareholder meeting, including the costs of the venue, stationary, transport and refreshments.
- Saves time of the Company's personnel.

Difficulties in holding Virtual Meetings of Members:

- Security of the systems used.
- Streaming with quality without interruption.
- Providing with secure login and shareholder authentication for attendance, with ease of access for shareholders, and remote voting.
- Combined registration, voting and reporting software.
- Customized instant results screen and detailed audit reporting.
- Data Security of Logins and Passwords.
- Allowing the shareholders, the choice of device.
- The technology used must give all shareholders a reasonable opportunity to participate.

- The technology must be secure and must provide reasonable measures for verifying/validating those allowed to attend and vote at the meeting.
- The company must provide a digital record of the meeting.

It is pertinent to mention that as per Regulation 44 of the SEBI (LODR) Regulations, 2015 the top 100 listed entities shall provide one-way live webcast of the proceedings of the annual general meetings.

The top 100 entities shall be determined on the basis of market capitalisation, as at the end of the immediate previous financial year.

Voting by electronic means is a facility given to the members of a company to cast their votes on the resolutions through electronic mode. It provides an opportunity to shareholders residing in far-flung area to take part in the decision making process of the company. They may or may not attend the meeting physically. Boards in their fiduciary capacity are now looked upon for greater accountability and transparency for the effectiveness of their overall governance process. E-Voting is a further step to encourage corporate democracy and to promote good corporate governance.

E-voting allows a voter to record his or her secure and secret ballot electronically. E-voting are generally used in government elections like general elections, state legislative assembly elections etc. and considered as a tool of effective governance in voting infrastructure. E-voting is a common Internet infrastructure that enables the investors to vote electronically on resolution of companies. Shareholders normally exercised their votes on resolutions proposed by companies through postal ballot. If a company decides to pass any resolution by resorting to postal ballot, it will send a notice to all the shareholders, requesting them to send their assent or dissent in writing on a postal ballot. The Companies Act, 2013 had ushered in the concept of e-voting to ensure wider shareholder participation in the decision-making process in companies.

Practical Situations arising in Meetings through Video-Conferencing

1) How to accommodate the shareholders who wants to ask questions in view of the large attendance of shareholders throughout the length and breadth of the country?

   A. In the notice to the AGM it may be mentioned that shareholders whoever wants to speak to get their names registered and it's also to be mentioned that at the discretion of the Chairman the speakers will be allowed to speak depending upon the availability of time.

2) Why the proxy provisions are dispensed with in case of General meetings held through video conferencing?

   A. In case of VC meetings there is no question of proxy attendance. A shareholder can himself attend the meeting from wherever he is located. Same applies to the case with e-voting. In case of e-voting also there is no proxy to vote on behalf of the shareholder.

3) Is it required to give venue of the meeting in the Notice? If so what would be the venue of the meeting, for meetings held through video conferencing?

   A. Yes, place of the meeting shall be provided in the Notice. In case of virtual meetings deemed venue is to be given.

4) For conduct of AGMs through VC/OAVM, can the Companies mention in their AGM notices that the Company holds the right to restrict the number of speaker shareholders depending on the availability of time. Are the companies allowed to restrict speakers?

   A. Yes, companies can restrict the speakers depending upon the availability of time. The notice calling for meeting should require the speaker shareholders to register themselves in advance and depending upon the time availability, it shall be at the discretion of the Chairman to allow the speakers.

In addition, companies may allow recordings to be sent in advance with the permission of the Chairman and shareholders, in order to avoid scenarios where a speaker shareholder may get disconnected or have an audio/visual connection issue, thus saving time and effectively maintaining the decorum of the meeting.

5) The number of speakers registering to speak at the meeting has gone up considerably. Companies are forced to choose those speakers who are favourably disposed to the company. Is this a correct practice? How can this be managed?

A. If the number of speaker's shareholders registering is considerably more, the Chairman should put a cut-off as it may not be feasible to allow all the registered speakers due to time constraints.

For e.g., giving 3 mins each to 50 registered speakers in a meeting held through VC or OAVM will prolong the meeting with 150 minutes. Therefore, it is at the discretion of Chairman to decide the order (first come first serve, etc.) and the cut-off depending on the situation and time availability.

6) Is it mandatory to share the question / query well in advance with the Company by the Shareholder at the time of registering himself as speaker. Can a shareholder refuse to share the question, even if asked to share, by the Company?

A. Shareholder may share his query well in advance with the Company so that even if he could not get connected, his query may be read out and answered. However, the shareholder may prefer to raise his query at the meeting only and in such case, he need not share his query in advance with the Company.

7) How can the companies keep registers open for inspection at the AGM held via VC or OAVM, if the Company does not maintain the registers in electronic form and nor the company has scanned the same?

A. In case the registers are not maintained in an electronic form, the physical registers/documents should be scanned for uploading in a virtual data room established for the purpose. Login ID and password can be provided for inspection and it is to be ensured that only view rights are given for inspection and the registers/documents cannot be deleted, copied or downloaded or the register/ documents may be made available for inspection on a virtual platform (e.g., Zoom, Microsoft teams, etc.), and displayed in a presentation form. The registers/documents which shall be made available for inspection in connection with the AGM, shall be made available from the time notice is given till the conclusion of the meeting.

8) What are the consequences if during the AGM held through VC or OAVM, the Chairman gets disconnected due to poor net connectivity etc. and unable to join again? How can the Company proceed with the AGM for remaining items?

A. In case, the Chairman of the meeting gets disconnected due to poor connectivity, etc. for 5-10 minutes, it does not necessarily lead to adjournment of the meeting. However, if the Chairman is unable to join again and depending on the size, structure, dynamics of the company, there are two options available: either adjourn the meeting or if the meeting so decides elect another Chairman to proceed with the AGM, the company is required to follow the Articles/Section 104 of the Companies Act, 2013 and proceed accordingly.

9) Do Shareholders and Directors have any rights to ask recording of AGM conducted through VC or OAVM?

A. Recording of the General Meetings held through VC or OAVM is not mandatory as per law and only the recorded transcript has to be maintained. INTRODUCTION

The Companies Act, 2013 contemplates various provisions related to Directors. A Company having separate legal existence in the eyes of law, is an artificial person. The Company has an intangibility i.e. it cannot be touch as it is not a natural person. As such, it cannot act on its own. It acts through only with human intervention.

The Directors are the individuals who are in charge and manage the day to day affairs of the Company. Where the Company needs to have more than one Director, then the total number of Directors are termed as Board of Directors of the Company. Whenever a Company needs to take decision, it will take the decision through the Board of Directors only as it cannot act on its own. For various decisions and managing the day to day affairs, the Board of Directors are required to meet occasionally as well as periodically for taking those decisions by way of passing of resolutions depends on the nature of decision.

> For example, ABC Ltd wants to change its registered office from North Delhi to South Delhi. It will have to convene the Board Meeting and has to pass the Board Resolution for such shifting as required by the Companies Act, 2013.

The Companies Act 2013 defines the term Director in Section 2(34) which prescribed that “director” means a director appointed to the Board of a company.

Section 2(10) of the Companies Act, 2013 defined that “Board of Directors” or “Board”, in relation to a company, means the collective body of the directors of the company.

By virtue of Section 149 of the Companies Act, 2013, the Board of Directors of every company shall consist of individual only. Thus, no body corporate, association or firm shall be appointed as director.

Section 166 (6) of Companies Act, 2013, prohibits assignment (transfer) of office of director to any other person. Any assignment of office made by a director shall be void.

CASE LAW

In Re. G. Vasudevan vs. Union of India (Madras High Court) Date of Judgment: 02nd December, 2019

Section 167(1)(a) Companies Act not violative of Articles 14, and 19(1)(g) of the Constitution of India.

The issue raised was that the Section 167(1)(a) of the Companies Act 2013, as inserted vide the Companies (Amendment) Act 2017 as ultra vires the Articles 14, 19(1)(g) of the Constitution of India.

Section 167 of the Companies Act gives instances where the office of a Director shall become vacant. The proviso which is under challenge in the instant writ petition states that, when a company commits a default as stipulated in sub-section 2 of Section 164, then a Director of such defaulting company does not vacate the post in the company in which the default is committed but a Director of such a company has to vacate his seat as a Director in all other companies in which he is Director. The petitioner contends that proviso to Section 167(1)(a) of the Companies Act, leads to unequal treatment being met out to Directors of a defaulting company based on whether they are Directors in other companies or not. The petitioner claims that this leads to unfair treatment to those Directors who hold such posts in multiple companies.

The Court observed that the "purpose of the amendment was that if the post of Directorship is vacated under the provision (as it was) then, this post would remain vacant as these provisions would automatically apply to any individual subsequently appointed".

The Court has held that the proviso to Section 167(1)(a) must be interpreted in ordinary terms and would apply to the entirety of Section 164 including sub-section 2. The Court has further held that this proviso can be justified on two grounds. Firstly, it has been reiterated that the exclusion of Directors from vacating their posts in the defaulting company while doing so in all other companies where they hold Directorship has been done in order to prevent the anomalous situation wherein the post of Director in a company remains vacant in perpetuity owing to automatic application of Section 167(1)(a) to all newly appointed Directors. Secondly, the underlying object behind the proviso to Section 167(1)(a) is seen to be the same as that of Section 164(2) both of which exist in the interest of transparency and probity in governance, Owing to these justifications, the Court thus holds that the proviso to Section 167(1)(a) is neither manifestly arbitrary nor does it offend any of the fundamental rights guaranteed under Part III of the Constitution of India.

Resignation of Directors

According to section 168 –

1. A director may resign from its office by giving a notice with the reasons of resignation in writing to the company.

4. The board shall place the facts of such resignation by the director in the Report of Directors laid in immediately following general meeting by the company.
5. The Director may within 30 days from his resignation, forward to the registrar a copy of his resignation along with reasons for resignation with reasons provided therein in Form DIR-11 along with the fee provided. 6. The resignation shall be effective from the date on which the notice is received by the company or the date specified by the Director in the notice whichever is later.
7. When all the Directors resign at the same time under section 167, in such case the required number of directors are to be appointed by the promoter or in his absence, the Central Government. The Directors so appointed shall hold office till the Directors are appointed by the company in general meeting. The proviso to sub section (2) of section 168 of Companies Act, 2013 clarifies that the Director who shall be liable even after his resignation for the offences which occurred during his tenure.

The proviso to sub section (2) of section 168 of Companies Act, 2013 clarifies that the Director who shall be liable even after his resignation for the offences which occurred during his tenure.

In Re. Harish Jain Vs. Haveli Restaurant & Resorts limited & Ors. dated 26th February, 2020

The NCLAT dismissed the claims of appellant on the ground that he failed to prove his resignation letter is a forged document.

INTRODUCTION

At the core of the corporate governance practices is the Board of Directors which oversees how the management serves and protects the long term interests of all the stakeholders of the company. The institution of Board or directors was based on the premise that a group of trustworthy and respectable people should look after the interests of the large number of shareholders who are not directly involved in the management of the company.

The shareholders and investors repose confidence on the Board of Directors as their representatives for conducting and monitoring the affairs of the company. The position of Board of Directors is that of trust as the Board is entrusted with the responsibility to act in the best interests of the company. The Board is accountable to the shareholders for creating, protecting and enhancing wealth, ensuring optimum utilisation of resources of the company, and reporting to them on the performance in a timely and transparent manner. The Board is ultimately responsible for ensuring compliance of various applicable laws in the best interests of stakeholders.

The Board generally performs three major roles in a company –

- provide direction (i.e. set the strategic direction of the company);
- control (i.e. monitor the management);
- provide support and advice (advisory role).

The board should comprise of independent minded directors. It should include an appropriate combination of executive directors, independent directors and non-independent non-executive directors to prevent one individual or a small group of individuals from dominating the board's decision making. The board should be of a size and level of diversity commensurate with the sophistication and scale of the organization. Appropriate board committees may be formed to assist the board in the effective performance of its duties. Truly independent boards are vital for effective governance.

As former UK Financial Reporting Council Chairman, Sir Christopher Hogg has noted, "Good boards are pretty uncomfortable places and that's where they should be."

Section 2(10) of the Companies Act, 2013 defines that "Board of Directors" or "Board", in relation to a company, means the collective body of the directors of the company.

In Jatan Kanwar vs. Golcha Properties 1971 AIR 374, it was held that the power of management of the company is vested in the Board of Directors as a result of the Companies Act as well as the Articles of Association of the company unless and until the general body by the policy of its Articles chooses to take them away, and substitute others more to its taste, the Board of Directors in its right continues to manage the affairs of the company. The decisions of the Board of Directors are to be taken by a majority.

BOARD COMPOSITION

Only Individuals as Directors- Section 149(1) of the Companies Act, 2013 provides that only an individual can become a director. As per clause (34) of Section 2 of the Act, "director" means a director appointed to the Board of a company. Therefore, an individual who is appointed to the Board of a company is a Director.

Thus, a director is a person appointed to perform the duties and functions of director of a company in accordance with the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013.

Minimum number of Directors: Section 149(1) of the Companies Act, 2013 requires that Board needs to have a minimum of:

(i) 3 Directors in case of a public company;

(ii) 2 Directors in the case of a private company; and

(iii) 1 Director in the case of a One Person Company.

Regulation 17 of the SEBI (LODR) Regulations, 2015 prescribes that the board of directors of the top 1000 listed entities (with effect from April 1, 2019) and the top 2000 listed entities (with effect from April 1, 2020) shall comprise of not less than six directors.

Explanation: The top 1000 and 2000 entities shall be determined on the basis of market capitalisation as at the end of the immediate previous financial year.

Minimum number of Directors in case of Producer Companies

Section 378(o) provides that Every Producer Company shall have at least 5 and not more than 15 directors:

Further, the Members who sign the memorandum and the articles may designate therein the Board of Directors, not less than five, who shall govern the affairs of the Producer Company until the directors are elected in accordance with the provisions of section 378P. The election of directors shall be conducted within a period of ninety days of the registration of the Producer Company.

Furthermore, in case of an inter-State co-operative society which has been registered as a Producer Company under sub-section (4) of section 378J in which at least five directors [including the directors continuing in office under sub-section (1) of section 378N] hold office as such on the date of registration of such company, the provisions of this sub-section shall have effect as if for the words “ninety days”, the words “three hundred and sixty-five days” had been substituted.

Maximum number of Directors

Section 149(1) of the Companies Act, 2013 permits a maximum of 15 directors on the Board. However, a company may appoint more than 15 directors after passing a special resolution.

Government and Section 8 Companies are allowed to appoint more than 15 directors without passing special resolution. The Central Government has by separate notifications exempted Government Companies and Section 8 companies from the provisions of section 149 (1) (b) and first proviso of Section 149(1). EY released its report on 'D*iversity in the Boardroom: Progress and the way forward*' highlighting its findings on the representation of women on Indian boards and emphasizing the actions organizations must take to increase gender diversity.

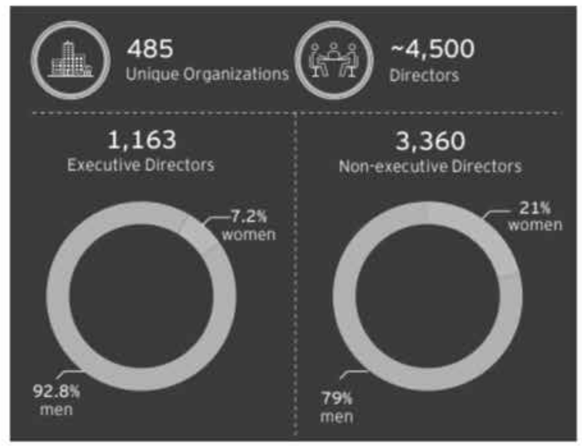
During 2013- 2022, India made significant and rapid progress in increasing women representation on boards from 6% in 2013 to 18% in 2022.

Executive versus Non-executive Directors: the great divide

In 2022, women account for 7.2% of executive positions on Indian Boards compared to 6% in 2017.

The growth of women in non-executive positions on Indian Boards paints a more encouraging picture as it has increased from 16% in 2017 to 21.4% in 2022.



In 2022, Almost 95% companies out of NIFTY500 have one woman Board member compared to 69% in 2017

Traditionally, women representation on Indian Boards has been limited to leadership positions in Grievance and CSR committees; however, this is changing. Across NIFTY500, the Nomination and Remuneration Committee (NRC) and Audit Committee, customarily reserved for male Board members, had 13% and 12% women Board members respectively in 2017. In 2020, this had increased to 18% and 16%, respectively.

More than 40% of the companies have gone beyond the regulatory mandated limit and have appointed more than one women Board member. There is no doubt that Indian companies are making progress with respect to women representation on Boards; however, statistics highlight that there is still room for improvement as less than 5% of companies have women as Chairpersons.

What is the difference between the term "Non Executive" and "Independent Director" of the Company?

Non-Executive Director of a company simply means a person not holding a position as an executive in the company. Such a director may or may not be an independent director.

An independent director on the other hand means a director, other than a managing director or a whole-time director or a nominee director and is one who fulfills the criteria laid down under Section 149 of the Companies Act 2013, in addition, to the criteria laid down under regulation 16(1)(b) of the SEBI (LODR) Regulations, 2015.

All non- executive directors need not be independent directors, but all independent directors are non-executive director.

Registrar of Companies, West Bengal vs. Sabyasachi Bagchi on 24th June, 2020, NCLAT

Facts of the Case:

The Appellant Registrar Companies, West Bengal filed this Appeal under Section 421 of the Companies Act 2013 (in brief the Act) against the order dated 11.07.2018 passed by National Company Law Tribunal, Kolkata Bench, Kolkata.

Respondent Sabyasachi Bagchi was holding Directorship of 17 Companies on 01.04.2014 when section 165 (1) of the Act, came into force. However, he vacated directorship of three companies during the period of 01.04.2014 to 31.03.2015. After receipt of the notice from Appellant the Respondent has resigned from the Directorship of four Companies on 22.02.2016, thus, the Respondent has contravened the provisions of Section 165(1) of the Act, for a period of 01.04.2015 to 21.02.2016 i.e. 326 days.

The reply of show cause notice of Respondent found unsatisfactory, therefore, the Appellant filed a complaint under Section 165 (6) of the Act, against the Respondent before Chief Metropolitan Magistrate, Kolkata.

During the pendency of the Prosecution, Respondent filed an Application under Section 441(1) of the Act, before the National Company Law Tribunal, Kolkata for compounding the offence. The Appellant filed his report on compounding application before the Tribunal. After hearing the parties, Learned Tribunal allowed the Application subject to payment of compounding fees Rs. 25,000/- within 15 days from the date of order.

Being aggrieved with the order the Appellant filed this Appeal on 04.01.2019 along with Application for condonation of delay in filing the Appeal in NCLAT.

The Appellant submitted that the Respondent has accepted that he has contravened the provisions of 165 (1) of the Act, for a period of 01.04.2015 to 21.02.2016 i.e. 326 days. However, in the impugned order the period of default is shown 21 days only and Learned Tribunal has imposed compounding fees of Rs. 25,000/-. The Tribunal has ignored the provisions of sub-Section 6 of Section 165 of the Act, and directed to deposit compounding fees less than a minimum prescribed for the offence. The Tribunal has no jurisdiction to reduce the fine less than the minimum prescribed for the offence.

The issue for consideration is, whether Tribunal can impose the compounding fees under Section 441(1) of the Act, less than minimum prescribed for the offence under Section 165 (1) read with Section 165(6) ?

Judgment

In this case, the Respondent was conscious that after coming into force the provisions under Section 165(1) of the Act, he cannot hold Directorship in more than 20 companies and Directorship in more than 10 Public Companies, at the same time. As per the Section 165 (3) of the Act, till 31.03.2015 Respondent was required to resign from the Directorship of the Companies more than the limits specified in sub- Section 1 of Section 165 of the Act, within the specified period.

The Respondent has vacated the Directorship of three Companies. However, after receipt of the notice from the Appellant the Respondent has resigned from the Directorship of four Companies on 22.02.2016 and there is nothing on record to presume that the Respondent violated the provisions on a bonafide belief. The conduct of Respondent shows that he acted in conscious disregard of its obligation.

From the impugned order its manifest and clear that the Tribunal failed to notice the minimum fine prescribed under Sub-Section 6 of Section 165 of the Act, which was applicable at relevant time i.e. before the amendment. In view of the error apparent in the impugned order dated 11.07.2018 passed by the Tribunal, the order is set aside.

BOARD COMMITTEES

A board committee is a small working group identified by the board, consisting of board members, for the purpose of supporting the board's work. Committees are generally formed to perform some expertise work. Members of the committee are expected to have expertise in the specified field. These committees prepare the groundwork for decision-making and report at the subsequent board meeting. Committees enable better management of full board's time and allow in-depth scrutiny and focused attention.

However, the Board of Directors are ultimately responsible for the acts of the committee. Board is responsible for defining the committee role and structure. The structure of a board and the planning of the board's work are key elements to effective governance. Establishing committees is one way of managing the work of the board, thereby strengthening the board's governance role. Boards should regularly review its own structure and performance and whether it has the right committee structure and an appropriate scheme of delegation from the board.

Functions of Board Committee

Committees often serve several different functions:

Governance: In large organizations participation of each and every director is not possible in decisions making of the organization as a whole, a committee is given the power to make decisions, spend money, or take actions. Some or all such powers may be limited or effectively unlimited. Members of the committee take decisions, keeping in view the interest of all stakeholders.

Coordination: Where there is a large board, it is common to have committees with more specialized functions for better coordination - for example, audit committee, finance committee, compensation committee, etc. wherein members meet regularly to discuss developments in their areas, review projects that cut across organizational boundaries, talk about future options, etc.

Research and recommendations: Committees are often formed to do research and make recommendations on a potential or planned project or change. For example, an organization considering a major capital investment might create a temporary working committee of several people to review options and make recommendations to the Board of Directors. Such committees are typically dissolved after giving recommendations.

With the increasing business complexities and time commitment of Board members, constituting committees has become inevitable for organization of any significant size. Committees keep the number of participants manageable; in larger groups, either many people do not get to speak or discussion gets quite lengthy.

Powers of the Board to form a Committee

- The Board of Directors of the Company derive powers from Article of Association of the Company [Table F (Limited by shares) & H (Limited by Guarantee and not having share capital)] under the Companies Act, 2013:

  (i) The Board may, subject to the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 delegate any of its powers to committees consisting of such member or members of its body as it thinks fit.

  (ii) Any committee so formed shall, in the exercise of the powers so delegated, conform to any regulations that may be imposed on it by the Board.

- Under Regulation 4 of the SEBI (LODR) Regulations, 2015, when committees of the board of directors are established, their mandate, composition and working procedures shall be well defined and disclosed by the board of directors.

(1) The Audit Committee must, after obtaining approval of the Board of Directors, specify the criteria for making omnibus approval for related party transactions proposed to be entered into by the company, which need to include the following conditions, namely:

Approval of the Audit Committee to a related party transaction can be granted by passing a circular resolution. Elucidate.

Section 188(1) of the Companies Act, 2013 prohibits the Board from dealing with an item of business pertaining to a contract or arrangement with a related party through a circular resolution. However, the law is silent on dealing with any item of business by the Audit Committee through a circular resolution.

Here, the intention of the Legislature is required to be gathered from the language used; which means that attention should be paid to what has been said as also to what has not been said. As a consequence, though it cannot be added that the law imposes any restriction, the principle applicable on meetings of the Board would be applicable to the meetings of the Audit Committee too, while dealing with items of business on related party transactions.

As per the Secretarial Standard on Meetings of the Board of Directors (SS-1), the Audit Committee should discuss related party transactions which are not in the ordinary course of business or which are not on arm's length basis at its meetings and not through circulation. However, there is no bar on omnibus approval of limits being passed by a circular resolution by the Audit Committee.

Related party transactions other than Section 188- As per second proviso to clause (iv) of Section 177(4) in case of transaction, other than transactions referred to in section 188, where Audit Committee does not approve the transaction, the company needs to make its recommendations to the Board.

Transaction involving less than Rs. 1 Crore- As per third proviso to clause (iv) of Section 177(4) in case of related party transaction involving any amount not exceeding one crore rupees is entered into by a director or officer of the company without obtaining the approval of the Audit Committee and it is not ratified by the Audit Committee within three months from the date of the transaction, such transaction shall be voidable at the option of the Audit Committee and if the transaction is with the related party to any director or is authorised by any other director, the director concerned shall indemnify the company against any loss incurred by it.

Transaction between Holding Company and Wholly Owned Subsidiary- As per fourth proviso to clause (iv) of Section 177(4), for any related party transaction other than section 188, between a holding company and its wholly owned subsidiary company the approval of audit committee is not required.

However, if such transaction is covered under section 188, between a holding company and its wholly owned subsidiary company or between a holding company and its other than wholly owned subsidiary company the approval of audit committee is must.

Rights of Auditors, KMP to be heard by the Audit Committee

The auditors of a company and the key managerial personnel shall have a right to be heard in the meetings of the Audit Committee when it considers the auditor's report. However, they do not have the right to vote.

Disclosure in Board's Report (Section 177(8))

The composition of an Audit Committee must be disclosed by the company in the report of its Board of Directors in the year.

In case the Board does not accept any recommendation of the Audit Committee, the same shall be disclosed in the Board report along with the reasons thereof.

The Role of Audit Committee as prescribed under Part C of Schedule II of SEBI (LODR) Regulation, 2015

VIGIL MECHANISM [SECTION 177(9) TO 177(10)]

Section 177(9) of the Act read with Rule 7 of the Companies (Meetings of Board and its Powers) Rules, 2014 provides for establishment of Vigil Mechanism for their directors and employees to report their genuine concerns or grievances as under:

(1) Every listed company;

(2) the companies which accept deposits from the public;

(3) the companies which have borrowed money from banks and public financial institutions in excess of fifty crore rupees.

The vigil mechanism set up as above, shall provide for adequate safeguards against victimisation of employees and Directors who use such mechanism and make provision for direct access to the Chairperson of the Audit Committee or the Director nominated to play the role of Audit Committee in appropriate or exceptional cases.

In case of repeated frivolous complaints being filed by a director or an employee, the audit committee or the director nominated to play the role of audit committee may take suitable action against the concerned director or employee including reprimand.

The companies which are required to constitute an Audit Committee shall oversee the vigil mechanism through the Committee and if any of the members of the Committee have a conflicted of interest in a given case, they should recuse themselves and the others on the Committee would deal with the matter on hand.

In case of other companies (not required to constitute Audit Committee), the Board of Directors shall nominate a Director to play the role of Audit Committee for the purpose of vigil mechanism to whom other Directors and employees may report their concerns.

The details of establishment of the Vigil Mechanism is required to be disclosed by the company on its website, if any, and in the Board's report.

It may be noted that while section 177(9) of the Act mandates to establish a vigil mechanism for directors and employees to report genuine concerns, in case of a listed company, such mechanism is available to all stakeholders.

Regulation 4(2)(d)(iv) of SEBI (LODR) Regulations provides that the listed company shall devise an effective vigil mechanism/whistle blower policy enabling stakeholders, including individual employees and their representative bodies, to freely communicate their concerns about illegal or unethical practices.

Further, the Regulation 22 of the SEBI (LODR) Regulations, 2015 provides that the listed company shall formulate a vigil mechanism/ whistle blower policy for directors and employees to report genuine concerns and such mechanism shall provide for adequate safeguards against victimization of director(s) or employee(s) or any other person who avail the mechanism and also provide for direct access to the chairperson of the audit committee in appropriate or exceptional cases.

1) What does the term financially literate mean?

   According to Explanation to Regulation 18(1) of the SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015, "financially literate" shall mean the ability to read and understand basic financial statements i.e. balance sheet, profit and loss account, and statement of cash flows.

   Given that one of the primary functions of Audit Committee is to review and ensure integrity of the financial statements of the Company, it is pertinent that the members of the Audit Committee are sufficiently capable of understanding the financial statements and its repercussions. Going by the definition it is clear that the members need not necessarily be financial or accounting professional. However it is important that the members understand the process of auditing and possess an in-depth understanding of financial statements.

POWERS OF BOARD [SECTION 179]

Shareholders derive their powers from the MoA – therefore, the company has all the powers except those that are ultra vires:

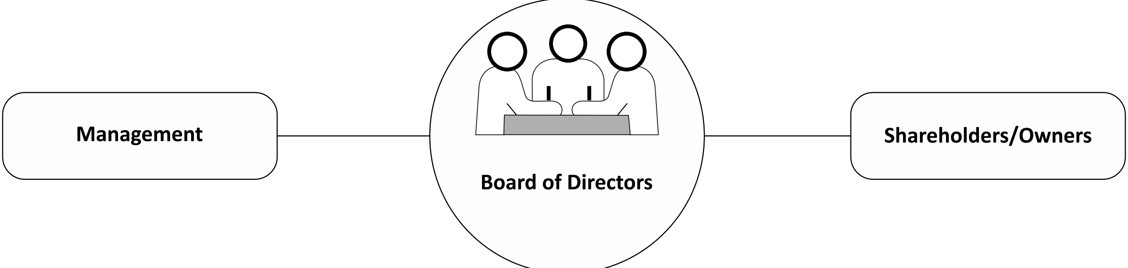
- Except for matters where the Companies Act, 2013 requires concurrence of general meeting;
- Or matters where shareholders have regulated the conduct of the directors;
- Or the articles confine the powers.



Powers to be exercised in Board Meeting

Section 179 of the Companies Act, 2013 empowers the Board to exercise all powers, and to do all such acts and things, as the company is authorised to exercise and do, except those powers which can only be exercised or done by the company in a general meeting. The powers of the board are however, subject to the provisions contained in that behalf in the Act, the memorandum and articles of association of the company or including regulations made by the company in general meeting.

However, no regulation made by the company in general meeting shall invalidate any prior act of the Board which would have been valid if that regulation had not been made.

In the case of M/s K.K. Ahuja vs. V.K. Vora & Anr. Under Negotiable Instrument Act, 1881, Supreme Court observed that a company though a legal entity can act only through its Board of Directors. The settled position is that a Managing Director is prima facie in charge of and responsible for the company's business and affairs and can be prosecuted for offences by the company. But insofar as other directors are concerned, they can be prosecuted only if they were in charge of and responsible for the conduct of the company's business.

The following [Section 179(3) read with Rule 8 of the Companies (Meetings of Board and its Powers) Rules, 2014] powers of the Board of Directors shall be exercised only by means of resolutions passed at meetings of the Board, namely :-

(a) to make calls on shareholders in respect of money unpaid on their shares;

(b) to authorise buy-back of securities under section 68;

(c) to issue securities, including debentures, whether in or outside India;

(d) to borrow monies;

(e) to invest the funds of the company;

(f) to grant loans or give guarantee or provide security in respect of loans;

(g) to approve financial statement and the Board's report;

(h) to diversify the business of the company;

(i) to approve amalgamation, merger or reconstruction;

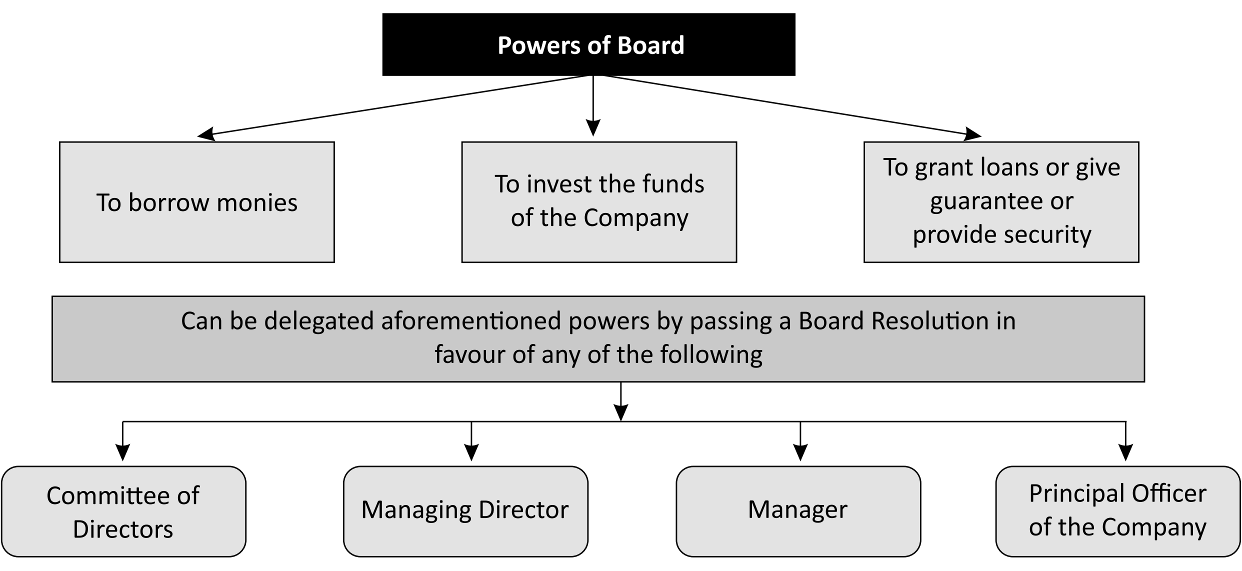
(j) to take over a company or acquire a controlling or substantial stake in another company;

(k) to make political contributions;

(l) to appoint or remove key managerial personnel (KMP);

(m) to appoint internal auditors and secretarial auditor.

Delegation of Powers of Board



Third proviso to section 179(3) specifies that the following powers, on such conditions as it may specify can be delegated by the board to any committee of directors, the managing director, the manager or any other principal officer of the company or in the case of a branch office of the company, the principal officer of the branch office :-

- to borrow money;
- to invest the funds of the company;
- to grant loans or give guarantee or provide security in respect of loans.

The delegation of above powers can only be done by way of passing Resolution at the meeting of the board of directors and delegation cannot be made by way of passing Circular Resolution.

The acceptance by a banking company in the ordinary course of its business of deposits of money from the public repayable on demand or otherwise and withdrawable by cheque, draft, order or otherwise, or the placing of monies on deposit by a banking company with another banking company on such conditions as the Board may prescribe, shall not be deemed to be a borrowing of monies or, as the case may be, a making of loans by a banking company within the meaning of section 179 of the Companies Act, 2013.

Section 179(3)(d) of the Companies Act, 2013 shall not apply to borrowings by a banking company from other banking companies or from the Reserve Bank of India, the State Bank of India or any other banks established by or under any Act.

In respect of dealings between a company and its bankers, the exercise by the company of the power specified in Section 179(3)(d) of the Companies Act, 2013 shall mean the arrangement made by the company with its bankers for the borrowing of money by way of overdraft or cash credit or otherwise and not the actual day-to-day operation on overdraft, cash credit or other accounts by means of which the arrangement so made is actually availed of.

However, nothing in section 179 shall be deemed to affect the right of the company in general meeting to impose restrictions and conditions on the exercise by the Board of any of the powers specified in this section.

Exceptions

In case of Section 8 companies resolutions related to clauses (d), (e) and (f) of sub-section (3) of Section 179 of the Act i.e. borrow monies, to invest funds of the company and to grant loans or give guarantee or provide security in respect of loans by section 8 companies may be decided by the Board by circulation instead of at a meeting (Exemption Notification dated- 5.6.2015).

In case of Specified IFSC Public Company/Specified IFSC Private Company - In sub-section (3) of Section 179, after the second proviso, the following proviso shall be inserted, namely:-

"Provided also that in case of a Specified IFSC public company/ Specified IFSC Private Company, the Board can exercise powers by means of resolutions passed at the meetings of the Board or through resolutions passed by circulation"- Notification Dated 4th January 2017.

Restriction on Powers of Board [Section 180]

The Board can exercise following powers only with the consent of the company by passing a special resolution, namely –

(a) to sell, lease or otherwise dispose of the whole or substantially the whole of the undertaking of the company or where the company owns more than one undertaking, of the whole or substantially the whole of any of such undertakings.

Explanation to section 180(i)(a) defines the meaning of the expression "undertaking".

(i) "Undertaking" shall mean an undertaking in which the investment of the company exceeds twenty per cent. of its net worth as per the audited balance sheet of the preceding financial year or an undertaking which generates twenty per cent. of the total income of the company during the previous financial year;

(ii) the expression "substantially the whole of the undertaking" in any financial year shall mean twenty per cent. or more of the value of the undertaking as per the audited balance sheet of the preceding financial year.

In case of Madras Gymkhana Club Employee Union vs. Management of the Gymkhana, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that the business of the Company or undertaking of the company must be distinguished from the other properties belonging to the company. The meaning of undertaking was further defined to mean "any business or any work or project which one engages in or attempts as an enterprise similar to business or trade".

(b) to invest otherwise in trust securities the amount of compensation received by it as a result of any merger or amalgamation;

(c) to borrow money, where the money to be borrowed, together with the money already borrowed by the company will exceed aggregate of its paid-up share capital, free reserves and securities premium apart from temporary loans obtained from the company's bankers in the ordinary course of business;

The acceptance by a banking company, in the ordinary course of its business, of deposits of money from the public, repayable on demand or otherwise, and withdrawable by cheque, draft, order or otherwise, shall not be deemed to be a borrowing of monies by the banking company within the meaning of this clause.

Explanation – For the purposes of this clause, the expression "temporary loans" means loans repayable on demand or within six months from the date of the loan such as short-term, cash credit arrangements, the discounting of bills and the issue of other short-term loans of a seasonal character, but does not include loans raised for the purpose of financial expenditure of a capital nature.

(d) to remit, or give time for the repayment of, any debt due from a director.

The company cannot pass a blanket resolution in relation to borrowing money exceeding paid up share capital, free reserves and securities premium. It has to specify in the resolution the total amount up to which the money may be borrowed by the Board of Directors.

Nothing contained in clause (a) of sub-section (1) of Section 180 shall affect –

(a) the title of a buyer or other person who buys or takes on lease any property, investment or undertaking as is referred to in that clause, in good faith; or

(b) the sale or lease of any property of the company where the ordinary business of the company consists of, or comprises, such selling or leasing.

Condition may be imposed for resolution under Section 180

Any special resolution passed by the company consenting to the transaction as is referred to in clause (a) of sub- section (1) of Section 180 may stipulate such conditions as may be specified in such resolution, including conditions regarding the use, disposal or investment of the sale proceeds which may result from the transactions.

However, this sub-section shall not be deemed to authorise the company to effect any reduction in its capital except in accordance with the provisions contained in this Act.

It is prescribed that no debt incurred by the company in excess of the limit imposed by clause (c) of sub-section (1) of Section 180 is valid or effectual, unless the lender proves that he advanced the loan in good faith and without knowledge that the limit imposed by that clause had been exceeded, the Company shall be liable for the repayment of the same.

As per MCA Exemption Notification dated 05th June, 2015, Section 180 is exempted to Private Limited Companies.

Section 180 shall apply in case of a Specified IFSC public company, unless the articles of the company provides otherwise - Notification Dated 4th January 2017.

Illustration:

The following figures were extracted from the books of X Ltd (audited).

- Paid up share capital Rs.100 Lakh
- Reserve & Surplus General Reserve Rs.50 Lakh
- Security Premium Account Rs.25 Lakh
- Re-valuation Reserve Rs.25 Lakh
- Long Term Borrowings Rs.125 Lakh
- Short Term Borrowings (Cash Credit Loan) Rs.50 Lakh
- Temporary Loan for construction of Building Rs.25 Lakh

The Board of Directors further want to borrow a sum of Rs. 50 Lakh as Long Term Loan without obtaining the consent of the members in general meeting by special resolution. Advice the Board about the validity of this proposal. What will be your answer if it is a Private Limited company ?

As per section 180(1)(c), the board of directors of a company with the consent of the company by a special resolution shall borrow money, where the money to be borrowed, together with the money already borrowed by the company will exceed aggregate of its paid-up share capital, free reserves and securities premium, apart from temporary loans obtained from the company's bankers in the ordinary course of business.

Temporary loans means loans repayable on demand or within six months from the date of the loan such as short-term, cash credit arrangements, the discounting of bills and the issue of other short-term loans of a seasonal character, but does not include loans raised for the purpose of financial expenditure of a capital nature.

In view of the above provision the eligible amount which can be borrowed by the Board is given below:

Paid up share capital	Rs. 100 Lakh
Reserve & Surplus General Reserve	Rs. 50 Lakh
Security Premium Account	Rs. 25 Lakh
Total	Rs. 175 Lakh

Re-valuation Reserve is not treated as free reserve as per Section 2(43).

The total borrowing of the company for the purpose of this sub section is –

Long Term Borrowings	Rs. 125 Lakh
Temporary Loan for construction of Building	Rs. 25 Lakh
Total	Rs. 150 Lakh

Short Term Borrowings (Cash Credit Loan) of Rs. 50 Lakhs is considered as temporary loan and loan for construction of building in not consider as temporary loan as per the explanation for temporary loan mentioned above.

Therefore, the company can borrow a further sum upto Rs. 25 Lakh without seeking the approval from the members. So, the board cannot borrow a sum of Rs. 50 Lakhs as Long Term Loan without obtaining the consent of the members in general meeting by special resolution.

In case of private company the provision of section 180 does not apply vide exemption notification dated 05th June, 2015, hence the board can borrow without approval from members in general meeting by passing special resolution.

Contributions to Charitable Funds [Section 181]

The Board of Directors of a company may contribute to bona fide charitable and other funds.

However, prior permission of company in its General Meeting is required if such contribution in case any amount the aggregate of which, in any financial year, exceeds 5% of its average net profits for the 3 immediately preceding financial years.

In the case of Graphite India Ltd. and Anr. vs. Dalpat Rai Mehta and Anr., the Calcutta High Court observed that the word “contribution” has been defined inter-alia, as giving money or other aid for specified object.

In other words, a contribution is an aid or payment without any consideration.

Prohibitions and Restrictions Regarding Political Contributions [Section 182]

Section 182 of the Companies Act, 2013 prohibits certain companies to make political contribution as well as restricts some companies to make political contribution subject to the compliances of section 182. These are the Companies which are prohibited to make political contribution:

- A Government Company;
- A company which has been in existence for less than three financial years.

Other than above mentioned companies all companies can directly or indirectly make political contribution to any Political party subject to the following compliances:

- Every company shall pass a Board resolution at a meeting of the Board of Directors to authorise such political contribution, and such resolution shall, subject to the other provisions of this section, be deemed to be the justification in law for making such contribution authorised by it.
- Every company shall disclose in its profit and loss account the total amount contributed by it under this section during the financial year to which the account relates.
- The contribution shall be made by an account payee cheque drawn on a bank or an account payee bank draft or use of electronic clearing system through a bank account.
- A company may make contribution through any instrument, issued pursuant to any scheme notified under any law for the time being in force, for contribution to the political parties.

"Political Party" means a political party registered under section 29A of the Representation of the People Act, 1951.

Without prejudice to the generality of the political party contribution, these are some transactions which shall be treated as Political party contribution:

(a) a donation or subscription or payment caused to be given by a company on its behalf or on its account to a person who, to its knowledge, is carrying on any activity which, at the time at which such donation or subscription or payment was given or made, can reasonably be regarded as likely to affect public support for a political party shall also be deemed to be contribution of the amount of such donation, subscription or payment to such person for a political purpose;

Power of Board and other Persons to make Contributions to National Defence Fund, etc. [Section 183]

The Board of Directors of any company or any person or authority exercising the powers of the Board of Directors of a company, or of the company in general meeting, may, notwithstanding anything contained in sections 180, 181 and section 182 or any other provision of this Act or in the memorandum, articles or any other instrument relating to the company, contribute such amount as it thinks fit to the National Defence Fund or any other Fund approved by the Central Government for the purpose of national defence.

The company is required to disclose in its profit and loss account the total amount or amounts contributed by it during the financial year to which the amount relates.

INTER CORPORATE LOANS, INVESTMENTS GUARANTEES AND SECURITY

The power to invest the funds of the company is the prerogative of the Board of Directors. This power is derived by the Board under Section 179 of the Act. However, the Companies Act, 2013 contains provisions for restrictions on investments that a company can make and loans it can provide. Moreover, giving corporate guarantee or security is also as good as giving a loan, because the person to whom guarantee or security is given can decide to enforce the guarantee or security in certain conditions and in such a situation, the company will have to pay the amount. Thus, apart from loan and investments, restrictions are also placed on the guarantees which the company can give or security can provide for a loan.

Provisions in respect of giving of loans, making investments, giving guarantee or providing security or acquiring securities of any other body corporate have been considerably modified by the Companies Act, 2013. As of now, an overall limit of 60% of paid-up share capital plus free reserves and securities premium account or 100% of free reserves and securities premium account, whichever is more, has been fixed.

The Calcutta High Court in the case of Saradindu Sekhar Banerjee vs. Lalit Mohan has held that "Every loan is a debt but every debt is not a loan".

Let us understand some terminologies used in Section 186 of the Companies Act, 2013:

(1) Free Reserves

As per section 2(43) of the Companies Act, 2013 ('the Act') "free reserves" means such reserves which, as per the latest audited balance sheet of a company, are available for distribution as dividend:

Provided that –

(i) any amount representing unrealised gains, notional gains or revaluation of assets, whether shown as a reserve or otherwise, or

(ii) any change in carrying amount of an asset or of a liability recognised in equity, including surplus in profit and loss account on measurement of the asset or the liability at fair value, shall not be treated as free reserves.

(2) Paid-up share capital

As per Section 2(64) of the Act, "paid-up share capital" or "share capital paid-up" means such aggregate amount of money credited as paid-up as is equivalent to the amount received as paid up in respect of shares issued and also includes any amount credited as paid-up in respect of shares of the company, but does not include any other amount received in respect of such shares, by whatever name called;

The definition of paid-up share capital is exhaustive. Paid up share capital includes both equity and preference share capital.

(3) "Body Corporate" or "Corporation"

As per Section 2(11) of the Act, "body corporate" or "corporation" includes a company incorporated outside India, but does not include –

(i) a co-operative society registered under any law relating to co-operative societies; and

(i) any other body corporate (not being a company as defined in this Act), which the Central Government may, by notification, specify in this behalf.

(4) Difference between 'Advance' and 'Loans'

Section 2 of the Companies Act, 2013, does not define "loan". A loan is defined by the Oxford English Dictionary as a thing lent; something the use of which is allowed for a time, on the understanding that it shall be returned or an equivalent given, a sum of money lent on these conditions and usually with interest.

There is a difference between advance and loan. Loan is lending of money with absolute promise to repay whereas advances is to be adjusted against supply of goods and services. Genuine trade advances given to suppliers against orders for supply of goods will not be considered as loans and hence will be out of purview of Section 186. Similarly, advances given to employees against current month's salary will also not be in the nature of loans.

(5) Investments

The word 'Investments' in common parlance would include any property or right in which money or capital is invested. However, for the purpose of this study, the term 'Investments' is used in a limited sense to mean the investment of money in shares, stock, debentures, or other securities.

The power to invest the funds of the company is the prerogative of the Board of Directors. This power is derived by the Board under Section 179 of the Act. However, the Companies Act, 2013 contains provisions for restrictions on investments that a company can make and loans it can provide. Moreover, giving corporate guarantee or security is also as good as giving a loan, because the person to whom guarantee or security is given can decide to enforce the guarantee or security in certain conditions and in such a situation, the company will have to pay the amount.

Thus, apart from loan and investments, restrictions are also placed on the guarantees which the company can give or security it can provide for a loan. Provisions in respect of giving of loans, making investments, giving guarantee or providing security or acquiring securities of any other body corporate have been considerably modified by the Companies Act, 2013 by inserting Section 186.

LOAN AND INVESTMENT BY COMPANIES (SECTION 186)

Company to make investments through not more than two layers of investment companies - Section 186(1)

Section 186(1) restricts the power of a company from making an investment through not more than 2 layers of investment companies, unless otherwise prescribed, subject to exceptions provided in the proviso as follows:

(ii) A subsidiary company from having any investment subsidiary for the purposes of meeting the requirements under any law or under any rule or regulation framed under any law for the time being in force.

'Layer' according to explanation (d) of Section 2(87) of the Companies Act, 2013 in relation to a holding Company means its subsidiary or subsidiaries.

"Investment Company" means a company whose principal business is the acquisition of shares, debentures or other securities and a company will be deemed to be principally engaged in the business of acquisition of shares, debentures or other securities, if its assets in the form of investment in shares, debentures or other securities constitute not less than fifty per cent. of its total assets, or if its income derived from investment business constitutes not less than fifty per cent. as a proportion of its gross income.

INVESTMENTS TO BE HELD IN COMPANY'S OWN NAME

According to Sub-section (1) of Section 187 of the Act, all investments made or held by a company in any property, security or other asset shall be made and held by it in its own name.

The requirement that the investment made by the company must be held in its own name is confined to only those investments which are made by it on its own behalf and not on behalf of someone else. In a case where the company is a trustee, the investment is supposed to be made on behalf of the beneficiaries of the trust and not on its own behalf. Therefore, the investments by the company as a trustee and held in the name of the beneficiaries is allowed.

As per proviso to section 187(1) of the Act, the company may hold any shares in its subsidiary company in the name of any nominee or nominees of the company, if it is necessary to do so, to ensure that the number of members of the subsidiary company is not reduced below the statutory limit.

Where the shares of a company were registered in the joint names of the company and one of its directors, it was held that the director was a nominee of the company for that purpose and could only act jointly as he had no rights of his own. [Exchange Travel (Holdings) Ltd. Re, (1991) BCLC 728 (Ch D)].

Exemptions from applicability of Section 187(1)

In terms of the provisions of Section 187(2), Section 187(1) of the Act, does not prevent a company:

(a) from depositing with the bank, being the bankers of the company, any shares or securities for the collection of any dividend or interest payable thereon; or

(b) from depositing with or transferring to, or holding in the name of, the State Bank of India or a scheduled bank, being the bankers of the company, shares or securities, in order to facilitate the transfer thereof.

However, if within a period of 6 months from the date on which the shares or securities are transferred by the company to, or are first held by the company in the name of, the State Bank of India or a scheduled bank as aforesaid, no transfer of such shares or securities takes place, the company shall, as soon as practicable, after the expiry of that period, have the shares or securities re-transferred to it from the State Bank of India or the scheduled bank or, as the case may be, again hold the shares or securities in its own name; or

(c) from depositing with, or transferring to, any person any shares or securities, by way of security for the re-payment of any loan advanced to the company or the performance of any obligation undertaken by it.

(d) from holding investments in the name of a depository when such investments are in the form of securities held by the company as a beneficial owner.

Thus, it is not necessary for the company to hold the shares or stocks or debentures in its own name if they are deposited with the bank as aforesaid. A resolution of the Board of directors in this behalf is sufficient. The bank is entitled to have the shares or debentures registered in its own name with the specific purpose of collecting dividend or interest from the company whose shares or debentures are deposited with the bank. The company holding the investment in the name of the bank is only required to enter into a separate agreement with the bank that the latter will collect dividend and interest and credit the company with the amounts so collected. It may be noted that the deposit of shares, stocks and debentures with the bank need not be by way of a pledge but may be made for the specific object of enabling the banker to act as agent of the company to collect dividend and interest.

REGISTER OF INVESTMENTS NOT HELD IN COMPANY'S OWN NAME

According to sub-section (3) of section 187 of the Act, where in pursuance of clause (d) of sub-section (2) of section 187, any shares or securities in which investments have been made by a company are not held by it in its own name, the company shall maintain a register which shall contain such particulars as prescribed under Rule 14 of the Companies (Meetings of Board and its Powers) Rules, 2014 and such register shall be open to inspection by any member or debenture-holder of the company without any charge during business hours subject to such reasonable restrictions as the company may by its articles or in general meeting impose.

Rule 14 of the Companies (Meetings of Board and its Powers) Rules, 2014 states the following:

(1) Every company shall, from the date of its registration, maintain a register in Form MBP-3 and enter therein, chronologically, the particulars of investments in shares or other securities beneficially held by the company but which are not held in its own name and the company shall also record the reasons for not holding the investments in its own name and the relationship or contract under which the investment is held in the name of any other person.

(2) The company shall also record whether such investments are held in a third party's name for the time being or otherwise.

(3) The register shall be maintained at the registered office of the company.

(4) The register shall be preserved permanently and shall be kept in the custody of the company secretary of the company or if there is no company secretary, any director or any other officer authorised by the Board for the purpose.

(5) The entries in the register shall be authenticated by the company secretary of the company or by any other person authorised by the Board for the purpose.

Let us Remember

The company has to maintain register of loans, investments in Form MBP-2 and register of Investment beneficially held by the company but not held in the name of the company in Form MBP-3.

Punishment

According to section 187(4) of the Act, if a company is in default in complying with the provisions of this section, the company shall be liable to a penalty of five lakh rupees and every officer of the company who is in default shall be liable to a penalty of fifty thousand rupees.

RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

Related party transactions mean contracts or arrangements between a company and its related parties with respect to transactions covered in Section 188 of the Companies Act, 2013 (Act). The expression 'contract or arrangement' has different connotations under the Act. While 'contract' envisages a written / formal binding document, 'arrangement' may be with or without a written document.

Under the Companies Act, 2013, the scope and coverage of related party transactions has been made more complex and intricate. Besides strict procedural compliances have been foisted.

Related Party

According to Section 2(76) of Companies Act 2013, "related party", with reference to a company, means—

(i) a director or his relative;

(ii) a key managerial personnel or his relative;

(iii) a firm, in which a director, manager or his relative is a partner;

(iv) a private company in which a director or manager or his relative is a member or director;

(v) a public company in which a director or manager is a director and holds along with his relatives, more than two per cent (2%) of its paid-up share capital;

(vi) any body corporate whose Board of Directors, Managing Director or Manager is accustomed to act in accordance with the advice, directions or instructions of a director or manager;

(vii) any person on whose advice, directions or instructions a director or manager is accustomed to act:

Provided that nothing in sub-clauses (vi) and (vii) shall apply to the advice, directions or instructions given in a professional capacity;

(viii) any body corporate which is –

- a holding, subsidiary or an associate company of such company ;
- a subsidiary of a holding company to which it is also a subsidiary; or
- an investing company or the venturer of the company.

Explanation. — For the purpose of this clause, "the investing company or the venturer of a company" means a body corporate whose investment in the company would result in the company becoming an associate company of the body corporate.

(According to Notification no. GSR 464(E), dated 05th June, 2015 in case of Private Companies Section 2(76) Sub- clause viii shall not apply with respect to section 188.)

(ix) such other person as may be prescribed.

According to Rule 3 of the Companies (Specification of Definitions Details) Rules, 2014 for the purposes of sub-clause (ix) of clause (76) of section 2 of the Act, a director other than independent director or key managerial personnel of the holding company or his relative with reference to a company, shall be deemed to be a related party.

List of relatives in terms of Section 2(77) of the Companies Act, 2013

Relative with reference to any person, means anyone who is related to another if-

(a) they are members of Hindu Undivided Family;

(b) they are husband and wife; or

(c) one person is related to other in accordance with Rule 4 of the Companies (Specification of Definitions Details) Rules, 2014.

A person shall be deemed to be the relative of another, if he or she is related to another in the following manner, namely-

(i) Father: the term "Father" includes step-father;

(ii) Mother: the term "Mother" includes the step-mother;

(iii) Son: the term "Son" includes the step-son;

(iv) Son's wife;

(v) Daughter;

(vi) Daughter's husband;

(vii) Brother: the term "Brother" includes the step-brother;

(viii) Sister: the term "Sister" includes the step-sister.

Nature of Related Party Transactions

The scope of dealing with Related Party Transactions has been widened under the Companies Act, 2013. Section 188 of the Act provides that except with the consent of the Board of Directors given by a resolution at a meeting of the Board and subject to such conditions as prescribed under Rule 15 of the Companies (Meetings of Board and its Powers) Rules, 2014, no company shall enter into any contract or arrangement with a related party with respect to :

(i) sale, purchase or supply of any goods or materials;

(ii) selling or otherwise disposing of, or buying, property of any kind;

(iii) leasing of property of any kind;

(iv) availing or rendering of any services;

(v) appointment of any agent for purchase or sale of goods, materials, services or property;

(vi) such related party's appointment to any office or place of profit in the company, its subsidiary company or associate company; and

(vii) underwriting the subscription of any securities or derivatives thereof, of the company.

However, such approval by the Board of Directors will not be required for transactions entered in the ordinary course of business and on an arm's length basis. In other words, approval of the Board of Directors will only be required for related party transactions which are either not in the ordinary course of business or not on an arm's length basis.

The approval of the Board of Directors cannot be obtained by way of passing of resolution by circulation. The law specifically requires that resolution can be passed in a duly convened meeting of the Board of Directors and only thereafter contract or arrangement can be entered into.

'Ordinary course of business'- Black's Law Dictionary defines 'ordinary course of business' as the 'normal routine in managing the trade or business'.

In common parlance, 'ordinary course of business' would include transactions which are entered into in the normal course of the business pursuant to or for promoting or in furtherance of the company's business objectives, as per the charter documents of the company.

For example, in case of a manufacturing company, purchase and sale of goods, taking premises on lease/rent, construction of factory, employing workers, etc. will be considered as ordinary course of business. To carry on a business, several activities are carried on by the company; all such activities will be considered to be in the ordinary course of business.

However, if a manufacturing company for the purpose of diversification, decides to acquire another company which is engaged in a completely unrelated business, this activity will not be considered to be in the ordinary course of business.

In the case of M/s. Bharti Televentures Ltd. vs. Addl./Jt. Commissioner of Income Tax, it was held that the Memorandum and Articles of Association is not conclusive for deciding whether an activity is in the ordinary course of business of the company. Frequency of the activity is sought to be highlighted. It should be a continuous activity carried out in a normal organized manner.

'Arm Length Transaction'- Explanation to sub-section (1) of Section 188 of the Act defines the term 'arm length transaction' means a transaction between two related parties that is conducted as if they were unrelated, so that there is no conflict of interest.

The phrase 'on an arm's length basis' is in fact 'at arm's length' or 'an arm's length relationship' which means avoiding intimacy or close contact. The phrase 'at arm's length' in relation to dealings between two parties is used to refer to dealings when neither party is controlled by the other.

In the case of Iljin Automotive Private Limited vs. Asst. Commissioner of Income Tax, the Court opined that "the determination of 'arm's length price' seeks answer to the question – What would have been the price if the transactions were between two unrelated parties, similarly placed as the related parties in so far as nature of product, and terms and conditions of the transactions are concerned?"

The Bangalore Bench of the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal in the case of Filtrex Technologies Pvt. Ltd. vs. Asst. Commissioner of Income Tax, held that acceptance of arm's length price declared by one party cannot preclude the Revenue from examining arm's length price in the hands of the other party to the same transaction.

Issue: Who determines that the transaction with related party is in the ordinary course of business? Is it the Board or the Audit Committee?

View*: The Companies Act, 2013 does not clearly lay down tests for determining whether a transaction is in the ordinary course of business.

The Memorandum of Association of the company should be referred to for ascertaining whether the activity is covered in the objects clause therein. This is not a conclusive test but will assist in determining whether a transaction is in the ordinary course of business or not. The Audit Committee may decide whether a particular transaction is in the ordinary course of business and such decision will be based on the policy on transactions with related parties, if any. The company's policy on transactions with related parties should specify the parameters to guide the Audit Committee on whether a transaction is in the ordinary course of business or not.

Apart from such a policy, a company may formulate guidelines approved by the Audit Committee and the Board of Directors on transactions with related parties. In such cases, the company can enter into transactions based on the approved guidelines and every transaction need not be placed before the Audit Committee for determining whether the same is in the ordinary course of business or not. In case the company does not have an Audit Committee, the decision as to whether a transaction is in the ordinary course of business or not will be taken by the Board.

Office or Place of Profit

As per Explanation to Sub-Section (i) of Section 188 the expression "office or place of profit" means any office or place where such office or place is held by:

(i) a director, if the director holding it receives from the company anything by way of remuneration over and above the remuneration to which he is entitled as director, by way of salary, fee, commission, perquisites, any rent-free accommodation, or otherwise;

(ii) an individual other than a director or by any firm, private company or other body corporate, if the individual, firm, private company or body corporate holding it receives from the company anything by way of remuneration, salary, fee, commission, perquisites, any rent-free accommodation, or otherwise.

For example, in case of a transaction with respect to remuneration of a director, it will be considered to be on an arm's length basis if the director gets remuneration in accordance with the provisions of Section 197 read with Schedule V of the Act.

In Firestone Tyre & Rubber Co. vs. Synthetics & Chemicals Ltd., the Hon'ble Bombay High Court held that 'the object underlying Section 314 of the 1956 Act (corresponding to Section 188 of the Companies Act, 2013) is to prevent a director or his relative from holding any office or place of profit carrying a total monthly remuneration beyond the prescribed limits under the company and thereby put in his pocket, directly or indirectly, additional profit over and above the remuneration to which he is entitled as such director, without obtaining the requisite permission.'

Illustrations:

a) Mr. A is the managing director in AB Ltd., which is engaged in manufacturing medicines. Mr. A is a qualified software expert. AB Ltd. after following a due process of tendering engages the services of Mr. A in his capacity of a software expert and for which an amount of Rs 50 lakh is proposed to be paid. The next lowest quotation for the proposal is Rs 2 crore.

Ans. This is a transaction with a related party. This transaction will fall under the proviso to Section 197(4) of the Act. If the terms and conditions are comparable with those offered by other parties, the transaction will not be treated as an office or place of profit as covered under Section 188. (Price offered by Mr. A is certainly far lower than the next lowest quote but the other terms also need to be examined). However, approval of the Audit Committee will be necessary. Approval of the Nomination & Remuneration Committee as provided under Section 197of the Act will also be required.

b) Mr. X was appointed as the managing director in MNP Ltd. on 1st January 2020. MNP Ltd. is engaged in manufacturing automobiles. Mr. X holds a few patents in his name since July 2010 and he is requested by MNP Ltd. for a licence of 5 years of one of the patents for which an amount of Rs 50 lakh is proposed to be paid.

Ans. Although this transaction is with a related party, this transaction will be protected under the proviso to Section 197(4) of the Act. Section 188(1) of the Act will be attracted if the transaction is not on an arm's length basis. This transaction is in the same line of business as that of the company and obtaining a license of the patent will be in its ordinary course of business. However, approval of the Audit Committee will be necessary. Approval of the Nomination & Remuneration Committee as provided under Section 197 of the Act will also be required.

Information to the Board for Related Party Transactions

Rule 15 of the Companies (Meetings of Board and its Powers) Rules, 2014 provides that a company shall enter into any contract or arrangement with a related party subject to the following conditions, namely:-

(1) The agenda of the Board meeting at which the resolution is proposed to be moved shall disclose-

(a) the name of the related party and nature of relationship;

(b) the nature, duration of the contract and particulars of the contract or arrangement;

(c) the material terms of the contract or arrangement including the value, if any;

(d) any advance paid or received for the contract or arrangement, if any;

(e) the manner of determining the pricing and other commercial terms, both included as part of contract and not considered as part of the contract;

(f) whether all factors relevant to the contract have been considered, if not, the details of factors not considered with the rationale for not considering those factors; and

(g) any other information relevant or important for the Board to take a decision on the proposed transaction.

(2) Where any director is interested in any contract or arrangement with a related party, such director shall not be present at the meeting during discussions on the subject matter of the resolution relating to such contract or arrangement.

Prior Approval of the Company by a Resolution

First Proviso to the Section 188 (1) of the Act provides that no contract or arrangement, in the case of a company having a paid-up share capital of not less than such amount, or transactions not exceeding such sums, as prescribed, shall be entered into except with the prior approval of the company by a resolution.

Rule 15 of the Companies (Meetings of board and its Powers) Rules, 2014 provides that except with the prior approval of the company by a resolution, a company shall not enter into a transaction or transactions, where the transaction or transactions to be entered into,-

(a) as contracts or arrangements with respect to clauses (a) to (e) of sub-section (1) of section 188, with criteria as mentioned below-

Particular	Threshold
(i) Sale, purchase or supply of any goods or materials, directly or through appointment of agent	Transaction value ≥ 10% of annual turnover
(ii) Selling or otherwise disposing of, or buying, property of any kind, directly or through appointment of agent	Transaction value ≥ 10% of net worth
(iii) Leasing of property of any kind	Transaction value ≥ 10% of annual turnover
(iv) Availing or rendering of any services, directly or through appointment of agent	Transaction value ≥ 10% of annual turnover
(v) Appointment to any office or place of profit in the company, its subsidiary company or associate company	Monthly remuneration > Rs. 2.50 lakh
(vi) Remuneration for underwriting the subscription of any securities or derivatives thereof	Transaction value > 1% of net worth

The limits specified in sub-clause (i) to (iv) above shall apply for transaction or transactions to be entered into either individually or taken together with the previous transactions during a financial year.

The turnover or net worth referred in the above sub-rules shall be computed on the basis of the audited financial statements of the preceding financial year.

Exceptions: The requirement of passing the resolution shall not be applicable for transactions entered into between a holding company and its wholly owned subsidiary whose accounts are consolidated with such holding company and placed before the shareholders at the general meeting for approval.

In case of wholly owned subsidiary, if the resolution is passed by the holding company, it shall be sufficient for the purpose of entering into the transaction between the wholly owned subsidiary and the holding company.

Information to be provided: The explanatory statement to be annexed to the notice of a general meeting convened pursuant to section 101 shall contain the following particulars, namely:-

(a) name of the related party;

(b) name of the director or key managerial personnel who is related, if any;

(c) nature of relationship;

(d) nature, material terms, monetary value and particulars of the contract or arrangements;

(e) any other information relevant or important for the members to take a decision on the proposed resolution.

Issue: Will the requirement of passing a shareholder's resolution not be applicable for transactions entered into between a Holding company and its wholly owned subsidiary whose accounts are consolidated with such holding company and placed for approval before the shareholders at the general meeting of the Holding company?

View: Yes, the fifth proviso to Section 188(1) provides that the requirement of passing the resolution under the first proviso of section (1) of Section 188 shall not be applicable for transactions entered into between a holding company and its wholly owned subsidiary whose accounts are consolidated with such holding company and placed before the shareholders at the general meeting for approval.

It is pertinent to observe that explanation (2) to Rule 15 of the Companies (Meetings of Board and its Powers) Rules, 2014 provides that in case of a wholly owned subsidiary, the resolution that is passed by the holding company would be sufficient for the purpose of entering into the transaction between the wholly owned subsidiary and the holding company.

This will mean that in case the fifth proviso to Section 188(1) is not available to a company as the accounts are not so consolidated, then as per explanation (2) to Rule 15 a resolution passed by the holding company will be sufficient.

Related Party not to Vote on Resolution

Second Proviso to Section 188 (1) of the Act provides that no member of the company shall vote on such resolution, to approve any contract or arrangement which may be entered into by the company, if such member is a related party.

This shall not apply to a company in which ninety per cent. or more members, in number, are relatives of promoters or are related parties.

The Ministry of Corporate Affairs, vide their Circular No. 30/2014 dated 17th July, 2014 has clarified that " the related party, if he is a member of the Company, shall not take part in the voting on Resolution – second proviso of Section 188 (1). It is clarified that 'related party 'referred to in the second proviso has to be construed with reference only to the contract or arrangement for which the said resolution is being passed.

Thus, the term 'related party' in the above context refers only to such related party as may be a related party in the context of the contract or arrangement for which the said resolution is being passed.

- Exemption to Private Companies: In case of private companies second proviso to Section 188(1) of the Act, shall not apply (Notification No. GSR 464(E) dated 5th June, 2015).
- Exemption to Government Companies: In case of Government companies First and Second Proviso to the section 188 (1) of the Act shall not apply to -

  (a) A Government company in respect of contracts or arrangements entered into by it with any other Government company or with Central Government or any State Government or any combination thereof;

  (b) A Government company, other than a listed company, in respect of contracts or arrangements other than those referred to in clause (a), in case such company obtains approval of the Ministry or Department of the Central Government which is administratively in charge of the company, or, as the case may be, the State Government before entering into such contract or arrangement.

  [Notification No. GSR 463(E) dated 5-6-2015) further amended by (Notification No: G.S.R. 151(E) dated 02nd March, 2020].

- Exemptions to Specified IFSC Public Company : Second proviso to sub section (1) of section 188 shall not apply, In case of Specified IFSC Public Company.

By virtue of MCA Notifications dated, 13th June, 2017, the exemption from applicability of the Second Proviso to Section 188 (1) of the Companies Act is available only to those private and Government companies who have not committed a default in filing of their financial statements under Section 137 or Section 92 of the Companies Act, 2013.

Disclosure in Board's Report

Section 188(2) of the Act, provides that every related party contracts or arrangements shall have to be disclosed in the Board's report and referred to shareholders along with the justification for entering into such type of transactions in the prescribed form i.e., Form no. AOC-2 [pursuant to Section 134(3)(h) and Section 188(2)].

Form AOC-2 shall be signed by the persons who have signed the Board's Report.

Consequences of entering into Related Party Contracts or Arrangements by the Director or the Employee without the consent of the Board or Approval by Resolution:

- Section 188(3) of the Act, provides that where any contract or arrangement is entered into by a director or any other employee, without obtaining the consent of the Board or approval by a resolution in the general meeting under Section 188(1) and if it is not ratified by the Board or, as the case may be, by the shareholders at a meeting within three months from the date on which such contract or arrangement was entered into, such contract or arrangement shall be voidable at the option of the Board or, as the case may be, of the shareholders and if the contract or arrangement is with a related party to any director, or is authorised by any other director, the directors concerned shall indemnify the company against any loss incurred by it.
- Section 188(4) of the Act, states that it shall be open to the company to proceed against a director or any other employee who had entered into such contract or arrangement in contravention of the provisions of this section for recovery of any loss sustained by it as a result of such contract or arrangement.
- A person shall not be entitled to be appointed as a Director by virtue of Section 164(1)(g) of the Companies Act, 2013 upon such director being convicted of an offence dealing with related party transactions under Section 188 of the Act at any time during the last preceding five years.

Issue: Will a transaction of payment of salary to an employee who is a relative of a Director, (where such payment is in the ordinary course of business and on arm's length) require disclosure as a related party transaction in the Board's Report?

View: The same need not be disclosed as a related party transaction in Form AOC-2 in the Board's Report unless the same is material in the context of the company's business.

Issue: Is it required that items falling in the ambit of the fourth proviso to Section 188(1) of the Act i.e. transactions entered into by the company in its ordinary course of business other than transactions which are not on an arm's length basis, be mentioned in Form AOC-2?

View: Form AOC–2 uses the term 'material' and therefore if the transactions are material, the same will need disclosure. A transaction which is in the ordinary course of business and on arm's length basis but which is considered to be material will require disclosure in Form AOC–2. It is to be noted that approvals of the Board and the shareholders are not required if the transaction is in the ordinary course of business and on arm's length basis, but disclosure is required from the perspective of transparency.

Penalties for Non Compliance

Section 188(5) of the Act, prescribes penalty for any director or any other employee of a company, who had entered into or authorised the contract or arrangement in violation of the provisions of this section :

In case of listed company	Liable to penalty of Rs. 25 Lakhs
In case of any other company	Liable to penalty of Rs. 5 Lakhs

CASE STUDY

25/04/2022	Securities and Exchange Board of India (Appellant) vs. R.T. Agro Private Limited & Ors. (Respondents)	Supreme Court

Facts of the Case

The company R. T. Exports Limited proposed to enter into a transaction with one Neelkanth Realtors Private Limited for purchase of 40,000 sq. ft. of residential space. This proposal was treated as a related party transaction and was required to be approved by the shareholders of the Company. Accordingly, a special resolution was approved by R. T. Exports Limited on 15.07.2014. In terms of Section 188 of the Companies Act, 2013, the related parties abstained from voting on this special resolution. Thereafter, an Extra-Ordinary General Meeting was convened on 16.12.2016 for rescinding the resolution dated 15.07.2014 in which, the related parties also voted.

However, the appellant-SEBI took up the matter on a complaint and issued notice alleging violation of Regulation 23 of the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015. The Adjudicating Officer, ultimately, proceeded to penalise the present respondents with a cumulative sum of Rs. 35 lakhs for the alleged violation of the said Regulation 23.

Judgment

The Supreme Court observed that the Securities Appellate Tribunal has not approved this order passed by the Adjudicating Officer and has allowed the appeal filed by the present respondents while, inter alia, holding that the bar of voting as per Section 188 of the Companies Act, 2013 on related parties operated only at the time of entering into a contract or arrangement, i.e., when the resolution dated 15.07.2014 was passed; and therein the said related parties indeed abstained from voting. The Appellate Tribunal found no fault in the said parties voting in the recalling/rescinding of the said resolution.

It was held that the view, as taken by the Appellate Tribunal, in the given set of facts and circumstances of the present case, appears to be a plausible view of the matter. In fact, nothing of ill-intent on the part of the respondents has been established in the present case. The hyper-technical stance of the appellant could have only been, and has rightly been, disapproved on the given set of facts and circumstances. The appeal fails and is, therefore, dismissed.

INTRODUCTION – BOARD AND COMMITTEE MEETINGS

Meaning of Board and Committee:

As per section 2(10) of the Companies Act, 2013, “Board of Directors” or “Board”, in relation to a company, means the collective body of the directors of the company.

On the other hand, Board can set up committees with particular terms of reference when it needs assistance (for example a new project sub-committee) or when an issue requires more resources and attention (review of effect of legislative changes on organisational programs). They can be set up for a specific purpose or to deal with general issues such as ‘development’. They can be established on a short-term or temporary basis, or they can be formed as a permanent body for ongoing work.

What is a Board Meeting?

“Meeting of Board” means a duly convened, held and conducted meeting of the Board or any Committee thereof.

The meetings play an important role in a corporate democracy. A Board Meeting is a formal meeting of the board of directors of an organization and invitees, wherever required, held at definite period of time and as and when needed to review performance, consider policy issues, address major problems and perform the legal business of the board. Directors of the Company have to exercise most of their powers or duties at periodical meetings of the Board or Committee of the Board. Therefore, Companies Act, 2013 and the rules framed thereunder contained detailed provisions relating to frequency, convening and conduct of the meeting.

Meetings of the Board are significant in the light of running of the company more efficiently and effectively. the Companies Act, 2013, mandates a company to hold minimal number of meetings of the Board for its proper functioning.

Board meetings are crucial for a company’s development as these formal meetings are held to devise policies, drive the management, strategize and evaluate the expectations of the stakeholders.

Essentials for an effective board meeting are:

- Meeting has a purpose;
- Members of the board have been provided with adequate notice and appropriate materials in advance;
- Meeting is chaired effectively;
- It follow proper meeting procedures and respect the time of board members;
- Availability clear supporting documents such as an agenda with detailed notes, minutes and other reports;
- Agenda has separate section wherein progress of ongoing matters is covered from meeting to meeting till that matter gets closed. Agenda also has section of action taken reports on items of previous meeting;
- To be documented with Minutes.

As per Guidance Note on SS -1, "A mere coincidental physical presence of all Directors at one place cannot constitute a board meeting."

MEETINGS OF BOARD AND ITS COMMITTEES

Meetings of the Board [Section 173]

Section 173 of the Act deals with Meetings of the Board and Section 174 deals with quorum. Further, as per Section 118(10) of the Act, every company shall observe secretarial standards with respect to General and Board meetings specified by the Institute of Company Secretaries of India constituted under section 3 of the Company Secretaries Act, 1980, and approved by the Central Government. As such, it is important to refer to Secretarial Standard on Board Meetings (SS-1) along with provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 to ensure proper compliance to the statutory requirements regarding Board Meetings.

The Board of Directors of a company shall exercise certain powers on behalf of the company only by means of Resolutions passed at a Meeting of the Board and not by a Resolution passed by circulation. Further, certain powers of the Board shall be exercised by Resolutions passed at Meetings, with the consent of all the Directors present at the Meeting.

Frequency, Convening and Proceedings of the Meetings of the Board

Section 173 of the Act provides that the first board meeting should be held within thirty days of the date of incorporation. Thereafter, there shall be minimum number of four board meetings every year and not more than one hundred and twenty days shall intervene between two consecutive Board meetings.

The Board of directors of Equity Listed Company shall meet at least four times in a year, with a maximum time gap of one hundred and twenty days between any two meetings. (Regulation 17(2) of SEBI (LODR) Regulations, 2015)

Further, in this context Secretarial Standard on Board Meetings (SS-1) issued by ICSI clarifies that the company shall hold at least four Meetings of its Board in each Calendar Year with a maximum interval of one hundred and twenty days between any two consecutive Meetings.

Furthermore, SS-1 states that the company shall hold first meeting of its Board within thirty days of the date of incorporation. It shall be sufficient if subsequent Meetings are held with a maximum interval of one hundred and twenty days between any two consecutive Meetings.

Illustration:

If a company is incorporated on 15th June, the first Meeting should be held within thirty days i.e. latest by 14th July. If the meeting is held say on 10th July, then the next Meeting should be held within 120 days from 10th July.

In case of one person company (OPC), small company, dormant company and private company which is start-up, at least one Board meeting should be conducted in each half of the calendar year and the gap between two meetings should not be less than ninety days. However, this provision would not apply to a one person company in which there is only one director on its Board.

Illustration:

In case a small company holds the first Meeting of the Calendar Year 2020 on 1st June, 2020, it would be sufficient if it holds one more Meeting on any day before 31st December, 2020, but on or after 30th August 2020. If it holds the next Meeting on 30th July, 2020, it should hold at least one more Meeting on or after 30th August, 2020, but before 31st December, 2020.

Exemptions:

CASE LAW

The New Delhi bench of NCLAT held in the case of Achintya Kumar Barua alias Manju Baruah Vs. Ranjit Barthkur (2018) that Order passed by Tribunal permitting director of company to attend board meeting through video-conferencing could not be interfered on apprehension that it would not be possible to ensure that no person other than concerned director was attending said meeting.

As Section 173 (2) gives right to a director to participate in the meeting through video-conferencing or other audio-visual means and it would be in the interest of the companies to comply with the provisions in public interest. The Tribunal took note of the fact that the company in this matter had all the necessary infrastructure available. The Tribunal came to the conclusion that the provisions of section 173 (2) of the 2013 Act are mandatory and the companies not be permitted to make any deviations therefrom.

Meetings of Committees

A board committee is a small working group identified by the board, consisting of board members, for the purpose of supporting the board's work. Committees are generally formed to perform some expertise work. Members of the committee are expected to have expertise in the specified field. Committees are usually formed as a means of improving board effectiveness and efficiency, in areas where more focused, specialized and technical discussions are required. These committees prepare the groundwork for decision-making and report at the subsequent board meeting. However, the Board of Directors are ultimately responsible for the acts of the committee. Board is responsible for defining the committee role and structure.

If authorized by articles, the directors have power to delegate their authority to a committee unless prohibited or limits prescribed in the Act. A company may adopt Regulations of Table F to Schedule I which reads as under:

Regulation 71 states:

(1) The Board may, subject to the provisions of the Act, delegate any of its powers to committees consisting of such member or a member of its body as it thinks fit;

(2) Any committee so formed shall, in the exercise of the powers so delegated, conform to any regulations that may be imposed on it by the Board.

For transacting business of the company, the committee meetings can be conducted in accordance with Regulations 72 to 75 of Table F to Schedule I of the Act or other corresponding provisions of the company's articles. These regulations read as under:

Regulation 72 provides:

(1) A committee may elect a chairman of its meetings;

(2) If no such chairman is elected, or if at any meeting the chairman is not present within five minutes after the time appointed for holding the meeting, the members present may choose one of their members to be chairman of the meeting.

Regulation 73 provides:

(1) A committee may meet and adjourn as it thinks fit;

(2) Questions arising at any meeting of a committee shall be determined by a majority of votes of the members present and in case of an equality of votes, the chairman shall have a second or casting vote.

Regulation 74 provides:

All acts done by any meeting of the Board or of a committee thereof or by any person acting as a director, shall, notwithstanding that it may be afterwards discovered that there was some defect in the appointment of any one or more of such directors or of any person acting as aforesaid, or that they or any of them were disqualified, be as valid as if every such director or such person had been duly appointed and was qualified to be a director.

Regulation 75 provides:

Save as otherwise expressly provided in the Act, a resolution in writing, signed by all the members of the Board or of a committee thereof, for the time being entitled to receive notice of a meeting of the Board or Committee, shall be as valid and effective as if it had been passed at a meeting of the Board or Committee, duly convened and held.

CASE LAW

Sanjiv Kothari v. Vasant Kumar Chordia (2005) 66 CLA 45 (CLB)

Notice of meeting sent to a Director contrary to the mode specified by him cannot be a conclusive proof of service of notice.

AGENDA MANAGEMENT

As per SS-1, the Agenda, setting out the business to be transacted at the Meeting, and Notes on Agenda shall be given to the Directors at least seven days before the date of the Meeting, unless the Articles prescribe a longer period.

What is an Agenda?

The list of items of business to be transacted at a Meeting is known as the "Agenda". The Agenda draws attention to the relevant matters where deliberation is required. The Notes on Agenda explain each item of the Agenda in an endeavor to provide an understanding of points for discussion by the Board.

The Agenda should be accompanied or followed by Notes thereon explaining the proposal in brief, in easily understandable language and setting out the points for decision of the Board.

Agenda and Notes on Agenda shall be sent to all Directors by hand or by speed post or by registered post or by e-mail or by any other electronic means. These shall be sent to the postal address or e-mail address or any other electronic address registered by the Director with the company or in the absence of such details or any change thereto, to any of such addresses appearing in the Director Identification Number (DIN) registration of the Directors.

The Articles of the company may prescribe a longer period for sending the Agenda and Notes thereto, in which case the Articles should be complied with. However, the period of seven days cannot be reduced by the company in its Articles.

In case the company sends the Agenda and Notes on Agenda by speed post or by registered post, an additional two days shall be added for the service of Agenda and Notes on Agenda.

Where a Director specifies a particular means of delivery of Agenda and Notes on Agenda, these papers shall be sent to him by such means. However, in case of a Meeting conducted at a shorter Notice, the company may choose an expedient mode of sending Agenda and Notes on Agenda.

Proof of sending Agenda and Notes on Agenda and their delivery shall be maintained by the company for such period as decided by the Board, which shall not be less than three years from the date of the Meeting.

The Notice, Agenda and Notes on Agenda shall be sent to the Original Director also at the address registered with the company, even if these have been sent to the Alternate Director. However, the mode of sending Notice, Agenda and Notes on Agenda to the original director shall be decided by the company.

Notes on items of business which are in the nature of Unpublished Price Sensitive Information may be given at a shorter period of time than stated above, with the consent of a majority of the Directors, which shall include at least one Independent Director, if any.

Where the company has Independent Director(s) and, if none of the Independent Directors consents to the giving of Notes on items of Agenda which are in the nature of Unpublished Price Sensitive Information (UPSI) at a shorter Notice, the said Notes should not be given at shorter Notice-Guidance Note on SS-1.

For this purpose, "Unpublished Price Sensitive Information" means any information, relating to a company or its securities, directly or indirectly, that is not generally available, which upon becoming generally available, is likely to materially affect the price of the securities and shall, ordinarily including but not restricted to, information relating to the following: –

(i) financial results;

(ii) dividends;

(iii) change in capital structure;

(iv) mergers, de-mergers, acquisitions, delistings, disposals and expansion of business and such other transactions;

(v) changes in key managerial personnel.

General consent for giving Notes on items of Agenda which are in the nature of Unpublished Price Sensitive Information at a shorter Notice may be taken in the first Meeting of the Board held in each financial year and also whenever there is any change in Directors. Where general consent as above has not been taken, the requisite consent shall be taken before the concerned items are taken up for consideration at the Meeting. The fact of consent having been taken shall be recorded in the Minutes.

Consent to circulate Agenda items which are in the nature of UPSI at a shorter Notice from the new Directors appointed during a financial year may be obtained on an individual basis-Guidance Note on SS-1.

Illustration:

1) Assume there are 9 Directors and 5 have given their general consent at the beginning of the financial year to give Notes on items of Agenda which are in the nature of UPSI at shorter Notice. If 1 new Director is appointed, consent from the new Director to circulate Agenda items which are in the nature of UPSI at a shorter Notice may be obtained individually. If this Director gives his consent, no fresh consent from the Board would be needed. In case, this Director dissents or does not give his consent, fresh consent should be taken from the Board.

2) Assume there are 9 Directors and 5 have given their general consent at the beginning of the financial year to give Notes on items of Agenda which are in the nature of UPSI at shorter Notice. If, out of these 5 who consented, 2 resign, it means that out of the remaining 7 Directors only 3 have given their consent. In such case, fresh consent is required.

Supplementary Notes on any of the Agenda items may be circulated at or prior to the Meeting but shall be taken up with the permission of the Chairman and with the consent of a majority of the Directors present in the Meeting, which shall include at least one Independent Director, if any.

Each item of business requiring approval at the Meeting shall be supported by a note setting out the details of the proposal, relevant material facts that enable the Directors to understand the meaning, scope and implications of the proposal and the nature of concern or interest, if any, of any Director in the proposal, which the Director had earlier disclosed.

Each item of business to be taken up at the Meeting shall be serially numbered.

Any item not included in the Agenda may be taken up for consideration with the permission of the Chairman and with the consent of a majority of the Directors present in the Meeting.

Office copies of Notices, Agenda, Notes on Agenda and other related papers shall be preserved in good order in physical or in electronic form for as long as they remain current or for eight financial years, whichever is later and may be destroyed thereafter with the approval of the Board.

Office copies of Notices, Agenda, Notes on Agenda and other related papers of the transferor company, as handed over to the transferee company, shall be preserved in good order in physical or electronic form for as long as they remain current or for eight financial years, whichever is later and may be destroyed thereafter with the approval of the Board and permission of the Central Government, where applicable.

Where approval by means of a Resolution is required, the draft of such Resolution shall be either set out in the note or placed at the Meeting. However, any other decision taken at the Meeting may also be recorded in the Minutes in the form of Resolution. Resolutions drafted and circulated to Directors in advance, along with the Agenda saves time at the Meeting, clarifies the subject matter, facilitates discussion, simplifies preparation of Minutes of the Meeting and enables issuance of certified copies of Resolution, wherever required, after the Meeting and before the Minutes thereof are finalized.

Illustration:

Company XYZ Ltd. has 9 Directors out of which 6 Directors are present at the Meeting. An item not included in the Agenda is proposed to be taken up at a Meeting. Following are the scenarios and their effect:

1. Consent for taking up such item is obtained from only 3 Directors present in the Meeting, including the Chairman.

   Effect:

   Such item should not be taken up at the Meeting as majority of Directors present at the Meeting have not given their consent.

2. Consent for taking up such item is obtained from 4 Directors present at the Meeting, including the Chairman.

   Effect:

   Such item should be taken up as majority of Directors present at the Meeting have given their consent.

3. Consent for taking up such item is obtained from 4 Directors out of 6 Directors present at the Meeting, including the Chairman. However, out of 6 Directors only 4 approved the decision. Majority of Directors of the company is 5 Directors.

   Effect:

   Such item should be taken up, as majority of Directors present at the Meeting have given their consent. The decision should be final only on ratification by majority of Directors of the Company, which is 5 Directors. The said decision approved by 4 Directors at the Meeting should be circulated to all the Directors along with relevant supporting documents, specifically highlighting the requirement of ratification by majority of Directors of the Company.

Any item not included in the Agenda and Notes thereon may either be circulated to the Directors before the Meeting or tabled at the Meeting, but can only be taken up with the requisite consent.

MEETING MANAGEMENT

Convening a Meeting

Any Director of a company may, at any time, summon a Meeting of the Board, and the Company Secretary or where there is no Company Secretary, any person authorised by the Board in this behalf, on the requisition of a Director, shall convene a Meeting of the Board, in consultation with the Chairman or in his absence, the Managing Director or in his absence, the Whole-time Director, where there is any, unless otherwise provided in the Articles.

Directors may participate in the meeting either in person or through video conferencing or other audio visual means as prescribed, which are capable of recording and recognising the participation of the directors and of the recording and storing the proceedings of such meetings along with date and time.

A Meeting may be convened on any day as per the Gregorian calendar, including on a public holiday, unless the Articles provide otherwise.

Being a matter of good practice and as far as possible, the companies should avoid holding of Board Meeting on a National Holiday, as the presence of the employees of the company would be needed for smooth conduct of any such Meeting.

Penalty

Every officer of the company who is duty bound to give notice under Section 173 of the Companies Act, 2013 and who fails to do so shall be liable to a penalty of twenty five thousand rupees.

CASE LAW

Belfin Spa (A Company incorporated Under the laws of Italy) & Ors. (Appellants) v. Cima Shyam Springs Private Limited & Ors. (Respondents) (dated: 10th June, 2019)

NCLAT held that decisions taken in the Board Meetings, EOGMs and AGM discussed in this Judgment regarding which there was no Notice or short notice to the Appellants, are not binding on the Appellants.

Quorum for Board Meetings: Section 174

"Quorum" means the minimum number of Directors whose presence is necessary for holding of a Meeting.

One third of total strength or two directors, whichever is higher, shall be the quorum for a Board meeting. For the purpose of determining the quorum, the participation by a director through Video Conferencing or other audio visual means shall also be counted, unless he is to be excluded for any item of business under any provisions of the Act or the rules - Section 174(1).

Section 174 is not applicable to One Person Company in which there is only one director.

Illustration:

For instance, if there are 12 directors and 10 of them are interested, remaining 2 directors would not have normally constituted quorum since four directors is the requisite quorum, but, in such event, remaining 2 disinterested directors would constitute quorum.

If at any time the number of interested directors exceeds or is equal to two-thirds of the total strength of the Board of directors, the number of directors who are not interested and present at the meeting, being not less than two shall be the quorum during such time.

Companies Act lays down only minimum number of directors to form a quorum, company by its articles can provide for a higher number of quorum - Amrit Kaur Puri v. Kapurthala Flour, Oil & General Mills Co (P) Ltd. [1984] 56 Comp Cas 194 (P & H)

Where due to removal or resignation or for some other reason, the number of directors is reduced below the quorum, then the continuing directors may act for the purpose of increasing the number of directors to that fixed for the quorum, or of summoning a general meeting of the company and for no other purpose.

CASE LAW

Where with resignation of one director, number of Directors fell below minimum number of two, subsequent Board meeting convened and conducted by said director by his withdrawal of resignation was patently illegal and consequently, further appointments of directors in such meetings were also illegal and cannot be established. [Held by High Court of Andhra Pradesh in case of Smt. Dr. Renuka Datla v. Biological E Ltd. in the year 2015]

The meeting shall be adjourned due to want of quorum, unless the articles of the company otherwise provide, the meeting shall be held on the same day at the same time and place in the next week or if that day is a National Holiday, on the next succeeding day, which is not a national holiday, at the same time and place.

Sub–section (4) of Section 174 of the Act prohibits holding of Board Meetings adjourned for want of Quorum on National Holidays. However, law is not specifically prohibiting the original meeting to be held on a National Holiday.

If the Board meeting is adjourned for want of quorum and at the adjourned Board meeting also no quorum is present, meeting stands cancelled. Adjourned Board meetings are continuation of the original board meeting. Hence, maximum permissible interval period of 120 days shall be counted from the date of original meeting.

According to SS-1, the Chairman may, unless dissented to or objected by the majority of Directors present at a Meeting at which a Quorum is present, adjourn the Meeting for any reason, at any stage of the Meeting.

Adjournment of a Meeting otherwise than for want of Quorum may be necessitated for paucity of time to complete the Agenda or for any other reason viz. curfew, earthquakes or other events of force majeure etc.

Quorum shall be present not only at the time of commencement of the Meeting but also while transacting business.

A Director shall neither be reckoned for Quorum nor shall be entitled to participate in respect of an item of business in which he is interested. However, in case of a private company, a Director shall be entitled to participate in respect of such item after disclosure of his interest.

Additionally, for listed entities the quorum for every meeting of the board of directors of the top 1000 listed entities with effect from April 1, 2019 and of the top 2000 listed entities with effect from April 1, 2020 shall be one-third of its total strength or three directors, whichever is higher, including at least one independent director. The participation of the directors by video conferencing or by other audio-visual means shall also be counted for the purposes of such quorum.

The top 1000 and 2000 entities shall be determined on the basis of market capitalisation, as at the end of the immediate previous financial year.

Exemptions:

In case of section 8 company, either eight members or twenty-five per cent, of its total strength whichever is less" shall form a quorum. However, the quorum shall not be less than two members.

In case of Specified IFSC Public Company and Specified IFSC Private Company - Sub-section (3) of section 174 shall apply with the exception that interested director may participate in such meeting provided the disclosure of his interest is made by the concerned director either prior or at the meeting. - Notification Dated 4th January, 2017.

In case of Private Company - Sub-Section (3) of Section 174 shall apply with the exception that the interested director may also be counted towards quorum in such meeting after disclosure of his interest pursuant to section 184." - Notification Dated 13th June, 2017.

To Sum Up Quorum for Board meeting

Requirement:

- Quorum for Board Meeting = 1/3rd of its Total strength or two directors, whichever is higher;
- A Director participating through video conferencing/audio visual modes will also be counted for quorum;
- Any fraction of a member will be rounded off as one;
- Total strength shall not include directors whose places are vacant.

Illustrations:

1. A Meeting is convened on 8th August at 4:00 p.m. at the Registered Office of the company. On that day, the required Quorum is not present. In the absence of any provisions to the contrary in the Articles, the Meeting is automatically adjourned to the same day in the next week, i.e. 15th August, at the same time and place. However, since 15th August is a National Holiday, the adjourned Meeting should be held on 16th August.
2. In ABC Ltd., there are total 12 directors. The quorum for the meeting will be 4 director i.e. 1/3rd of its total strength.
3. In NHS Limited, there are 12 directors and 10 directors are interested as they hold more than 2% shareholding of that body corporate. In a meeting 2 non-interested directors are present. The quorum of the meeting shall be 2 non-interested directors during such time.

Meetings of Committees

SS-1 lists hierarchy of stipulations for the quorum of a Committee constituted by the Board that are as following: —

a. First in hierarchy is the quorum that has been stipulated in the Act, or mentioned in the Articles or is stipulated under any other law;

b. If no such stipulation exists, the quorum shall be as specified by the board;

c. If the board has also not specified the quorum for the committee, presence of all the members of the committee shall be necessary to form the quorum.

Attendance Registers

Attendance register is a formal evidence of the presence of the persons signing such register. VIRTUAL MEETINGS : TECHNOLOGICAL ADVANCEMENT IN CONDUCT OF BOARD COMMITTEE

Meaning of Virtual Meetings:

A meeting held totally by means of either Video conferencing or other audio-visual means is known as Virtual Meeting. A Virtual meeting is when people around the world, regardless of their location, use video, audio, and text to link up online. Virtual meetings allow people to share information and data in real-time without being physically located together.

In virtual meeting there is no physical presence of participants and there is no designated venue for the purpose of meetings. Participants located at different places participate in the meeting either by teleconference or video conference or combination of them at predetermined time.

Virtual meetings are becoming an increasingly common aspect at corporate world. When it comes to professional communication and the way business are done, for most companies, virtual meetings is the fact of life. Companies today operate across multiple time zones from different countries and continents. Employees, Board Members, stakeholders and investors are not from any particular region, city or country; in fact they are spread wide and far. By using Virtual technology, it is possible to replace physical meetings which require the presence of people at the designated place and time.

With rapid change in technology and wide spread of internet and audio and video combination, which is readily available, affordable and reliable, many companies and organizations are adopting and favoring virtual meetings. The use of audio and video conferences, webinars and web meetings via computers, telephones or other devices is more frequent. The potential gains are in terms of reduced travel costs, time saving, efficiency improvements, and less environmental impact in terms of savings on fuel and transport.

Virtual Meetings are held at a distance in real time basis with the help of digital technology. The meetings are mainly–

1. Audio- and/or video based, such as audio conferencing, video conferencing, and on-line meetings or webinars, often they are supported by other forms like chat, white boards, document sharing, etc.
2. Audio conferencing means conference calls with three or more participants, either by connecting the different participants by using a conference phone, or both.
3. Video conferencing, a technology now a day commonly used in board meetings.

Brief Requirements for Virtual Meeting

The brief requirements of virtual meetings are given below:

- Meeting rooms;
- Software, which can be either purchased or can be provided by vendor for a fee on yearly rental basis;
- Hardware equipment like Monitor or LED screen, Webcams;
- High quality mike system;
- Projectors;
- Document scanners;
- Leased Lines;
- High speed wireless internet;
- Recording & Storage Equipment for recording the proceeding and Proper storage for future reference as many be required under law;
- Have trial run before the meeting to ensure all the systems are working properly;
- Ensure that the proper arrangements are made in the Meeting room.

A virtual meeting room is a unique identifier that allows a meeting organizer to invite attendees from disparate geographical locations to collaborate in real time over the Internet. A virtual meeting room is also known as a virtual meeting space.

Virtual Board Meetings

Present day Directors who are professional have busy schedules which makes it difficult for them to attend board meetings of the companies in which they are directors especially for those who are living and working in different cities and countries. Teleconferencing, videoconferencing, and meeting online benefit boards and directors to enable them to attend the meetings from any location. Virtual meetings help the directors to participate in meetings whereever they are despite their busy schedule and make valuable contributions by their participation. Virtual attendance can also make board participation more attractive and appealing especially for independent directors as they are not expected to attend every meeting of each company in person and it is not practically possible as they sit on many boards of company which are located in different cities and countries. Further, due to statutory requirements, most of the board meetings of the companies especially listed entities are held around the same time, making it more difficult for the Independent professional directors to be physically present and participate in the meetings. By holding virtual meetings, Boards, with members around the country and globe, will benefit from wider participation and reduced travel and reimbursement costs; and it would be very convenient for the directors to attend through virtual media from their respective location.

The use of technology can present its own challenges, viz., directors' reluctance, lack of technical proficiency, lack of access to data and material, confidentiality etc. However, modern tools like board portals and board management software helps them in solving some of the concerns.

Section 173 of Companies Act, 2013 read with Rule 3 of the Companies (Meetings of Board and its Powers) Rules, 2014 and Secretarial Standards on Board meetings (SS-1) provides a much wanted platform for holding Virtual Board Meetings.

SS-1 defines "Electronic Mode" in relation to Meetings means Meetings through video conferencing or other audio-visual means. "Video conferencing or other audio visual means" means audio-visual electronic communication facility employed which enables all the persons participating in a Meeting to communicate concurrently with each other without an intermediary and to participate effectively in the Meeting.

"Secured Computer System" means computer hardware, software, and procedure that –

(a) are reasonably secure from unauthorized access and misuse;

(b) provide a reasonable level of reliability and correct operation;

(c) are reasonably suited to performing the intended functions; and

(d) adhere to generally accepted security procedures.

"Timestamp" means the current time of an event that is recorded by a Secured Computer System and is used to describe the time that is printed to a file or other location to help keep track of when data is added, removed, sent or received. In simple language, Time Stamp means a digital record of the time of occurrence of a particular event.

SS-1 provisions related to Virtual Board Meeting in detail are as under:

Para 1.2.3 provides that any Director may participate through Electronic Mode in a Meeting unless the Act or any other law specifically prohibits such participation through Electronic Mode in respect of any item of business.

Earlier restriction was levied on Directors to participate through Electronic Mode in the discussion on certain restricted items prescribed under Rule 4 of the Companies (Meetings of Board and its Powers) Rules, 2014.

However, the MCA vide Notification dated June 15, 2021 has omitted Rule 4 of the Companies (Meetings of Board and its Powers) Rules, 2014 which was related to the matters not to be dealt with in a meeting through video conferencing or other audio-visual means.

i. the approval of the annual financial statements;

ii. the approval of the Board's report;

iii. the approval of the prospectus;

iv. the Audit Committee Meetings for consideration of financial statement including consolidated financial statement if any, to be approved by the board under section 134 (1) of the Companies Act, 2013; and

The Notice shall be sent to the postal address or e-mail address, registered by the Director with the company or in the absence of such details or any change thereto, any of such addresses appearing in the Director Identification Number (DIN) registration of the Director.

Even if the notice is sent by e-mail or by any electronic means to the email id provided by the Director, then such notice sent through electronic platform shall be constituted as valid notice served on the director.

Para 1.3.4 provides that the Notice shall inform the Directors about the option available to them to participate through Electronic Mode and provide them all the necessary information.

If a Director intends to participate through Electronic Mode, he shall give sufficient prior intimation to the Chairman or the Company Secretary to enable them to make suitable arrangements in this behalf.

The Director may intimate his intention of participation through Electronic Mode at the beginning of the Calendar Year also, which shall be valid for such Calendar Year. Though such declaration shall not debar him from participation in the meeting in person, in such case a sufficient intimation of attending in person is required to be sent to the company.

The Notice shall also contain the contact number or e-mail address(es) of the Chairman or the Company Secretary or any other person authorized by the Board, to whom the Director shall confirm in this regard. In the absence of an advance communication or confirmation from the Director as above, it shall be assumed that he will attend the Meeting physically.

Every notice served on the director shall clearly specify that proper arrangements have been made for video conferencing and the director has option of participating in the meeting through such means. The Director should be sent the link through which he can log in and attend the meeting. The Director should inform the Chairman or the Secretary of the Company his option regarding participating the meeting through Electronic mode.

Para 3.3 provides that the directors participating through Electronic Mode in a Meeting shall be counted for the purpose of Quorum, unless they are to be excluded for any items of business under the provisions of the Act or any other law.

The chairperson shall ensure that the required quorum is present throughout the meeting.

All the Directors may participate in a Meeting through Electronic Mode. In such a case, at least one person, who may either be the Chairman or the Company Secretary or in the absence of the Company Secretary, any other person duly authorised in this behalf by the Chairman, should be physically present at the scheduled venue of the Meeting given in the Notice to enable proper recording, to safeguard the integrity of the Meeting and to fulfil other requirements of law in this regard.

Venue of the Virtual meeting

With respect to every meeting conducted through video conferencing or other audio-visual means authorised under these rules, the scheduled venue of the meeting as set forth in the notice convening the meeting shall be deemed to be the place of the said meeting and all recordings of the proceedings at the meeting shall be deemed to be made at such place.

INTRODUCTION

Meaning of Corporate Social Responsibility

CSR is a concept whereby companies not only consider their profitability and growth, but also the interests of society and the environment by taking responsibility for the impact of their activities on stakeholders, environment, consumers, employees, communities, and all other members in the public sphere. The basic premise is that when the corporations get bigger in size, apart from the economic responsibility of earning profits, there are many other responsibilities attached to them which are more of non-financial/social in nature. These are the expectations of the society from the corporates to give something in return to the society with whose explicit or implicit help these entities stand where they are.

CSR aims to fulfil expectations that society has of businesses and it is viewed as a comprehensive set of social policies, practices and programs that are integrated throughout business operations. The concept of CSR has evolved over the years and now used as strategy and a business opportunity to earn stakeholder goodwill.

Corporate Social Responsibility and Corporate Governance are inseparably intertwined. In the recent scenario, there is a growing perception among enterprises that sustainable business success and shareholder value cannot be achieved solely through maximizing short-term profits, but instead through market-oriented and responsible behavior. Companies are aware that they can contribute to sustainable development by managing their operations in such a way as to enhance economic growth and increase competitiveness whilst ensuring environmental protection and promoting social responsibility, including consumer interests.

The United Nations Industrial Development Organisation (UNIDO) puts forward the following definition of Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) –

"Corporate Social Responsibility is a management concept whereby companies integrate social and environmental concerns in their business operations and interactions with their stakeholders. CSR is generally understood as being the way through which a company achieves a balance of economic, environmental and social imperatives ("Triple- Bottom-Line Approach"), while at the same time addressing the expectations of shareholders and stakeholders."

The philosophy of giving back to the society has been an integral part of the culture, which has also been imbibed in traditional Indian businesses since time immemorial. India's ancient wisdom, which is still relevant today, inspires people to work for the larger objective of the well-being of all stakeholders. These sound and all-encompassing values are even more relevant in current times, as organizations grapple with the challenges of modern-day enterprise, the aspirations of stakeholders and of citizens eager to be active participants in economic growth and development.

Indian business has traditionally been socially responsible and some of the business houses have demonstrated their efforts on this front in a laudable manner. However, the culture of social responsibility needs to go deeper in the governance of all business entities.

In order to integrate CSR into the core business philosophy, the Government has obligated companies, those meeting certain threshold in terms of turnover, net worth or net profit to set apart two per cent of their net profit for CSR activities.

Factors influencing CSR

Many factors and influences, including the following, have led to increasing attention being devoted to CSR:

(i) Globalization coupled with focus on cross border trade, multinational enterprises and global supply chains is increasingly raising CSR concerns related to human resource management practices, environmental protection, and health and safety, among other things.

(ii) Governments and regulatory bodies, legal prescription, international organisations such as the United Nations, the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development and the International Labour Organization have developed compacts, declarations, guidelines, principles and other instruments that outline social norms for acceptable conduct.

(iii) Advances in communications technology, such as the Internet, cellular phones and personal digital assistants, are making it easier to track corporate activities and disseminate information about them. Non-governmental organizations now regularly draw attention through their websites to business practices they view as problematic.

(iv) Consumers and investors responsible business practices and are demanding more information on how companies are addressing risks and opportunities related to social and environmental issues.

(v) Breaches of corporate ethics have contributed to elevated public mistrust of corporations and highlighted the need for improved corporate governance, transparency, accountability and ethical standards. There is increasing awareness.

(vi) Businesses are recognizing that adopting an effective approach to CSR can reduce risk of business disruptions, open up new opportunities, and enhance brand and company reputation.

The importance of inclusive growth is widely recognized as an essential part of India's quest for development. It reiterates the commitment to include those sections of the society in the growth process, which had hitherto remained excluded from the mainstream of development.

CSR under Indian Legislation

The importance of inclusive growth is widely recognized as an essential part of India's quest for development. It reiterates the commitment to include those sections of the society in the growth process, which had hitherto remained excluded from the mainstream of development.

In line with this national endeavor, Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) was conceived as an instrument for integrating social, environmental and human development concerns in the entire value chain of corporate business.

The Ministry of Corporate Affairs has been taking various initiatives for ensuring responsible business conduct by companies.

CSR under the Companies Act, 2013

The Companies Act, 2013 is a legislation which officially embarked on one of the world's largest experiments of introducing the concept of CSR as a mandatory provision. The inclusion of CSR is an attempt by the government to engage the businesses with the national development agenda. With the introduction of new Act, there is a statutory obligation for the corporates to take initiatives towards Social, Environmental and Economic Responsibilities.

Applicability

As per section 135(1) of the Companies Act 2013, the CSR provision is applicable to companies which fulfills any of the following criteria during the immediately preceding financial year:-

- Companies having net worth of Rs. 500 crore or more; or
- Companies having turnover of Rs. 1000 crore or more; or
- Companies having a net profit of Rs. 5 crore or more.

The Companies (Corporate Social Responsibility Policy) Rules, 2014 have widen the ambit for compliance obligations to include the holding and subsidiary companies as well as foreign companies whose branches or project offices in India which fulfills the criteria specified above.

According to the Rule 3 of the CSR Rules, the CSR provision will also be applicable to every company including its holding or subsidiary, and a foreign company having its branch office or project office in India having net worth of Rs. 500 crore or more, or turnover of Rs. 1000 crore or more or a net profit of Rs. 5 crore or more during the immediately preceding financial year.

Provided further that a company having any amount in its Unspent Corporate Social Responsibility Account as per sub-section (6) of section 135 shall constitute a CSR Committee and comply with the provisions contained in sub-sections (2) to (6) of the said section.

Whether a holding or subsidiary of a company fulfilling the criteria under section 135(1) has to comply with the provisions of section 135, even if the holding and subsidiary itself does not fulfill the criteria?

Applicability of provisions of Section 135 of the Act is company specific. Hence, every company whether holding or subsidiary satisfying the prescribed criteria shall comply with the provisions. By mere relationship between two companies as Holding and Subsidiary, shall not extend the applicable provisions to the other company.

A Holding or subsidiary of a company falling within the ambit of section 135 of the Act, is not required to comply with section 135(1) unless the holding or subsidiary, as the case may be, itself fulfills the criteria [General Circular No. 1/2016 dated 12th January, 2016].

For example: Company A is covered under the criteria mentioned in section 135. Company B is holding company of company A. Since, Company B by itself does not satisfy any of the criteria mentioned in section 135, therefore Company B is not required to comply with the provisions of section 135.

If a company has not completed the period of three financial years since incorporation, is it required to comply with the CSR provisions?

As per the provisions of section 135(5), if the Company has not completed the period of three financial years since incorporation, but it satisfies any of the criteria mentioned in section 135(1), then it has to comply with CSR provisions. The Company will be required to constitute a CSR committee and comply with other requirements of section 135 including spending of at least two percent of the average net profits of the company made during such immediately preceding financial years since the date of incorporation.

Illustration:

ABC Private Ltd. was incorporated on 1st April, 2016. During the financial year 2016-17 and 2017-18 it earned the net profit of Rs. 3 crore and Rs. 6 crore respectively (calculated as per section 198 of the Act read with rule 2(h) of CSR Rules). The provisions of section 135 to the Act were applicable to the company in the financial year 2018-19 as its net profit, during the immediately preceding financial year, i.e. 2017-18 exceeds the threshold limit of Rs. 5 crore.

In accordance with the section 135(5) of the Act, the company should ensure that during the financial year 2018-19, an amount equivalent to 2% of the average net profits of the financial year 2016-2017 and 2017-2018 is spent on CSR activities.

CASE LAW

In the Matter of M/s. Hira Power and Steels Limited NCLT, Mumbai 2018,

The determination of the Quantum of the CSR responsibility can only be ascertained after the finalization of accounts at the close of the Books of Accounts of a particular financial year.

Background:

Hira Power & Steels Limited, promoted by the Agrawal family is a leading player in the Steel Segment in Central India. The Company's main business interests are in Ferro Alloys, Power and Mining and it has its manufacturing facilities in Chhattisgarh, India, an area known for low cost production of Steel due to the easy availability of Raw Materials, Cheap Labour and Supportive Government Policies. The Company filed a Compounding application before Registrar of Companies (ROC), Chattisgarh and the same has been forwarded to the NCLT, Mumbai along with ROC Report.

Timeline of Events:

ROC had informed that, this application was filed because the Company had violated the provision of Section 134 (3) (o) of the Companies Act, 2013 read with Rule 8 of Companies (Corporate Social Responsibility Policy) Rules, 2014 wherein the Company fails to give explanation for the non-spending of the CSR amount for the Financial Year 2014-15 in Director's Report.

Hira Power & Steels Limited submitted that due to inadvertent mistake the Company has failed to comply with the provisions of the S. 134 (3) (o) and were willing to comply with the provisions of the Act bona fidely. They had made all endeavours to comply with the provisions of the Act however, because of number of Circulars which were issued by the Ministry of Corporate Affairs with respect to CSR there was ambiguity in the correct implementation of the provisions.

It is further stated that the Company had constituted the CSR Committee as per the provisions of the Act on August 05, 2015 and made the necessary declarations as per Section 134 (3) (o) in the Director's Report for the F.Y. 2015-16. Consequently, the Default has been made good.

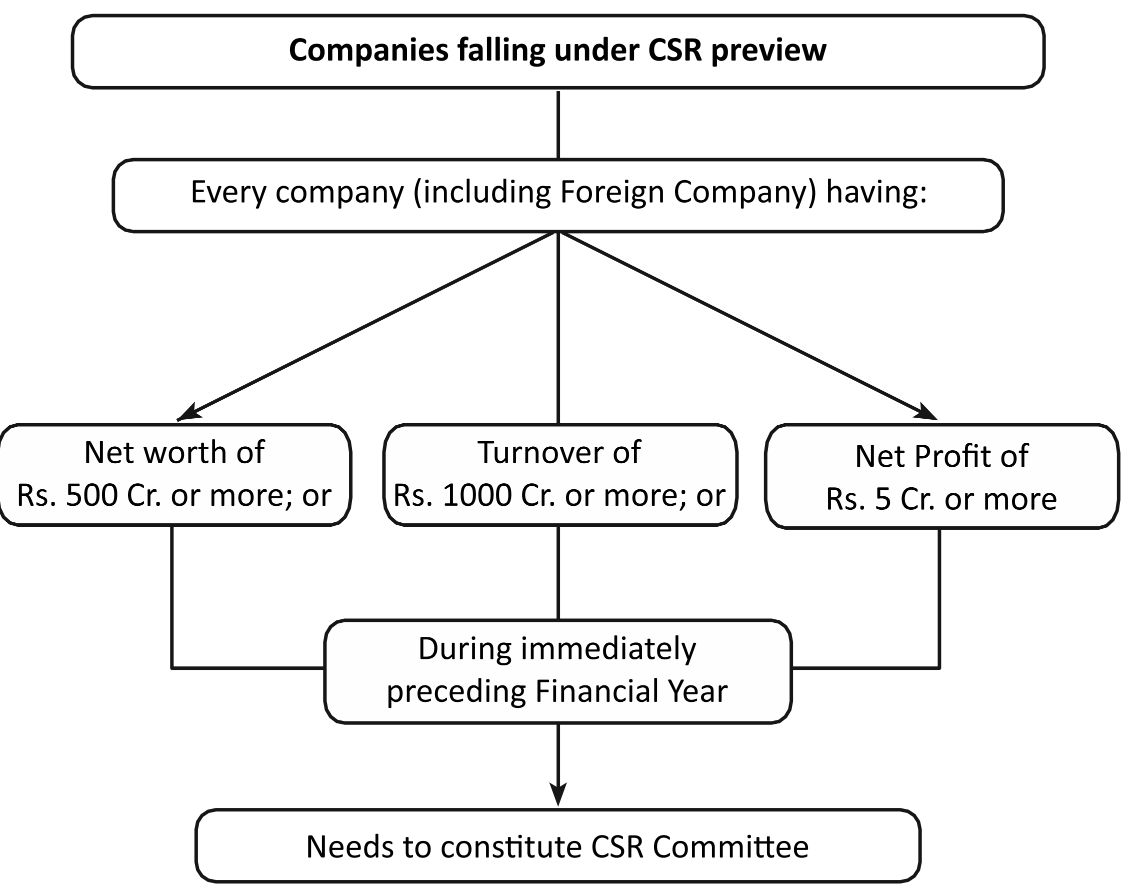
It is also submitted that, due to number of Circulars / Notifications issued by the Government the Applicants/ Defaulters herein, could not ascertain the actual position of the CSR amount to spend and therefore the said contravention has happened. In light of above submissions it is submitted that since, the Applicants/ Defaulters herein had not deliberately contravened the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 and subsequently, after ascertaining the correct position, made the committed default hence, this Application may be allowed and minimum Compounding Fee may be imposed.

Judgment:

The Bench said that, this provision regarding CSR is newly incorporated in the Statute and thereafter number of circulars was issued and as a result of those circulars no clear clarification regarding the provision can be recorded by the Company or its Directors. It is also noticed that the Company had made the default good by constituting the CSR committee and by furnishing declaration in the Director's Report for the F. Y. 2015-16.

The determination of the Quantum of the CSR responsibility can only be ascertained / quantified after the finalisation of accounts at the close of the Books of Accounts of a particular financial year. As a result, the amount to be contributed for charitable purpose as CSR responsibility can be intimated to the concerned authorities thereafter only i.e. after the finalisation of accounts of a particular financial year.

Compounding Fee of Rs. 10,000/- by the each Applicant / Defaulter herein (i.e. Rs. 50,000/- in total) was levied on the Company.



As per section 135(9) of the Act, where the amount to be spent by a company under Section 135 (5) of the Companies Act, 2013 does not exceed Rs. 50 Lakh, the requirement under Section 135 (1) for constitution of the Corporate Social Responsibility Committee shall not be applicable and the functions of such Committee provided under this section shall, in such cases, be discharged by the Board of Directors of such company. [Inserted by the Companies (Amendment) Act, 2020. Notification dated 28th September, 2020; Effective from 22nd January 2021.]

  However, the provisions of this sub-rule shall not affect the CSR projects or programmes approved prior to the 01st day of April 2021.

- Certification of Professional: Form CSR-1 shall be signed and submitted electronically by the entity and shall be verified digitally by a Chartered Accountant in practice or a Company Secretary in practice or a Cost Accountant in practice.

- On the submission of the Form CSR-1 on the portal, a unique CSR Registration Number shall be generated by the system automatically.

Example: Company A carries out its CSR project X through an implementing agency during the FY 2020-21. Company A intends to start a new CSR project Y in the FY 2021-22. The implementing agency will have to register itself for project Y by filing form CSR-1. As project X is an ongoing project, the implementing agency is not required to file form CSR-1.

- Role of International Organisation: A company may engage international organisations for designing, monitoring and evaluation of the CSR projects or programmes as per its CSR policy as well as for capacity building of their own personnel for CSR.

- A collaboration of other Companies for CSR Expenditure: A company may also collaborate with other companies for undertaking projects or programmes or CSR activities in such a manner that the CSR committees of respective companies are in a position to report separately on such projects or programmes in accordance with these rules.

- CFO Certification: The Board of a company shall satisfy itself that the funds so disbursed have been utilised for the purposes and in the manner as approved by it and the Chief Financial Officer or the person responsible for financial management shall certify to the effect.

Test Yourself:

Question: At what frequency should CFO certify to the Board about utilisation of CSR funds disbursed through Implementing Agencies?

Answer: It is not prescribed at what frequency the CFO should certify to the Board. Hence the CFO may certify separately for each CSR activity or may collectively certify to the Board at every quarter / half year / annual basis. It is recommended that annual CFO certification be placed at Board meeting where Board's Report containing annual report on CSR is placed for its approval.

Question: Whether CFO should certify to the Board after disbursing the amount to Implementing Agencies also?

Answer: No, after disbursing amount to Implementing Agencies, he is not required to certify. In fact, only after monitoring the spending done by the Implementing Agency to the ultimate beneficiary, CFO needs to certify to the Board about its utilization.

Question: If a company spends only by way of contribution to PM Relief Fund or PM Cares Fund, whether monitoring and CFO certification needed for the same?

Answer: In such cases, the Board would have only approved the contribution to be given to PM Relief Fund or PM Cares Fund and no other project. Hence, the CFO only needs to certify that the funds have been contributed to these funds.

- Ongoing Projects: In case of ongoing project, the Board of a Company shall monitor the implementation of the project with reference to the approved timelines and year-wise allocation and shall be competent to make modifications, if any, for smooth implementation of the project within the overall permissible time period.

Identifying appropriate Implementing Agency

Identifying an appropriate Implementing Agency for undertaking CSR activities is an important task as the proper utilization of funds allocated depends on how capable the Implementing Agency is.

While finalizing the Implementing Agency, the following points should be kept in mind:

- The Implementing Agency should have well established track record of 3 years or more;
- The Implementing Agency should not have any association with any political party – directly or indirectly. Otherwise the whole purpose may deviate;
- The Implementing Agency should not have any conflict of interest with the employees of the company. There should be no direct or indirect benefit to any of the employees of the company or their family members;
- The Implementing Agency should have registration under section 12A and section 80G of the Income Tax Act and from 1st April, 2021 onwards such agency should also be registered with the MCA for undertaking CSR activities;
- The antecedents of the Implementing Agency, its past reputation, the reputation of persons associated with the same should also be subjected to scrutiny before selection.

- Any other requirement as may be prescribed by Government / Regulatory Authorities is being followed by the Implementing Agency.

CSR POLICY AND ANNUAL ACTION PLAN

"CSR Policy" means a statement containing the approach and direction given by the board of a company, taking into account the recommendations of its CSR Committee, and includes guiding principles for selection, implementation and monitoring of activities as well as formulation of the annual action plan.

The approach and direction for CSR is to be recommended by the CSR Committee to the Board, and based on the same, the approach and direction is finalised by the Board of Directors. The CSR Policy is to be prepared and recommended by the CSR Committee to the Board for its approval as per section 135(3)(a) of the Act read with rule 2(f) of the CSR Rules. This process may happen simultaneously also depending upon the convenience of the Board.

As per section 135(3)(a) of the Act, the CSR Policy shall indicate the activities to be undertaken by the company in areas or subjects, specified in Schedule VII to the Act. The definition of 'CSR Policy' has been amended vide Companies (CSR Policy) Amendment Rules, 2021 notified on 22nd January 2021. Hence, in respect of the companies to whom CSR provisions were applicable prior to this date, it is recommended that the CSR Policy be amended in line with the revised provisions to include, inter-alia, the guiding principles for selection, implementation and monitoring of activities as well as formulation of the annual action plan.

The guiding principles to be included in the CSR Policy as contemplated in the CSR Rules appear to be macro level indicators as to the areas in which CSR projects are proposed to be undertaken, which can be articulated in the annual action plan for each financial year.

For example:

- Guiding principles for selection of CSR projects can be what parameters are to be evaluated while selecting a project, namely what should be the thrust area, local area, other areas where there exists a need for CSR project, projects of national importance, areas which deplete natural resources, etc. and what proportion of CSR spending is to be apportioned for these purposes so that there is an adequate positive impact arising out of the activities undertaken by the company.
- Guiding principles for implementation of CSR projects can be whether they will be undertaken directly or through any Implementing Agency, minimum benchmarks of various criteria while selecting an Implementing Agency such as no conflict of interest, no political background, satisfactory due diligence, track record indicators etc.
- Guiding principles for monitoring of CSR projects can be at what frequency spending shall be monitored, whether site visits would be needed, who shall visit, what evidences should be collected as to the progress of the project, etc.
- Guiding principles for formulation of annual action plan can be whether long term projects or short-term projects are to be selected, requirement of environmental clearance, compliance of local laws, evaluation while choosing a project, at what frequency impact assessment should be done, etc.

It is recommended that CSR Policy should be drawn up to the extent it is relevant in the context of company and should be compatible with the legal requirements. CSR Policy should be approved by the Board of Directors and reviewed and updated, as and when required. It is recommended that a company should:

i) Outline a CSR Policy to reflect the vision, mission and goals on a broader level;

ii) CSR Policy should articulate broadly target group (marginalized group)/ geography (local/ wider area)/ sectors (health/education/ environment).

Test Yourself:

If a company wishes to spend CSR funds on activities mentioned in Schedule VII to the Act, but not specifically covered in CSR Policy, it may do so by suitably amending its CSR Policy with the approval of the Board to include such activities.

Question: Is it mandatory to amend the CSR Policy after the amendments notified in CSR Rules on 22nd January 2021?

Answer: If existing CSR Policy covers the following items, CSR Policy need not be amended:-

B. Guiding principles for-

(i) Selection of CSR projects / programmes / activities;

Accordingly, in the given case if the CSR project could be completed and the amount of money left unutilised, be considered by the Board for spending for other CSR projects / activities after amending the Annual Action Plan accordingly. This fact should also be disclosed in the CSR Report.

All CSR projects or activities are required to be approved in annual action plan. If company proposes to undertake any project / activity which is not approved in annual action plan, it requires approval of CSR Committee and the Board with proper justification.

The annual action plan shall change for each financial year as it is a manifestation of the guiding principles mentioned in CSR Policy, as may be relevant for each financial year. It is recommended that the annual action plan should clearly outline the mechanisms and modalities for actual implementation of CSR projects and programs with a view to ensure measurable and sustainable outcomes primarily focusing on projects/ activities which are beneficiary oriented and contribute to sustainable development. It is also recommended that the annual action plan should also speak about the expectations to be achieved during the next financial year.

[General Circular No. 1/2016 dated 12th January, 2016 and General Circular No. 21/2014 dated June 18, 2014].

Computation of net profit

"Net profit" as per explanation of Section 135(5) shall not include such sums as may be prescribed, and shall be calculated in accordance with the provisions of section 198. The net worth, turnover and net profits are to be computed in terms of Section 198 of the Companies Act, 2013 as per the profit and loss statement prepared by the company in terms of Section 381 (1) (a) and Section 198 of the Companies Act, 2013. Every company will have to report its standalone net profit during a financial year for the purpose of determining whether or not it triggers the threshold criteria as prescribed under Section 135(1) of the Companies Act.

- Indian company: The CSR Rules have clarified the manner in which a company's net worth will be computed to determine if it fits into the 'spending' norm. In order to determine the 'net profit', dividend income received from another Indian company or profits made by the company from its overseas branches have been excluded. Moreover, the 2% CSR is computed as 2% of the average net profits made by the company during the immediately preceding three financial years.

Test Yourself:

Question: While calculating net profit for the purpose of section 135, whether dividend received from every company in India is to be excluded?

Answer: Rule 2(h) of CSR Rules says "any dividend received from other companies in India, which are covered under and complying with the provisions of section 135 of the Act shall not be included". Hence, it can be said that dividend received from each and every company in India cannot be excluded. However, if the dividend is received from such company which is covered under section 135(1) of the Act and is complying with the requirements under section 135(5) of the Act, such dividend amount shall not be included for the purpose of calculation of "net profits" for the purpose of section 135 of the Act. It would be necessary for the company receiving dividend to ascertain from the dividend paying company whether the latter is covered under section 135(1) of the Act and is compliant therewith.

- Foreign company: The CSR Rules prescribe that in case of a foreign company that has its branch or a project office in India, CSR provision will be applicable to such offices. CSR Rules further prescribe that the balance sheet and profit and loss account of a foreign company will be prepared in accordance with Section 381(1)(a) and net profit to be computed as per Section 198 of the Companies Act, 2013. It is not clear as to how the computation of net worth or turnover would be arrived at in case of a branch or project office of a foreign company.

Profits from any overseas branch of the company, including those branches that are operated as a separate company would not be included in the computation of net profits of a company. Besides, dividends received from other companies in India which need to comply with the CSR obligations would not be included in the computation of net profits of a company.

CASE LAW

In the matter of M/S Shri Santosh Meenakshi Textiles (P) Ltd. vs. Roc, Tamilnadu, Coimbatore NCLT,Chennai 2019

CSR Committee must be constituted if net profit exceeds the prescribed threshold limit

Background

Sree Santhosh Meenakshi textiles private limited is established at thekkalur, the Manchester of South India. The company has carved niche of its own in the competitive yarn market. Shri Santosh Meenakshi Textiles Pvt Ltd. filed an appeal under Section 421 of the Companies Act, 2013 against the impugned order of National Company Law Tribunal, Chennai by which the appellant company is held liable to spend the amount of Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) for the FY 2014-15 taking into account only the net profit for the FY 2013-14; the appellant company is held liable to adhere to the other provisions of Section 135 of the Act and the company is permitted to file an application for revision of financial statement or Board report after incorporating the information of CSR.

When the appellant filed its financial statement along with Board Report with the ROC, the ROC observed the same and issued a Show Cause Notice to the Company as to why they have not complied with Section 135(1), 135(5) and Section 134(3)(o) of the Companies Act, 2013. The appellant filed Company Petition before the NCLT, Chennai under Section 131 of the Companies Act, 2013 and the NCLT passed the impugned order wherein it held that – "...... Petitioner Company is liable to spend the amount on account of CSR for FY 2014-15 taking into account only the net profit before tax for the FY 2013-14...."

Issues involved

NCLAT identifies the issue involved as whether the appellant is covered under Section 135(1) of the Act or not. NCLAT observes that as per the appellant's own calculation the net profit is Rs.5,68,70,023/- for the FY 2013-14 which is apparently more than Rs. 5 crores i.e. threshold limited prescribed under Section 135(1) of the Act. Therefore, the company is covered under Section 135(1) of the Act and as such appellant was liable to constitute Corporate Social Responsibility Committee of the Board in the year 2014-15. Section 135(5) of the Act stipulates that Board of every company who comes under Section 135(1) of the Act shall ensures that the company spends in every year at least 2% of the average net profit of the company made during the three immediately preceding financial years in pursuance of the CSR. The net profit will be calculated as per Section 198 of the Companies Act, 2013 and that the profit before tax will be taken as 'Net Profit'.

Further, NCLAT examines the next issue argued by the appellant that even if it is the company is deemed to be covered under Section 135(1) of the Act, then also it is not liable to expend any sum towards CSR in as much since the company had incurred losses in FY 2011-2012 and 2012-13 and the average net profit calculated for the three FY comes in negative. NCLAT disagrees with the observations of the NCLT which directed the appellant herein to spend the amount on account of CSR for the FY 2014-15 taking into account only the net profit before tax for the FY 2013-14 as it is clearly against the mandate of law that the amount to be spent is to be at least 2% of the average net profit of the company made during the three immediately preceding financial years in pursuance to its CSR Policy. NCLAT observes that the calculations submitted by the appellant shows that in the last three years the company is made a profit of Rs.1,38,69,595/- and average net profit of three years will come to Rs.46,23,198/- and further that the company would never be covered under the average net profit of three preceding years.

NCLAT observed that that the appellant has resorted to deducting the losses twice over to somehow arrives at a negative figure to show that it is not required to spend any amount on the CSR for the FY 2014-15. NCLAT states that the method of calculation of average net profit for immediately preceding three years as directed by the NCLT will not be applicable.

NCLAT further observes that the company is a defaulter for spending an amount on CSR activities during the year 2014-15 since company has not constituted the CSR Committee and no proof substantiating the amount spent by the company on CSR activities has been placed.

Judgment

NCLAT passes an order modifying the impugned order holding that the appellant is liable to constitute Corporate Social Responsibility Committee of the Board in terms of Section 135(1) in 2014-15 as net profit of the company in the preceding year was more than Rs.5 crores; and further prescribes a method of calculation for the purpose of Section 135(5).

NCLAT holds appellant liable to constitute CSR committee of the Board in terms of Section 135(1) as the net profit of the company exceeds the threshold limit under Section 135(1) of the Act; prescribes method for calculation of average net profit for immediately preceding three years for the purpose of Section 135(5).

CSR Expenditure-Rule 7 of the CSR Rules, 2014

The Board of every eligible company u/s 135 (1) shall ensure that the company spends, in every financial year, at least two per cent of the average net profits of the company made during the three immediately preceding financial years or where the company has not completed the period of three financial years since its incorporation, during such immediately preceding financial years in pursuance of its Corporate Social Responsibility Policy, this amount will be CSR expenditure.

  This means in case the project is income generating by way of fees etc., such income should be ploughed back into the same project but not form part of the business profit of the company.

Excess CSR spends may be set off

Test Yourself:

Question: Whether the Capital asset created / acquired post 22nd January 2021 be held by the company or entities referred to in rule 7(4) of CSR Rules?

Answer: Post 22nd January 2021, the capital asset created / acquired out of CSR spending is required to be held by the entities referred to in rule 7(4) of CSR Rules.

Question: While undertaking CSR expenditure if an asset is being created, is it necessary for the company to route the funds through specified entities under rule 7(4) of CSR Rules or the company can spend it directly?

Answer: According to rule 7(4) of the CSR Rules, the CSR amount may be spent by a company for creation or acquisition of a capital asset, which shall be held by entities specified in said rule.

ON-GOING PROJECT

On-going project is defined in rule 2(i) of CSR Rules as under:

"Ongoing Project" means a multi-year project undertaken by a company in fulfillment of its CSR obligation having timelines not exceeding three years excluding the financial year in which it was commenced, and shall include such project that was initially not approved as a multi-year project but whose duration has been extended beyond one year by the Board based on reasonable justification."

If the Board has approved a project and subsequently Board realizes that the project and spending is going to extend to next financial year, the same project again is required to be approved by the Board as a multi-year/ on-going project with some reasonable justification.

As per rule 5(2) of CSR Rules, the CSR Committee shall formulate an annual action plan, under which it needs to include the modalities of utilisation of funds and implementation schedules for the projects or programs. Hence, in case of ongoing projects, the timelines of CSR spending and any tentative carry forward of CSR spending in a particular financial year must also be incorporated in annual action plan and should be approved.

Further as per rule 4(6) of CSR Rules, in case of ongoing project, the Board of a company shall monitor the implementation of the project with reference to the approved timelines and year-wise allocation and shall be competent to make modifications, if any, for smooth implementation of the project within the overall permissible time period.

Test Yourself:

Question: Timeline for a multi-year project cannot exceed 3 years excluding the financial year in which it was commenced. So does it mean that the project can stretch to maximum total of 4 years?

Answer: A CSR project can be for more than 4 years also, but spending obligation in respect of the project for a particular year can be spread over only for 1+ 3 years.

Question: If obligation of the company to spend on CSR under section 135(5) of the Act is Rs.1 crore for the year 2020-21, whether the company could be said to have discharged its obligations with respect to the following cases involving ongoing projects:-

Case A:

- Amount transferred to Unspent CSR Account for the project as per section 135(6) : Rs. 1 crore

Case B:

- Amount allocated for the project : Rs. 1 crore
- Amount spent in the current financial year: Rs. 20 lakh
- Amount transferred to Unspent CSR Account for the project as per section 135(6) : 80 lakh

Answer: If Board has approved it as an on-going project based on reasonable justification and if the project has commenced during the financial year, it can be said that the company has discharged its CSR obligations.

CSR Monitoring

Monitoring of CSR projects goes concurrently with implementation and it is an integral part of the CSR activity. Monitoring is essential to assess if the progress is on expected lines in terms of timelines, budgetary expenditure and achievement of milestones. In terms of rule 4(5) of CSR Rules, the Board of a company shall satisfy itself that the funds so disbursed by it for carrying out CSR implementation have been utilised for the purposes and in the manner as approved by it. The CSR Committee and the Board should be apprised periodically of the progress of all CSR activities undertaken.

Periodic progress report on CSR activities of the company should be placed before the CSR committee and the Board. On the basis of such reports, the CSR committee and / or the Board may recommend appropriate actions for course corrections, if need be.

To ensure that the funds are utilized prudently for the intended purpose, the company should place appropriate checks on the utilization of funds. The funds should be released in a phased manner, upon full satisfaction of the utilization of funds previously given.

Spending mandate and consequences of not spending (Change in CSR regime from Voluntary to Mandatory)

Second proviso to sec. 135 (5), read with section 135 (6), elaborates the mandatory spending requirement:

- If the company fails to spend the CSR target, the Board in its report shall specify the reasons for not spending the amount.
- Analysis of the “unspent amount” related to ongoing project:
  - ✓ Unspent amount relating to an ongoing project, undertaken by a company in pursuance of its Corporate Social Responsibility Policy, shall be transferred by the company within a period of 30 days from the end of the financial year to a special account (Unspent CSR Account) to be opened by the company in that behalf for that financial year in any scheduled bank, and such amount shall be spent by the company in pursuance of its obligation towards the Corporate Social Responsibility Policy within a period of 3 financial years from the date of such transfer.

✓ failing which, the company shall transfer the same to a Fund specified in Schedule VII of the Companies Act, 2013, within a period of thirty days from the date of completion of the third financial year.

Test Yourself:

Question: ABC Private Ltd. did not spend as per the provisions of section 135(5) of the Act on the CSR activities by 31st March, 2021 pursuant to the ongoing project undertaken in pursuance of its CSR Policy. In this case ABC Private Ltd. should:

- Open a bank account with any scheduled bank under the name, "Unspent Corporate Social Responsibility Account for financial year 2020-21";
- Transfer the unspent amount within thirty days i.e. by 30th April, 2021 to such account; and
- Spend such amount, in pursuance of its obligations towards the CSR Policy, latest by 31st March, 2024.

Answer: In the above example, if ABC Private Ltd. fails to spend the amount as was transferred to the special bank account opened for this purpose by end of 31st March, 2024, then the company needs to transfer such unspent amount to a fund specified in Schedule VII to the Act within 30 days i.e. latest by 30th April, 2024.

Question: Can a company use some currently unused existing bank A/c, which might have been lying idle with company, for making the transfer of unspent CSR amount?

Answer: No, section 135(6) of the Act says, ".... special account to be opened by the company in that behalf for that financial year...". Hence, a new bank account titled as "Unspent CSR Account" should be opened for transferring the unspent CSR amount.

- Unspent amount not relating to ongoing projects to be transferred to Funds notified in Schedule VII of the Companies Act, 2013 within a period of 6 months of the end of the financial year.

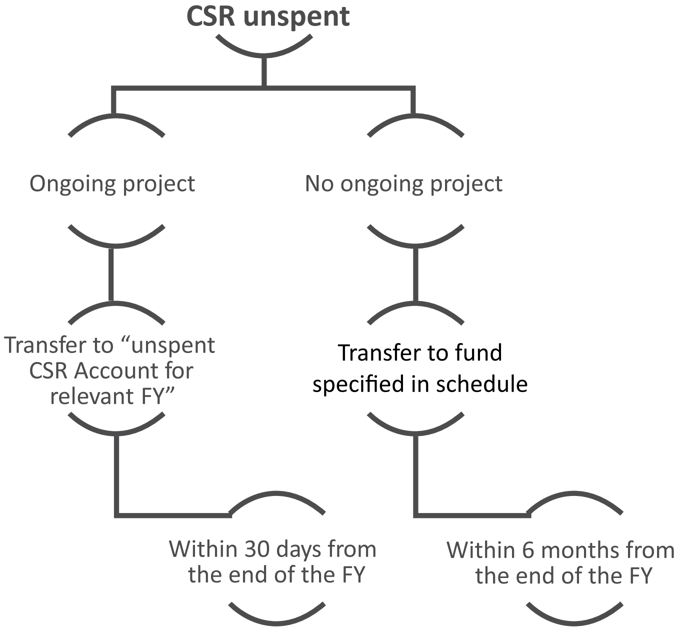

Illustration:

The net profit, calculated as per section 198 of the Act read with rule 2(h) of CSR Rules, of ABC Private Ltd. for the financial year 2019-20 is more than Rs. 5 crore and it fails to spend requisite CSR amount by 31st March, 2021 as mandated under section 135(5) of the Act. In this case, ABC Private Ltd. needs to do the following:

1. Specify the reasons for not spending the amount in the Board's Report; and
2. Transfer the unspent amount to a fund specified in Schedule VII to the Act, unless such amount relates to any ongoing project referred to in section 135(6) of the Act, by the end of 30th September, 2021.

Transfer of unspent CSR amount- Until a fund is specified in Schedule VII for the purposes of sub-section (5) and (6) of section 135 of the Companies Act, 2013 the unspent CSR amount, if any, shall be transferred by the company to any fund included in schedule VII of the Companies Act, 2013 *[Rule 10 of CSR Rules, 2014 as Inserted by The Companies (Corporate Social Responsibility Policy) Amendment Rules, 2021 Dated 22.01.2021].

- Expenditure incurred on specified activities that are carried out in India only will qualify as CSR expenditure. Such expenditure includes contribution to the corpus or on projects or programs relating to CSR activities.
- Any expenditure on an item not in conformity or not in line with activities which fall within the areas or subjects, specified in Schedule VII of the Act shall not be permissible.

PENALTY

CSR Amendments- from 'comply or explain' to 'comply or suffer' to 'comply or pay'

- Earlier CSR provisions was following "comply or explain" approach-If a company did not comply, it only had to mention the reasons for non-compliance in their Board Report.
- Since there were serious compliance gaps, the Companies (Amendment) Act 2019 introduced Penalty for Non-Compliance of Section 135(5) & (6) that included imprisonment, and hence, the approach shifted to "comply or pay fine", but it was not notified.
- However, it is again amended by subsequent amendments brought in by the Companies (Amendment) Act, 2020 which in view of Decriminalisation and Ease of Doing Business, has removed the prosecution provision.
- The respective provision of the Companies (Amendment) Act, 2019 never came into force as both 2019 & 2020 Companies (Amendment) Act provision related to penal provisions of CSR came to force on the same day i.e. 22nd January, 2021.

Section 135(7) of the Companies Act, 2013, clearly states that, If a company is in default in complying with the provisions of Section 135(5) or 135(6) of the Companies Act, 2013:

Penalty on the Company:

✓ Upto twice the amount required to be transferred by the company to the Fund specified in Schedule VII or the Unspent Corporate Social Responsibility Account, as the case may be, or ✓ Rs. 1 Crore, whichever is less.

Penalty on every officer of the company who is in default

- ✓ 1/10th of the amount required to be transferred by the company to such Fund specified in Schedule VII of the Companies Act, 2013, or the Unspent Corporate Social Responsibility Account, as the case may be, or
- ✓ Rs.2 Lakhs, whichever is less.

The Central Government may give such general or special directions to a company or class of companies as it considers necessary to ensure compliance of provisions of this section and such company or class of companies shall comply with such directions.

1) Are the above mentioned penal provisions specific to not transferring the unspent amount or is applicable for any other non-compliance relating to CSR provisions?

Section 135 (7) clearly states the penalty for default in complying with the provisions of sub-section (5) or sub-section (6). In case of any other non-compliance/default under any other provision of the section, or Rules, then the provisions of general penalty under section 450 of the Act shall be applicable.

2) If a company has unspent amount Rs. 10 Lacs as on 31.03.2021, whether such amount will be transfer to said fund before 30.09.2021 or company may spend any amount (out of unspent amount) during the said six months after close of financial year and can transfer remaining unspent amount in Fund?

No. If, on or before the last day of the relevant FY falling on or after January 22, 2021 to which the unspent amount relates, and the said unspent amount was not already allocated to an Ongoing Project already approved by the Board, then the Company cannot allocate or use such unspent amount for any other project and shall mandatorily transfer the same to the Fund specified in Schedule VII within the said 6 months from the end of the relevant FY.

3) If a company has unspent CSR amount for the financial years 2014-15, 2015-16, 2016-17, 2017-18,2018-19 and 2019-20, is the company required to transfer the entire unspent amount for the said years in the financial year ended 31st March, 2021?

Section 135 of Companies Act, 2013 was amended w.e.f 22nd January 2021 by inserting a new sub-section (6) which states the treatment of unspent amount of CSR in case of on-going projects. The second proviso to Sub section (5) of section 135 was also amended w.e.f 22nd January 2021, which now states that if the Company fails to spend the amount prescribed in Section 135(5) and unless the unspent amount relates to any on-going project referred to in sub-section (6), the Company shall transfer such amount to a Fund specified in Schedule VII, within a period of 6 months of the expiry of the financial year.

The applicability of this amendment is prospective and therefore the unspent amount for the financial year 2020-21 onwards shall be transferred to the fund specified in Schedule VII within six months of the expiry of the said financial year, unless the same pertains to any ongoing project.

However, if the Company has created a provision for unspent CSR obligation for the financial years 2014-15, 2015,-16, 2016- 17, 2017-18, 2018-19 and 2019-20, and if such provision remains outstanding as on 31st March, 2021, such amount should be transferred to separate bank account or Fund specified in Schedule VII, as the case may be.

4) If a company plans to spend 2.5% of its average net profits but out of this 0.5% remains unspent, will the penal provisions and requirement for transfer of unspent amount apply to the Company over and above the mandatory 2% spend?

In terms of the provisions of section 135 of the Act, the penal provision under sub-section 7 and requirement for transfer of unspent amount under sub-section (5) & (6) shall not be applicable on non-mandatory CSR expenditure.

5) In case, the registration of trust is not mandatory, then what would be constituted as 'Registered trust' or 'Registered public trust'?

'Registered Trust' or 'registered public trust' (as referred in Rule 4(1) of the Companies (CSR) Rules, 2014) would include Trusts registered under Income Tax Act 1961, for those States where registration of Trust is not mandatory. [General Circular No. 21/2014 dated 18th June, 2014].

6) Can the Board, for sufficient cause and reasons, change the ongoing project completely within 3 years' of time? E.g. If the Board approved a project of Rs. 80 lacs for Rain water harvesting for 3 years but after 2 years, the Company which has already spent Rs. 40 lacs on Rain water harvesting is not satisfied with the outcome. Can the Board divert the remaining funds of Rs. 40 Lacs to different project say related to Health and Medical for remaining one year?

As per the amended Rules, the Board shall be competent to make modifications, if any, for smooth implementation of the project within the prescribed time period. The Board may alter such plan at any time during the financial year, as per the recommendation of its CSR Committee, based on the reasonable justification to that effect, change the ongoing project partially or wholly. However, changing the allocation completely would not be viable.

IMPACT ASSESSMENT FOR BIG CSR PROJECTS IN TERMS OF THE PROVISIONS OF RULE 8(3)A) OF THE COMPANIES (CORPORATE SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY POLICY) RULES, 2014

- Companies with average CSR obligation of Rs.10 Crore or more in the 3 immediately preceding financial years shall undertake impact assessment through an independent agency of their CSR projects having outlays of Rs.1 crore rupees or more which have been completed not less than 1 year before undertaking the impact study.
- The impact assessment reports shall be placed before the Board and shall be annexed to the annual report on CSR.

Test Yourself:

Question: Is it mandatory for foreign company to give report on CSR activities even if there is no need to prepare director's report by such company?

Answer: Rule 8(2) of CSR Rules provides that in case of a foreign company, the balance sheet filed by it under section 381(1)(b) of the Act, shall contain an annual report on CSR containing particulars specified in Annexure I or Annexure II, as applicable.

- A Company undertaking impact assessment may book the expenditure towards Corporate Social Responsibility for that financial year, which shall not exceed two per cent of the total CSR expenditure for that financial year or fifty lakh rupees, whichever is higher.

This is a new requirement inserted under the CSR Rules, based on the recommendation of the HLC-2018. It may be noted that the HLC-2018 (A high level committee set up by MCA in 2018) had recommeded for need and impact assessment for CSR projects. These two are different concepts, as 'need assessment' is an activity which is preparatory to starting any CSR project, whereas 'impact assessment' is an activity which can be done only post completion of CSR projects. However, rule 8(3) of CSR Rules speaks only about the need for an 'impact assessment', whereas rule 5(2) of CSR Rules which requires a company to prepare an annual action plan says that one of the contents of annual action plan shall be 'details of need and impact assessment, if any, for the projects undertaken by the company'. Hence, though impact assessment is mandatory in case of certain companies and for certain projects, it is recommended to carry out a need assessment also, although it is not mandatorily prescribed.

Test Yourself:

Question: Whether impact assessment is mandatory for all projects to be undertaken from financial year 2021-22 onwards?

Answer: It is required to have impact assessment by the specified companies for the projects mentioned in rule 8(3)(a) of the CSR Rules which have completed on or after 22nd January, 2021.

Question: Who can conduct the impact assessment?

Answer: There are no qualifications or criteria prescribed as to who can conduct the impact assessment. However, it is advisable that the impact assessment should be done by an independent entity not related to Implementing Agency or the company.

Question: Whether impact assessment needs to be done every year?

Answer: Impact assessment is to be undertaken for a project which have spends beyond the threshold of Rs.1 crore. Hence it is to be done project wise and not financial year wise. The timeline of impact assessment may vary from project to project. For some projects, assessment after one year of completion may be sufficient and for some projects, the impact assessment may be appropriate after a period longer than one year. The only requirement is that the impact assessment report needs to be placed before the Board and shall be annexed to the annual report on CSR.

Question: If a company has obligation of spending Rs. 10 crore or more in three immediately preceding financial years, but company has spent partial amount only (whose average is less than Rs. 10 crore) or if company has not spent at all, whether impact assessment still needs to be done?

Test Yourself:

If the company has an obligation of spending as per rule 8(3) of CSR Rules, or if none of the projects where it has spent have outlays of Rs. 1 crore or more and have completed at least 1 year, impact assessment is not necessary. Further, if company has not spent at all, there is no question of impact assessment.

Business Responsibility Reports by Listed Companies

Ministry of Corporate Affairs, Government of India, in July 2011, came out with the 'National Voluntary Guidelines ("NVGs") on Social, Environmental and Economic Responsibilities of Business'. These guidelines contain comprehensive principles to be adopted by companies as part of their business practices and a structured business responsibility reporting format requiring certain specified disclosures, demonstrating the steps taken by companies to implement the said principles.

SEBI, in 2012, mandated the top 100 listed entities by market capitalisation to file BRR as per the disclosure requirement emanating from the NVGs. The requirement for filing BRRs was extended to the top 500 entities companies by market capitalisation from the financial year 2015-16. In December 2019, SEBI extended the BRR requirement to the top 1000 listed entities by market capitalisation, from the financial year 2019-20.

In terms of Regulation 34(2)(f) of SEBI's Listing Regulations, the top 1000 listed entities based on market capitalization (calculated as on March 31 of every financial year) are required to include Business Responsibility Report, as part of their annual report, describing the initiatives taken by them from an environmental, social and governance perspective, in the format as specified by the SEBI from time to time.

In November 2018, the MCA constituted a Committee on Business Responsibility Reporting ('Committee on BRR') for finalising Business Responsibility Reporting formats for listed and unlisted companies, based on the framework of the NGRBC. SEBI was also part of this Committee and worked on the report. The report of the Committee was released on 11th August, 2020. The Committee on BRR recommends that the Business Responsibility Report be called the Business Responsibility and Sustainability Report (BRSR).

Based on the report of the committee, SEBI issued a consultation paper on the format for BRSR on 18th August, 2020, wherein, it is proposed that the format for BRSR, as recommended by the Committee, shall be applicable to the top 1000 listed entities by market capitalization. It is also proposed that to begin with, the new format will be adopted by such listed entities on a voluntary basis for the financial year 2020 – 21 (for those who choose not to adopt the new format, the existing format will apply) and mandatorily from the financial year 2021-22. SEBI in its Board meeting held on 25th March, 2021 has mentioned that the BRSR shall be applicable to the top 1,000 listed entities by market capitalization on a voluntary basis from financial year 2021-22 and mandatory from financial year 2022-23.

Question: What is the impact of BRR reporting as far as CSR spends are concerned?

Answer: BRR expects the company to report impact assessment of CSR programs. Further it also requires the reporting on the steps taken by the company to ensure that the community development initiative is successfully adopted by the community.

Guidelines on CSR and Sustainability for Central Public Sector Enterprises (CPSEs)

The first guidelines on CSR were issued by Department of Public Enterprises (DPE) in April 2010 to make it mandatory for public sector enterprises to set aside a fixed percentage of their profits for CSR activities. Subsequently, DPE explored a new dimension of CSR as a form of responsible business to be adopted voluntarily by the companies. After extensive consultations with all key stakeholders, DPE issued revised guidelines on CSR and Sustainability, effective from 1st April 2013, which incorporated the global best practices but retained focus on the domestic socio- economic requirements of our country.

The thrust of DPE guidelines on CSR and Sustainability has been on inclusive growth, development of backward regions, upliftment of the marginalized and under privileged and weaker sections of the society, empowerment of women, environment sustainability, promotion of green and energy efficiency technologies and sustainability development in all its diverse aspects.

The Act makes it mandatory for companies which fulfil the specified criteria to spend at least 2% of their average net profits of three preceding financial years on CSR activities. Considering the CSR provisions under the Act and rules made there under, the DPE has issued revised Guidelines on Corporate Social Responsibility and Sustainability for CPSEs w.e.f. 01.04.2014.

Social Stock Exchange

India is the only country in the world to have mandatory provisions of CSR for the corporates. The Hon'ble Finance Minister as part of the Budget Speech for FY 2019-20 had proposed to initiate steps towards creating a Social Stock Exchange (SSE), under the regulatory ambit of Securities and Exchange Board of India, for listing social enterprise and voluntary organizations.

Accordingly, SEBI constituted a working group on 'Social Stock Exchanges' (SSE) under the Chairmanship of Shri Ishaat Hussain on September 19, 2019. The broad terms of reference to the working group were to review and recommend:

(i) Possible structures and mechanisms, within the securities market domain, to facilitate raising of funds by social enterprises and voluntary organizations;

(ii) Associated regulatory framework inter-alia covering the issues relating to eligibility norms for participation, disclosures, listing, trading, oversight etc.

The committee observed that the designing of Social Stock Exchange (SSE) also requires a recognition that for-profit social enterprises (FPEs) are different from non-profit social enterprises (NPOs) as they operate in different ways and have different financing needs. NPOs (which include section 8 companies, trusts and societies) and FPEs uses different kinds of capital. The working group has, therefore, suggested different approaches for each under the aegis of the SSE. The committee proposed unifying elements and common approaches for the two under the SSE umbrella. These constitute the common minimum reporting standard for all enterprises. The standard incorporates reporting of social impact, governance and financials.

While analysing the comments received on this report, it was felt that further expert advice and clarity may be needed on certain critical operational issues before comprehensively firming up views in the matter. Accordingly, a Technical Group (TG) was constituted by SEBI on September 21, 2020 to review and make recommendations on certain critical operational issue, in the context of the recommendations made by the Working Group on the Social Stock Exchange.

After detailed deliberations, the SEBI vide notification dated July 25, 2022 inserted Chapter X-A on Social Stock Exchange in SEBI (ICDR) Regulations, 2018.

As per regulation 292A (i) "Social Stock Exchange" means a separate segment of a recognized stock exchange having nationwide trading terminals permitted to register Not for Profit Organizations and / or list the securities issued by Not for Profit Organizations in accordance with provisions of these regulations.

Situation where the Company is under CIRP and powers of the Board are suspended

As per clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 17 of Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code (IBC), a company of which Interim Resolution Professional (IRP) is appointed, the powers of the Board of Directors stands suspended and shall be exercised by IRP. It may be noted that though the powers of the Board of Directors are suspended, they are bound to provide all assistance to IRP as only the powers of the Board are suspended and not their duties.

Further, sub-section (1) of section 19 of IBC provides that the personnel of the Corporate Debtor, its promoters or any other person associated with the management of the Corporate Debtor shall extend all assistance and cooperation to the IRP as may be required by him in managing the affairs of the corporate debtor.

An insolvency professional should ensure that the company undergoing insolvency process complies with the applicable laws. It should be the responsibility of the Management/KMPs of the company to continue to comply with the applicable laws and report periodically to the insolvency professional. The order passed by NCLAT in the case of M/s. Subasri Realty Private Limited strengthens this view by stating that after appointment of the Resolution Professional (RP) and declaration of moratorium, the Board of Director stands suspended, but that does not amount to suspension of Managing Director or any of the Director or officer or employee of the Corporate Debtor. To ensure that the Corporate Debtor remains a going concern, all the Director/ employees are required to function and to assist the Resolution Professional who manages the affairs of the Corporate Debtor during the period of moratorium.

Since the ultimate responsibility and powers of the Board lies with IRP/ RP, in the aforesaid context, it appears that IRP/RP should approve and sign the Report. The IRP/RP may also direct the Directors/Officials of the Corporate Debtor to sign the Report and take all necessary actions for compliance of applicable laws.

Circulation of the Board's Report

The copy of Board's Report shall be issued, circulated or published along with a signed copy of every financial statement, including consolidated financial statement if any, all the notes annexed to or forming part of such financial statement and the Auditors' Report . [Section 134(7)]

In the case of a listed company, it shall be deemed to be complied with, if the copies of the documents are made available for inspection at its registered office during working hours for a period of twenty-one days before the date of the meeting and a statement containing the salient features of such documents in the prescribed form or copies of the documents, as the company may deem fit, is sent to every member of the company and to every trustee for the holders of any debentures issued by the company not less than twenty-one days before the date of the meeting unless the shareholders ask for full financial statements.

Fourth Proviso of Section 137(1) of the Act provides that, a company shall, along with its financial statements to be filed with the Registrar, attach the accounts of its subsidiary or subsidiaries which have been incorporated outside India and which have not established their place of business in India.

In the case of a subsidiary which has been incorporated outside India (herein referred to as "foreign subsidiary"), which is not required to get its financial statement audited under any law of the country of its incorporation and which does not get such financial statement audited, the requirements of the fourth proviso of Section 137(1) of the Act, shall be met if the holding Indian company files such unaudited financial statement along with a declaration to this effect and where such financial statement is in a language other than English, along with a translated copy of the financial statement in English.

CASE LAWS

1) In the matter of Anil kumar Poddar vs. Nessville Trading (P.) Ltd., Appellant made an application for inspection of register of members and annual return of respondent company for the years 2009 to 2012.When company failed to provide copies of aforementioned documents, he filed petition for supply of documents. The Respondent relied upon doctrine of "ejusdem generis" saying the word "any other person" mentioned in Section 163(2) of the erstwhile Companies Act, 1956 (corresponding to section 94 of the Companies Act, 2013) is limited to the person holding commercial interest such as creditor, financier, customer etc., because the preceding would the member and debenture holder to this word "any other person" being the persons having interest in the company, then the following word "any other person" cannot be said as extendable to any person who has no interest in the company, normally, a person considered to aggrieved when his interest is affected by the act of somebody else, but whereas this Petitioner has no interest in these companies, therefore, he cannot be called aggrieved to file these company petitions against the Respondent. The NCLT, Mumbai Bench held that, since petitioner was neither a shareholder, nor debenture holder nor holding commercial interest in respondent company, he was not entitled to seek relief under Section 163 of the erstwhile Companies Act, 1956 (corresponding to section 94 of the Companies Act, 2013) regarding supply of copies of documents for inspection.

2) In the matter of Suhas Chakma vs. South Asia Human Rights Documentation Centre Pvt. Ltd., the contention of the petitioner is that he never executed any instrument of transfer of his shareholdings to the 2nd respondent, and that he came to know that he was not a shareholder of the 1st respondent company by virtue of inspection of the Annual Return and that in relation to the illegal and fraudulent transfer of his shares, he came to know about the same only upon perusal of the Annual Returns. The NCLT, New Delhi Bench observed that, in view of the wordings used in section 164 of the Companies Act, 1956 (now Section 95 under the Companies Act,2013) to the effect that registers, returns and documents shall be only prima facie evidence and hence subject to rebuttal, and therefore, cannot be treated as conclusive evidence and in absence of share transfer forms and specified share certificates/letter of allotment in question, transfer of equity shares of Petitioner by Respondents were fraudulent and sham and declare it to be illegal and void.

CASE LAW

The Hamlin Trust and Others vs. Rattan India Finance Private Limited (RFPL) and Others Company Appeal (AT) No. 77 of 2022

According to Section 203 of the Companies Act, 2013, every listed company and every other public company having a paid-up share capital of ten crore rupees shall have the CFO as whole-time key managerial personnel.

Provided a whole time key managerial personnel shall not hold office in more than one company except in its subsidiary company at the same time.

As per Article of Association of RFPL the right to appoint CFO is with Rose Investments however other 50% of shareholder have the right to reject such candidates.

Provided candidates proposed by the Rose Investments were those individuals who were associated with other entities and were not available full time for RFPL.

The remaining 50% of shareholders object the appointment of such candidates on the grounds that this is not in adherence to the provision of Section 203 of the Companies Act, 2013.

In this matter NCLAT held that in the absence of any specific mention regarding eligibility and the method of selection of the CFO in the Article of Association, it would be logical to take reference to Section 203 of the Companies Act, 2013 even by a private company, in the selection and appointment of CFO, as Section 203 prescribes the appointment of KMP which includes a CFO of the company.

NCLAT, after hearing the arguments of both the parties, held that even if RFPL is a private company the provisions of Section 203 shall apply to a company that voluntarily appoints a CFO.

Since, the CFO is a key managerial personnel (KMP) in terms of Section 2(51) of Companies Act, 2013, directed that eligibility for appointment of CFO as mentioned in Section 203 of the Companies Act, 2013 would apply between the parties.

Further, as per Rule 8A of the Companies (Appointment and Remuneration of Managerial Personnel) Rules, 2014, a company other than a company which is required to appoint a whole-time key managerial personnel as discussed above and which is having paid up share capital of Rs. 10 Crores or more shall have a whole time Company Secretary. APPOINTMENT OF MANAGING DIRECTOR, WHOLE-TIME DIRECTOR OR MANAGER

Rules and Section under Company Law Applicable to Appointment of Managing

(i) Sections 196 and 197

(ii) The Companies (Appointment and Remuneration of Managerial Personnel) Rules, 2014
The Companies (Appointment and Qualifications of Directors) Rules, 2014
The Companies (Meetings of Board and its Powers) Rules, 2014

(iii) Schedule-V (Not applicable to Private Company)

Section 196 of the Companies Act, 2013 provides the provision for appointment of Managing Director, Whole-Time Director, and Manager

Appointment of MD & Manager at the same time is not possible – Section 196 (1)

No company shall appoint or employ at the same time a managing director and a manager. If we go through the definition of Manager Sec 2(53) and Managing Director Section 2(54), we can infer that responsibilities, duties, and powers of both these positions are almost the same. The only difference is where these powers are coming from. In case of Manager, it is coming from board and in case of managing director it is coming from Articles or agreement.

Hence, it makes no sense to have two different people managing company having the exact same powers and duties. It will create conflicts, which will in turn lead to mismanagement.

Tenure - Section 196 (2)

Appointment of Managing Director, Whole-Time Director or Manager shall not be for a term exceeding five years at a time.

Re-appointment - Proviso to Section 196 (2)

The company may re-appoint them for next term before expiry of their present term but not earlier than one year before expiry of the current term. This means, company may re-appoint them for next term in last one year of current term.

Disqualification of managing Director, Whole-Time Director or Manager - Section 196 (3)

No company shall appoint or continue the employment of any person as managing director, whole-time director or manager who –

- is below the age of twenty-one years or has attained the age of seventy years.

  However, the appointment of a person who has attained the age of seventy years may be made by passing a special resolution in which case the explanatory statement annexed to the notice for such motion shall indicate the justification for appointing such person;

- is an undischarged insolvent or has at any time been adjudged as an insolvent;
- has at any time suspended payment to his creditors or makes, or has at any time made, a composition with them; or
- has at any time been convicted by a court of an offence and sentenced for a period of more than six months.

CASE LAW
In the case of Sridhar Sundararajan vs. Ultramarine and Pigments Ltd. (2016) 4 Mah LJ 590, the division bench of High Court of Bombay decided on the matter of disqualification for appointment or continuation as Managing Director of company. It held that a person who is below age of 21 years or who has attained age of 70 years cannot be appointed or could not be continued as MD and that a person who has been appointed as Managing Director before he was 70 years old is prohibited from continuing as Managing Director once he attained the age of 70 years.

Central Government approval - Section 196 (3) Second Proviso

Where no such special resolution is passed but votes cast in favour of the motion exceed the votes, if any, cast against the motion and the Central Government is satisfied, on an application made by the Board, that such appointment is most beneficial to the company, the appointment of the person who has attained the age of seventy years may be made.

This simply means that if a company wants to appoint a person as MD, WTD or manager but is unable to pass a special resolution as stated in Section 196 (3) First Proviso, in that case company may do so by passing an ordinary resolution along with consent of Central Government.

Approval for appointment of MD, WTD and Manager -Section 196 (4)

Subject to the provisions of section 197 and Schedule V, a managing director, whole-time director or manager shall be appointed and the terms and conditions of such appointment and remuneration payable be approved by the Board of Directors at a meeting which shall be subject to approval by a resolution at the next general meeting of the company and by the Central Government in case such appointment is at variance to the conditions specified in that Schedule specified in Part I of Schedule V.

Content of Notice - First proviso to Section 196 (4)

Provided that a notice convening Board or general meeting for considering such appointment shall include the terms and conditions of such appointment, remuneration payable and such other matters including interest, of a director or directors in such appointments, if any.

Return of Appointment - Second proviso to Section 196 (4)

A return in the e-form MR-1 shall be filed within sixty days of such appointment with the Registrar along with prescribed fees.

Consequence of irregular appointment - Section 196 (5)

Subject to the provisions of this Act, where an appointment of a managing director, whole-time director or manager is not approved by the company at a general meeting, any act done by him before such approval shall not be deemed to be invalid.

Exemption to private company for section 196 (4) & (5)

Vide notification dated 05.06.2015 Section 196(4) and Section 196(5) is not applicable to Private Company. Exemption is given to the private companies for Section 196(4) and Section 196(5). It may be further noted that filing of Form MR-1 is also not applicable.

Therefore, a private company may appoint Managing Director, Whole time Director or Manager in the manner prescribed in its Articles of Association.

Exemption to Government Company for section 196 (2), (4) & (5)

Vide notification dated 05.06.2015 Section 196 (2), (4) & (5) shall not apply to Government Company. Therefore, a Government Company may appoint Managing Director, Whole time Director or Manager in the manner prescribed in its Articles of Association. Exemption to Specified International Financial Services Centres (IFSC) public company for section 196 (4)

Vide notification dated 04.01.2017 Section 196 (4) shall not apply to Specified IFSC public company. Therefore, a Specified IFSC public company may appoint Managing Director, Whole time Director or Manager in the manner prescribed in its Articles of Association.

Conditions to be fulfilled for the Appointment of Managing or Whole-Time Director or a Manager without the approval of the Central Government as Per Schedule V of the Companies Act, 2013 (Part I-Schedule V of the Companies Act, 2013)

- The person had not been detained for any period under the Conservation of Foreign Exchange and Prevention of Smuggling Activities Act, 1974.

  Provided that where the Central Government has given its approval to the appointment of a person convicted or detained mentioned above, as the case may be, no further approval of the Central Government shall be necessary for the subsequent appointment of that person if he had not been so convicted or detained subsequent to such approval.
- The person is resident of India.
- He has computed the age of 21 years and not attained the age of 70 years.

Every such application seeking approval shall be made to the Central Government within a period of ninety days from the date of such appointment [Rule 7 of the Companies (Appointment and Remuneration of managerial Personnel) Rules, 2014].

CASE LAW

[In the matter of Shiv Kumar Jatia (Appellant) vs. State of NCT of Delhi (Respondent), The Supreme Court of India, dated 23/08/2019]

Shiv Kumar Jatia is the Managing Director of M/s. Asian Hotels which looks after Hyatt Regency Hotel. He had authorized Mr. PR. Subramanian to apply for lodging license of the hotel.

There was a contravention the condition of the lodging license which led to a hotel guest enter into a semi lit under-construction terrace for smoking. The guest fell from the terrace of 6th floor to the 4th floor and got injured. Case was brought before the High Court which ordered for prosecution of the Managing director along with the other three accused by relying on the case of Sushil Ansal vs. State through CBI.

The Apex Court held that vicarious liability on the part of Managing Director and the Directors would arise provided any provision exists in that behalf in the statute. Further, the allegations made on the Managing Director could not establish any active role coupled with criminal intent having direct nexus with the accused.

Court observed that an individual who has perpetrated the commission of an offence on behalf of the company can be made an accused, along with the company, if there is sufficient evidence of his active role coupled with criminal intent. Further it is also held that an individual can be implicated in those cases where statutory regime itself attracts the doctrine of vicarious liability, by specifically incorporating such a provision.

Though there are allegations of negligence on the part of hotel and its officers who are incharge of day-to-day affairs of the hotel, so far as appellant Mr. Shiv Kumar Jatia is concerned, no allegation is made directly attributing negligence with the criminal intent attracting provisions under Sections 336, 338 read with Section 32 of IPC. There is no reason and justification to proceed against him only on ground that he was the Managing Director of M/s Asian Hotels (North) Limited, which runs Hotel Hyatt Regency. The mere fact that he was chairing the meetings of the company and taking decisions, by itself cannot directly link the allegation of negligence with the criminal intent

The Court has held that the Penal Code does not contain any provision for attaching vicarious liability on the part of the Managing Director or the Directors of the Company, when the accused is a Company. The allegations made on the Managing Director was vague in nature and the criminal proceedings against Shiv Kumar Jatia as passed by the High Court, New Delhi were quashed.
